Michael J. VanCamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. George VanCamp Jr. of Tupelo, Miss., formerly of Tecumseh, was graduated from Tupelo High School on May 31 with 375 other students at Noble Stadium, Tupelo, Miss. A former student of Tecumseh High School, Michael is now employed at the U.I. Supply Co., Tupelo division.

Steinke Well Received

The warm glow of cranberry lamps and cozy table seating created a gay and intimate atmosphere for the champagne preview of Russell Steinke's oil paintings June 13 at Don's Beef Buffet.

Don and Edna Smith hosted the friends of the artist and admirers of art, about 125, who viewed the 18 paintings. The familiar wall hangings in the restaurant were temporarily removed and in their place, Steinke's paintings were hung to create the unique art gallery.

Several of the paintings were still lifes of carnations, lilacs, peonies and vegetables.

Titles favored by the viewers were "Buffet," "Carnation with Tea Leaf," "Peonies with Paisley," "Gipfel," "Bean Pot," and in the "delicious" sense of humor of the artist, "Cole Slaw" and an unfinished work to be titled "Ragu."

Steinke's use of light to create a true to life picture was appreciated by the admirers. His portrait talent, of equal grace, was exemplified in the portrait of a black man.

Those interested in purchasing came early and as the evening progressed, several paintings were sold.

The artist indicated that another show may be forthcoming in November.

Plan Celebration

The family, friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Potts are invited to an open house to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Party will be held June 25 at their home, 835 Sheffield Dr., Adrian from 4-8 p.m.

Their four children, Richard of Adrian, Yvonne and Larry of Pennsylvania and Lawrence of Florida, and their families will be the hosts. The honored couple has 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The couple was married May 2, 1927. The anniversary reception is held later so the family can reunite.

Red Cross Bloodmobile at Products

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Tecumseh Products Co. cafeteria from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 22.

This is the first Tecumseh Bloodmobile since December and Tecumseh residents are asked to give full support. Plant guards will direct people through the plant.

Old 'Heralds' Shipped Out

According to Deborah Harris, librarian, issues of The Tecumseh Herald from 1930 to the present will no longer be available for inspection at Tecumseh Public Library.

She told The Herald last week that copies of the paper for the past 47 years were shipped out for micro-filming, after which they were to be discarded. In the future at the library, readers may view the micro-films, and if copies of articles are wanted, copies can be made in Adrian.

The newspaper office has copies of The Herald, beginning in 1929 to the present, and will continue to have copies bound each year. Although the office is not a library, readers interested in viewing past issues of the paper are welcomed.

Librarian said copies of The Herald prior to 1929 are being kept and would be rebound.

Son Promoted to Corporal

Marine Douglas D. Gilpin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Gilpin, 423 N. Evans St., was meritoriously promoted to corporal. He and his wife, nee Diane Laslo, reside in Vista, Calif. He is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

June 14, he leaves for a 30-day float to Alaska and he returns July 15. His sister, Kelli Jo Gilpin, will spend June and July visiting the couple.

Annual Meeting for Red Cross

Annual meeting of the Lenawee County Chapter American Red Cross will be held June 27 at the First United Methodist Church, Adrian. Reservations are due by June 22 and can be made at the church.

Stockman's Office in Town Today

Fourth District Congressman David Stockman's mobile office will stop in the Tecumseh area at the following times on June 16.

Clintonian Inn, Clinton, 11-12:30; Britton Post Office, 1:45-3: W. Chicago at Evans, Tecumseh 3:15-5.

Qualified personnel will help district residents with federally related problems.

Summer Activities

OUTDOOR MOVIES

Beginning June 29 the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department will offer free outdoor movies to the general public. These movies will be shown outside at the community center at 9:30 every Wednesday night.

Most of the movies are Walt Disney movies, some are Abbot and Costello and a few other comedy films. Cartoons will precede each film.

For a complete list of the movies, contact the Recreation Department.

PLAYGROUNDS

If a son or daughter is interested in arts and crafts, short trips, games, competition and fun with other kids, read on.

Again this year, the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor playgrounds at four locations, beginning June 20.

This year the playgrounds will be at Tecumseh Acres, Patterson, Herrick Park and the Scout Cabin from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

A comprehensive program is planned. Such things as roller skating, putt putt golf, canoeing, a visit to a local farm and many other activities are planned. Daily activities will include games, and arts and crafts.

Arts and crafts will be held once a week on each playground. A small fee will be charged for each craft. For a complete schedule of the arts and crafts program, contact the play leaders on each playground.

If you have any questions about playgrounds, contact the Recreation Department.

MARIE SIMONDS

To Receive Associates

Marie Simonds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kohler of Tecumseh will receive an associate degree in law enforcement from Owens Technical College of Perrysburg, Ohio on June 16 at 8 p.m. Graduation ceremonies in the Masonic Auditorium, Toledo.

While at Owens, she received academic achievement recognition and was placed on dean's list three of the six quarters. Her accumalative average exceded 3.5. Marie was a 1965 graduate of Tecumseh High School.

She is employed at the Northwood Police Department as dispatcher and matron. She and her two children are presently residing in Perrysburg.

Her future plans include obtaining a bachelor's degree in law enforcement from Bowling Green State University.

On June 26, her parents will host an open house in their home from 3 to 5 p.m.

Attends Assembly

Ronald E. Sobota, spokesman for the Jehovah's Witnesses in Tecumseh, said 100 delegates from Tecumseh will attend a four-day assembly scheduled at the Jackson Fairgrounds June 23-26.

Over one million persons attended the Jehovah's Witnesses conventions world wide in 1976.

Sobota said the conventions are designed to discuss the pressures affecting modern society in day-to-day living.

M. Shammas of Detroit will give the principal address at 2 p.m. June 26. His subject will be "How God's Kingdom Can Benefit You."

Completes GT Course

Richard Hyatt, dispatcher for General Telephone Co., recently completed a course on dispatch at the company's service training center in Muskegon.

Hyatt, his wife, Marilyn, and their daughters, Stacy and Sabra, live at 6014 Occidental Hwy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyatt of 6711 Mill Hwy.

Society To Meet

The annual meeting of the Lenawee County Historical Society will be June 23 at the Clayton United Methodist Church, a 101 year-old brick building.

Annual business meeting will be held at 5 p.m. Dinner is at 6:30 p.m. Installation of new officers will be at 7:30 p.m.

Reservation deadline is June 18. Call the Lenawee County Historical Museum, 265-6071.

"Clayton Revisited" will be the program to be given by Alice Ward and Duressa Ganton. The life of longtime resident, teacher, writer and farmer Latham Coffin, will be shared from his diaries. Former students with an anecdote may contact the museum to have it included in the program.

Historical sites in Clayton include: the site of Clayton's brick factory; an 1895 white frame Bible church; 1830's white frame home of the Bird family (Clayton's first settlers); 19th century brick commercial buildings; the Clayton United Methodist Church, a brick building, whose centennial was observed in 1976.

The museum now has a slide presentation on the farm museum project that describes farm heritage, shows buildings and exhibits from similar museums and ideas for the Lenawee project.

Curator Dr. Charles Lindquist requested published church histories for the historical museum.

Educating the Public

The Lenawee County Prepared Childbirth Association will meet June 16 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mary's School, 320 Division St., Adrian to hear Dr. Asuncion Luz discuss "Growth and Development — One to Six Years." Meeting is public.

The Lenawee County Prepared Childbirth Association's purpose is to educate and inform the public on the principles of child bearing and rearing. Quarterly meetings provide an opportunity for parents to learn from one another by discussing various problems and concerns.

New officers are Mary Withrow, president; Judy Zilke, vice-president; Linda Salenbien, secretary; Sally Snyder, treasurer and Dianne West, public relations.

Library Activities

Summer activities for children begin next week at the Tecumseh Public Library. The Summer Reading Club begins June 20, and continues through Wednesday, Aug. 10.

Children who cannot yet read but enjoy being read to can join the Read-To-Me Club. Children who read or listen to 10 books will receive a certificate.

Summer Story Hour will meet every Wednesday from June 22 to Aug. 10 at 1:30 p.m. The hour long program will include stories, songs, poetry and filmstrips.

For further information, call the Tecumseh Public Library at 423-2238.

Pack Plans Day Camp

Scouts of Pack 73 going to day camp at Camp K will meet at the Presbyterian Church at 8 a.m. for a ride to camp. Camp dates are June 22 and 23.

At the June 7 Pack 73 meeting at the Community Center, new Cubmaster Terry Butler presented ribbons to the following people for marching in the Memorial Day parade:

Scholarships Are Awarded

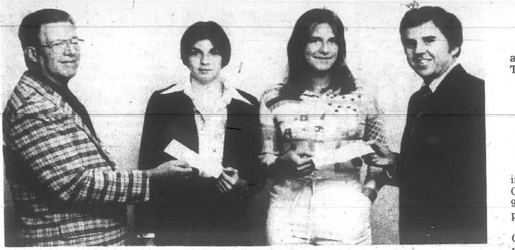
Education was the theme of the June 7 Kiwanis breakfast meeting at Harry's Cafe.

Scholarships of $150 each were awarded to Kathy Creswell, who plans to study respiratory technology at Washtenaw Community College and Susan Palmer, who plans to study a secretarial course at Ferris State College. Both girls are members of the Tecumseh High School class of 1977.

Ken Boyd, youth services committee chairman made the presentations. A $100 financial support scholarship was given to Michael C. Keller toward his expenses in the Youth For Understanding Exchange Program. He will be in El Salvador, Central America for a year. He was the 1977 co-valedictorian at Tecumseh High School.

Two school board candidates, incumbent Todd Herrick and Dean Sheldon briefed the members on their concerns and interests in running for the school board.

Two guests were Larry Mattes, sales supervisor of Tecumseh Products and William Powere, industrial relations manager at Universal Die Casting in Saline.



KIWANIS SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS — Kiwanis president the Rev. Allan Gray, left, presents Susan Palmer with a $150 scholarship from the Tecumseh Kiwanis. Kiwanis youth service chairman the Rev. Kenneth Boyd, right, presents Kathy Creswell with the same award. Both girls were graduates of THS this month. Susan will study a secretarial course at Ferris State College and Kathy will study respiratory therapy at Washtenaw Community College.

THANK YOU, from
of the Tecumseh Community Health Study.

Our thanks to the people of Tecumseh who came into the clinic at 900 W. Chicago and the many people who filled out our Yellow Questionnaire.

In this special study of family health, it is vital that each member of the family participate. The cooperation of the families in Tecumseh has been high.

But, we still need the help of each and all members of specially selected families. Our interviewers will be calling you. May we urge the remaining family members to complete their Yellow Questionnaire. We will deliver it and pick it up when you complete it!

Again, our many thanks!

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Whether you call it a submarine, a hoagie, or a hero, by any name it is a super sandwich. The more items you put on the sandwich, the better it is. This is a fun idea for a picnic or when serving a group, as everyone can use their imagination and prepare it to their own liking.

SUBMARINES

Submarine rolls or foot long hot dog buns
Variety of sliced luncheon meats, e.g. bologna, salami and ham
Variety of sliced cheese e.g. American, Swiss, cheddar
Tomatoes, thinly sliced
Cucumbers, peeled and sliced
Green peppers, cut in strips
Pickles
Olives
Lettuce
Italian dressing

Cut meats and cheese in half to fit bun. Place slices of meat and cheese in bun. Top with any or all of the above ingredients. Sprinkle Italian dressing over the ingredients and serve. Delicious.

This homemade salami from Mrs. Wesley Hunt is easy to prepare and makes super sandwiches.

HOMEMADE SALAMI

5 pounds hamburg (not chuck)
5 teaspoons (Tender Quick Salt)
1 teaspoon mustard seed or dry mustard
2½ teaspoon coarse black pepper
2½ teaspoon garlic salt
1½ teaspoon hickory smoke salt

Mix together, cover and refrigerate for three days in tight container. Every day take out and mix well. On fourth day, shape into four long rolls. Place on broiler rack and pan. Bake at 175 degrees for eight hours. Turn every four hours.

Plans for 50th by Chapter

Delegates for the state convention in Flint were chosen at the June 10 meeting of the Abi Evans Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Delegates are Irene Wisner, vice-regent, Mrs. Ellsworth Robison, hostess for the June 10 meeting, and Mrs. William Jennings Frayer.

James Sheridan, Adrian attorney, spoke about "The Flag and the Constitution." He brought out the many simularities and explained why the flag and constitution have stood the tests of time.

Next meeting on July 22 will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the chapter. Regent Mrs. Frank Vandenlinden will host the luncheon at her Tipton Hwy. home.

Crop Insurance Deadline Is Set for June 30

Farmers participating in the 1977 Federal Crop Insurance Program are reminded that the final date for reporting their planted acres of spring crops is June 30.

Forms for this purpose have been mailed to all 1977 insureds. Farmers are reminded that if the acreage is not reported prior to June 30 damaged crops could be uninsurable for the 1977 crop year under the terms of the contract.

Beevers Is Director

Kenneth Beevers, of Tecumseh, has been elected to serve the Michigan Jaycees as district director for the coming year. As district director he will be responsible for eight chapters in the Tecumseh area.

Prior to his election Ken served his local chapter as first vice-president, second vice-president, and secretary.

Ken and his wife, Della, have two children, Larry and Nancy Lynn. Ken is employed at the Ford Motor Co., Rawsonville Plant.

51 Join Chamber

Dr. David Blanden reported at the June 2 meeting of the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce that 51 new members have joined the chamber. New memberships are still available. Contact the membership chairman.

The board of directors thanked Roger Proctor for serving as Michigan Week Chairman.

A Dyke Helms Memorial Fund, to honor Helms' service to Tecumseh, was established by the Jaycees and the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce. Anyone wishing to make a contribution may contact Merlyn Downing or Dick Eggleston.

Fourth of July fireworks display will be sponsored this year by the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce and the City of Tecumseh at the athletic field. Harvey Schmidt, a new board member, is chairman of the celebration.

Mary Lou Dangler's committee is working on Sidewalk Sales Day for July 22.

The chamber is making plans to care for the tree planters and flowers in the downtown area. John Damelio, chairman, suggested possible evergreen ground cover along with flowers in the fall.

Special Meeting

William Chase was initiated into the Tecumseh Chapter 51 OES at a special meeting June 9. Robert Bonner served as pro-tem candidate.

Ernestine Manchester of Clinton was introduced as a past grand organist of the Grand Chapter of Michigan and was the guest organist for the evening.

Wilmer Kiser, 1st vice and Mary Lou Moore, secretary of the Lenawee-Monroe County Association and Carolyn Baker, mother advisor of the Order of Rainbow, were introduced and welcomed.

Worthy Matron Lucinda Hand announced that her son, Scott, 6, is accepted by the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital in Chicago, Ill. for tests and treatment of a crippling disease, Perthe Disease, which he has had for the past three years.

Chapter recessed for July and August. Meetings resume Sept. 1 when 50 members will be honored and proficiency will be conducted.

Computer Purchased

CLINTON — Board of Education voted to purchase a DecWriter II Terminal from the Intermediate Office for $900.

This is a computer that is used mainly for the purpose of career education. Since it has an extensive library to challenge any high school student, and lists job opportunities, the board will offer its use to the community. It is located in the high school counseling office.

Mrs. Joan Cark and Mrs. Jean Ford brought letters from concerned parents regarding the band and choir programs at the high school. The women were advised that the board would take the parents' concerns under advisement, but the matter would be tabled until a report is made by the administration.

Resignation of Mrs. Rebecca McOmber was accepted with regret.

Board approved a medical leave of absence for the 1977-78 school year for Carl Terry.

Clinton schools have been advised they will receive $4,500 and more than was anticipated due to a "consolation allowance" granted by the Lenawee Intermediate Board of Education.

Board considered the Vandercook Lake bleacher seating, which had been viewed by Fred McCrate, athletic director and Richard Wegner, superintendent. The concrete steps were poured professionally, and were thought to be more economical than steel bleacher seating.

Board will obtain a legal opinion on the matter of retention of a student in a grade, when he has passed minimal requirements, but parent seeks his retention in a grade.

Results of the election were announced and the organizational board meeting will be July 11.

Amn. Richard Is Graduated With Honors

CLINTON — Airman Terry L. Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy K. Richard, 510 Tecumseh Rd., has graduated with honors at Lackland AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for security police specialists.

Airman Richard, now trained in security and law enforcement, is remaining at Lackland for further training. Completion of the course earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman, a 1971 graduate of Clinton High School, earned an associate degree in 1976 at Washtenaw Community College in Ann Arbor.

Airman Richard's wife, Pamela is the daughter of Mrs. Lois Reyner of Clinton.

Celebrations for local high school graduates continued this weekend.

Saturday night the Jack Ries family celebrated in honor of son, Tim's graduation from Tecumseh High School with their traditional buffet supper-barn dance with the "Week-N-Ders", including Jack and son playing as usual for family and friends.

First prize for friend from farthest distance was Jack Brisby, Sydney, Australia. Muscians included alumni of the band, Mike Lorenz (Adrian College Jazz band director) and Brad Sharp. Tim plans to enter Western Michigan University this fall to pursue his interest in music.

Harold Amstutz honored his son, Mark, a Tecumseh High School graduate, with a buffet open house on Sunday afternoon. Mark greeted guests from Redford, Royal Oak, Pontiac, Deerfield, Adrian, Toledo, Ohio and the local area. On display were high school achievement awards Mark received for woodworking, metal-working, wood technology, matching of metals and a special metal-award for craftsmanship.

Assisting with refreshments were Sue Sowers, Robin Amstutz, Ruth Bradmon, Mrs. Bessie Hendershot, Leona Amstutz and Irene Johnson. Mark plans on entering Monroe Community College in the fall.

Basketball Camp Held

MACON — The "Ike Bunday Basketball Camp," established by Ike Bundy who is a former NAIA All American Basketball Star and presently a staff member associated with Boysville at Xavier Center Group Home in Detroit, was held at Boysville June 10, 11 and 12.

The camp was for students at Boysville as well as young men from group homes around the state.

The camp was staffed by many well known basketball players and coaches including:

Don Adams of the Buffalo Braves; Dave Bing of the Washington Bullets; Terry Furlow, a former Michigan State player and now with the 76'ers; Cazzie Russell, a University of Michigan player now with the Cleveland Cavaliers; Mike Brunker, assistant basketball coach at University of Detroit; William James, former NAIA All-American; William Miller, assistant coach at Oakland University; Dura Spillman, former All-State player from North-West High School in Detroit, plus high school and college basketball players.

The purpose of the camp was to work on fundamental skills and provide an opportunity for these students to meet other well-known professional leaders and players in the field.

Also emphasis was that basketball is not a way of life, but it is a good sport to teach the young people sportsmanship and to develop physical and mental coordination.

MARY BIGELOW

Returns from Concert Tour

MACON— Mary Beth Bigelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow of Macon, has just returned from a 23-day concert and sightseeing tour of Europe with Collegium Musicum of Olivet College, a vocal ensemble that specializes in the performance of Baroque and Renaissance music.

Olivet College, Minot State College (North Dakota) and The University of Richmond (Virginia) performed Bach's "B-minor Mass" in Basal, Switzerland under the direction of Neville Marriner with the Prague Chamber Orchestra. Marriner is a world-renowned conductor and is the founder and director of the Academy of St. Martin in the fields.

The Olivet choir toured Europe before the 10-day musical seminar and performance of the "B-minor Mass." The seminar was held in St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Highlights of the trip were St. Mark's cathedral in Venice, Italy, the Spanish-Riding School of the Lippizan Stallions in Vienna, Austria, the world famous Salzburg Marionette Theater in Salzburg, Austria and the glockenspiel in Munich, Germany.

Beth was met at Detroit Metro Airport on June 10 by her parents and Don DeJonghe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow recently returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Bigelow, Brad and Brett in Somerset, Ky.

235 Attend CHS Alumni Reunion

CLINTON — Just as the man who said, "The rumor of my demise is greatly exaggerated," the Clinton Alumni Association can proclaim it is alive and well.

Saturday evening, the centennial reunion was attended by 235 of the 2,493 persons who have graduated from Clinton High School since 1877, when the first graduating class consisted of one person.

Statistics about each year's graduate numbers and a brief history of Clinton schools was compiled in a booklet distributed to visiting alumni at the buffet dinner in Peerless Gear Union Hall.

Gary Couture served as master of ceremonies, and introduced Shirley Campbell, president of the Clinton Alumni Association.

Howard Oesterling, present high school principal, gave brief remarks, and noted the attendance by two of the members of the Class of 1977.

Among the classes recognized were two of the remaining five members of the Class of 1907, who were present, Lola Blanchard Weeks and Blanche Robison Holmes.

Also recognized was Minnie Lowry Green, 92, of Morenci, formerly of Tecumseh, who was a teacher in Clinton High School from 1913 to 1918.

Date engraved pens were given to: Blanche Robinson Holmes, class of 1917; oldest grad attending; Jane Hause, Los Angeles, Calif., who came the farthest; and Warren Finkbeiner, who had attended 41 consecutive alumni reunions.

Marie Riebe of Adrian introduced 14 members of the class of 1917, who had gathered at her home in Adrian during the afternoon.

Mrs. Paul Breitenwischer of Tecumseh had hosted members of the class of 1927 at their home in Tecumseh before the dinner. Among the 12 members of the class and their spouses attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Humphrey of St. Louis; Richard Palmer of Florida; and Louis Woodruff of Diamondale.

Floral dish centerpieces were presented as door prizes to 22 persons.

Ron Jordan and the Universals played for dancing and many alumni danced after midnight.

Treasurer Carol VanDeusen reported the association was ending the year with over $300 in the treasury, assuring its continuation for another year, if volunteers come forward to make the arrangements. Volunteers may call Carol VanDeusen.

Other officers on the 1977 committee are Shirley Campbell, Judy Stentzel, Nancy Tschirhart and Judy Semark.

Their hard work made it possible for this traditional reunion to continue into its second century.

Luncheon Ends Club's Season

CLINTON — A potluck luncheon, arranged by officers and board of the Clinton Woman's Club, was shared by members at the Community Center, June 9.

Mrs. Richard Broniman presided and presented an honorary membership to Mrs. William O'Reilly, who now lives with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Miller, Saline.

A thank-you note was read from Debra Bruggenwirth, recipient of the club's Clinton Community School Distinguished Student Award of $100.

Mrs. Walter Prill of Britton installed the new officers at a candlelight ceremony.

Board members will meet at the home of the new president, Mrs. James Chellman, June 23 at 7 p.m.

Next regular meeting will be Oct. 12 at the center.

Surprise Party Honors Couple on 25th Anniversary

CLINTON — Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Brugger, Clinton-Macon Rd., were surprised on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary, June 9, by the arrival of several relatives and friends, Mr. and Mrs. DeArle Brugger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Brugger, all of Tecumseh; Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and Mr. and Mrs. John Wilt.

They brought along a decorated cake and refreshments.

The evening was spent viewing the Brugger's pictures of a recent trip to Europe.

On June 12, the LeRoy Bruggers were honored at a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown and family.

Extra Mills Are Defeated

CLINTON — Voters in Clinton Community School defeated a half-mill operational millage proposal at the annual school election Monday, 183 no to 146 yes, with 329 votes cast.

Five mills for operational were renewed in a separate proposal approved 219 to 118 by 237 votes cast.

Dr. Dean Kirkland was returned to office on the board of education with 308 votes. James Wilson also was elected to the board with 232 votes.

A total of 345 votes were cast in the election.

Circus Celebrated by Britton School

BRITTON — The circus came to town to help the Britton-Macon elementary school children celebrate the last day of school, Thursday.

Forty-three first grade students, with help from teachers, Catherine Smith and Rosemary Schroeder, performed in a pretend circus.

Clowns, prancing horses, acrobats, dancers, elephants, lions, singing dogs, tight rope walkers, strong men, sharpshooter, Indian princess, jugglers, a sword swallower, and monkeys brought the pretend circus to life.

Mrs. Smith, who was also the ringmaster, came upon the idea of having a circus after she discovered one of her student's mother was a professional clown.

Cindi Stutzman, also known as "Pumpkin," the clown, helped Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Schroeder with the planning and final performance.

Mrs. Stutzman brought make-up for the five children chosen to be clowns. Kathy Atkinson, Marty Blatchford, David Foster, Donnie Teboe and Heather Stutzman, also know as Flirty Gertie, joined Pumpkin to perform as clowns.

Prancing horses included Tim Wilcox. Dena Osborne. Angie Bartenslager. Brian Joseph and Crissy Anaya performed their act by riding broomstick horses around the circus ring.

The acrobats and dancers included Kelly Carson, Sherrie Kluska, Lynnea Lewis and Sonia McClanahan. The girls showed their talents in ballet, gymnastics and hula hoop.

The pretend elephants slowly marched around the ring and performed such feats as kneeling on a box. Masks were made from decorated grocery bags. Elephants were Larry Kosanue, Karen Gilbert, Donnie Heeman, Richard Tiede, Mike Irvin and Brian Tiede.

Tight rope walkers were Deanna Stevens, Laura Linden and Joanne Chlebek. The girls skillfully crossed a low balance beam.

The Great Vincenti (Vincent Gonzales) was the lion tamer. Leading lions were Scott Bower, Jeff Loesch and John Andrews (each in costume) through their tricks including jumping through a flaming hoop (hula hoop wrapped in crepe paper).

Strongmen, Aylward the Brute, Kormos the Kat and Brockman the Bruiser (alias Billy Aylward, Mike Kormos and Larry Brockman) walked around the circus ring showing their strength by lifting weights and 500 lb. cans (made from papier-mache, styrofoam and paint cans).

Sherry Faust, sharpshooter, along with Indian Princess Corina Sanchez, gave a show of shooting skills.

Timothy Booth and April Bruce, jugglers extrordinaire, juggled stacked paper plates and cups.

Sword swallower was Randy Smith.

Monica DeLine was the singing dog trainer. She led her poodles to center ring and they sang along to her xylophone, "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Poodles included Marcia Linn, Donald Hawkins, William Niblack, and Julie Jeffrey.

In the finale called "Monkey Business," clown Donnie Teboe led the monkeys to the ringmaster. Ringmaster Smith couldn't find her bananas, so monkey Troy Gibbs, ran to climb a banana tree (rope hanging from basketball net with bananas on top). Jeff Miller was also a monkey.

After the performance all acts went to the multi-purpose room for cake, popcorn, and soft drinks. Teachers handed each student a Circus Day Award.

Persons working hard to make the pretend circus an event to remember were Karen Morgan, Joanne Witt, Barb Wagner, Principal John DeLine, Supt. William Saxton, Tom Morgan and Scott Niblack, along with Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Schroeder and Pumpkin the clown.

Olympics Held

BRITTON — Britton-Macon School held its all-elementary academic-field days for grades K-3 on June 7, and for grades 4-6 on June 7.

The academic events were held before the field events. Students had to compete in all academic events, but not in all field events.

Ribbons were given out in each class to the first, second and third places.

A student from each class who placed first, second or third in most events received a trophy but did not receive any ribbons for his victories. The runner-up moved up a position and received a ribbon.

Following are trophy winners by grades: kindergarten, Adam Bury, first, Vincent Gonzales; second, Mark Wagner; third Cavin Frayer; fourth, Scott Dusseau; fifth, Judy Loomis; and Kevin Benham, sixth grade.

Church Fellowship Members Meet

BRITTON — The women's fellowship members of the Congregational Christian Church enjoyed a luncheon June 7 in the fellowship center. The Mary-Martha Circle hosted approximately 24 members.

Geraldine Keran, president opened the business meeting by reading "Atonement" from "Ideals." Lillian Butolph opened her devotional by reading a poem, "Day By Day" from Forward, and Acts 4:32-37.

Lillian Kniffen introduced a friend, Irma Ward of Saline, who talked about people in the Bible. She quoted scripture and compared this with our modern everyday living.

The group will host the spring meeting of the Association of Congregational Christian Churches..

Sept. 15 is the date for the annual turkey supper and bazaar. Fellowship president Geraldine Keran appointed the following committee for planning the supper. They are: Marian Ash, Myra Bush, Rosemary Auten, Midge Rohrback, Verla Albring, Marian Olds, Donna Bruce and Geraldine Keran.

Vivian Brown reported from the drapery committee on the purchase of the new drapery for the sanctuary.

The Rev. David Hawk dismissed the group with a prayer.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smoll

HOLLOWAY — The fifth annual meeting of the Presbyterian Conference was held June 9-11 on the campus of Alma College. The Rev. Harold Good from Belfast, Ireland was guest speaker. He spoke about "The Human Tragedy of Northern Ireland and How To Bring Peace and Harmony within the Community."

The Lenawee County Presyterian Churches of Tecumseh, Holloway, Palmyra, Blissfield, Cadmus and Adrian are of both the Maumee Valley Presbytery and Synod of the Covenant. It was organized in 1973 through a merger of the former Synod of Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky and became a part of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Mom, usually so calm and peaceful, is about to launch a full scale war. Two mourning doves are, to borrow a current phrase, driving her bananas. It was bad enough when one dove took over the thistle feeder but just lately he has introduced a friend to the joys of eating these tiny black seeds. And do you have any idea how difficult it can be to chase two mourning doves away from a feeder they are thoroughly enjoying?

At first simply opening the window did the trick, then a clapping of hands was necessary, the third phase was slamming the front door, and next it took some clapping and shouting from the front porch. It has now reached the stage where Mom has to go outside, cross the front lawn, and almost go to the feeder itself before the birds fly away.

The final insult to her is that even when she is practically at the feeder the doves only flutter to the end-of-the-street barrier or into the mulberry tree. She has to go at them again to force a real retreat. Believe me, one does not feel too forceful when even mourning dove. At that time we thought he must be retarded, maladjusted, or something. A quick check about thistle seed confirmed what we remembered, this food is especially liked by such nice birds as goldfinches, purple finches, pine siskins, etc.

I am sure that a number of weeks ago I told you about the first thistle seed eating mourning dove. At that time we thought he must be retarded, maladjusted, or something. A quick check about thistle seed confirmed what we remembered, this food is especially liked by such nice birds as goldfinches, purple finches, pine siskins, etc.

I am not inferring that mourning doves are not nice birds because, in their place, they are. We simply do not feel their place should be our thistle feeder! Especially when they monopolize it so completely that no one else has a chance to eat.

Besides this, they look absolutely ridiculous crowded on the small tray beneath the feed holding cylinder. The feeder was not designed to accommodate such giants and they look so uncomfortable - they either plant their feet on one side and stretch their necks around the corner or else lean way out and reach up. There is no possible way for either to be a comfortable position.

When the second dove began spending so much time eating thistle seeds, we started to wonder. One oddball bird might become addicted to a strange food but was it likely that he could corrupt another?

That question sent me to "A Complete Guide To Bird Feeding" by John V. Dennis. This, by the way, is a super book and is a complete guide. It does tell everything about what birds eat, how they like it served, etc.

After going into quite a good deal of detail about what thistle is, how it is fed, whom it attracts, why it is a good food to offer, and who is not attracted to it, there finally came the sentence I sought. "Users not yet mentioned include mourning doves..."

Well, now we know. Our doves are not misfits after all. We are the ones in error - we have been saying that the two birds possibly are illiterate, at least they have not read the books which say that thistle seed is dearly loved by small birds such as finches and siskins.

It now turns out that we are the ones who were not reading - the doves knew all along that it was okay for them to spend their days dining on thistle seed.

Of course, as this sentence continues it says that the towhees are also sometimes attracted to thistle feeders. Now, if we could only find a couple of towhees who would read this act accordingly. What a thrill that would be!

Msgr. Howard Is Appointed Vicar

Msgr. Vincent Howard, pastor of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, was appointed vicar of the newly created Lenawee County Region of the Diocese of Lansing.

The appointement, effective immediately, was made by Bishop Kenneth J. Povish who also announced that beginning in 1978 individual parish councils will have a voice in naming future vicars.

The appointment comes three weeks after Bishop Povish announced that the Diocese would be divided into five geographic areas in order to promote greater involvement by priests and people in the mission of the Diocese.

Msgr. Howard's appointment is effective until elections are held early next year. At that time two priests from the area will be nominated for the post by priests in the region.

Msgr. Howard was ordained in 1947. Prior to his appointment as pastor of St. Elizabeth he served as director of vocations for the Archdiocese of Detroit from 1958 to 1965. He was appointed pastor of St. Thomas Church, Ann Arbor in 1969 and served in that capacity until 1972.

The role of the vicar is primarily pastoral. He will be responsible for bringing the concerns of the people to the bishop and the desires of the bishop to the people. He will be in charge of all inter-parish efforts such as, marriage preparation, hospital ministry, and teacher training.

Other responsibilites include encouragement of Catholic involvement in community and encumenical concerns; granting of common marriage dispensations in emergencies; and in encouraging parishes to help each other.

Seven Graduating from MSU

Six Tecumseh residents and one from Tipton received degrees at the June 11 spring commencement exercises at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Andrew Young, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations was the keynote speaker. He was awarded an honorary doctor of humanities degree.

Tecumseh graduates were:

Joseph P. Burns, 905 River Acres Dr., BS in psychology, with high honors; Roberto L. Coba, 507 Blanchard, BA accounting with high honors; Eileen M. Egbert, 303 W. Pottawatamie, BA accounting; S.J. Freckelton, 124 Brown St., MBA finance;

Joseph P. Gadek, 601 Blanchard St., BS electrical engineering; Paula M. Holmes, 410 Seminole Dr., BA social work, with high honors.

John F. Vincent of Tipton was graduated with a BS in animal husbandry with honors.

Vacation Bible School

Over 200 children, three year olds through sixth graders have already enrolled in the Cooperative Vacation Bible School June 20-24 to be held in St. Elizabeth's School.

One more congregation, Gloria Dei Lutheran, has joined the six congregations who are planning, financing, and staffing the event.

Registrations from any child in the community can still be made by calling one of the following churches: Tecumseh Assembly of God, 423-5607; St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church, 423-4501; The First Baptist Church, 423-3110; Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, 423-7510; St. Peter's Episcopal Church, 423-3780; The First United Presbyterian Church, 423-3470; or the United Methodist Church, 423-2523.

Grand Valley State College Graduates Three

Three Tecumsen area residents were graduated from Grand Valley State College in Allendale.

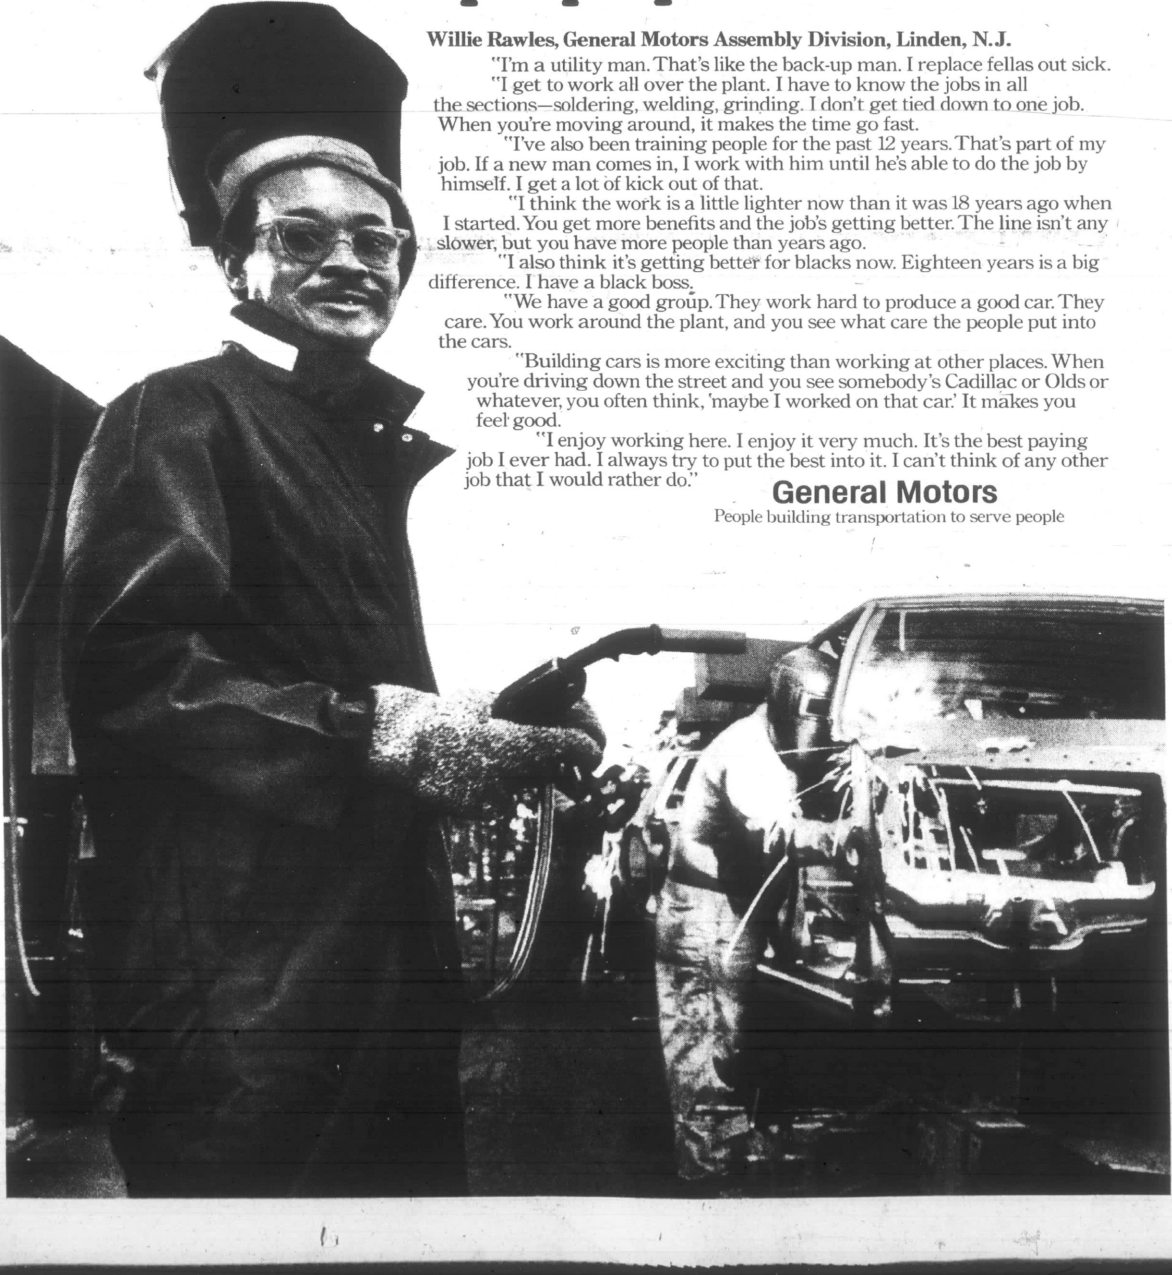
David Biscupski of Tecumseh received a bachelor of science degree in physical education and Pamela Purkey was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice.

Marjorie Miller of Tipton was graduated with a bachelor of science in history and political science.

Pamela L. Cook and her husband, David P. Cook were graduated from Michigan State University, June 11. Mrs. Cook received high honors in social work and psychology, She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steadley, 9343 Tonneberger Dr. She is a 1973 graduate from Tecumseh High School and will attend Loyola Law School in Chicago, Ill. in the fall. Mr. Cook received honors with a BA in religious studies. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook, 401 Seneca St. He is a 1973 graduate of Tecumseh High School. He will attend Northern Baptist Theological Seminary in Lombard, Ill. in the fall.

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"You work around the plant, and you see what care people put into the cars."



Willie Rawles, General Motors Assembly Division, Linden, N.J.

"I'm a utility man. That's like the back-up man. I replace fellas out sick.

"I get to work all over the plant. I have to know the jobs in all the sections—soldering, welding, grinding. I don't get tied down to one job. When you're moving around, it makes the time go fast.

"I've also been training people for the past 12 years. That's part of my job. If a new man comes in, I work with him until he's able to do the job by himself. I get a lot of kick out of that.

"I think the work is a little lighter now than it was 18 years ago when I started. You get more benefits and the job's getting better. The line isn't any slower, but you have more people than years ago.

"I also think it's getting better for blacks now. Eighteen years is a big difference. I have a black boss.

"We have a good group. They work hard to produce a good car. They care. You work around the plant, and you see what care the people put into the cars.

"Building cars is more exciting than working at other places. When you're driving down the street and you see somebody's Cadillac or Olds or whatever, you often think, 'maybe I worked on that car.' It makes you feel good.

"I enjoy working here. I enjoy it very much. It's the best paying job I ever had. I always try to put the best into it. I can't think of any other job that I would rather do."

David Biscupski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Biscupski of 512 Seneca St., was graduated from Grand Valley State College, Allendale with a bachelor of science degree in physical education and political science. He also earned a teaching certificate. He was a 1973 graduate of Tecumseh High School. His parents and family attended the commencement ceremonies at the school field house recently.

The engagement of Pamela Leigh Purkey to Bruce Litchford is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Purkey of Tecumseh. The bride-elect is a 1973 Tecumseh High School graduate and has a BS in criminal justice. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Litchford of St. Joseph. He has a BA in psychology and is employed by Union Carbid of Grand Rapids. Both are Grand Valley College graduates. An August wedding is planned.

Youth Are Charming

By Kathy Brown

Charming describes the debut of The Tecumseh Players Children's Theater production of "Tom Sawyer" June 10 and 11 at the Glass Room of the Tecumseh Community Center.

Casting, choreography and costumes were especially good.

Tiny Kim Speller was a heart stealer. She opened the play with a recitation that set the scene for the performance.

Alex Krueger was excellent in his lead role as Tom Sawyer. He portrayed the mischieveous lad in a relaxed and natural style, never missing a cue and always performing for his audience.

Other characters bringing stature to their roles were elfish Dan Krueger as Joe Harper, red haired and freckled Jeannie Johnstone as Becky Thatcher, curly haired and round faced Blake Clark as Huck Finn, proud and poised Rhonda Rhora as the Widow Douglas. Notable solo was given by Carol Clark as Mary.

Only criticism is that some of the actors recited rather than acted their lines. This created some confusion for the viewer in the last scene of Act Two and Act Three during which the plot moves rapidly.

The chorus members of the Sunflowers, Skeltons and village boys and girls were appealing. Small mistakes only added to the charm of their performance. The children obviously enjoyed themselves and their audience found them enchanting.

Many adults contributed to the success of the production. Special mention should be given Caryle McLeod, director and her assistant, Ricki Speller, Marcia Osterhout, choreographer and Rosanne Frolich, Nancy Shumaker and Valerie Bartenslager for creative costumes.

To organize and prepare over 30 energetic children for a non-school activity for public entertainment is an accomplishment for their adult leaders.

The youths who devoted their time and talent have also accomplished much, too. Their enthusiasm, confidence and talent showed.

One can only hope that more adults in the community, besides parents and grandparents, will attend future youth theater performances to keep up with youth's ability.

Youth theater provides an evening of family entertainment. It helps people of any age remember the joy of being a child and pleasing others.

Proceeds of Friday's and Saturday's performances were for the Tecumseh Players Theatre Fund for a theater facility for the people of Tecumseh.

Senior Citizen Menu June 20-24

Meals are open to all seniors 60 years of age and older at the Tecumseh Center, 703 E. Chicago Blvd. at noon.

MONDAY — Guisando, fruit cup, tossed salad, spanish rice, bread pudding.

TUESDAY — Roast pork, cabbage polonaise, augratin potato, corn bread, slice melons.

WEDNESDAY — Meatballs with spaghetti, tossed salad, broccoli, prunes.

THURSDAY — Meat loaf with tomato sauce, whipped potato, green cabbage, cheese nut loaf, sliced peaches.

FRIDAY — Baked perch, peas, cole slaw, corn bread, fruit cup.

HARDWORKING — Mrs. Marcia Wolter's sixth graders at Ridgeway school earned enough money during the year to purchase the picnic table they are pictured surrounding for the school. The children did odd jobs in their neighborhoods to purchase the kit, and then assembled and varnished the table themselves. The principal, Louis Fleming, and Mrs. Wolter (left) were justly proud of their industrious class.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

I write to you in concern for the vitality and future existence of the town of Tecumseh.

Monday morning I drove to Tecumseh to see the annual Memorial Day Parade. However, I figure I missed it. What I saw was certainly not what I remember the community spirit of Tecumseh people being like. If that was community spirit - where were the crowded corners at Union St., and the long, exciting parade event that almost everyone participated in?

If that was the community spirit of Tecumseh, then the town and the people in it are surely near the end of their existence.

This is a critical letter, but one that has a point. I am not a senior citizen "remembering when"; far from it - since I will not be classified one for 40 years! I was born and raised in Tecumseh, but not the Tecumseh that was represented Monday morning!

I have memories of vitality and spirit in Tecumseh. (Doesn't it make you feel funny that a person of 25 has to speak of memories?) What do the children now have, when they want to leave before the end, as it is?

Please, the community of Tecumseh - please prove me wrong, that you're not on your last legs.

Sincerely,
Kathryn A. Jewell
691 S. Van Dyke Rt. 5
Bad Axe, Michigan 48413

To the Editor:

Once a week I pick my children up at noon and take them to Memorial Park on N. Maumee. Last week I was very disgusted.

Someone had taken the picnic table, turned it upside down, and put it in the creek. The swings were wrapped around the top rail of the swing set so that the kids couldn't even swing. The slide was turned on its side, and there also were beer cans thrown all around the ground and in the water.

There is a trash can there. It's a shame people are too lazy to use it.

We have few parks to use in Tecumseh, and it saddens me to think that some people have to abuse them so that other people can't enjoy them.

It's a shame you have no respect for other people's good times.

Mrs. R.L. Funk
Tecumseh, Mich.

To the Editor:

Tecumseh Music Club thanks you so much for promoting, through the paper, the special events in music that our town has been blessed with. Without your cooperation we couldn't have become the success we are now. Many turned out for Sunday's concert.

As Tecumseh advances into the arts more and more she will remember your help.

Mrs. Charles Randolph
Corresponding Secretary

Tecumseh Investigates 4 Accidents

Police investigated four minor accidents this week, citing two of the drivers for hazardous driving. A resume includes:

Thursday, Harold J. Schroeder, 51, of Adrian was cited for failing to yield after he stopped on Patterson and then proceeded into the S. Evans intersection. He struck an auto driven by Miriam Knight, 48, of 501 W. Russell.

Also on Thursday, Irene D. Poley, 34, of Brooklyn and Ronald G. Williams, 18, of Britton collided when Williams made a right from Evans onto Bidwell. Poley tried to pass on the right at the same time.

Robert S. Dolice, 23, of Manitou Beach, swerved to avoid an accident Friday and hit a state highway sign when he was heading west on W. Chicago. Ervin W. Hubble, 60, of 705 Adrian St., turned right on the red light on N. Union in front of the police vehicle.

Saturday, Edward A. Yeary, 17, of 504 W. Logan was cited for violating the basic speed restriction after he struck an auto driven by Curtis W. Wilks, 21, of Palmyra in the rear. Wilks was turning from Evans into a private lot when struck.

SUSAN SCHILLER

Participant To Head for Chile

Susan Schiller, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schiller, Tecumseh will leave June 25, 1977 for South America as a participant in the Youth For Understanding program.

She will stay nine weeks in Chile as a member of her host family learning how people live in another country and increasing her knowledge of the Spanish language.

Troop 623 attended the Horizon "77" Scout-O-Rama Show held at the Lenawee County fairgrounds in Adrian on May 13, 14 and 15.

Saturday morning the troop participated with other troops of the Lenape District in a parade through Adrian to the fairgrounds.

The troop chose fire building as its theme. Six different types of fires were built and displayed. The boys demonstrated the use of flint steel to ignite fires.

During the afternoon's olympic competition, Barry Hall earned a third place in his age group in the running of an obstacle course.

During the Scout-O-Rama awards were presented to troops who had accumulated the most points throughout the year in the all out for scouting program.

The troop patrols brought home two ribbons as honor patrols and scoutmaster Bill Szabo and assistant scoutmaster Bill Raeburn were awarded scout masters' plaques.

Saturday evening an order of the arrow tap out was held. It is a solemn ceremony when new members are chosen.

Scoutmaster Bill Szabo and scout Barry Hall were chosen along with other scouts and leaders to join.

The participating boys were:

Dale Evans, Barry Hall, Richard McWilliams, Adam Moyer, Robert Pratt, Steve Raeburn, Bruce Raeburn, Gary Wilcox, Gregg Stoltler and Ron Pickell. The boys were accompanied by leaders Bill Szabo and Bill Raeburn.

Annual Boy Scout rummage and bake sale is May 26, 27 and 28 at the scout building from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Proceeds are for a troop trip to Algonquin Provincial Park.

Receive Awards

The final meeting of the 1976-77 year for the Town and Country Garden Club was held June 2, at the United Savings Bank Tecumseh.

The main feature of the meeting was a flower show, with entries designed by Club members.

Mrs. Jan Ocamb of the Little Garden Club of Tecumseh judged the entries and offered helpful comments.

Blue ribbon winners in the five classes included:

Class 1, "The Muffin Man", an arrangement for the kitchen , Linda Glenn; Class 2, "The Entertainer", an arrangement for the living room, Gretchen Lovett; Class 3, "Splish, Splash, I Was Taking A Bath", an arrangement for the bathroom, Linda McCall; Class 4, "The Days of Wine and Roses", an arrangement for the dining room, Laurie Henige; Class 5, "June is Busting Out All Over", an arrangement for the patio, Mary Sue Ferraro.

Mrs. Ocamb recently attended the meeting of the Michigan Federation of Garden Clubs and presented the following awards to the club:

The $25 Sears Award for the Club's work in the restoration of the Rock Garden at Hidden Lake Gardens; the Green and White Arbor Award of the State Federation, and second place award for the Club's yearbook. Mrs. Ocamb also announced that the national meeting of Federated Garden Clubs will be held in Detroit next spring.

Following the flower show, gifts were presented to outgoing officers, and the officers for 1977-78 were installed.

Refreshments were served by co-hostesses Gretchen Lovett and Dinah Wakeford.

The Club will have a picnic on July 16 at the home of President Barbara Schrader. Regular meeting will resume in September.

Classmates Attend Reunion

Thirty-seven classmates including guests attended the 50th anniversary of the Tecumseh High School graduating class of 1927 at the Cedar Shack on June 11.

Those receiving Rose Certificates from the Tecumseh Alumni Association in recognition of being a graduate of the 50th year class of Tecumseh High School and attending the reunion were:

Mervyn Boltz of Tecumseh, Garland Boyd of Livonia, Lillian Coller Bilby of Tecumseh, Gladys Covell Rogers of Andrews, Ind., Beatrice Cross Gilmore of Britton, Mary Dangler VanValkenburg of Morenci, Sylvia Daniels Greenwald of Adrian, John Wesley Erlenbush of Adrian, Margaret Gregg Hurlburt of Tecumseh, Catherine Hoag Penn of Jackson, Thelma Johnston Manwaring of Tecumseh, Marian Jones Groeschow of Adrian, Marjorie Ladd Liddell of Tecumseh, Eva Mark Breitkrenz of Port Ritchey, Fla., Helen Nyland Kubuski of Elyria, Ohio, Margherite Reid Baldwin of Howell, Leora Service Jones of Jackson, Grant Titley of Albuquerque, N.M., Clarence Waring of DeKalb, Ill. and Albert Williams of Tecumseh.

Letters were read from those unable to attend Dudley Arnold, Detroit, Genevieve Austin Rogers, Largo, Fla. and Minnie Pollitz, Detroit.

Names placed in memoriam were Webster (Jack) Conklin, Eldred Daniels, Ruth Haight, Rogena (Bell) Haight, Glenn Hines, Rosanna Kempf, Elwin May, Harley McConnell, William Morgan, Parke Nye, Beverly Shaw, Fay Whelan and Christine Wilson.

The laurel wreath of friendship, an emblem of victory and distinction, was used as a decoration. Its glossy leaves represented honor won by achievement in 1927 and represented honor with distinction in 1977, thus carrying out the class motto "Not honors but honor."

Other accents were the class colors of old rose and white and the pink tea rose, class flower.

Place cards of the graduates were marked with their picture taken from Senior Echoes of 1927, and a golden sticker with 50 encircled by the laurel wreath of friendship.

Arrangements for the anniversary were made by Marian Groeschow and Lillian Bilby assisted by Beatrice Gilmore and Margaret Hurlburt.

OLYMPIC ENTHUSIASM — Patterson's 1st through 3rd graders spent their last day in school mustering up the enthusiasm of the Olympics for their inter-school competition. Above, Todd Klanke turns and heads for home in the baton relay. At right, Chad Tonneberger accepts a ribbon from Mrs. Charles Gross with both enthusiasm and pride.

Plans Goodwill Tour

Allison Phillips of Tecumseh is preparing for a month long goodwill tour of three European countries with a week of intensive rehearals and orientation at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

She was selected by competitive audition and interview from last summer's Blue Lake campers to participate in the 83-member Blue Lake International Band, directed by Prof. Kenneth G. Boomquist, director of bands at Michigan State University. Students were chosen on the basis of character as well as musical ability.

The musicians will play at least one concert in eight cities throughout Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

The Blue Lake International Program was begun eight years ago with the formation of a 90-voice choir which toured Europe during the summer of 1970. This year 230 young musicians - a choir, symphony orchestra, concert band and jazz ensemble will represent Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, their individual communities, and the best of American youth - in a 28-day goodwill tour.

Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, located 15 miles north of Muskegon, is the second largest facility of its type in the country. Each summer, the camp offers 3,000 students intensive instruction in music, art, dance and theatre.

Missionary Society

The Frances DeVol Willing Workers Missionary Society of the Friends Church, met for its June meeting on June 1, in the church library.

Mrs. Sally Ruff, presented the program: "The Yearly Meeting Pioneer Project, "Strawberry" in the State of Florida.

A map of Florida, pinpointing the spread of the "Strawberry Plant" was displayed. A tape prepared by Mrs. William Wagner, the wife of the Florida director, was played. "It told of the work, and the workers in each area of the state.

Each member of the society wore a strawberry symbol, to the meeting as a reminder of the project and a reminder to pray daily for the workers and the churches.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Naomi Sallows. The devotions were by Karen LeVeck. The slate of officer for next year was presented and approved.

A picnic is planned for the Society and their families on June 21.

Scouts Awarded Arrow of Light at June Meeting

The arrow of light ceremony highlighted the June meeting of Pack 207. The meeting was held at cub master Boyd Larrowe's home, where everyone participated in a picnic and swimming.

Boyd Larrowe presented wolf patches to Tony Covell, Andy Covell, Billy Schuller and Steve Osterhout.

Webelo leader Sam Compton presented the following boys with the highest award in cub scouting the "arrow of light": David Larrowe, David Compton, Andrew Bick, Eric Thornton, Robert Temple and Gregg Schiller.

Athlete Tours the World

By Kathy Brown

He was city swim champ at 12. They told him he could see the country if he played tennis. He did. They told him could see the world if he bowled. He did and competed in 17 ountries.

He took fourth place in the world bowling tournament and they invited him to turn pro. "I want to win the world championship first," he said.

His daily regime includes jogging and-or tennis, swimming, weight lifting, bowling, biking. Yet despite his dedication to athletics, Eduardo Hernandez, a dynamo at 19, aspires to be a film director.

Hernandez, an exchange student from Pereira, Columbia attended Tecumseh High School the past school year to study English. He lives with the Jay Tressler family of 311 W. Chicago Blvd. Ed will begin his study of directing this fall at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in Pasadena, Calif.

Later this month, he will leave Tecumseh to teach bowling in Greenville, S.C. and continue his English studies. He has already completed four workbooks of that course. He did not speak English before this year in America.

Ed has already had one year at Medellin College, Columbia in business administration courses. He was graduated from LaSalle High School, a Catholic School in Columbia. Most of the high schools in his country are private. Catholicism is the major religion.

Ed's family resides in central Columbia. His hometown is mid the Andes Mountains where the temperatures average a balmy 78 degrees and the mountain air is day. He requested to be placed with a family near the ocean. Instead, his brother, Jaime, who preferred a winter climate, was selected to live with a family in California and Ed came to Michigan and experienced its coldest winter. It was his first encounter with snow and ice. Still Ed never complained, said his host family.

Eduardo also has a sister, Martha, a junior in high school in Columbia. His father owns two shoe factories and is a partner in a hospital. His mother is a homemaker.

With the help of ham radio operator Jack Tonneberger of Tecumseh, Ed was recently able to speak to his family while they were on a holiday in Bogota, Columbia. Castillian, a softer dialect of Spanish, is their language.

EDUARDO HERNANDEZ

His family history has an interesting note. Ed's maternal grandfather, an Italian politician, lived in exile in Argentina during World War I. Afterward he went home to Italy where Eduardo's mother was born. His grandfather later returned to South America as the Italian ambassador to Columbia. Ed, though Columbian, admits to liking Italian food.

Bowling is his favorite sport, one he has pursued for four and one half years. In 1974 he bowled his best game, 299, in the televised Junior Tournament of the Americas in Miami, Fla. and won the championship.

His bowling average is 212. He said it is the best of his Columbian teammates. He once beat the world champ, a fellow team member.

In addition to his titles, Ed has met people with government titles including Queen Elizabeth of England and celebrities such as Mohammed Ali and Paul Newman.

With such experiences as an athlete, one can only wonder what experiences he will encounter and what accomplishments he will achieve as a film director. Tecumseh is now almost an episode in his past.

Takes Course

Army Pvt. Jeffrey A. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donna J. Guire, 500 Occidental, recently completed advanced Individual training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

During the seven-week course, students received training which qualified them as light-weapons infantrymen and as indirect fire crewmen in a rifle or mortar squad.

FOREVER AND EVER

This picture was taken just a year ago. It was a perfect afternoon for a garden wedding reception. Joan and Kenny were so much in love.

Now, this morning, a letter came in the mail from Joan telling us that she is coming home. She's thinking about divorce — that the beautiful dream that she and Kenny shared has turned into a nightmare.

Naturally, her father and I will welcome her. This is her home and always will be. But this is a problem that we shall not try to solve by ourselves. We will turn, as we know Joan will, to our church, and to the very minister who both baptized and married her. Maybe all of us, working together, will find a way through God's Will and His Word.

The Church comes very close in times of stress. Remember that.

Searching for Qualified Families

Youth for Understanding, a non-profit organization, is searching for qualified families to share their homes with an exchange student for six months or a year, while getting an education from the experience.

Host families provide room and board for the student, making him or her a part of their family and daily lives. Program fees and the student's natural family take care of medical insurance, clothing expenses, and spending money.

Youth for Understanding is the largest exchange program of its kind in the U.S. It is endorsed by and receives an annual grant from the U.S. Department of State. Since it began 25 years ago, it has exchanged more than 55,000 students worldwide.

Families who wish further information may contact the local volunteer Youth for Understanding representative Mrs. Fred Shumaker, 456-7674.

JC Auxiliary Gives Awards, Installs Officers

A tribute to Dyke Helms was given by the Jaycees and Auxiliary, the exhausted roosters and the pooped pullets at the May 28 awards banquet.

Helen Escott read a poem "Bon Voyage," in memory of Helms, an active Jaycee supporter who died May 14.

His widow, Claire Helms, accepted the first "Dwight Helms Superstar Award" presented by the Auxiliary. The Jaycees are working on a special memorial award.

Marge Cunningham was presented with the super worker award from the Auxiliary by outgoing president, Della Beevers. Jane Petee and Terry Pinter received their spokette, first year awards.

Sparkette awards, one year, were presented to Patsy Bush, Barb Myers, Sarah Russell; second year, Laurie Foust; fourth year, Della Beevers; fifth year, Vickie Bush and Margie Ball.

The pooped pullets, Claire Helms, Helen Escott, Norma Wonderly and Pat Hoover, were each presented with an appreciation and support award.

Norma Wonderly received the most supportive pooped pullet award.

Barb Myers received the district and local outstanding spokette award.

Laurie Foust was outstanding local Jaycette and runner-up for the district title.

Sarah Russell received the outstanding chairman award; Vickie Bush, key woman; Terry Pinter, the president's award; Dan Bush, co-superstar award; and Kathy Brown, The Tecumseh Herald, for outstanding publicity award.

The outgoing auxiliary board included Barb Myers, vice-president; Vickie Bush, secretary; Jane Petee, treasurer; Sarah Russell, Janet Adams and Patsy Bush, directors and Laurie Foust, past president.

Vickie Bush was selected the 1977-78 auxiliary president. Serving with her are Terry Pinter, vice-president; Sarah Russell, secretary; Barb Myers, treasurer and Della Beevers, past president.

Ron Smith Takes Jr. High Medalist Honors

Tecumseh junior high school students were again given a chance to test their golfing prowess this year with an intramural golf league.

Around 36 seventh and eighth graders took part playing in two-man teams. All played six rounds of nine holes at Raisin Valley Golf Club during May and early June.

The teams received points for the lowest score on a hole and also for the lowest total score.

Ron Smith and Mary Wallich was the top team with 91 points followed by Mark Walters and Scott McDonald with 86 points and Steve Behnke and Dan Hall with 82 points.

Ron Smith captured medalist honors with 243 strokes for the six rounds. Darr Burnside had 266, Greg Scheuerman, 272; Scott McDonald, 274; Marty Wallich, 281; Dave Hall, 283; Mark Walters, 288 and Ryan Szymanski, 295.

The league was coordinated by junior high principal Don Berkley while Georgia VanKirk supervised the rounds.

Bank Starts Season With 11-3 Win

Tuesday Night

United Savings Bank started off the season defeating Tecumseh Merchants 11-3. Gene Cooley led the 16-hit attack with four hits. Mel Pardee hit a homerun for USB.

In game no. two, Tractor Village ran by Clinton Merchants 9-1. Dwight Loop and R.D. Borton each had three hits while Russ Caron hit a homerun. For Clinton Merchants, Dave Slusher also hit a homerun.

In the final game, Handley Equipment defeated Local Bingo 5-1. Leading hitters were Mike Servoss, Doug Duval, and Tom Grounds with two hits each.

Wednesday Night

Don Eaton paced the Loggers 14-1 victory over Wagon Wheel with two homeruns. Ken Roberts, Denny Kime, and Bob Vogel each added a homerun. All four batters had three hits each.

In game no. two, Erb's Chevrolet used 20 hits to beat Faraday 14-1. Tom Claus had four hits including a homerun. For Faraday, John Mell's homerun was the highlight of the evening.

In the final game-a rain-soaked effort-VFW outlasted Iott's Insurance 11-5. Al Schaffer paced the attack for VFW with a homerun to go with his three hits. Randy Dotson and Bill Smith also hit homeruns. The game was called after six innings because of rain.

Thursday Night

Game No. 1 saw Tecumseh Plywood outlast Ember's 10-7. Jim Reilly led the hitters for Plywood with four singles, while Sam Short hit a homerun to aid the attack.

In games no. two and no. three, George's Market had to play a double-header and got a double victory over Proctor's. George Heeman and Ike Harris had three hits each along with Fritz Martolok.

Game no. three for George's Market was a 16-1 score over Luper Plumbing, a five-inning decision.

Dan Gunder Awarded Golf Letter

Tecumseh grad Dan Gunder recently received a golf letter during the Grand Valley State College spring athletic awards banquet May 31.

Gunder is a senior at the college this year.

Indian Girls Fall in 1st Game of Regionals

After a late-season spurt that propelled them into regional competition, Tecumseh's softballers found themselves on the short end Saturday against Grosse Ile.

The Indians lost the first game of the regionals 9-6 and were eliminated. Grosse Ile went on to defeat Clawson 4-1 in the finals and take the regional championship.

Tecumseh jumped into the lead in the first quarter scoring three runs adding another in the third frame. But Grosse Ile finally got into the fray in the third staza scoring four runs doing the same in the fourth inning.

The Indians added a run to their cause in the fourth and another in the sixth. Grosse Ile also added a run in the sixth.

Each team had five hits. For Tecumseh, Gloria Fosbender had one single and one triple, Becky Hamilton, Karen Bunch and Kathy Kruger each added a single.

Lou Ann Harvey went the distance on the mound for the orange and black striking out two and walking five.

Coach Nancy Fisher commented, "Overall, I feel pretty good about it. The kids played real well. We had three errors in one area which hurt us. Everything came together in the last three weeks of the season. Everybody was connecting with the ball and we got the pitching when we needed it. I thought it was a good season overall even though the record doesn't show it."

The Indians only had one senior on the squad this year, Tori Iffland. And Fisher argues that next year the team will be that much more experienced.

Tecumseh finished with an overall record of 13-15, fourth in the Huron League behind Grosse Ile, Jefferson, and St. Mary's.

Airport Wins 6-1

Monday Night

In the first game of Monday night action, the much improved Airport team defeated Deerfield Co-op 6-1. It was a close contest until the fifth inning when Airport jumped ahead by three runs and then played a strong defensive game not allowing Deerfield any more runs.

Mastie led the victors with four hits while several Deerfield players reached base.

The second game of the evening was no contest at all as Dundee Products defeated DST 16-0 in five innings of play. Wittkoph pitched a two-hitter for Dundee and they had no errors in the game.

Mueller highlighted the fourth inning with a grand slam homerun.

The night cap proved to be an exciting finale. The lead exchanged hands between Ive's Body Shop and Doc's Fram and Axle several times throughout the night. Ive's finally defeated Doc's 10-9, Cindy Stock had a grand slam homerun for Doc's while Bunch, Berry, and McElroy led the hitting attack for Ive's with three hits each.

TCC Ladies in Monroe

Twenty-six ladies from Tecumseh Country Club were guests of Monroe County Country Club on Wednesday, June 8. Prizes were presented to the following winners.

Maurine Hannibal won low gross. Gloria Jahner, Ann Dodd, Laura Underwood and Joan Tucker all tied for low net. Marge Rohweder and Myrna Dowing tied for low putts.

Tecumseh Runners Place 2nd

Adrian came out on top in Clinton's unorthodox 24-hour non-stop marathon relay held from 5 p.m. last Thursday to 5 p.m. Friday.

The Maples ran a total of 232 miles to win over Tecumseh with 229 miles, Clinton with 215 and Manchester with 209 miles.

A total of 38 runners participated with 12 runners dropping out during the course of the event. Each man ran a mile with runners taking a turn every 55 minutes or so.

The relay was staged to raise money for Clinton's cross country squad.

Gaston's Jewelry store sponsored the Tecumseh team consisting of Jim Harris, Jesse Castorena, Lenny Castorena, Gilbert Sanchez, Joe Ruggirello, Randy Barnes, Jim McKinney, Kent Norris and Brian Banda.

All are members of Tecumseh's track squad except for Sanchez and Barnes.

Recreation Vehicle Show Scheduled for Sidewalk Day

A recreation vehicle and van showing will be featured at Tecumseh's annual Sidewalk Sale Day, July 22nd. Monday night, Council approved a request from the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce to bag meters that day and to provide free off-street parking.

The sale is annually one of the biggest - if not the biggest retail events sponsored by merchants.

Recreation vehicles, campers, trailers and vans will be on display on Chicago Blvd. near the four corners.

Businesses, clubs, or organizations which wish to participate in Tecumseh's sidewalk sale should contact Nadine Seitz, booth chairman, at Ken Ray's by the end of this month.

The sale will be a one day event this year, and is scheduled for Friday, July 22.

Mary Lou Dangler is general chairman. Others in charge include: Wes Proctor, entertainment; Esther Frost and Roma Fogelsong, raffle; D.J. Martin, chicken barbecue and ice cream social; Harvey Schmidt and Kent Downing, advertising.

$1.5 Million Settlement

MACON — Mr. and Mrs. John Banks, 8281 Clinton-Macon Rd., were awarded $1.5 million June 9 for loss of an arm when a modified tractor engine exploded and scattered shrapnel among the spectators during the Saline County Fair tractor-pulling contest in 1975.

The default judgement was made by Washtenaw County Circuit Judge Ross W. Campbell. The driver of the tractor that exploded, John Keck of Monroe, failed to retain counsel and file an appearance in the case, resulting in the default judgement.

Besides losing his right arm, Banks lost the use of some fingers on his left hand and suffered head injuries when the tractor, which was said to be equipped with a Sherman tank engine, blew up.

Renee Weidmayer, a spectator who suffered a broken nose and facial cuts and bruises in the accident, was awarded $25,000 by Judge Campbell.

Also named in the lawsuit on behalf of Banks and Weidmayer were the National Tractor Pullers Association, Michigan Tractor Pullers Inc., the Saline County Fair and the Washtenaw Farm Council.

The suite is still pending against these organizations.

290 Parading Here Friday

The 290 participants in this year's Cooperative Vacation Bible School will parade thru Tecumseh on Friday, June 24 as the finale of their week's theme: "Come, Follow Me."

Clergy and their teachers will join the children along with their projects and voices in song. For those interested in viewing the event, the parade will begin at 11 a.m.

It will move from St. Elizabeth's School down North Union Street to Shawnee, turning East to Ottawa then moving along Ottawa to Evans. It will proceed up Evans Street to Brown where it will turn left and return to St. Elizabeth's School.

PC Officers Are Elected

Officers elected at the last meeting of the Planning Commission are Harry Stanifer, chairman; Harrison Gonsor, vice chairman; and Janis Baker, secretary.

Other members of the commission are Robert Taylor, Lynn Cook, June Stone, Lawrence Wollenhaupt, Jack Brooks and Owen Merrill.

The commission has adjourned for the summer and is not scheduled to meet again until September.

Work Starts

Construction of a two-story, two-classroom addition at Tecumseh High School has started with a tentative completion date in early fall.

Robert Holmes, local contractor, is the builder.

FOCUS

on City Government

By Paul L. Preston, Jr.
Tecumseh's Assistant City Manager
and Community Development Director

City Council on May 16th approved the Municipal Budget of $1,702,691 for Fiscal year 1977-78. The development of a municipal budget is no different than the development of a family budget. You make every effort to match your income with your expenses.

In the case of the city there are many different sources of income: local property taxes, state collected taxes (income and motor fuel), federally collected taxes, local utility fees and federal revenue sharing funds. The total anticipated revenue from all sources is $1,679,744. The apparent deficit will be covered by a surplus in last years budget.

The budget is reflective of the needs of the community and its citizens for public safety, well maintained streets, clean water, effective sewage disposal and recreational opportunities for all residents, both young and old alike.

Two charts, explaining in graphic form the major sources of income and expenditures, are adjacent to the continuation of this article on the back page.

This year's budget represents a decrease of approximately $400,000 from the 1976-77 budget or 19 percent. Last year's budget included $505,000 in federal grants and bonds for major street improvements which are not included in this year's budget. Funds for Parks and Recreation were increased this year by $83,000 to cover the cost of four new tennis courts to be constructed this summer.

To give you an idea as to how the budget has increased over the years, the Russell Road Improvement Project, which was approved a few weeks ago for $260,000, was more than the total municipal budget of twenty years ago. The total municipal expenditures have doubled in the last ten years. This sounds like a large increase, but you must look at it in light of increased services for the community, for example; many miles of paved streets have been constructed, increased police and fire protection, more recreational facilities and a major expension of the water and sewer facilities are a result.

SPECIAL EDUCATION FACILITY RENAMED FOR MILTON PORTER

RENAME LENAWEE INSTITUTE

Honor Milton Porter at Dedication Sunday

Lenawee County Intermediate School District's special education facility on Sutton Rd., known as "Lenawee Institute," was renamed Milton C. Porter Education Center Sunday afternoon.

Nearly 300 attended the dedication program, honoring Porter for his contributions to education throughout the county.

Mr. Porter is in his 47th year as a teacher and administrator in the Lenawee County Schools. He has been a central figure in the progress of special education as well as vocational education in his years as superintendent of Lenawee Intermediate School District.

Porter was superintendent in 1949 when the special education services began.

The new name was selected to honor Porter, who was responsible for the center's growth. The term "Education Center" was selected to represent the variety of services offered at that site and does not allude to any student disability.

The 40 acre site was first purchased in 1964. The first building was erected in 1965 to house trainably mentally impaired students. It was the gift of an anonymous donor.

The program has grown in the last few years and currently there are five buildings serving over 200 per day.

An 8,000 sq. foot building to handle the increasing demand for special education services in the county is being considered by the board.

The name change was enacted by the Intermediate School District Board of Education to honor Porter for his more than 30 years as superintendent of the county school system.

At Sunday's program, R.C. "Doc" Danley Jr., of Blissfield, retiring board president, made the official proclamation of the honor and unveiled the sign bearing the new name.

Others on the program included Catherine Cobb, representing her late father, Ray Herrick, who was the original benefactor for special education facilities on Sutton Rd.

Speaking for the administrators were F. James McDowell, past superintendent of schools here, and Robert Duhan, present superintendent of the Tecumseh schools.

Invocation was given by Dr. Blair O. Bashore, and music was provided by the Tecumseh Shawnee Marchers. George W. Eidson, director of special education, was master of ceremonies.

Crash Kills Young Mother

Services were Wednesday morning at St. Dominic's Catholic Church for Teresa D. LaRose, 22, of Brooklyn, formerly of Clinton.

Mrs. LaRose was dead on arrival at Bixby Hospital Saturday morning, June 18, following a motorcycle accident. She was a passenger on her husband's motorcycle when the bike hit the back of a semi-tractor trailer at the Cambridge Junction intersection.

She was born Dec. 24, 1954, in Tecumseh to James and Jean (Baker) McDermott of Clinton, who survive.

She was married to Terry LaRose in July 1972 in Adrian. Her husband survives.

She was a graduate of Clinton High School, a member of St. Dominic's Catholic Church and employed as a traffic controller with the Michigan State Highway Department.

Mrs. LaRose also is survived by three sons, Matthew Michael, and twins, John David and James Joseph, and a daughter, Tracy Lee, all at home.

Other survivors include two brothers, Richard McDermott, Clinton, and Mark McDermott, who is stationed with the U.S. Air Force in Turkey; four sisters, Mary Suykerbuyk of Stanwood, Doris Sisty, Tecumseh; Susan McDermott, Ann Arbor; and Nancy Fittler of Brooklyn.

The Rev. Fr. James Lee officiated. A rosary was held Tuesday evening at Proctor Funeral Home, Clinton. Burial was in St. Dominic's Parish Cemetery.

Mr. LaRose has been released from St. Joseph Hospital, where he was treated for cuts and bruises.

2 Businesses Awarded Bids

City officials awarded two bids Monday night, one for maintenance of roofs on city buildings and one for raising a railroad crossing on S. Evans at Russell Rd.

Minton Painting & Roofing of Hudson was low bidder on the roofs with a bid of $1,291. Other recorded bid was Enterprise Roofing at $1,900. Work will be done on roofs at three well houses and the treatment plant.

A bid of $2,175 from Brady Sand and Gravel was accepted for work at the railroad crossing. Other bidder was Selders, which submitted a bid based on hourly costs of equipment and labor, but no firm figure.

9 Arrested by Police

Tecumseh police arrested nine this week, and investigated one report of malicious destruction in front of the General Telephone building on E. Chicago.

On Saturday, police went to the GT building and found three telephone booths damaged. The wires and hand receivers had been torn off.

A resume of arrests includes:

June 17 - Samuel R. Jahnke, 17, 500 Pawnee Hts., was arrested for harboring a runaway juvenile.

June 18 - Charles A. Emery, 43, of Rochester was arrested for being drunk and disorderly in the alley at 107 S. Evans.

Terry L. Liddy, 22, of 211 E. Patterson and John A. LaPeer, 24, of Clinton were arrested on drunk and disorderly charges on the south side of 107 S. Evans.

Police stopped Thomas W. Woodward, 27, of Blissfield in the 200 block of N. Pearl and arrested him for possession of drugs.

June 19 - Xavier Sanchez, 22, of 506 W. Chicago was arrested by police on W. Chicago for driving under the influence of liquor. He was also arrested for driving with a suspended license and had two old traffic warrants with Michigan State Police.

Daniel F. Dranginis, 17, of 701 Outer Drive, was arrested in the alley at 107 S. Pearl for possession of drugs and alcohol.

Robert L. Stankiewicz, 20, of Toledo and John S. Barabash, 21, of Toledo, were arrested for open intoxicants in separate incidents.

June 20 - Robert Lape Jr., 33, of 511 Cairns, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor on N. Evans. He was also charged with possession of drugs.

Organize in July

Annual organizational meeting of the School Board will be held on or before Monday, July 11. According to law, the meeting must be held between July 1 and the second Monday of July.

Exact date is expected to be scheduled at Monday night's meeting of the board.

Plans Completing Street, Bridge OK'd by Council

Council authorized the city manager Monday night to proceed with plans for construction of the rural section, or east end, of Russell Rd. to submit city's priority list as required to the government.

The rural section will include a new bridge over River Raisin with the cost of the street and bridge estimated at $470,000.

Of this amount, $183,000 will come from Federal Aid Secondary Funds, and $312,000 in Federal Works monies, as announced last week.

City manager Cal Zorn told Council that there will be a balance of $25,000 left and should be used to start Industrial Drive in the city's industrial park, just south of Russell Rd. and east of S. Evans St.

Construction of a new Russell Rd. is underway between Green Hwy. and Mill. Cost is $259,000 with $107,000 from Federal funds.

Zorn expects to submit the city's priority list to the government and then hopefully advertise for bids in August to complete Russell to Rogers Hwy. Officials expect the rural section from Mill to Rogers, including the bridge, to be completed by early 1978.

Rogers Paving To Cost $13,000

Council authorized the city to contract with the County Road Commission for resurfacing Rogers Hwy. within the city limits.

In his report to Council, Cal Zorn, city manager, said the county would be resurfacing Rogers this summer and had received an estimated cost of $13,000 from the county to do the city's portion of the highway.

Before Council's authorization, Mayor Harold Easton pointed out that the county's aggregate of bituminous concrete does not meet state highway specifications.

Zorn stated that Rogers within the city limits is approximately 3,740 feet in distance south of E. Chicago Blvd. At this point, about three-quarters of a mile, is where a new Russell Rd. will tie into Rogers.

Three other city streets are scheduled for paving this summer, but not with blacktop or bituminous concrete.

N. Occidental Rd. will be seal coated as will Conklin Dr., a first for the west section of this street. Also scheduled is the east section of Burt St.

City Denies Replacement

A request from Louis Caterina, N. Union St., to have the city replace two drive way approaches was denied by Council Monday night.

Cal Zorn, said the approaches were installed about 10 years ago, and he estimated the cost for replacement at $750.

Meeting Set for July 5th

Because the first Monday of July is the 4th, Council Monday night re-scheduled its first meeting next month for July 5th.

90 Mile Trip to Lansing

Tecumseh Cobra Patrol, Troop 272, just recently returned from a week-long hike from Tecumseh to Lansing. There, they observed the intricacies of state government and toured the Capitol.

The troop patrol left last Sunday, traveling 12 miles a day on their 90 mile trip. They camped at night in the pastures of various farmers along the way.

Mrs. John Covell was the only adult walking with the boys. Her son, Duane, is the patrol leader.

The boys received a special tribute from the Michigan legislature when they arrived Monday for serving as "an example and inspiration to the young people of our state and nation."

The United Methodist Church of Tecumseh is the troop's sponsoring organization, while John Demming is the troop leader.

Celebrates 52nd

The Lenawee County Normal Class of 1925 celebrated its 52nd anniversary at the home of Lillian Buttolph in Tecumseh, Wednesday, June 15.

There were seven classmates present, Bernice Ries of Blissfield, Mildred Tuttle of Rives Junction, Marion Allen of Wyandotte, Hildreth Rambow of Brighton, Florence Rathbun of Pittsford, Eloise Clark of Sand Creek, and Mrs. Buttolph.

One class member, Doris Forsythe, died this past year, and some were physically unable to attend. There were 17 in the class and fourteen are still living. A potluck noon luncheon was served.

A time of reminiscing followed, bringing members up to date on happenings of the past year. Also included were experiences members had in the one year of County Normal work in the Ward School of Blissfield. Mina Reed was the principal, Anna Lawrence, the Critic Teacher. She also taught the third and sixth grades and practice teaching in these grades with her supervision.

This teachers college started in Blissfield in 1906 at the High School on Jefferson St., and the last operating year was 1954-55 at Adrian College.

Mrs. Buttolph, invited the class to meet again next year, June 15, at her Evans Lake Cottage.

'Much Research and Thought'

Deborah Harris, director at Tecumseh Public Library, has informed The Herald that "much research and thought" went into the decision to microfilm issues of the local newspaper from 1930 to the present.

She points out that experts at the Bentley Historical Library in Ann Arbor were consulted, and they recommended discarding the post-1930 Heralds.

The Ann Arbor archivists reported that paper issued after 1900 is so poor in quality it becomes flaky and deteriorates in a comparatively short time. Also newspapers after 1900 would be less important from an historical and sentimental viewpoint.

In their report, the archivists said that microfilming local newspapers and discarding the original is a common practice in many libraries because of space problems. Microfilming, however is expensive and more difficult to use.

Ms. Harris said "we would not destroy the only copy of any document."

Such a statement is true, but The Herald pointed out previously that it was not a library and did not wish to function as one. The local newspaper will continue to retain past copies of the paper and obviously will serve as a source for past, local information.

ARTHUR SCHULER

Services for Arthur "Jake" Schuler, 51, of Cheboygan, were Wednesday afternoon at Clinton's United Church of Christ. He died in Petoskey Saturday afternoon, June 18. He had been in failing health since Dec. 1, 1976.

He was born in Kalamazoo April 25, 1926, son of Harold and Gladys (Genau) Schuler.

Mr. Schuler wasresident of Clinton most of his life and graduated from Clinton High School in 1944. He served in the U.S. Navy in World War II.

On July 20, 1946, he married the former Ruby Jean Anglemyre in Clinton's Congregational Church. She survives.

Mr. Schuler started his banking career at the State Savings Bank in Clinton, becoming a vice president before moving to Cheboygan Bank in 1969.

He was manager of the Mackinaw City branch bank and later became vice president at the main office in Cheboygan where he had served since 1971.

He was a member and former trustee for many years of United Church of Christ, Clinton.

The Rev. A. Dane Ruff officiated. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Report Wheat Before Harvest

Farmers who have planted wheat should report their acreage to the ASCS Office before harvest. Report corn, barley and grain sorghum by August 15. Failure to report such acreage may result in ineligibility for program benefits in 1978.

According to proposed legislation, if the Secretary of Agriculture declares a set-aside for 1978 crops, 1977 plantings could be used to determine set-aside requirements.

ASCS employees will make random checks of farms to verify that acreage reports are accureate.

Receives Bachelors

Judith Ellen Prochaska graduated magna cum laude and received her bachelor's degree from Western Michigan University at the recent second semester commencement.

One Reported

Tecumseh police investigated one accident this week - a fender-bender Thursday at the Tecumseh Country Club.

William A. Hubbs, 69, of Brooklyn, told police he began to pull from a parking space as Kenneth R. Smith, 60, of Adrian, was passing by. Hubbs attempted to brake, but hit the accelerator.

The Smith auto was then pushed sideways into a third parked vehicle, belonging to Arthur Peters of Adrian.

Answers To Some Questions About Guaranteed Direct Deposit Of Social Security Checks.
What is guaranteed direct deposit?
Guaranteed direct deposit means your check will be deposited in your account by the third business day of every month. You know it's in your account-we GUARANTEE it's there. You no longer have to wait for a deposit receipt or a statement to verify the deposit.
What are the advantages of direct deposit?
There are several. First you have no problem cashing your check because it goes directly into your account. Second, you don't have to make a special trip to the bank and stand in line to cash or deposit your check. Third, even if you are away from home, your check will be deposited instead of sitting in your mailbox. Fourth, the bank guarantees that these funds are in your account on the third business day of every month. Fifth and perhaps most important, you'll never have to worry about losing your check or having it stolen from your mailbox.
Suppose I change my mind about direct deposit?
You can cancel your direct deposit authorization at any time by notifying the Social Security Administration. Of course, you can still maintain your bank account if you choose.
What happens if the amount of my Social Security benefits changes?
Social Security will notify you at your home address of any changes in your benefits or in the Social Security program.
If I move, do I have to notify Social Security or will the bank do it?
If you move, you must notify Social Security of your new address and/or banking relationship. The bank cannot do this for you.
How do I sign up for guaranteed direct deposit?
Stop in at any office of the United Savings Bank and fill out the forms authorizing the bank to receive and guarantee deposit of your checks.

MR. and MRS. MICHAEL J. FEIGHT

Grandfather Weds Couple

The bride's grandfather, the Rev. W.R. Sommers and pastor, the Rev. A. Dane Ruff, officiated at the wedding of Deborah Kay Fogelsong and Michael J. Feight at the Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church on June 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Fogelsong, 102 E. Pottawatamie and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Feight, 1760 Russell Rd.

Cheryl Moll was the organist and the bride's brother, Bruce A. Fogelsong, played guitar and sang.

Candelabra and garlands of flowers and greenery decorated the altar and aisle for the bride's approach on the arm of her father.

For her wedding, the bride wore an ivory gown of sheer nylon with peau d'ange lace over taffeta. The high stand-up collar bodice and empire waistline were trimmed with pearls. The long full sleeves were gathered at the wrists with peau d'ange lace. The skirt was made of peau d'ange lace panels and the hemline was trimmed with a wide band of matching lace.

Her jewelry was a diamond pendant necklace, a gift from the groom. A peau d'ange lace and seed pearl crown secured her chapel length, ivory veil trimmed with matching lace.

She carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Janet Lay of Carlton was maid of honor in a light peach, sleeveless Qiana gown with V-neckline, empire waistline and sheer flowered cape. She carried an arm bouquet of Sonia roses and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Theresa Gargac of Curtice, Ohio; Barb Fulton of Huron, Ohio; Mary Merillat of Hudson, and Vicki Vescelius and Sherry Holmes, both of Tecumseh. They were attired identically as the maid of honor.

Douglas Feight, the groom's brother of Tecumseh was best man. Groomsmen were Daryl Royal of Hemlock, Jim Gingrich of West Branch, Bruce Fogelsong, the bride's brother of Tulsa, Okla., Steve Briggs and Mark Feight, the groom's brother, both of Tecumseh.

A reception for 350 guests was held in the Adrian Room of Ritchie Hall, Adrian College. A silver candelabra decorated the bride's table and individual centerpieces with hurricane lamps centered the guest tables of eight.

Twins Karen and Diane Milbauer registered guests. Linda Gabriel served punch. Marcie Kidder of Elkhart, Ind., and Judy Sommers of Huntington, Ind., the bride's cousins, cut the cake.

The newlyweds were graduated from Tecumseh High School. The new Mrs. Feight was a recent graduate of Flower Hospital School of Nursing and is employed as a registered nurse at Herrick Memorial Hospital. Mr. Feight attended Michigan State University and is a partner in his father's dairy farm.

Following a honeymoon in Brown County, Ind. and Cincinnati, Ohio, the couple will reside at 2542 Dinius Rd.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Hathaway House, Blissfield.

Nuptial Vows Spoken

St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, Adrian, was the setting for the marriage of Penny Westgate and Richard Sweet, June 18, before the Rev. D. Gieschen.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Westgate, Tipton and Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Sweet, Ives Rd.

Ruth Muehlenbeck was the organist and the soloist was Timothy Wiechmann.

White and mint green gladioli and carnations formed bouquet on the altar, which was flanked by candleabra trimmed with greens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white empire styled gown of polyester knit, accented with lace insets in the long sleeves, and beaded trim on the lace bodice.

A brimmed hat held the bride's veil, trimmed with matching lace. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and white eucharist lilies.

Anne Wright of Traverse City was maid of honor in a melon colored halter gown with a cap-sleeved matching jacket. Her brimmed matching hat featured a cluster of carnations at the back. She carried long-stemmed melon-tipped carnations.

Similarly gowned, the bridesmaids were Mrs. David Hale, Riverview, sister of the bride, in light blue; Mrs. Steven Westgate, Adrian, sister-in-law of bride, in yellow; Mrs. Scott Smith, of Byron, sister of bride, in mint green.

Best man was Herbert Bagby of Clinton.

Ushers were Nelson Sweet, Adrian, brother of groom; Scott Westgate, Tipton, brother of bride. Groomsmen were Ron Romas, River Rouge; Mitch Ball, Adrian; and Scott Smith, of Byron, brother-in-law of bride.

Dinner-dance reception was attended by 200 guests at Peerless Gear Union Hall, Clinton.

Assisting at the reception were Deanna Flynn and Cindy Sweet of Adrian and Yvonne Sweet of Wyoming.

Bride is a graduate of Onsted High School and a 1975 graduate of Central Michigan University. She taught learning-disabled students for two years in Bangor Township, Bay City and is now employed by Milton C. Porter Education Center.

Groom is a Tecumseh High School graduate and a 1975 graduate of Central Michigan University with a business administration degree. He is night supervisor at Michigan Producers Co., Adrian.

Upon their return from a week at a Colorado ranch, the couple will reside at 4845 Academy Rd., Adrian.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Country House.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD SWEET

Couple Speaks Marriage Vows

CLINTON — Denise Blom and Wayne Jones spoke their marriage vows before magistrate Ramona Plummer in District Court, Adrian, June 17, in an afternoon ceremony.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Blom, 107 Clinton-Macon Rd., and groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones, Mt. Jackson, Va.

Bride wore a long gown of forest green polyester trimmed with white lace, fashioned by the bride's mother. She wore a chapel length venetian lace veil of her sister, Mrs. Timothy Fero. She carried a nosegay of yellow rose circled by daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Phillip Blom, sister-in-law of the bride was matron of honor in a long gown of yellow polyester. White carnations and baby's breath formed her bouquet.

Phillip Blom, brother of bride, was the best man.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents was attended by 100 guests.

A feature of the buffet table was the four-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses, made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. LeLand Dowling of Onsted.

Bride is a 1972 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed at Ford Motor Co., Saline.

Groom attended Stonewall Jackson High School in Mt. Jac[illegible], and is employed at Oak Tree, Inc., Clinton.

The couple will reside in Clinton.

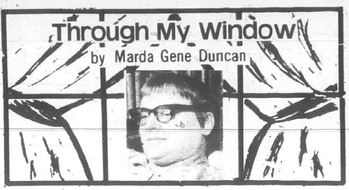
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



It is not uncommon for us to have breakfast interrupted or slowed down by exciting bird activity. The other day dinner was interrupted. Mom and I could not have been happier. The best of meals must take a back seat to redheaded woodpeckers, bluejays, and mourning doves. Especially when they are coming to the near-my-window feeders.

With gasp of astonishment Mom caught my attention. Both of us had trouble believing our eyes but there he was, as big and handsome as could be.

A redheaded woodpecker clung to the outside edge of the feeder. He was a bit shy about commiting himself and only his velvety red head showed above the feeding tray. How black his eyes were and how large his bone colored bill looked.

He finally stretched up enough to grab a sunflower seed and away he went. Fortunately not far though. Gliding up to the large limb on the walnut tree, he showed us his beautiful white and navy or black wings and his short bristly woodpecker tail with its pretty white edging.

Wow! All of a sudden there were two bluejays swooping down to the feeder. They were bright and beautiful. How surprised we were when, as soon as the second one landed, his wings spread and began quivering and his bill popped wide open. This was a youngster begging to be fed.

Usually the noise, the screaming, which accompanies this begging act is loud and harsh. Perhaps this kid was only doing a half-hearted job because he knew it would do no good. The other jay ignored him completely and soon he was eating on his own. Doing very well at it too.

Good gracious, the redheaded woodpecker was back again. He lit on the feeder the jays were not occupying and this time he scrambled to the middle of the tray.

Woodpeckers are beautifully efficient on tree trunks but their legs are positioned far enough back so that on a flat surface they look clumsy and awkward.

But this fellow was so pretty that who cared whether he was awkward or not. Mom and I certainly didn't — we were just thrilled beyond words to have him around. He was a big bird, full breast and oh, how clean and white his breast was. When he left, it was again up to the walnut tree.

By leaning over and looking up, Mom could see where he lit. It was the same spot he used before and yes, he wedged the sunflower seed into a crevice in the bark, then proceeded to crack it open.

About now a mourning dove decided to join the fun. There was a short battle of bluffing between the dove and one of the jays. Peace reigned when the bluejay moved to the other feeder.

Apparently while we were watching the redhead the second bluejay had taken off — with so much going on it was impossible to keep track of everything.

We quickly gave up trying to remember the order of dove, bluejay, woodpecker appearances. They were continually coming and going, sometimes it was orderly but again there were squabbles.

The funniest times occurred when the mourning dove was unfriendly and squeezed off the feeder. The dove would puff itself up until it was about twice its normal size. It should have been an intimidating sight but, as often as not, the bluejay ignored the whole thing. How embarrassing.

Mom and I soon noticed that instead of just one redheaded woodpecker there were two. The second was slightly smaller, rather thin through the chest and this white front was rather dirty. There seemed to be a yellowish stain on it. Perhaps a female showing evidence of recently sitting on a clutch of eggs? Anyway, when this redhead left the feeders she too usually flew to the walnut tree.

Finally Mom saw a third woodpecker. It was a brown headed youngster — unfortunately the parents did such a good job of taking food to the tree that the kid never did come down to the trays.

I'm really not complaining though because the birds we did see were marvelous. In fact, I remember exactly each of the birds and what they ate but I have not the foggiest notion of what Mom and I had.

AERIAL VIEW OF NEW COMPLEX OF ST. JOSEPH MERCY HOSPITAL

Herrick Foundation At Work

by Kathy Brown

A total of $700,000 from the Herrick Foundation, affiliated with the Tecumseh Products Co., was given for heart disease diagnostic facilities in the new St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

St. Joseph, which has provided health services to the community since 1911, is now relocated in the new 558 bed hospital at 5301 E. Huron River Dr. in Superior Township between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

While 30 percent of the patient care of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Washtenaw County serves Ann Arbor residents, 70 percent of the patients served are from outlying areas. This includes service to patients from the Tecumseh area.

The hospital cardiac unit contains the most up-to-date diagnostic, treatment and stress testing equipment. Included is the Cardiac Catheterization laboratory. Cardiac Catheterization is a technique which allows a cardiologist, a heart specialist physician, to determine need for treatment or surgery.

A dye is inserted into a patient's heart via a long, thin tube called a catheter. A television screen is used to view the dye's progress through the valves. A videotape of the pulsing heart is simultaneously produced.

The new hospital building and parking facilities are on approximately 60 acres of the 213 acre site. Total gross square feet of the building is 540,000; it houses 47 departments. New hospital cost $57.6 million. The use of campus type layout facilities allows individual department expansion.

Basic design includes the six-story patient care tower equipped with 520 single patient rooms. It also has three special care units: 18 surgical, 10 medical and 10 coronary intensive care beds, plus 50 bassinets.

Patient tower and two-story medical surgical service station are connected by a central spine, the design of which separates traffic patterns of inpatient, outpatient and emergency care. A professional office building will be completed in July at the southeast end of the hospital and be linked directly to emergency and outpatient centers.

Other unique features of the new hospital are:

The materials handling systems, AMSCAR (electronic carts system) and pneumatic systems. St. Joseph's Hospital is the first designed with "closed loop" AMSCAR which provides self-loading and unloading features. 12 AMSCARS are the main method of distributing supplies and meals throughout the hospital.

Carts operate on an underfloor track, distinguished only by dime-sized metal plates on the floor surface. AMSCAR can be stopped in its path by button or blocking a light sensitive eye. It operates in the food and supply area only and is not seen by the average visitor.

A computer controls the six-inch pneumatic tube system with 47 active stations. System provides a major transportation system for items of liter size. A pneumatic trash system delivers solid wastes to the power plant for incineration.

Patient meal system. The meal patient system chills the major portion of the meal and transports it to a holding refrigerator on the floor. Reheating is done on the patient floor in microwave ovens and meals can be delivered to patients with a heat loss of an estimated 1.4 degrees.

Complete fire detection. Automatic smoke barriers are located along every 150 feet of corridor, smoke detectors in each patient corridor and other critical areas. Air is filtered and tempered in all hospital space with air changes of between six and 22 times an hour.

Larger surgical suites. New hospital has 11 large surgical suites of 400 sq. ft. and four of 500 sq. ft. for open heart and major cases, plus two 300 sq. ft. cystoscopic rooms and a cast room.

Telecommunications. The advanced telecommunications systems feature dimension, direct inward dialing, dial paging, complete patient TV-educational center featuring in-house live television and teaching-educational channels.

A bit of the old. Stained glass windows were taken from the Ingalls chapel to the new chapel. Two, one of the Sacred Heart of Christ and the Immaculate Heart of Mary, were only recently uncrated and used for the first time in the new hospital. A video camera in the new chapel enables patients to view the services from their beds.

The new hospital will be dedicated June 26. All moves were completed on May 14. Nearly 300 physicians and 2,200 employees staff the hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Carlos Knisely were honored with a surprise lawn reception at their home Sunday, hosted by their children and Mrs. Knisely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Balk. The couple were married June 21, 1952 in St. Michael's Catholic Church, Monroe. Dr. Knisely opened his veterinary office at their residence at 106 S. Maumee in January 1958. Their children are Mrs. Thomas Huber, Norfolk, Va.; Daniel, Michael, Pat, Pam, Paula and Kristen at home. Guests came from Newport, Carleton and Tecumseh.

Singers to Appear

Springwater, a music group from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., will be appearing in concert in our area; July 1 at the Living Water Coffee House in Adrian at 8 p.m.; July 2, an outdoor concert for youth at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, 108 W. Brown St., Tecumseh; July 3 at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church at 9:30 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m.,a concert for every one.

Springwater, under the direction of ORU graduates Ted Jeans, is composed of five men and two women, all students from ORU, with majors varying from communication arts to psychology. The group is a branch of the original Springwater group which formed two years ago as the pilot group for the ORU Summer Music Ministries program.

Because of the success of that group, ORU continued its summer music program, and now has nine groups traveling throughout the United States this summer, singing in various denominations.

Springwater usually spends 2-4 days in each church during their 10½ week tour. Their program will include a variety of singing, sharing, and drama skits, which appeals to all ages.

The public is cordially invited.

Engagement of Barbara Nickel to Tom LaFerriere is announced by her mother, Mrs. Elry F. Nickel of Colon. Her father was the late Elry Nickel. Bride-elect is a recent graduate of Western Michigan University with a degree in elementary education. Mr. LaFerriere is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. LaFerriere, Tipton. He is a 1971 graduate of Tecumseh High School and a graduate of Western Michigan University in 1976. He is a first grade teacher in Menominee. An outdoor wedding on Aug. 20 is planned.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

I simply cannot understand why the City of Tecumseh would even remotely consider purchasing a golf course.

Either it would be a profitable operation — in which case it would be using tax-dollars to compete with private enterprise against a number of other privately-owned facilities in the area, or it would be run at a loss, which would mean that tax dollars were being expended on a non-essential service.

The Community Center, and similar municipally operated functions, can be perhaps justified on the grounds that if the City doesn't, who will? But golf courses, no way.

Respectfully,
Robert M. Williamson

FINANCIAL AID AVAILABLE FOR FULL AND PART-TIME STUDENTS

PERSONAL ATTENTION FROM PROFESSORS

Wayne Griffin, part-time student and real estate agent
"The pride of obtaining a college degree is especially important to me. However, it is not required at present for my career in real estate. The opportunities Adrian College offers in varied academic fields plus professional counseling are among the many reasons I chose Adrian."

Josie Green, senior, Clayton
"Some people think you have to go a long way from home to be independent, but it just isn't so. Living on campus at Adrian, I have all the freedom I need plus the advantages of learning with and from other students. If I want to go home, it's nearby, but in August I'll go to New York City to study merchandising in Adrian's program with the Fashion Institute of Technology."

Jamie vanArsdalen, sophomore, Morenci
"I always knew I was coming to Adrian College. The students are all so friendly, and the physical education department is one of the best in the state. This year I was fortunate enough to play with Adrian's state championship women's basketball team."

Vicki Witt, sophomore, Deerfield
"I always wanted to go to Adrian, but I just didn't think my parents and I could afford it. Then I talked with the Admissions Director and found, with help from the state and the college, I could go. I really like the small college environment. Many of my high school friends go here, and it's really easy to make new friends."

Elvira Rodriguez, senior, Adrian
"I came to Adrian for its bilingual program that will help me be a better teacher with American and Spanish American students. I'll be certified to teach Kindergarten through Grade 12, and I'm happy there's a college in my hometown that has this program. Faculty and staff members take an interest in you that really makes you feel welcome."

John Riley, sophomore, Blissfield
"I spent three hours on campus with my future department chairman on a Saturday afternoon even before I became a student. That kind of close student-professor relationship and individualized attention makes Adrian an excellent college to attend. If I could choose my college again, I'd still be here."

"I want to add my personal congratulations to graduating Lenawee County high school students. While school is out for the moment, it's important to remember education is a life-long process. Your next step, into higher education, may be closer than you think. With quality programs in many fields and individual attention for each student, Adrian College is a good choice for continuing your education. Whether you want a few courses to help with your job or a college degree as an investment in your future, I invite you to consider Adrian.

Financial aid for full-time and part-time students who will attend during the Fall, 1977, semester is still available. I'm glad I chose Adrian College and I think you will be too. Call me now at my home or at the office to talk about your future in education."

Society Ends Season

CLINTON — St. Dominic's Altar Society ended the season with a dinner attended by 20 members and the Rev. James Lee at the Country House, June 13.

Mrs. Carlos Knisely presided at the business meeting and announced profit of $786 was realized from the recent grandfather clock raffle. Winner of the clock was Pamela McGahey, a teacher at Clinton schools.

Fall Fesitval committees were organized. Mrs. Jacob Bauer and Mrs. John Toomey, co-chairmen, will call for pies and Mrs. Anthony Bandurski and Mrs. Mark Bauer will make caramel apples.

Mrs. E.J. Kehoe, Mrs. Doris Dubbs and Mrs. Helena Beck will collect items for grab bags and "trash and treasure" and plants.

Cookbooks will again be offered. Hot dogs, pop, ice cream and coffee will be sold in addition to the pies.

Kitchen chairmen Mrs. Leonard Salenbein and Mrs. Albert Salenbein will name their own committee.

Fr. Lee expressed appreciation for the parish response to the visit by Bishop Kenneth Povish for a recent weekend, when he confirmed 30 children on Sunday.

Altar Society members served at a reception for Bishop Povish after the Saturday Mass and two Sunday masses, when many parishoners met him.

This was the first visit to St. Dominic's by a reigning bishop.

Next meeting of the Altar Society will be in September.

Call the Herald

CLINTON — During the summer months when most of the local organizations are in recess, there is much more space available on the Clinton page in The Herald.

If you know of something interesting happening in Clinton or some folks who should be interviewed or just a bit about some visitors here or traveling there, just call Maxine Calhoun. I'm at The Herald office, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 423-2174 or at my home the remainder of the week, 456-4512.

I'll be glad to print your news if someone will just tell me about it. We want to cover the whole Clinton scene.

Baptized on Birthday

CLINTON — Matthew David Hoyt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoyt, was baptized Sunday by the Rev. Roy Wagner in the United Church of Christ.

Godparents present for the christening were the baby's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyt.

Mrs. Paul Hoyt is the paternal grandmother.

The occasion also marked the birthday anniversaries of Donald Hoyt and his twin brother, John.

Gett Is Injured on Motorcycle

CLINTON — Kelly Earlyn Gett, 15, remains in serious condition with multiple injuries in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, after a motorcycle accident, Monday night, at 8:45 p.m.

Kelly was a passenger on a motorcycle operated by Robin Lee Armstrong, 23, of 13133 US-12, two miles north of Clinton. The driver failed to negotiate the curve near Allen Rd. and ran off the west side of the road, ran into a ditch and both were thrown into a ditch.

Witnesses told Clinton State Police they observed the vehicle traveling at a high rate of speed.

Armstrong was cited at the scene for being drunk and disorderly. He was treated for minor injuries at Herrick Hospital and released. He was to appear in Washtenaw County for arraignment on these charges Wednesday.

Miss Gett, a freshman at Clinton High School, is the daughter of Mrs. Sally Johnson, 11804 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

NOTE: Last week's recipe for Homemade Salami should read 1 tsp. mustard seed and 1 tsp. dry mustard, not "or."

Summer is a good time to watch your weight and here is a refreshing beverage and cool dessert, low-caloried, of course, to help.

These are award winning diet recipes from the Faygo company and sound very good.

BERRY DELIGHT

1 cup chilled diet Faygo Black Raspberry
5 cracked ice cubes
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup frozen strawberries
1-3 cup non-fat dry milk
2 tsp. artificial sweetener

In blender jar place diet Faygo Black Raspberry, ice cubes, strawberry, vanilla extract, dry milk, powder, and sweetener. Stir mixture with a spoon, then blend slowly to mix well. Pour into tall glass and serve with spoon. Thin with more diet Faygo if desired. Serves 1.

FAYGO EASY POP PIE

¾ cup cottage cheese
2 cups diet Faygo Red pop
1 cup frozen sliced strawberries, reserving ¼ cup juice
1½ envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 envelope low-calorie whipped topping to make ¾ to 1 cup
1 9 inch pie shell

Turn cottage cheese very gradually into electric blender. Gradually add diet Faygo Red pop and blend until smooth. Drain ¼ cup strawberry juice into cup. Sprinkle gelatin and allow to soften in the juice. Place cup in pan of boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Blend into cheese mixture gradually. Prepare whipped topping according to label directions in large bowl. Stir in small amounts of cheese mixture and strawberries blending smoothly with large spoon. Refrigerate until partially set. Pour into baked 9 inch pie shell. Refrigerate until set, about one hour. Serve with more whipped topping or fresh strawberries.

Note: Other flavors of diet pop may be combined with different fruits; diet Faygo Pineapple-Orange with pineapple chunks, diet Black Raspberry with fresh raspberries, or diet cherry-berry with sweet cherries or sweetened blackberries.

See you next week. Hope to hear from you.

Tecumseh Public Library is trying to fill gaps in its collection of Tecumseh High School annuals. Missing years are "Senior Echoes" — 1922-26, 1934, 1935, 1939, 1950, 1963 and 1968; and "Anath" - 1971.

If an old annual from one of these years is languishing in your attic, it could find a new and active life at the library.

Librarian Deborah Harris reports they are especially useful now since the library staff is trying to identify people in many old photographs from the historical collection.

CLINTON — Clinton Area Jaycee Auxiliary members were given a presentation on a possible photo coupon project fund-raising idea for Fall Festival during a recent meeting.

Explanation was made of the requirements for the JC Auxiliary scholarship of $200 recently awarded to senior Cindy Haskell.

Award is given on the basis of the individual involved in the most extra curricular activities.

Pam Hunt reports there are still a quantity of kiddie's safety car seats available through the Buckle-up-Babes project. For information call 456-6677.

Auxiliary members will assist JC's with the July 17 chicken barbecue in Clinton.

Local Auxiliary officers planned to attend the orientation session at Dexter this week.

A co-ordinators orientation will be held June 30 in Tecumseh, and the group's representatives will attend.

President Mrs. Dennise Roberts will host the board meeting at her home at 7 p.m. June 27.

Jaycee Auxiliary and Jaycees will begin an effort to co-ordinate activities more closely. A joint meeting of the two groups will be held July 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Pizza Pit.

The executive board met Wednesday this week to begin plans for the fall fund raising campaign.

Board Fills Vacancies

CLINTON — At the recent meeting of the Clinton Township Library Board, board was advised the recent appointments of Nick Holt and Karen Bolgos to fill vacancies were approved by the township board.

Mr. Holt and Mrs. Bolgos attended the meeting.

Resignation of Harry Comstock was accepted as he has been appointed to fill the position as township trustee to fill the balance of the term of Robert Winder who has moved.

Library board will make a recommendation to fill the Comstock vacancy, which must be approved by the township board before announcement.

Seniors Told About Wills

CLINTON — Shamrock Senior Citizens will meet for crafts at 10 a.m. Thursday, June 23. They are to bring sack lunches for noon.

At 1 p.m. James Sheridan, assistant attorney for City of Adrian will talk about, "Probating Wills and Probate Laws."

On June 30, the group will have a picnic at Ella Sharpe Park, Jackson. Meet at Smith-Kimball Community Center at 10:30 a.m. Call Joy Raczkowski, 456-7661, for information about the lunch.

Restorations Are Shown

CLINTON — Restoration of Ford Model-A automobiles as a hobby was the subject of the program for the Historical Society of Clinton at the meeting June 14.

Antique car hobbyists, Dr. Richard Dixon, Stanley Gibbard and Wesley Proctor, drove their Model-A's to the Community Center, where they described their restoration.

Many books are available and parts are often obtained at swap meets for car buffs.

Next meeting will be held in September.

Hobby Club Holds Meet

CLINTON — Luncheon at the Country House was enjoyed by 14 members of the Clinton Hobby Club and two guests, Mrs. Carl Garrison and Mrs. George Bowman, June 8.

Afterward the group returned to the home of Mrs. Dan Reilly for an afternoon of cards.

Next meeting is July 20 at 1:30 p.m. with the place to be announced.

Eager Beavers Install Officers

The eager beavers of the Tecumseh Jaycee and Jaycee Auxiliary celebrated their installation and awards banquet at the American Legion May 28 with the theme "We Give A Dam."

Among those presented awards by outgoing Jaycee president Ray Russell was Dan Bush, chairman of the Al Meyers Airport Dawn Patrol sponsored this year by the Jaycees and Auxiliary.

Bush received the Jaycee of the month, committee of the year and project of the year awards in conjunction with the Dawn Patrol and the spark plug award.

Tom Thayer, the 1977-78 Jaycee president and past second vice-president of 1976-77, received the president's award from Russell.

Gene Foust was named Jaycee of the quarter. David Swardstrom, 1976-77 secretary, received the 60-day activator award.

Harold Petee, 1976-77 director of the Jaycees, received the Jaycee of the year, key man and "thief of the year" awards. He and his wife, Jane of the Auxiliary, received the Mr. and Mrs. Tecumseh Jaycee of the year award.

Tom Ball, 1976-77 district M-2 director, received the coveted Beemer award. The "Beemer Memorial Award" is a traveling award and given each year only if the high standards are met. Criteria include dependability, enthusiasm, responsibility, personal assistance, promotion of the Jaycees, inter-club relations, district and state participation and individual growth.

Ball also received the "dad of the year" award.

Walt Wonderly and John Day of the exhausted roosters, were each presented with helpfulness award.

Bill Groulx, owner of Airport Bowl, was presented with a service and appreciation award from the Jaycees for assistance.

Mrs. Allen H. Meyers received a plaque for outstanding and dedicated effort during 1977 in conjunction with the Al Meyers Airport Dawn Patrol.

Accepting the award on behalf of the Airport, she said the Jaycees have raised the "spirit and caliber of the dawn patrol to that of past years, not only as a credit to Allen H. Meyers but the city of Tecumseh."

Ken Beevers was elected as the district M-2 director replacing Tom Ball. District includes eight chapters in this Southeastern Michigan area.

Frank Myers, 1976-77 treasurer was also recognized as were other outgoing officers.

Jaycee board for 1977-78 is: Tom Thayer, president; David Swardstrom, first vice-president; Dan Bush, second vice-president; Frank Myers, treasurer; Tom Bartlett, director and Ray Russell, board chairman.

Theater Comes Alive

The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre of Manchester, will begin its summer season with the Neil Simon comedy "Star Spangled Girl." The play will take place in a theatre that was built in 1867. It is undergoing renovation for the July 6 opening. Renovation work is being done by members of the Association for the Performing Arts of Manchester, Michigan.

The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre is a division of the Association for the Performing Arts, formed this past February when its officers Stan Gill, Owen J. Anderson and James R. Fleming decided to form a corporation to promote the arts and assist artists to pursue their art forms.

The building that houses the theatre was recently purchased by Chris and Tim Hoover after being occupied for a number of years by the Emil Jacob Post 117 of the American Legion. The Hoovers own the Black Sheep Tavern, Manchester. The theatre will offer dinner-theatre packages to groups and individuals in cooperation with the Black Sheep Tavern.

Star Spangled Girl is a comedy that deals with two young men struggling to put out a protest magazine, and the girl next door who sends them both into a romantic tail-spin.

The Theatre's summer season runs July 6 through Oct. 1. Wednesday through Sunday. Other plays to be presented are "The Roar of the Greasepaint," "The Smell of the Crowd," Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," "The Owl and the Pussycat" and "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris."

For reservations and information interested parties should phone (313) 428-9280.

Earns MD Degree

David Laidlaw, formerly of Tecumseh, received his M.D. degree June 3 from the University of Michigan Medical School.

A total of 227 new physicians were awarded diplomas during ceremonies at which polio vaccine developer Jonas Salk, M.D., addressed the class.

One of the largest and oldest medical schools in the nation, the U-M has now graduated 13,247 physicians since its founding in 1850.

The new graduate is the son of Dr. Robert Laidlaw of 10201 S.W. 60th Place, Miami, Fla.

He was previously graduated from Williams College, Williamstown, Mass. in 1973 and Tecumseh High School in 1969.

Society Officers

At the June 8 meeting of St. Elizabeth's Rosary and Altar Society new officers were elected.

They are Mrs. Philip Marvin, Mrs. James Knierim, Mrs. Paul Salters, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ann DeLisle, president, and Mrs. Harry Vischer, recording secretary, Mrs. William Meni, corresponding secretary.

About 60 women were served a potluck dinner.

Former presidents of the society were introduced and presented with a corsage. Catherine Gotschalk was introduced as the oldest member of the parish.

The upcoming parish picnic on July 17, to be held on church grounds, was discussed.

The group adjourned for the summer. Next meeting is Sept. 7.

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"Energy conservation makes good financial sense."

Earl Shiflett, Engineer, GM Assembly Division, Baltimore, Md.

"We've spent over $3.7 million in this plant on energy conservation programs. Economically, the costs are justifiable when you look at the financial payback. The amount of energy we use to build a vehicle here has been reduced significantly since we started our program in 1973.

"GM plants all have energy conservation committees. Each plant submits ideas and they're dispersed throughout the corporation in an energy conservation manual. We've also published a booklet called '101 Ideas at Work.'

"We've initiated a lot of programs that have resulted in energy reductions. We installed heat exchangers in our paint oven exhaust stacks to utilize our waste heat. By bringing in the fresh air across a counterflow heat exchanger, we preheat the incoming air up to a temperature around 200°. That has reduced our natural gas consumption considerably.

"Anytime we have nonproduction weekends, we shut off our boilers entirely. Usually, you maintain your boilers for minimum building heat so that you don't freeze your water lines. That was a common practice. As long as the outside air temperature is greater than 35°, we turn off the boilers. Now, Monday mornings are cold, but that saves approximately 25,000 gallons of fuel oil a weekend.

"We also have a computer system to turn production equipment on and off simultaneously so that some equipment won't be started up ahead and use up extra energy. The computer also gives us better control over our heating and ventilating equipment.

"We have a tight-knit group of people here, anxious to share their knowledge and experience. Some of us are graduate engineers; some have years of working knowledge. We're all concerned with the situation facing the country as far as energy and we're going to do our part."

For your free copy of "Industrial Energy Conservation, 101 Ideas at Work," just write to us on your company letterhead: Room 1-101, General Motors Corporation, 3044 W. Grand Blvd., Detroit, Michigan 48202.

Schroeder Elected as Chairperson

BRITTON — JoAnn Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schroeder and a junior from Britton-Macon High School, was elected Nationalist party chairperson, at the 37th annual American Legion Auxiliary Girls' State held at Olivet College in Olivet June 11-19.

JoAnn is president of student council, a varsity cheerleader and a member of the National Honor Society.

The Girls' State participants learned by doing as they formed 21 cities of 24 citizens each and took part in carrying out details of city, county and state governments. A government specialist served as counselor to each group.

They became familiar with the electoral process by competing for public office and sharing in formulating public policy and laws for their mythical cities and counties.

NEW LOOK FOR TORY BAND — Jeff Judkins, band member, models sample of new Britton-Macon High School marching band uniform, in red with white trim. He is holding the concert jacket, also in red with black velvet collar and tie. Pants are in black. Band Boosters have been busy with various money-making events to raise money needed to purchase the uniforms for the band. Cost of each uniform is approximately $200. Latest fund-raising event will be Sunday's Chicken Barbecue in the school cafeteria. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

Blue Gills Win

BRITTON — Blue Gills were winners in the Sunday School contest at Bethel Baptist Church.

Since the Sun Fish were losers, they are to provide chicken and hot dogs for the Sunday School picnic Saturday. Activities begin at 2 p.m. at Britton Park, with Bill Bartenslager and Lauren Gall in charge of recreation. Picnic supper is 4:30 and everyone bring own table service.

Regulars of the church, youngsters and parents attending Bible school are invited to attend by the Pastor Gerald Booth.

Concluding program of vacation Bible school is Sunday at 7 p.m. with pupil participation, handcraft display, slides and tape of the weeks activities. Awards will be presented with fellowship time to follow.

Bible School at Methodist

BRITTON — Vacation Bible School at Grace United Methodist Church climaxed it's week on Sunday morning with the students presenting the opening portion of the worship service. They presented their theme song, "Tell Me The Stories Of Jesus", pledges and led the congregation in the Lord's Prayer.

The third and fourth grade class sang the "Butterfly Song". Each class learned these presentations during the five mornings of Bible School classes, and Jesus's teachings of "Forgiveness, Growing, Obeying, Loving Jesus First, Loving Others and Being Content".

The Rev. John Roach, treated the students and congregation to magic to compliment his Biblical message, in the completion of the worship service.

An average of 66 area students attended each day. Crafts were on display during the Sunday service. The mission for the week was to help each other and $33 was given to the Chelsea Retirement Home to help maintain this nursing home.

Teachers for the week were Linda Cisle, Sandra Olds, Kathy Rundell, Donna Seagert, Janet and Barb Wagner, Sharleen Burgess, Connie Butler, Dawn Haas, and Rita Handley.

Helpers during VBS week were Laurie Eccleston, Janice Bishop, Sherri Haas, LeAnn Price, Debbie Johnson, Jackie Bortel, Allison Judkins, Nina Bower, and Dottie Palmer. Edna Bortel served refreshments.

Approximately 120 students and parents joined together Friday noon for a hot dog roast at the church.

Astronauts Hold Party

BRITTON — Junior Astronauts of Bethel Baptist Church had a swim party at the home of Mrs. Milburn Preston Friday evening.

Following the swim the group returned to the home of Mrs. Rex Kelly of Tecumseh for pizza, chips and soft drinks.

Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. James Lister (nee Anita Downing) of Stockbridge, visited their parent's Sunday in honor of "Father's Day". Both are teachers in Stockbridge.

Church Sponsors 'Tuesday School'

BRITTON — The Britton Congregational Christian Church will sponsor a "Tuesday School", June 28-July 26.

"Tuesday School" is a weekly opportunity for young people to enjoy a day of combined recreation and learning adventure.

Tuesday of each week during the program a special outing is planned which young people from Kindergarten through High School may participate. No church affiliation is required.

Dates and places are:

June 28 — Kellogg plant, Battle Creek

July 5 — Greenfield Village, Dearborn

July 12 — Ford Motor Co. Rouge Assembly Plant and Strip Steel Mill, Dearborn

July 19 — No trip — Vacation Bible School held daily this week 9-12 a.m.

July 26 — Recreational day, place to be announced July 12. Swimming, softball, picnic, volleyball, etc. planned.

The Rev. and Mrs. David Hawk are the primary supervisors. Adult drivers will assist and high school participants are asked to help look after the smaller children.

Departure time from the church is 9 a.m., returning at 3:30 p.m.

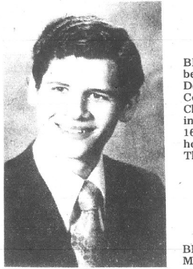
Each child is to bring a sack lunch. Punch will be provided by the Tuesday School.

Families with participating young people are to provide an adult driver and car for ONE of the trips. Scheduling will be done by the supervisors.

Costs are: Kellogg plant (free); Greenfield Village, $1.00(Special group rate); Rouge tour, $1.50 for bus rental. Other costs are the young people's expenses.

Interested young people should contact Pastor Hawk for a permission slip for their parent's signature. Call Pastor at 451-5373.

Back row, Judy Loomis, fifth grade; Calvin Frayer, third grade; Scott Dusseau, fourth grade; and Kevin Benham, sixth grade.



MARK BUSH

Earns AS Degree, Data Technician

BRITTON — Mark E. Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell G. Bush, 9541 Pennington Rd., received his associates degree, graduating with high honors, as data technician from Washtenaw Community College, on June 18.

While at Washtenaw, Mark received academic achievement recognition and was placed on the dean's honor list all five terms.

He worked as a teacher's aide, doing computer and related work in the Economics Dept.

Mark graduated from Britton-Macon Area School in 1975. He is presently attending Eastern Michigan University to obtain a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Dorcas Class Meets

BRITTON — Twelve members and three guests of the Dorcas Class of the Britton Congregational Christian Church held a potluck dinner in the Fellowship Center June 16. Mrs. Myrtle Headley, hostess was assisted by Mrs. Theo Willis and Mrs. Helen Osterhout.

Business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Osterhout, class president. She opened by reading a poem, "No Greater Blessings" by Kay Andrew.

A cheer card was signed by class members and sent with a gift to Mrs. Carrie Murphy, who had been hospitalized for several days.

Mrs. Effie Gibson, substituting for Mrs. Beverly Fournia, Devotions and Program chairman, began with the "Lord's Prayer". She also read favorite quotations from the Bible as published by the Reader's Digest. Passages were from James, John, Job, Matthew, and Jeremiah.

Mrs. Mae Willis read "Think of Our Lord as Speaking to You" and Thelma Younglove read "Prayer" by Elsetta Williams.

Reunion for Class of '72

BRITTON — The Britton-Macon High School Class of 1972 will hold their five-year reunion Sunday, June 26 at 1:30 p.m. in the Britton Park.

Members bring a meat dish to grill, a dish to pass, and own table service. Bring bats, balls, gloves, etc. for recreation following the picnic.

For further information call 451-8538.

Barbecue

BRITTON — Britton-Macon Band Boosters are sponsoring a chicken barbecue Sunday, June 26 at 11:30 a.m. in the school cafeteria.

Chickens will be prepared outdoors, but served in the school cafeteria.

Homemade pies will also be on the menu.

Money earned from the barbecue will go into the band uniform fund.

Bike-a-thon

BRITTON — Sixth and seventh grade Bike-athon will be held Saturday, June 25 by the young people of the Congregational Christian Church.

The youngsters will ride 20 miles, beginning and ending at the church. Funds generated through this effort will be used for a missions project of the young people's choice.

If not contacted by a youngster with a sponsor sheet, call your pledge to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morgan, 451-8198

By teaming up the Solarmate Hot Water System with your new or existing water heater, you'll have a dependable source of solar preheated tap water.

The performance of Lennox sollar collectors has been proven in government and industry projects across the country. We've combined them with our Solarmate module, a single preassembled unit replacing the costly field installation of separate controls, pumps, storage tank, plus most of the piping and wiring.

Here's a reliable way to begin an energy conservation program in your home or business. In many cases, the resulting savings will offset the initial equipment cost after a very few years.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Jimmy Harris who died three years ago on June 22, 1974. Deeply missed by his mother and brothers.

June Harris and sons,
Mike, Mark, Vance and Steve
6-23p

In loving memory of George Henry Jr. who passed away 6 years ago today June 24, 1971.

So many things have happened.
Since you were called away
So many things to share with you
Had you been left to stay
We cannot bring the old days back
Ways of the World are such
But we have many pleasant memories of the one we loved so much.
Sadly missed by family

Feeler gauges are invaluable tools for measuring the thickness of very small openings and slots. They are especially helpful for car repair jobs. They can check for gaps between spark-plug electrodes, relay contacts, and points, as well as check valve and tappet clearances. You can also use them to fit rings, pistons and pins, and to check gears. Feeler gauges are a series of leaves or wires, connected at one end in a set. Leaves range from .010 to .025 inch; wires range from .017 to .035 inch. Measure a space by trying to fit different leaves into the gap until one of the leaves finally fits tightly.

Tecumseh Merchants Score 1st Victory

Tuesday

The second week of the season started off with Tecumseh Merchants getting their first victory at the expense of Clinton Merchants. The game was a 7-4 affair. Dave McLoughlin led the offensive attack with two hits, one home run, and a walk. For Clinton Merchants, Terry Reiser had a home run.

In the second game Handley Equipment took over first place. In the bottom of the seventh inning trailing Tractor Village 7-5, there were two men on base and two outs. Mike Servoss hit a home run to enable Handley to win 8-7.

R.D. Borton had four hits for Tractor Village.

In the final game, Local 429 edged United Savings Bank by a score of 9-8. Ken Davis had the key hit with two men on in the bottom of the sixth inning. Rick Durkee had three hits for USB.

Wednesday

VFW started the evening off with a 12-7 victory over Faraday. Darrell Bozeman had three hits to pace the winners and Gordie Whelan added two home runs.

In game two, Iott's Insurance let loose for 16 runs and 15 hits to bury Wagon Wheel 16-1. Danny Iott led the winners with three hits. Bob Bivens of Wagon Wheel had a home run for Wagon Wheel.

The finale had Loggers pull out a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over Erb's Chevrolet. Loggers scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth for the victory. Ken Roberts had two hits for the winners.

Thursday

Ember's won their first by defeating Luper Plumbing 14-11. Tom Horton led the victors with three hits, while Tommy Aiuto added a home run. Ed Clark hit a round tripper for Luper.

Proctors came from behind and closed the gap on Tecumseh Plywood in the second game. But Plywood hung on for a 11-7 victory. Doug Fowler had three hits including a home run. Pete Dermyer also hit one for Plywood.

In the final game Proctors bounced back and grabbed victory no. one by defeating George's Market 12-8. Doug McLeod, Brian Schick, and Mike Corley all had three hits a piece to pace the attack. Chuck Gurtzweiler led George's with four safeties.

Red Sox, JC's Win 2

Minors

The Red Sox started the week with two victories — one over the Royals 7-2 and the other over the Orioles 8-1. In the first game, Garry Richardson struck out 12 batters, and in the second game, Craig Rudolph struck out 16. The Royals bounced back later in the week and beat the Tigers 2-0. Kevin Johnson led the Royals with two hits.

The Orioles gained one victory last week by defeating the Athletics 12-9. Tom Foster paced the Oriole attack with three hits including a home run.

Sean Murphy had a homer for the Athletics.

The Tigers pulled a 13-12 victory out in the bottom of the sixth inning over the Twins. Tim McFadden had two hits for the winners.

The Braves also won two games. First, they defeated the Angels 24-2 and then they snuck by the Twins 19-15. Both games were won on walks.

Finally, the Athletics won a walk-filled contest by a 24-7 score over the Angels.

Majors

The JC's have taken the lead with two tough victories after the first week. The first game was an 8-3 victory over Rotary. Ken Kuryzniec was the winning pitcher. He struck out 10 batters and also hit a home run and a triple.

The second game was a 6-5 come-from-behind victory over UPW.

With two outs in the bottom of the sixth, the JC's scored three runs to win the game. The winning hit was a triple by Wayne Starkey.

Kiwanis got their first win by defeating Police 9-5. Mickey Hyatt was the winning pitcher as he struck out 14, gave up only three hits, and a home run to Jim Hite. Wally Harvey led Kiwanis with two hits and Matt Allen had a key double with bases loaded.

Credit Union also put a victory in the win column by defeating Plywood 12-7. Dave Williams had three hits for the winners.

Police came from behind for their victory to defeat Rotary 8-7. Jim Hite had three hits for Police.

UPW clobbered Plywood 17-6. Jeff Barnes had three hits including a home run.

Airport Bowl Wins

Monday

In the first game of the evening, Airport Bowl continued to strike down their opponents by defeating Ive's Body Shop 16-1 in five innings of play. Faulkner led the hitting attack for Airport with a three-run homer in the fourth.

Dundee Products handed Doc's Frame & Axle their second loss of the season by defeating them 12-6. Dundee jumped out in front in the first inning and never lost that lead, although Doc's threatened with five runs in the third.

Deerfield Co-Op handed DST their third straight loss by defeating them 25-12. DST stayed within striking distance until the sixth inning when Deerfield added six runs and then put it out of reach by adding six more in the seventh.

Albough and Iott each collected four hits for their victors, while Palmer had a home run for the losers.

Jacobs Takes Golf Tourney

Tecumseh High School grad and former varsity golf player Doug Jacobs won the season's first Lenawee County Golf Association tourney.

The contest was held at Centerview Golf Course last Saturday and Jacobs needed a two-hole sudden-death playoff to notch the win.

Jacobs was tied with Keith Richardson, of Adrian, both with a 74 after the regulation round. Richardson came up with a bogey four on the second play-off hole giving Jacobs the victory.

Indian Cagers In Tournament

Tecumseh's varsity cagers are using the summer months to polish their game participating in a summer tourney this Friday and Saturday.

The Indians are taking part in the First Annual WLEN Summer Basketball Tournament to be held at Adrian College. Tecumseh's first contest will be against Adrian-Madison at 3:30 this Friday.

If they win, they'll advance to face other teams in the tournament.

Some of the 16 teams participating in the tourney include: Adrian, Milan, Bedford, last year's state semi-finalist Buchanan, Saline, Hudson, Britton, Morenci and Whiteford.

Tournament finals will be Saturday and admission is free both days. The public is invited.

Of the total municipal budget only $517,000 comes from property taxes or approximately 30 percent. The rest comes from the other sources discussed above. You are probably thinking that your property taxes are much higher than that. This is because the rest of your property taxes go to the school system and the county.

A person's property tax is based on the assessed value of the property and the millage rate. Michigan law requires that property be assessed at 50 percent of its market value. Let's assume that you have just bought a house for $40,000. This is the market value of the property, the assessed value then would be $20,000.

The millage rate is 13 percent or $13.00 per thousand of the assessed value. This means then that your property tax for the City of Tecumseh is $260.00 per year. Your yearly taxes can be increased, due either to an increase in the millage rate or the assessed value of the property. The millage rate is set by the city council based on the anticipated municipal expenditures for the year.

When developing a municipal budget it is important that you look not only at next year's anticipated expenditures but a few years ahead so you can program for major capital improvement. This allows you to spread the cost over a number of years instead of a very large expenditure all in one year.

Some of the items now being planned are; sewer plant expansion, certain street improvements, Community Center improvements and others.

All bookkeeping is handled by city personnel with a yearly audit performed by outside accountants to insure that all expenditures and records are proper.

It is the responsibility of the city manager to prepare the budget. It is the responsibility of the city council to review and approve it. Citizens have an opportunity to discuss the budget with the council at a public hearing which, by state law, must be held prior to the final approval of the budget.

Emily Manwaring Resigns

Emily Manwaring, who helped Jackson Community College establish itself as a powerhouse in women's athletics over the past three years, submitted her resignation.

Manwaring was assistant to the director of admissions and coach of the volleyball, basketball, and softball teams. During this three year period, her teams compiled a 172-38 record.

In her initial year as coach, volleyball was added to an already established basketball program. The volleyball team finished third in the state and the basketball team went on to the first national tournament and placed among the top 12 teams in the nation.

Softball was the next addition to the varsity program, leading to more national recognition as her teams went 149-25 for a .856 winning percentage over the past two seasons.

JCC won a regional (Michigan, Ohio and Indiana) title in each of the three sports and Manwaring was named region coach of the year three times.

The volleyball team twice finished fifth nationally at Catonsville, Md., the basketball team finished as national runner-up at Overland Park, Kan.; and this spring the softball team also finished national runner-up at Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Six female athletes achieved All-American status over the past two years and seven were named to national all-tournament teams.

In addition to the growth of athletics at JCC, Manwaring provided the initial leadership to stimulate the growth of the National Junior College Athletic Association in the area.

She served as the first female Region XII director of women for the past two years and as the first female representative on the executive board of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

Ms. Manwaring is a Michigan State University graduate and a native of Tecumseh. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Manwaring of Tecumseh.

Ottawa Machine Leads Ponies

Ponies

Ottawa Machine jumped out in front of the pony league race with three convincing victories. The first win was over VFW by a 10-2 score. Derek Nahabedian was the winning pitcher and also one of the leading hitters along with Todd Palmer and Scott McDonald. They each collected two hits. Game two was a 10-3 affair over UPW. Todd Palmer collected three hits and was also the winning pitcher.

Victory no. three was a 6-5, eight-inning affaar. Derek Nahabedian pitched a one-hit seven inning game. He also had the winning hit in the bottom of the eighth inning. Scott McDonald was the winning pitcher.

Gaston's stayed right behind winning two out of three that they played. The first victory was a 7-6 win over Lavoy. Game was won in the bottom of the seventh on a two out single by Tim Todd. Marty Wallich struck out nine batters and gave up two hits in six and one-third innings. Mark Walters struck out two in the top of the seventh to keep the game tied.

Their second win was over VFW. Lavoy had a 4-0 victory over VFW. Winning pitcher was Ron Smith, as he struck out 13 and allowed five hits. Dave Duhan had two hits for Lavoy, while Jeff Butler had four for VFW.

UPW's victory was over Lavoy — an eight inning affair. The eighth inning winning run was scored after a walk and three passed balls.

Standings

Ottawa Machine	3-0
Gaston's	2-1
UPW	1-1
Lavoy	1-2
VFW	0-3

Fireworks, Concert, Social Set for the 4th

More glamour has been added to Tecumseh's celebration of July 4th as other features have been added this year.

Harvey Schmidt, chairman of the day's activities, says the Presbyterian Church will hold an ice cream social from 2:00 to 6:00 in the afternoon. Howard Furry is in charge for the church.

Next Monday evening on the 4th, a band concert will precede the annual fireworks display at the athletic field on N. Evans St.

The Tecumseh High School Shawnee Marchers, directed by Jimmie Rice, will perform and present the program scheduled at the July 14, Essex, Ontario, Canada contest. Concert will begin at 9 p.m., followed by the fireworks display.

Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and city are sharing the fireworks cost of $1,500. Display is expected to start about 9:30.

Jim Fielder again will be in charge of igniting and setting up the fireworks.

Since there have been minor accidents in the past, parents are asked to keep their youngsters under control. In past years, youngsters have lighted sparklers and then tossed them into the air, either while still sparkling or afterwards when the wires are still hot.

Rust and Bids Concern Board

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh School Board met Monday night and discussed plans for a 40' x 60' storage building to be erected east of the swimming pool building, just north of the high school football field.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told the board that there is not enough storage space for outdoor athletic equipment, assorted machinery and other equipment.

In addition, the FFA, agricultural and horticultural students need storage space. These organizations are currently using a building which will be moved to accommodate the classroom addition and used for storage of large items.

The building would be made of galvanized steel with a baked enamel finish.

Cooley went on to say that he is currently negotiating with two manufacturers but is waiting for a third bid. Cooley declined to name the two builders but revealed to the board during the meeting that the bids were "$4.40 per square foot and $4.83 per square foot" for a total cost of "roughly $11,000."

Cooley said that one of the companies bidding so far was in Lenawee County.

When asked later why the school district did not advertise for bids, Cooley said, "This kind of a building is a simple thing. There are not that many local people who specialize in pole barns. We contacted those with local addresses and phone numbers.

"Another reason is that local small builders and contractors are busy as can be this time of year and might not be able to meet our deadline."

Cooley stressed at the meeting that the building should be completed by the opening of school to accommodate the FFA and other student groups with a need for storage space.

Both Cooley and board members William Macbeth expressed concern about equipment that must now be kept outside and rusting.

Macbeth said, "Anybody can ask, 'Do you have to do it.' All I can say is no, you don't have to, you can just let it rust."

Board member Dick Heglin said, "I'm concerned about the legality of this public body not advertising for bids."

The board decided to table the proposal to the July 6 organizational meeting by which time a third bid will have been received.

Students Seek Summer Jobs

Thirty Tecumseh teens aged 13-17 have registered to work in the Barbara Johnson Memorial Jobs for Tecumseh Teens program according to chairman Margie Ball.

"We have a high quality of student who is willing to work. They are very dependable and they'll try really hard." said Mrs. Ball.

Anyone interested in hiring a Tecumseh teen for part-time summer jobs may call the personal answering service at 423-3708.

Mrs. Ball reminds potential employers that it would be helpful if they planned their work a day ahead because it does take time to respond to the answering service and contact students, although a student may be matched with the job sooner than 24 hours.

Now is a good time for vacationers to line up students to take care of plants, pets, mail or lawns, said Mrs. Ball.

Students are also available for babysitting, window washing, carpentry, house cleaning and any variety of tasks.

Rate of pay is determined by the employer and student.

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary who works with the program keeps a log of the job skills and interests of the students and rotates jobs so that each student registered is employed at least once during the year.

The United Fund is a supporting agency of the Barbara Johnson Memorial Jobs for Tecumseh Teens.

Return to 'Old' Math

According to Tecumseh School District curriculum coordinator Wayne Kaiser, parents of elementary school students will have the opportunity to "talk the same language again" when helping their youngsters with mathematics.

The Tecumseh school board Monday night approved the use of the McMillan Mathmatics Series to replace older texts, which featured the "new math."

Kaiser told the board that the new books take the "traditional" approach to teaching math with the emphasis on "basic computation."

The books feature "core" and "enrichment" units. All students must complete the core units while advanced learners may also use the enrichment units.

The program will be instituted for kindergarten through sixth graders.

Math books are used for an average of five to six years, Kaiser said.

Transfer Funds for Addition

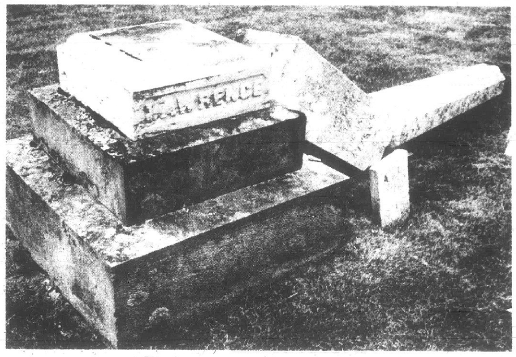
School Board Monday night approved the transfer of $49,735 from the general fund to the building and site fund to finance the district's share of the two-classroom addition being built at the high school.

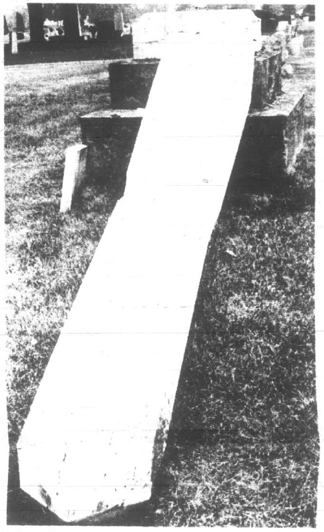
Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley later said that groundbreaking for the structure took place June 13. Officials are hoping that the addition will be operational by the opening of school, but Cooley said that its "doubtful." Some problems may develop with the delivery of steel.

Total cost of the addition is $91,371. Tecumseh's share of that cost is $45,685. The additional $4,050 goes toward architectural fees.

The Tecumseh School District is sharing the costs of the addition equally with the intermediate district.

Robert Holmes Construction of Tecumseh is doing the work.





DAMAGES AT BROOKSIDE — Vandals damaged three family plot markers at Brookside Cemetery Monday night, or early Tuesday morning, toppling two markers off bases and breaking off the top of a third. The William Tilton family marker, at right, was knocked off its base. The Lawrence family marker, above, was knocked over and broken. The Tilton stone is over 100 years old and the Lawrence stone, over 90 years. A third marker, for the Bryan family, sustained damages when the top was knocked off. Vandals are believed also to have inflicted damages about the same time on a tractor parked near Patterson School.

Vandalism Running High

After many weeks of few, if any, malicious destruction reports, Tecumseh police investigated three incidents this week.

Tuesday, Rick Boyers, employee at Brookside Cemetery, reported damage to three headstones there and George Kempf, a school employee, reported a broken window and damaged tractor at Patterson school.

Then early Wednesday, police received a call from David Clauda at Patterson school. An unknown number of vandals apparently used a BB gun during the night to shoot holes in 15 windows around the school.

A resume of other complaint reports includes

June 24—Paul F. Dressel of Petersburg and William D. Brosky of Lambertville were stopped by police for having expired plates when they were ticketed for open beer in the car.

June 25—Thomas Calzada Jr., 18, and Bruce D. Spillman, 18, were arrested by police for open intoxicants after they were stopped on Kilbuck St. Two other occupants in the auto fled when the car was stopped.

Calzada and Spillman reportedly locked theirselves in their car after officers initially checked on the vehicle. Officers left Calzada's and Spillman's tickets and licenses at the station to be picked up, and reported they will seek warrants for resisting arrest.

Wendell West, 36, was arrested by police for drunk and disorderly after residents of Pawnee Heights reported West was pounding on doors in the area.

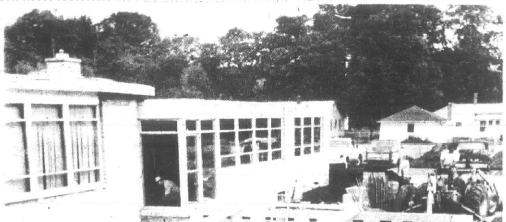
Richard F. Yerebeck and Fredrick M. Bartlett were arrested for open beer after police observed the two southbound on Adrian St. on the tailgate of a vehicle. The two had beer in their hands.

June 27—Jerry L. Hannah, 36, of Jackson was arrested for DUIL after police stopped him on M-50, near the Community Center. A check on Hannah also revealed that Jackson police had a warrant for failing to appear on a summons.

Jeffrey R. Irvine, 18, was picked up by police when they ran a check on him and three others at 1006 W. Chicago. A file came back revealing Irvine was AWOL from the Marine Corp for the past three months.

Rev. Janeway, 20 Cairns St., reported his mailbox damaged, possibly by one of Weaver's garbage trucks.

June 28—Mrs. Rapin, 116 Maple St., reported the larceny of her daughters bicycle from their garage. Estimated loss was set at $110.



MOVIN' RIGHT ALONG — City Hall's 30'x40' addition is right on schedule according to city officials. Workers are now laying the storm pipes and have completed the block frame. The $106,000 addition is scheduled for completion this fall, and will house the city manager's and assistant city manager's offices, and engineer's and city assessor's offices.

Montcalm Is New Assistant

The School Board voted to accept the resignation of Helen Goodrich Monday night and also approved several teaching appointments.

Goodrich was a fifth grade teacher at Patterson and has been on sick leave for two years. She injured her hip in a fall while at [illegible]

Goodrich began teaching in the district in September of 1965.

In other action, the board approved an administration recommendation that Richard Montcalm be named the new junior high assistant principal, replacing Don Berkley.

Berkley was recently named the new principal after the retirement of David Dick.

Montcalm has taught for five years at the junior high and has a master's degree in school administration.

Nancy Sue Stoutenburg was approved by the board to teach junior high English and home economics. She had one year of experience at Morenci, filling in there for a teacher on maternity leave.

Kaye Oelschlager was approved to teach elementary vocal music classes. She has already worked in the district, filling in for those on sick leave.

Also, Nancy Kitner, Pat Mannino and Cheryl VanValkenburg have been called back to work after being laid off. Their exact positions have not yet been determined.

Confirm Your Participation

Businesses, clubs or organizations which plan to participate in Tecumseh's sidewalk sale this July 22 and 23, should contact Dick Eggleston at Eggleston's Jewelry.

The sale is annually one of the biggest retail events sponsored by local merchants.

Slow Drive Disappoints Chamber

A membership drive by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce has been disappointing, according to Chamber officers.

Many businesses, some of whom were members in the past, have yet to send in their Chamber dues. Officers had hopes of ending the drive by this date. Dues still may be sent to the Chamber.

Jury Chosen, Davis Trial Is Underway

Rebecca L. Davis, 21 of Tecumseh, stood mute Tuesday in the first day of trial in the second district court with Judge Kenneth B. Glaser Jr. presiding.

She was bound over on a second degree murder charge. A jury was selected and testimony was begun.

Davis was arrested March 25 by Michigan State Police after the body of her infant son was found in Hillsdale County.

Tourney Nets Profit of $2,136

Net profit for the 1976-77 Herrick Hospital Auxiliary Bridge and Euchre Tournament totaled $2,136. The money is used to buy equipment for the hospital.

The tournament had 24 groups with a total of 384 players. There were nine groups when the tournament started in 1964. Both the number of players and the net profit have increased in the 13 years of the tournament. The Auxiliary has raised approximately $21,500 from this continuing project.

A play-off is now under way among the winners of the various groups to determine the champion of the tournament.

This year, there were four ladies' euchre groups, three in Tipton and one in Britton. There were eight ladies' bridge groups, one in Manchester, Clinton and six in Tecumseh.

In the couples' groups there were five of bridge, seven of euchre, one in Clinton, Tipton, Britton and four in Tecumseh.

The winners in the ladies' bridge groups were:

Those winning second place honors were:

Mrs. B. G. Ousterhout, Mrs. Karl Schneider, Mrs. Ted Roberts, Mrs. Eugene Bentschneider, Mary Hoelzer, Joan Foster, Mrs. Calvin Zorn, Mrs. Edwin Goller, Mrs. Kenneth Herrick, Mrs. Frank Owen, Mrs. William Holmes, Mrs. Graham Foster, Mrs. Ben Gillies, Mrs. Keith Barron, Mrs Dermont Poley Jr. and Mrs. Hugh DesErmia.

The winners in the couples' bridge groups were:

Mr. and Mrs. James Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. William Snook, Dr. and Mrs. Merwin Blanden, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Langham and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ford.

Second place honors went to:

Mr. and Mrs. Frances Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Simon, Mr. and Mrs J. Gilbert Purse, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Rockle.

The couples' euchre winners were:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baaske, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Merz, Mr. and Mrs. Dermont Poley, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Champanois, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fletcher and the Rev. and Mrs. Max Bailey.

Second place honors went to:

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bortel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. LaMar Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. James Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. David Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Quick and Mr. and Mrs. John Becker.

In the ladies' euchre groups, the winners were:

Mrs. Charles Benedict, Mrs. Martin Ivan, Mrs. Grady Briggs, Mrs. John Bradley, Mrs. Ken Munger, Mrs. William G. Williams, Mrs. Harold Radant and Mrs. Lyle Whelan.

Those winning second place honors were:

Mrs. Dale McCarbery, Mrs. Fay Hindes, Mrs. Warren Allen, Mrs. Frank Turlukowski, Mrs. Delbert Jacobs, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Roy Benedict and Mrs, Gilbert McKnight.

The Hospital Auxiliary thanked all who participated in the tournament, one of the major money making projects of the year.

Organization for the 1977-78 tournament season is now under way. Bridge and euchre players who would like to play in the tournament this next season may join by calling Isadore Koffron, 423-2074 or Jean Merz, 423-2457.

6 Accidents, 2 Involve Bikes

Police investigated six accidents this week. Two involved a bicycle and motorcycle, but the riders were not seriously injured.

June 22, Kenneth J. Blanford, 45, of Temperance, made a left off of N. Evans onto E. Chicago when he struck a young bicyclist in the crosswalk. Jeffrey Lenz, the rider, of 508 Adrian St., was not hurt.

On Friday, Irene E. Wisner, 67, of 2340 Taylor, was cited for improper lane usage after she attempted to turn left from the right lane of E. Chicago. Warren J. Tuckerman, 57, 6933 Close Dr., was on Wisner's left when the two collided.

Later on Friday, Nadine J. Crawford, 22, of 702 Wenonah, and motorcyclist Harold R. Molnar, 21, of 415½ W. Kilbuck collided in the Maumee, Chicago intersection. The two could not see each other because of a semi in the intersection.

Michael L. Ragsdale, 23, of Britton, told police he entered the Kentucky Fried Chicken parking lot from the west when he hit the neon sign Friday.

June 26, Patricia M. Smith, 41, of Britton pulled from a parking spot along N. Union and struck a second auto passing by. Duane C. Brooks, 31, of 600 S. Occidental, could not avoid the accident.

On Tuesday night, Linda L. Underwood, 16, of 413 Seminole, was cited by police for failing to have her vehicle under control after she struck an auto parked along the curb on W. Shawnee. Parked car belonged to Roy Banks, 115 W. Shawnee.

He was a life member of the Tecumseh Masonic Lodge.

Besides his parents, he was preceded in death by one sister and one grandchild.

Survivors are his wife, Clara, one daughter, Mrs. Rudolph (Lois) Johnson of Baunholder, Germany and six cousins.

The Rev. Dr. Glenn Frye officiated and burial was in the Evergreen Cemetery, Kalkaska.

Talking It Out

ROGER PROCTOR

"How can handicapped persons attend funerals, visitations?"

We have facilities at Proctor Funeral Home to make it easier for handicapped persons and the elderly. For example, we can provide the use of a wheelchair or a walker and we have designed our entrance and rooms to make it convenient for the handicapped persons.

Please let us know in advance if such equipment may be needed, just as you might with an airline. This assures that such equipment is immediately available. Advance notice can save embarrassment for you, the mourners and our staff, especially if we were to have several handicapped persons on hand at the same time.

We can also be of service in finding certain equipment needed by the handicapped at home. Hospital beds and items for physical therapy are sometimes hard to find. We may be able to direct you to sources for them.

Areas Looked Into

School Supt. Robert Duhan informed the School Board Monday night that the audio-visual department at the high school will be moved back to the high school library, where it was two or three years ago.

The A-V department had been relocated to a classroom, because the library was being used for study hall. With the new addition, the library can again accommodate the A-V department.

Pat Connors, a history instructor, has been spending part of his time coordinating the audio-visual department. Officials would like to hire a media specialist for the A-V program, allowing Connors to assume full-time teaching.

Officials are also planning advanced history and English classes and are considering the hiring of a combination English-math teacher for the high school.

Board member William MacBeth stated that an English-math teacher is a "very unusual" combination.

The Board discussed other changes in classrooms at the elementary, junior high and senior high level. Members decided to table the discussion until the July 6 meeting, so that the administration and policy committees could consider the different proposals.

Officials are looking for someone to fill in as principal at Patterson for Cynthia Opelt, who will be on maternity leave. A combination math and industrial arts teacher also is being considered at the junior high.

Memorial Fund for Dwight Helms Is Started

Another memorial fund has been established in memory of late Dwight Helms, active Jaycee and Chamber member.

The Tecumseh Acres School Memorial Fund for Dyke Helms has been established with the United Savings Bank for the purpose of constructing a schedule of events board for the Tecumseh Acres School.

Donations may be made at any branch office of the United Savings Bank.

Drawings submitted by John Day and Cheryl Haughn are being combined in the design. The board will feature the team emblem, The Vikings. Charles Gross, industrial arts teacher of Tecumseh High School, and Jim Brown, director, at Lenawee Vo-Tech are working on the project.

An earlier memorial was established in memory of Dyke Helms to establish a "Tot Lot" at Elliot Park, the location of Tecumseh's Scout Cabin.

The Tecumseh Jaycees and the downtown businessmen are spearheading this plan which will feature swings and play equipment for children.

Merlyn Downing at the United Savings Bank and Dick Eggleston at Eggleston's Jewelry are accepting donations from groups, businesses and individuals.

Marriage Vows Spoken by Couple

BRITTON — Theresa Gubbe and John Becktell III exchanged marriage vows before the Rev. Karl Oelschlager in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Palmyra, June 18.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gubbe of Britton, and Mr. Becktell is the son of John Becktell Jr. of VanNuys, Calif.

Carolyn Gilmore, soloist, was accompanied by Bruce Oelschlager on the organ.

The bride wore a white gossamer sheer gown with silk Swiss guipure detailing at the bodice and flounced hem. The capelet encircled the shoulders and formed an elbow sleeve. Her picture hat was organza with lace to match the dress, and a fingertip veil bow.

She carried a cascade bouquet of purple throated white orchids, white roses, white stephanotis and English ivy.

Maid of honor was Linda Gubbe, the bride's sister. She wore a pink gown and pink picture hat with ribbon and flowers. Her crescent bouquet was purple cattleya orchid, pinks and purple carnations and statice.

Bridesmaids were Janet Gubbe. bride's cousin, and Sandy Furgason, both of Britton; and Robin Vehmeier, Morenci. Michelle Gubbe, bride's cousin, Britton, was the flower girl. They were similarly gowned as the maid of honor, in lilac gowns and lilac picture hats. They carried same crescent bouquets.

John Wagatha, friend of the groom, Plymouth, was the best man.

Ushers were Tom Gubbe, brother of bride, Britton; and Rick Rullam and Cary Collins, both of Plymouth.

Ring bearer was Tony Nawreth, nephew of groom, Plymouth.

Reception was attend by 400 guests at the United Products Workers Union Hall. Roberta Ehlert and Yvonne Strack poured refreshments and cut the cake.

Mrs. Becktell III, a graduate of Britton-Macon High School, is a computer operator at CPHA in Ann Arbor. The bridegroom is a graduate of Plymouth-Salem High School, and is employed at Arkwright Inc., Plymouth.

Rehearsal dinner was held at the Ye Olde Pump, in Blissfield.

Following a two week trip to southern Florida, the couple will reside at 51000 Mott Rd., Canton, Mich.

MR. and MRS. JOHN BECKTELL III

MR. and MRS. DAVID BISCUPSKI

Couple United at Ceremony

Cheryl Jean Moll and David Francis Biscupski were married June 24 at 6:30 p.m. at the Immanuel Lutheran Church. The Rev. Karl Oelschlager officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVern E. Moll of Britton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Biscupski of 512 Seneca St.

Mrs. David McKelvey was organist and Bruce Oelschlager and Debbie Feight sang.

Candelabra decorated the church for the bride's approach with her father and mother. She wore an ivory gown of satin, her mother's wedding gown of 28 years ago. It was tailored with a A-line skirt, sweetheart neckline trimmed with Chantilly lace and a cascade of Chantilly lace the full length including the chapel train. Full length sleeves were adorned with satin buttons.

The cathedral veil was edged in French lace and secured with a crown of seed pearls.

Her jewelry was a diamond pendant necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet with cymbidium orchids, pink orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Wesley Exelby of Tecumseh was the matron of honor wearing a halter gown of pink Qiana with sheer pink cape. She wore a headpiece of white and pink velvet cording and carried long stemmed pink roses with ivy.

Janet Spilka of Muskegon served as the maid of honor, attired the same as the matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Debbie Severns of Fenville, Vickie Perkins of Adrian, Mrs. Michael Feight of Tecumseh, Cindy Cole of Lansing and June Glenn of Tecumseh.

Dennis Armentrout of Tecumseh was the best man.

Groomsmen were Kenneth Biscupski, the groom's brother of Tecumseh, Butch Wolcott of Grand Rapids, Larry Shoemaker of Morenci, Donald John Biscupski, the groom's brother of Tecumseh, Barry and Rodney Moll, the bride's brothers of Britton.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the United Products Workers Union Hall. Arrangement of pink roses, white pompons and star flowers with candles decorated the bride's table.

Lisa Steuwe passed the guest book.

Gertrude McCollum, 93, a great-great-aunt from Adrian, Elizabeth Moll, grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steuwe and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steuwe were special guests.

The couple honeymooned in Florida.

The new Mrs. Biscupski is a Tecumseh High School and Mercy Central School of Nursing graduate and employed at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids. As of August, she will work at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Mr. Biscupski is a Tecumseh High School graduate and a recent Grand Valley State College graduate.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents.

Bridal showers were given by godmothers Mrs. Hunter Heesen of Adrian and Mrs. Herman Steuwe of Tecumseh and the matron of honor, Mrs. Wesley Exelby and Patricia Claude, both of Tecumseh.

Interdenominational Retreat Sept. 10

Plans are well under way for the 6th interdenominational retreat in Lenawee County. The date of the '77 retreat is September 10.

It will be held in the Blissfield Elementary School on South Lane St. in Blissfield. A donation of $4 will include your noon meal for the one day event. [illegible] a.m. Reservations will be taken until July 15, addressed to Mrs. Howard Veldhoff, 419 North Monroe, Blissfield, 49228.

Problem Dogs Nip Firemen

Tecumseh firemen have numerous hazards, but one would hardly guess dogs.

In approximately one month's time, dogs have nipped two firemen with both requiring shots at Herrick Hospital.

Latest incident occurred early Monday evening when the rescue wagon made a run to the Ernest Parpart's residence at 8367 N. Adrian Hwy.

George Ruhl, rescue wagon driver, was grabbed at the ankle by a St. Bernard, although the dog was tied at the time.

About a month ago, Greg Long was nipped when firemen responded to a call to the Orville Farver home on Red Mill Dr. A German shepherd watch dog apparently didn't like the intrusion.

Nuptial Vows Recited by Couple

The Tecumseh Assembly of God was the setting for the June 11 7 p.m. wedding of Judith Marie Milosh and Martin George McCarty.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Milosh of 502 Mohawk St. and Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCarty of Blissfield.

The Rev. Raymond Warnick officiated at the ceremony. Shirley Firestone was the organist and Bob and Susan Ebright sang.

The altar was decorated with candelabra and flowers in pastel colors for the bride's approach on the arm of her father.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta with Venitian lace trim. The dress featured a square neckline with long lace sleeves, bouffant style skirt and scalloped Chantilly lace bodice trimmed with Venice lace.

She wore a heart shaped necklace as her jewelry and carried a cascade bouquet of carnations, roses and baby's breath in pastel colors.

Her fingertip veil was secured by a crown headpiece of Chantilly lace and beads and edged with matching lace.

Mrs. Carlton Parker of Brooklyn was matron of honor wearing a green eyelet A-line dress over white taffeta. The dress featured short cap sleeves, a V-shaped neckline and ruffle trim on the neckline and skirt. She wore a green picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of green and white carnations with matching ribbon.

Bridesmaids dressed in pastel colored gowns were: The bride's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Philip Milosh of Blissfield and Mrs. Leland Milosh of Adrian, the groom's sisters, Monica McCarty of Garfield, Ohio, Loreha McCarty and Mrs. Albert Nieman, both of Blissfield, the bride's cousin Bonnie Brighton of Tecumseh and Becky Peters of Tipton.

Sandy Milosh, the bride's niece of Adrian was the flower girl. She was attired in pink with baby's breath in her hair and she carried a basket of pastel colored flowers.

The bride's niece of Adrian, Nicole Silvernail was the miniature bride attired in attired in a gown made by the groom's mother.

David Milosh, the bride's nephew of Jackson was the miniature groom.

Dan Schwamm of Blissfield was the best man. The bride's brothers, Leland of Adrian, Philip of Blissfield and Richard of Jackson were ushers as were Albert Nieman of Blissfield, Carleton Parker of Brooklyn, Robert Jenkins of Blissfield and Scott Clymer of Adrian. Richard Milosh II, the bride's nephew of Jackson, was the ring bearer.

Norma Langmeyer and Connie Maddax served refreshments at the reception for 550 guests at the United Products Workers Union Hall. Small dolls, gowned as the attendants, decorated the bride's table along with brandy snifter arrangements of flowers and candles.

Betty Howell of Jackson cut the cake and Alice Meyers of Buckley assisted with the serving.

Special guests were the bride's aunt, Marie Stack of Buckley, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Creger of Adrian and the groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Selma Goll of Blissfield and Mrs. Amelia McCarty of Deerfield.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Tecumseh High School. The groom is a 1974 graduate of Blissfield High School and is employed at Beach Brothers in Tecumseh where the couple resides.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner in their home.

King - Jurasek United

CLINTON — Nuptial vows were exchanged by Linda Sue King and Dan J. Jurasek before the Rev. Roy Wagner in the United Church of Christ, Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, 217 W. Church St., and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry F. Jurasek, 218 Locust St.

Mrs. Larry Dicks was the organist. The soloist was Linda Corwin.

A candle centered floral arrangement graced the altar, which was flanked by candelabra.

Accompanied to the altar by her parents, the bride wore a gown of white jersey knit with a Venice lace bodice high necked collar of lace and cap sleeves. Her A-line skirt had a chapel train edged in lace. A matching lace crown held her short veil.

The bride carried a nosegay of white daisies and apricot sweetheart roses, and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Ruth King, sister of the bride, who wore a halter bodiced gown, with a sheer cape of yellow and apricot flower print on white, with a yellow underdress. She carried a basket of daisies, pompons and baby's breath and she wore a matching yellow hat.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Michael Jurasek, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. David Prichard, wore similar gowns with apricot underdresses, and apricot hats, and carried baskets of daisies.

Best man was Michael Jurasek, brother of groom, and ushers were J.D. Lancaster, Joe Driscoll, of Clinton and Bill Weirich and Rick Koebbe, both of Tecumseh.

Reception at Peerless Gear Union Hall was attended by 300 guests.

Among the special guests present were Dr. and Mrs. Ralph King and family of Sterling, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. David Kohler and family, Huntington Station, New York and Mr. and Mrs. John Milliman, Midland.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed at J & C Family Foods, Saline.

The groom is a 1974 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed at ComShare Inc., Ann Arbor.

Upon their return from a wedding trip in Pennsylvania for two weeks, the couple will reside at 3521 Pheasant Run Circle, Ann Arbor.

Rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, at the Country House, Tecumseh.

MRS. DAN JURASEK

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dinse of Tecumseh were honored at a 50th wedding anniversary open house Sunday at the Firemen's Cabin, Clinton. Fifty-five relatives and friends extended congratulations to the couple. The anniversary cakes were made by granddaughter, Mrs. Gary Couture, of Clinton. Minnie A. Meyer and Herman Dinse were married June 30, 1927 at the bride's home near Britton, by the late Rev. Frederick Schwede. They were attended by Christine Meyer Fairbanks and Harvey Dinse. There are two children, Mrs. David (Betty) Olson of Clinton and William Dinse of Adrian, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Plant Manager Is Honored

William J. Polk, Plant Manager, Fisher Body-Tecumseh Plant, was honored at a luncheon hosted at the plant June 22, in recognition of his thirty-fifth anniversary with General Motors.

A native of New Salem, Pa., Mr. Polk began his GM career with the Fisher Body-Cleveland Plant (Ohio) in 1942, as a sponsored student in the General Motors Institute (GMI) cooperative education program. Mr. Polk transferred to the local plant in 1973 as plant superintendent and was promoted to plant manager on May 1, 1974.

Mr. Polk, since coming to the Tecumseh plant, has been active in various community affairs which includes his appointment as Chairman, Adrian-Tecumseh Plant City Committee and membership in Lenawee County Chamber of Commerce. He also serves as a director of the Lenawee Substance Abuse Council, Inc. (CARE, Inc.) and is member-at-large, Wolverine Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Polk and his wife, Monique, and three daughters reside in Adrian.

Sue Long of Tecumseh was among 220 Michigan teenagers attending the 14th annual Young People's Citizenship Seminar, June 20-24, sponsored jointly by Michigan Farm Bureau of Lansing and its member county organizations. The week long seminar at Albion College emphasized the free enterprise system, the American political scene and democracy.

For The Record

Denise Ries, the bride's cousin of Sand Creek was omitted from the wedding announcement of Theresa Ries and Gregory A. Dohm last week. Matthew Sprague was the ringbearer.

Tecumsehites In Cast

"Carousel," generally regarded as one of the greatest musical plays of American theatrical history, is to be the first production of the summer musical theater season at the Croswell Opera House.

It opens July 6 through July 10 and repeats July 13 through 17.

Cast members featured from the Tecumseh area include Cyndi Geiger of Clinton as "Carrie," Peg Geiger of Clinton as the resort owner for the clambake scene and chorus members Margaret Cook, Debbie Harrison, Sue Mills, Dave Bauman and Bill Cook of Tecumseh.

The Rodgers-Hammerstein II play tells the touching story of a ne'er-do-well's marriage with a gentle factory girl whom he fails in every possible way except that he illuminates her life completely.

Robert Soller, associate professor of theater at Siena Heights College, Adrian is the director. Dr. Gerald Doan is musical director and Rochelle Wertenberger is the choreographer.

Tickets are available at the Croswell Box Office or by phoning 263-5674.

Schiller Earns PhD

A doctor of philosophy degree (Ph.D.) in sociology was conferred on Preston L. Schiller by Washington University on May 20 in St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Schiller once supervised the laboratory of Herrick Hospital and is married to a former Tecumseh resident, Barbara Monroe Schiller (nee Colgrove), daughter of Mrs. Philip G. Colgrove.

Dr. Schiller analyzed medical specialization of the thesis.

He will commence a program of research and study in the medical social science division of the Bowman Gray Medical School of Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, N.C.

For the past four years D. Schiller was a professor of sociology at the College of St. Benedict and St. John's University in Minnesota.

Completes Training

Army Pvt. Lupe Ybarra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Ybarra Sr., Adrian, recently completed seven weeks of advanced individual training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualified him as a light weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Pvt. Ybarra entered the Army in February 1977.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Crowd pleaser specials and just in time for the holiday weekend. These delicious desserts can be prepared a day ahead of time and will serve a large group. They are both superb!!

GELATIN CRUMB DESSERT

Crust:
3 cups graham cracker crumbs
2/3 cup sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
¾ cup melted butter

Combine ingredients, mix until crumbly and press into bottom of 9x13 inch pan.

Filling:
8 ounce and 3 ounce cream cheese
3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
½ cup drained pineapple (small can)
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sour cream
2 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. vanilla

Combine cream cheese, eggs, ¾ cup sugar, pineapple, and one teaspoon vanilla and beat well. Pour over crumb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Combine the sour cream, two tablespoons sugar, and ½ teaspoon vanilla and mix well. Spread over warm baked cheese filling and return to oven for additional five minutes. Chill one hour.

Topping:
6 ounce strawberry gelatin
2 cups boiling water
20 ounces frozen strawberries.

Dissolve strawberry gelatin in boiling water. Add frozen strawberries. Pour over mixture and chill until set. Serve with whip cream and nuts if desired. Terrific!

BANANA SPLIT

3 cups graham cracker crumbs
2-3 cup sugar
¾ cup melted butter
½ gallon Neapolitan ice cream strawberry jam chocolate syrup
bananas

Combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar and melted butter until crumbly. Press into 9x13 inch pan. Slice bananas and layer over crust. Slice Neapolitan ice cream about one inch thick and layer over bananas. Spread strawberry jam over ice cream and freeze.

To serve, cut in squares and top with chocolate sauce. For desserts with even more flair try the additional topping of whip cream and peanuts. Great!

See you next week. Have a nice weekend.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Our redheaded woodpeckers are not very friendly. Beautiful and handsome they are, and exciting and thrilling, but well mannered, no.

We are keeping the near-my-window feeders well stocked these days and they are very popular with all of the freeloaders. All sorts of good looking. I suppose the redheads are our favorites because they are not around all of the time.

Late the other afternoon a pretty male cardinal was dining on sunflower seeds. A brilliantly colored fellow, he must be one of last year's kids because he seems rather slender and a little small.

He was so busy grinding open the tough outer shell and savoring the tasty meat of the sunflower seeds that he was completely oblivious to the arrival of the redheaded woodpecker. This bird swooped out of a nearby tree and landed on the edge of the feeder. Clinging to the side of the food tray is a position often taken by both redheads.

Apparently he was not happy to see the male cardinal chomping away at 'his' food. He pulled himself up and, although the windows were closed and I could hear no noise, there must have some signal been given, because oh my, there has never been a more surprised cardinal.

His topknot perked straight up and he jumped, his feet literally left the food tray, and the poor thing practically fell over himself as he hurried to fly away. Radiating self-satisfaction, the woodpecker scrambled to the middle of the feeder and settled down for a good snack.

The redheads are not even very tolerant when it comes to other woodpeckers. An old suet-feeder, empty during these supposedly warm weather months, hangs from the lower limb of the walnut tree. There are three or four branches on this limb, all dead and leafless. The woodpeckers love them. In fact, both redheads take sunflower seeds as well as mulberries to the uppermost branch of this limb, a perfect dining table.

On this particular day a perky little black and white downy woodpecker was exploring the underside of the lower branch. The search finished, he walked to the topside of the limb and zoom, down came a streak of red, white and blue. The redhead lit just a few inches from the downy but really, the little guy was gone before the larger bird had a chance to say boo.

Now, of course, I fully realize that no bird actually says boo and technically, our beautiful redheads are impolite or unfriendly either. They are simply acting on instinct and protecting their territories. Voice-wise these characters offer a problem. Most books agree that they are noisy and the "Audubon Bird Guide" says they have "a variety of indescribable scolding sounds, some harsh, some not unpleasant".

When one plunks himself on the near-my-window feeder and proceeds to tell another bird what to do and where to go, he makes a deep throated sound very much like the muffled whirring of a wooden noisemaker. The kind with a handle that is twirled around. The "Audubon Bird Guide" is right, it is an indescribable sound.

After a winter of being very scarce, the blue jays have suddenly rediscovered us. Us and our feeding trays. Anyway, there are three or four around now and I am sure it is safe to say they are a family. Sometimes dining is done peacefully together, but again they fight.

The ingredients for some absolutely super window watching are these bluejays, several mourning doves, a cardinal or two, and the redheaded woodpeckers. As they fly from tree to tree, come down to the trays, hop in the bushes, and land in the yard it is a constant blur of color. Occasionally we have a jay, a cardinal, and a redhead on the feeders together. It seldom lasts long, of course, and as soon as someone else tries to join the group Action explodes all over the place.

While it is not a life and death necessity to keep the feeders well stocked this time of year we have always enjoyed the antics of the warm weather freeloaders. Especially when two redheaded woodpeckers are regular visitors.

Taber Appointed to Meyers

Meyers Industries President, Alan Beatty, announced the appointment of Wally Taber, internationally known sportsman, author and lecturer, to the Meyers promotion staff.

In this capacity, Taber will utilize Meyers aluminum fishing boats on his various outdoor excursions throughout the world.

Wally Taber is president of the American Outdoor Writer's Association. He has written 15 books and hundreds of magazine articles on outdoor subjects.

As a lecturer, Wally Taber and Associates visit 450 cities each year presenting the Wally Taber Safari Shows featuring color adventure films on outdoor subjects. These films are narrated live to raise funds for sponsoring sportsman clubs and conservation groups.

Prior to his career as a lecturer, Taber served as executive director of the American Wildlife Institute and Ducks Unlimited.

He also hosted America's first outdoor television series "Adventure Album," and will be seen on television next season as the host of "The American Outdoors," a new television outdoor series.

Meyers Industries, located in Tecumseh for 30 years, manufacturers a complete line of high quality aluminum fishing boats which it distributes thru a nationwide network of marine dealers.

Current plans for Wally Taber and Meyers aluminum 16' Bass boat, and the filming of a coho salmon fishing trip in Lake Michigan utilizing the Meyers 15' Super Pro fishing boat.

SAUDER MUSEUM

Family Fun and Entertainment at Archbold, Ohio

By Kathy Brown

Few family entertainment opportunities seem to exist today, but a visit to Sauder Museum farm and craft village in nearby Archbold, Ohio is a multi-generational experience where grandparents can teach, parents can reminisce and children can learn.

Thanks to the vision of Erie Sauder, 72, the history of northern Ohio's Black Swamp country is being preserved at the Sauder Museum on Rt. 2, about 45 miles southwest of Tecumseh.

The name Sauder is certainly familiar to the Tecumseh area as many persons, including senior citizens and school children, have already visited the museum open just one year.

Together with the family style dinner served at Die Alt Scheier, a barn restored into a restaurant, the visit offers Tecumseh area families a "togetherness" experience of farm life of Fulton County, Ohio 100 years ago.

The "Black Swamp" region includes 2,000 acres west from the Maumee Bay to Fort Wayne, Ind. The early pioneers of the area, mainly Mennonites and Lutherans from Alsace Lorraine and Switzerland, came in 1834 and reclaimed the swamp in the 1850's as rich farmland.

In 1974 Erie Sauder, whose family roots are deep in the Fulton County, founded the non-profit Sauder Foundation. He purchased 15 acres which included a house, barn and sheepshed and founded a living memorial to the courage of the pioneer settlers.

His ever-growing personal collection of farm home furnishings and farm hand tools and machinery are displayed throughout the village and the main farm museum building.

The museum is Sauder's gift to the community and future generations. He has gained the community's support. "If we do not save the history of the Black Swamp, it will be lost," he told media women at a June 21 press day. "Let's not forget that everything that we have today was accumulated by our forefathers for us."

The museum area features: A restored 1860 Victorian farmhouse, filled with an unparalled collection of antiques and complete with summer kitchen, smoke house, ashery, garden and outdoor cook area where fresh bread, homemade apple butter and dried grain are some of the treats made to sample. Buggy rides are given around the farm yard populated by a variety of animals.

Erie's farm shop with original tools and a motor driven lathe he constructed at age 16.

The Museum Village with cabinet shop, equipped with a rare collection of hand powered wood working tools; potter, barber, blacksmith, leather shops and flour mill, general store where gifts and crafts made by the museum craftsmen are sold along with old-fashioned candies and aromatic teas. A "post office" used in Munson, Mich. until recently can also be seen.

Other buildings include St. Mark's Lutheran Church, built in 1880 first as a school and later used as a church, replica of a log school house ca. 1836, the Eicher Log Cabin, built in 1847, typical of pioneer homes, an 1890 one room district school house, the 1901 Pettisville office of Dr. McGuffin and the Elmira Depot with railroad artifacts and 1/8 scale replica of the famous Wabash No.619 steam engine which gives a trip around the museum and farm yard.

A variety of craftsmen welcome visitors' questions and more craft buildings are being added.

A festival date is set each month through fall. Remaining dates are:

July 9 and 10 Spectrum Art Exhibition of Toledo artists with works inspired last year's museum visit; Aug. 6 Crafts Festival; Sept. 24 and 25 Harvest Festival with apple butter making and Nov. 12 Butchering Day when hogs are prepared for market as years ago.

The museum is open until Dec. 5 from 10:30 - 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and until 8:30 p.m. on Saturdays and 1:30 - 5:30 on Sundays. Children under 6 are free.

The Sauder Museum experience is made more complete if visitors dine at Die Alt Scheier restaurant. Sauder had the barn moved to the restaurant site and decorated with household antiques and wood and caned chairs refinished by LeAnna and Dale Gautsche, who operate the restaruant where Pennsylvania Dutch or "old-fashioned" cooking is served.

It is open year around, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.; closed Sundays.

The Gautsches strive to offer a fare of simple, affordable family style meals that use ingredients "from scratch." Cooking secrets from Grandma Sauder and Aunt Leah Yedica (Fulton County's "best cook") are practiced.

Beef served is fed personally by Dale on the Gautsche farm and has a flavor no cook could duplicate with supermarket meat. The ham is succulent and tender, the chicken is plump and juicy. Fresh potatoes and vegetables are used.

Homemade apple butter and rolls are served and have a unique "no preservative added" flavor. The pastries leave an indelible impression on the tastebuds. They are available for take home adventures in good eating at the next door Doughbox bakery, operated by Mrs. Gautsche's sister.

On Friday and Saturday evenings, diners are treated to the Thresher's Buffet of seven sweets (the desserts) and seven sours (vegetables and salads).

"We encourage family style dining. We think society would be better if we got back to the family," said Mrs. Gautsche. "We had lots of big tables and no little tables when we started. Now we need more big tables. We do have a battle with fast food people," she mused, "We're trying to stick to our theory. We feel it is worth it. We think it is going to work."

Perhaps the most vital "no secret" ingredient in the Sauder Museum formula is the friendliness, courtesy and hospitality of the craftsmen, guides and waitresses. You will be a stranger there but once.

BOOK MARK

News from the Tecumseh Library

Reading these new novels from the public library is a good way to relax on a hot afternoon. Why not stop in and browse through the current reading material?

FICTION

Meg Hannah, an untrained, talented artist, lives on an isolated ranch with her husband, Bart. Unable to tolerate her husband's flirting with an old lover, she often withdraws to wild remote areas to paint landscapes. One day, she meets Lonie, a young man with dreamer's eyes and a poet's voice, driver of a rose Porsche with leopard skin seats. Mysteriously drawn to him, Meg is pulled into a strange tangle of love and terror. William Lavender's FLIGHT OF THE SEABIRD reflects the profound change in Meg's life.

Virginia Marbalestier, narrator and main character of RAW SILK is a former Californian living in England. After an impoverished childhood, she is now a successful textile designer and mistress of a Tudor mansion. But the hiring of an almost catatonic girl in her department at work lets the reader know appearances are deceiving. Virginia's husband is furious at the friendship that develops— the friendship that makes Virginia examine her "male dominant, female submissive" life. Janet Burroway is the author.

The Sonoran desert was being destroyed by wealthy developers and ranchers coyote pups were being burned alive. Daniel Vormund, 80 year old scholar, shy and frail, dedicated the last years of his life to perserving the beauty and wildlife. Armed only with his wit and his ideals, he confronts the bulldozer and power plant. But what can a frail old man do against power and money? AMERICAN PROPHET is Gerald Green's sixteenth book.

Shirley Ann Grau fans will be interested in her new novel EVIDENCE OF LOVE, the tangled emotional history of a hedonist millionaire, his intellectual clergyman son, and his son's passionate adventurous wife. The father was an accomplished wife-stealer at 18, who hired a girl to provide him with an heir and then disappear. The son is obsessed with knowledge, rationality, and abstraction. The son's wife had loved only one man— and it was not her husband. Each searches for "evidence of love"— carnal, sublimated, family, self-love, and love transcendant.

This is what happened "She left one man, she left a second man, she traveled again with the first she let him die alone. She lost one child to "history" and another to "complications". Joan Didion's A BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER is the story of Charlotte Douglas who could only keep her identity through her daughter Marin-Marin. She flees to Boca Grande where she is an outsider caught up in complex rivalries. The story is told by Grace Strasser-Mendana, who controls 59.8 percent of the Boca Grande land.

Penelope has devoted her 47 years to being useful, to answering needs of other people often before they were aware of them. A lay magistrate, she is hearing a case on indecent exposure and another on theft, more aware than usual of the thin line between good and bad, law-abiding and criminal. She examines her own intentions and sex life ("How would that sound in court?") This is the day she has chosen to leave her husband. Nina Bawden outdoes herself in describing the complex realities of life in AFTERNOON OF A GOOD WOMAN.

In the spirit of an American "Upstairs, Downstairs", THE LADY WHO LOVED NEW YORK is a look at the decay of the master-servant class in the early 1900's in New York City. Alice Barrington has grown up in the world of the Vanderbilts and Rockefellers and expects nothing else. What will happen to her life when she marries Aurthur Melville, dilettante and sometime art critic? Indeed, what will happen to her whole level of society when World War I comes? R.L. Gordon's new novel shows us.

LANCELOT, by Walker Percy, the story of Lancelot Andrewes Lamar of a distinguished Southern family, famous college halfback, Rhodes scholar disenchanted liberal lawyer, and master of Belle Isle. Told to a psychiatrist friend who is visiting Lance in the Institute for Aberrant Behavior, the novel follows Lance's plan to expose his wife's infidelity on film.

Retained

School Board voted Monday night to retain the services of ARA Food Services to provide lunches for one year, starting this fall.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told the board that efforts will be made to accommodate the junior high students in their own building, rather than overcrowding the high school.

Lunches for elementary school students will cost $.50 and $.55 for junior and senior high students.

The action was taken because of Act 454, the Mandatory School Lunch Act which required districts to furnish a lunch program in each school building.

In other action, the board voted to join the Michigan Association of School Boards.

There is a $1,200 fee to join.

In addition, Cooley informed the board that four new school buses have been purchased at a cost of $16,352 each.

Total cost is $65,408.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smoll

HOLLOWAY — The Holloway Presbyterian Church was the meeting place for the Holloway Homemakers 4-H club on Thursday evening.

During the social hour the group enjoyed looking at photo albums and talking of school days from kindergarten up to the present time.

Later some of the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Henning of Irish Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. David Houseman of Rapids River (Upper Peninsula), were the couple coming the longest distance.

Other class members attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Richards of Clawson; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hummel, Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brablec, Ann Arbor; Tom Short and friend, Napoleon; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff (Donna Miller) Haas, Lambertville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cross; Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Karen Lockwood) Miller; Mr. and Mrs. David Bailey, all of Tecumseh; Mr. and Mrs. Lee (Janet Ball) Wagner, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Carol Barrett) Partridge, Tipton; Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Janet Papp) Miller, Saline.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Henning, Irish Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Domingo Trevino, Adrian; Sharon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ivan; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul (Kathryn Keran) Cook, all of Britton.

The engagement of Susan Tompkins to Rodger Brown is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orvill Tompkins, Chelsea. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Brown, Britton. The engagement was announced recently at Susan's high school graduation open house, given by her parents. A December wedding is planned by the couple.

End Two Week New England Tour

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks returned home Friday from a two-week tour of the New England states.

Highlights of the trip included a visit to the old Fairbanks Homestead in Dedham, Mass. The house was built by Jonathan Fairbanks and family in 1636 when they came to America from England. It is believed to be the oldest frame building still standing in the U.S.

The house has been in continuous possession by members of the family and is now maintained as a public museum by a group of descendants who have formed the Fairbanks Assn. to preserve the ancient home.

Other places of interest visited were Watkins Glen, N.Y., Acadia Nat'l. Park in Maine, the White Mountains of New Hampshire and Niagara Falls.

Britton Briefs

Dinner guests at the home of Dorothy Hindes Sunday, were Mrs. Ruth Franks, Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. James Arrants, Ortonville; and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Linn, Ridgeway.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Brown had as guest the past week, her brother, Stanley Agner, from Orlando, Fla. He returned home by plane Saturday.

You Told Us

By Kathy Brown

Debbie Rodgers, Michigan State University sophomore from Tecumseh will be one of the 14 members of the Michigan State cheerleaders squad.

Tecumseh area students named to the spring quarter dean's list at Michigan Technological University were:

Terence E. Wojtowicz, a senior majoring in medical technology, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wojtowicz of Clinton and Stephen Briggs, a junior majoring in forestry, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Briggs, 1403 Southwick and Mark A. VanWagner, a sophomore majoring in electrical engineering, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal VanWagner, 1003 Shady Lane.

Jeanne McLeod, a piano student of Tecumseh, is attending Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, a summer school of the arts located just north of Muskegon.

The piano program is designed to introduce the student to a variety of keyboard literature and includes electives in accompanying, keyboard ensembles, harmonization and transportation.

Mrs. Leon Vealey of Pinellas Park, Fla., formerly of Macon, and her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hall of Largo, Fla., formerly of Tecumseh, spent Thursday to Monday in the Lansing and Tecumseh areas visiting relatives and friends. They also attended the Billings-Swift reunion at the home of Mrs. Orlie Swift of W. Carleton Rd., Adrian on Sunday.

Five Tecumseh High School graduates will be attending the University of Michigan this fall. David G. Bauman, William T. Cook, Marcena J. Prettyman, Tom A. Sell, and Lynne M. Wikle.

Youths Work in Appalachia

BRITTON — Youth groups from Grace United Methodist Church of Britton, United Methodist Church of Wellsville and United Methodist Church of Tecumseh, left Britton June 26 for Whitley City, Ky., where the youths will work a week on the Appalachia Service Project. They will repair homes for families who cannot afford the improvements themselves.

The Appalachia Service Project is a volunteer program which operates out of Union College Environmental Center in Cumberland Gap National Park, and is free to the mountain people of that area.

Methodist groups from all over the state participate annually in this project which is completely funded from donations, and money raised by the youths.

Transportation for the trip was helped by the use of a station wagon from George Underwood and a nine passenger suburban from John Underwood-Chevy-Pontiac of Clinton.

Youths who went were Ann and Kirt Jubenville, Cherie Norris, and Bob Williams from Tecumseh; Craig, Bryan and Annette Spiegel and Perry Pooley from Wellsville; Dawn Haas, Jim Hawkins, Janice Bishop, Debby Johnson and Randy McGeorge, from Britton.

Counselors are Bill Kroft, Tecumseh; Raymond and Jane Bird Howard and Wilda Haas from Britton.

Anyone wishing to help to fund this annual project can send money to the Appalachia Service Project, Inc., Nashville, Tenn., or give to any church youth member.

Win One, Lose One

BRITTON — The Yellow Jackets girl's baseball team lost its first game 14-3 on June 20 to the Rockets.

Yellow Jackets completed four double plays, but still took the loss.

Jami Smith was the winning pitcher, striking out seven. Marti Dickerson took the loss striking out five.

In action June 22, the Yellow Jackets defeated the Torrets 17-15.

Marti Dickerson pitched the winning game with seven strike-outs.

Pam Faust took the loss, striking out three.

Yellow Jackets play the Rockets June 29, and the Torrets on July 6.

Yellow Jackets, Torrets and Rockets are the three team in this league.

The engagement of Linda Lorenz and Jeff Sontag is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lorenz, Britton. Miss Lorenz is a 1973 Britton-Macon High School graduate and is employed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Sontag, Dundee. A graduate of Dundee High School in 1973 and Monroe County Community College. He is employed at Salenbein Bros. Implement Co., Dundee. The couple are planning a Sept. 24 wedding.

Kotlarczyk Is Honored

BRITTON — Diane Kotlarczyk was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower Sunday afternoon at the PNA Hall in Belleville, hosted by Judy Prater and Ruth Kotlarczyk, sister and sister-in-law, of the bride-elect.

The gift table was centered with a miniature bridal party of dolls, ruffled umbrella, and wishing well in pink, which was made by Diane's mother.

Several of the bride-elect's aunts served the afternoon meal and poured coffee.

Approximately 50 guests attended the shower from Tecumseh, Belleville, Wayne, Milan, Carlton and Britton.

Diane, daughter of Mr.and Mrs. Felix Kotlarczyk, will become the bride of Raymond Bock of Milan, Aug. 6.

Reader Writes

Letter to the Editor

While we were on vacation during the week of June 12, my collie disappeared. This is not just another lost dog complaint - the dog was let out of a locked kennel.

"Chance" is a big tri-color collie. He looks just like "Lassie" except that his coat is black, white and tan. He is a valuable dog in that he can't be replaced, his sire and dam are both dead. He is a top show and breeding dog.

If anyone has seen, bought or found a large tri collie in the past three weeks, please notify me immediately. I can't impress on people enough just how valuable this dog is to me.

If by chance someone can't notify me, please bring my dog out here, lock him in a kennel or put him on my front porch.

If all the citizens will cooperate and join in the search, my collie should be found. Thank-you.

Sincerely,
Marti Rose

Why our Cub Cadet® is your No. 1 lawn buy quality

You can tell it by the automotive-type chassis and the direct drive transmission with no chains or belts. Tell by the quiet—cushioned engine mounts, extra insulation plus a super-sized muffler. And by the traditional high trade-in value. You can also tell by features like the "Maintenance Minder" that tells you when it's time for periodic maintenance. It's just one way we help keep your Cub Cadet running like new long after others quit.

Cub Cadet, five models 10 to 16 hp, your no. 1 buy. And the time is right now.

Ottawa Is 5-0

PONY LEAGUE

Ottawa maintained it's winning pace by gathering two victories and upping their record to 5-0. Victory no. 1 was a 12-11 win over Lavoy.

They blew an 11-1 lead but managed to hold on. Derek Nahabedian was the winning pitcher, giving up only two hits and striking out 17 batters. He walked several batters. Victory no. 2 was an 8-3 affair over VFW.

Todd Palmer was the winning pitcher and leading hitter. Tom Hamilton was the losing pitcher and Jeff Butler paced VFW's hitting attack.

Gaston's got one victory during the week by defeating UPW 6-3. Mark Walters was the winning pitcher. Lavoy turned the tables on Gaston's later by a tough 3-2 decision. The winning run scored after a bad throw to third.

Dave Duhan, Harry Withrow, and Tim Eardley each had two hits for Lavoy. Ron Smith was the winning pitcher fanning 13 batters and giving up only one hit to Darr Burnside.

Attend Tourney

Tecumseh's summer high school basketball team won two and lost one during the First Annual WLEN Summer Basketball Tournament last Friday and Saturday.

The Indians started the tourney with a 78-58 win over Adrian Madison last Friday in the first round.

On Saturday, Tecumseh beat Ida 85-55 but lost to last year's state semi-finalist Buchanan 74-72.

Jackson Northwest beat Buchanan in the finals to take the championship.

Movies Shown Wednesdays

It's showtime at the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department.

Beginning this Wednesday night and continuing each Wednesday throughout the summer, outdoor movies will be shown at the Community Center with showtime at 9:30 p.m

These family movies are open to the public free of charge and include many humorous films.

For a complete schedule of the weekly movies, please contact the Recreation Department at 423-5602.

5 Trackmen Compete

Runners — paying their own way — come from all over the United States and from Mexico and Canada to compete.

Participants competed according to age group.

Kevin Salter took a third in the high jump with a 5'10" effort while D.J. Biscupski was fourth in the pole vault at 12'.

Tecumseh track mentor, Bill Croft, took the boys to the Carmel Classic.

Playground Activities Underway

Tecumseh Parks and Recreation playgrounds program got off to an exciting start last week.

Each of the four playgrounds participated in many activities, including trips through the local bakery and fire station.

Flowers were planted in some of the local parks and ice cream was made. Arts and crafts projects were made. The week was topped off by a field day on Friday afternoon at the Community Center.

Games were played and prizes were distributed.

For more information about playgrounds, call the Recreation Department Office at 423-5602.

2 in Jr. PGA Tourney

Sande Jacobs and Lisa Bush, both of Tecumseh, have qualified for a state junior PGA golf tourney sponsored by Chevrolet to be held at Katzee Golf and Country Club in Big Rapids July 13.

Sande, 16, was the winner in the 15-17 year-old division in the qualifying tournament held at Cascades in Jackson on Monday. She qualified last year as well.

Lisa, 13, was the only 12-14 year-old girl competing and automatically advanced.

There were over 100 participants in the tourney.

The national finals will be held at Disney World in August.

Sande, along with her brother Doug, will be competing at the National Junior Invitational to be held July 21-22 in Fostoria, Ohio.

In addition to the Chevy-sponsored tourneys, there are a number of other junior tournaments for younger golters this summer. Macon Golf Course is holding a junior tourney July 13-15 while Woodlawn is having one July 20-22.

Evergreen hosts the younger set July 27-29, while Centerview is having a tournament Aug. 22-24. In addition, Meadowlane Golf Course is having a junior tournament Aug. 3-5.

In addition, the Seventh Annual Jeep Junior Open will be held Aug. ninth and tenth at Detwiler Park, Toledo.

The Jeep Junior Open, sponsored by the American Motors Jeep Corporation features four different age categories for golfers.

Boys are split into two groups, 12-13 years old and 14-19 years old. Girls are put into groups of 12-15 year old and 16-19 year old. The younger golfers play nine holes while the older ones play 18.

For further information and entry blanks for the Jeep Open, write, Jeep Junior Open, Industrial Relations Dept., P.O. Box 903, Toledo, Ohio, 43657.

Forty-nine ladies took part in a golf tournament Wednesday, June 22 at Tecumseh Country Club. Using handicap, one point was given for a par, two points for a birdie and three points for an eagle.

Pat Holmes, Myrna Downing and Vera Clark were in charge and presented prizes to the following winners.

First flight: T.C. Roekle, first; Maurine Hannibal, second; Joyce Manwaring and Kathryn Champanois tied for third.

Second Flight: Annabelle Bock, first; Harriet LaVoy, second; Gloria Jahner, third.

Third Flight: Barb Palmer and Connie Sack tied for first. Teddy Schindler and Joan Tucker tied for third.

Nine hole winners were Norma Preston, first; Lucille Roberts, second; Dorothy Mann, third.

Chip-in winners were Judy Thompson, Teddy Schindler, TC Roekle, Myrtle Bender and Ruth Temple chipped in twice.

TCC Golf Pro Ties for First

Stan Brion, Tecumseh Country Club golf pro, teamed up with Ted Roberts Monday at Warwick Hills in Flint, to tie for first in the Metro Pro-Am tournament there, shooting 60.

Other Country Club members, Jay Wheeler and Bob Thompson, also teamed up with Stan, shooting a 65 for fifth place.

When teamed up with another pro's scores at the end of the round, Stan won low-pro [illegible] pro with a 67.

4-Way Tie in Tuesday League, Wagon Wheel Comes from Behind

TUESDAY

The Tuesday night league, after three weeks of play, has a four-way tie.

Game No. 1 saw Local 429 carry on its lusty hitting with a 20-3 barrage over Tractor Village. Louie Gonzalez was one of the leading hitters with three hits, two of which were home runs. James Davidson also had a homer and three singles. John Kuschell had three hits for Tractor Village.

Tecumseh Merchants caused the tie by defeating Handley Equipment 13-5. Paul Lemanski and Doug Wilcox each had a home run and Roger Fisher and Pat Murphy added three hits a piece.

The final game was a 7-5 victory for United Savings Bank over Clinton Merchants. Mel Pardee and Jim Brown pounded home runs to pace the 10-hit attack.

WEDNESDAY

Faraday put a scare into Wagon Wheel and forced them to come from behind for a 10-9 victory. Wagon Wheel trailed 9-6 in the bottom of the sixth inning. They tied it up in the sixth and scored one in the bottom of the ninth for the victory. Barri Campbell paced the attack with three hits for Wagon Wheel, while Jack Christopherson had three hits for Faraday.

In game No. 2, the Loggers maintained a share of first place by defeating Iott's Insurance 11-6. Bob Vogel and Jim Hunt hit round trippers for Loggers.

In the final game, VFW smacked 22 hits and scored 18 runs to smother Erb's Chevrolet 18-3. Rodney Cole and Tom Barton had four hits, while Bill Smith and Al Schafer hit home runs.

THURSDAY

Luper Plumbing busted loose for 21 hits and 19 runs for their first victory of the year. Tecumseh Plywood was the victim by a 19-10 score. Randy Arnett, Terry Ranta, and Eric Travis all had 4 hits each. Pete Dermyer and John Long hit home runs for Plywood.

Games No. 2 and No. 3 had Ember's scoring two victories to take over first place. In both wins Ember's scored 15 runs, first over George's Market 15-13, and then 15-6 over Proctors. Bill Tuberville had six hits in the two contests and Roy Schlegal had four hits, including a home run.

Scramble Held Monday

An 18-hole best ball scramble was held last Monday at Raisin Valley Golf Course.

Twenty-four couples participated.

The first place team with a total of 63 and seven birdies was, Dick Baker, Mel Murphy, Faith Cote, and Rose Rodgers.

Second place with a 65 total and five birdies: Jack McDonald, Collin Edwards, Zelda Quigley, Pat Tooman.

Third place with a 65 total, five birdies and one eagle was Al Pasky, Selma Kennedy, Wayne Zettle, Wilma Godzina.

The second and third place teams were both tied at 65 after regulation play. A two-hole sudden death play-off was held to break the deadlock.

The second place team had the lowest putts with 24.

A prize was given for the next lowest putts — 25 - to Dave Stowe, Chet Godzina, Mary Zettle, Jackie Edwards.

In last place was Dean Binder, Bill Rodgers, Dawn Balent, Ivy Arbuckle with a one-over total of 71.

Next month's chairmen are Tom Velandra, Dick Baker, and Collin Edwards.

JC's Win Two, Still Undefeated

JC's took two convincing victories and sole possession of the league lead in major league action.

The first win was a 9-3 romp over Credit Union with Ken Kurzyniec the winning pitcher. Kurzyniec also hit a home run for the JC's. Credit Union gave up 13 walks.

JC's went on to beat Tecumseh Plywood 11-2. Andy Heglin took the win on the mound collecting 11 strikeouts.

The Police also won two beating UPW 10-4 and Credit Union 16-10. Mark Rosenberg had three hits and Mark Sackett hit a home run in the first game for the Police team.

Jim Hite was the winning pitcher striking out 12 batters in four innings.

Kiwanis split a pair losing an 8-7 decision to Rotary. Greg Clark of Rotary was the winning pitcher striking out 11. Ritchie Palmer had two of Rotary's four hits. Mickey Hyatt had a three-run home run and John Gould added a triple for Kiwanis.

Kiwanis came up with a 5-2 win over UPW. Matt Allen paced the attack with three singles and Bob Foster added two. Mickey Hyatt was the winning pitcher giving up only four hits and three walks striking out 12.

Jeff Barnes was the losing pitcher striking out 12 but leading the hitting attack with a triple and a home run.

'Reluctantly' Turns Down Course Offer

"Reluctantly" Tecumseh City Council voted Tuesday night not to buy the Raisin Valley Golf Course, with property totaling 332 acres, for $350,000 from owner Willis Porter.

After examining ways to finance the purchase, City Council was convinced it would not be guaranteed federal funds under the present programs.

"We have to know how we're going to pay for it," said Councilmember Mary Bowers. "I would like to see us have it but not unless we have the money (otherwise) it will fall into the taxpayer's lap."

"We're not guaranteed a dime from Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR) funds," said Mayor Harold Easton, "In fact that program may go by the wayside."

City manager Cal Zorn explained previously that BOR funds would allow the city to buy the course in increments over a period of years. But it was unrealistic to expect that Tecumseh would receive as much as $40,000 yearly because of the limited funds allocated to Region II, Hillsdale, Jackson and Lenawee Counties. Furthermore, grants are made on a year by year basis with no guarantee of renewal.

"If we don't have a guarantee for the money, we have no business doing it," said Council member Carlton Cook. He pointed out that if the city could get even $40,000 a year without paying interest, it would still take eight to nine years to complete payment.

"Personally, I think we should drop it," said Councilman Len DeMoss. "Too many people don't see why we need a golf course. I guess I come under that persuastion."

Council member Jay Tressler questioned whether the city could acquire federal funds more easily if it purchased the golf course alone. Council had no evidence that this would be so.

Willis Porter, owner, and his accountant, Marten Vegter were present at Tuesday's meeting to answer Council's questions on the financial condition of the operation. Porter stated his price to the city for the course only would be $300,000.

ACCEPT ONE. . .REJECT ONE. . . Tecumseh City Council decided not to buy the Raisin Valley Golf Course Tuesday night but decided to take the free gift of the Bidwell building from Gladys Robideau. City is investigating restoring it, then selling or leasing to ground level business and cinema/theater combination on upper floors. Birdsley J. Bidwell, one of the town's leading businessmen built it in 1852. Watkins Shop and Ken-Ray Drugs were once located there. Palman Brothers of Toledo owned it before Mrs. Robideau. (PHOTO BY MIKE SUNDERLAND)

Accepts Free Gift, Plans Restoration

Tecumseh City Council literally rolled up its shirt sleeves Tuesday night and accepted the free gift of the Bidwell Building from Gladys Robideau with the intended purpose of making it an example of downtown restoration.

A commercial establishment for the ground level and possible cinema-theater combination for the second and third floors were discussed.

To make the building eligible for state and federal restoration grants, Council also moved Tuesday night to have the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee petition the 125-year-old building be registered as a historic site.

Removing the third floor was also discussed because of the cost for an elevator which would be necessary to comply with barrier free design codes. However, registration as a historical site could make the building eligible for temporary state code variances until money for complete restoration is available.

Council members Aden Mead and Jay Tressler did not vote with the majority. Tressler's objection was the city did not yet know what the operating costs and liabilities would cost.

"Whatever it is, it should be minimal," said Mayor Harold Easton.

Tressler pointed out that the golf course was rejected because Council was not guaranteed the funds. He asked how this case was different.

Council members pointed out that before the building could be eligible for money, it must be placed on the register and applications must be made.

"The difference is that the golf course cost $350,000," said Council member Mary Bowers, "This building costs nothing."

"I think it is our job now," said Council member Carlton Cook, "Somebody has handed us the ball and we've got to do it.

"I think there is a need for (the building as) a commercial business," Cook told. "We fuss about downtown development, now we can either drop the ball and have some other building replace it or we can somehow get some money and make it look the way it should.

"At the worst, at least we could have a parking lot. . .but we won't let that happen," Cook said.

"I think it should be owned if we can have funds other than local tax dollars," Easton stated. "I sincerely believe we should have a good, traffic building, retail establishment in the building." He continued to say that with the funds, it could be fixed then leased or sold.

"I guess I look at this initially as I did at the Globe Mill. . ." said Mayor Harold Easton. "Ongoing costs, after we repair it, will hurt us."

Tressler agreed with the suggestion of Historic District Study Committee chairman and planning commissioner Lynn Cook that a cinema-theater combination may be feasible for the second and third floor.

Assistant city manager and community development director Paul Preston will meet with residents July 12 at the library at 7:30 p.m. to hear suggestions for uses of the building. He will travel to Manchester Thursday to find out more about the Black Sheep Repertory Theater which was opened last week in the 110-year-old Goodyear Building by a non-profit association for the arts.

Accidents Involve 3

Three Tecumseh residents had minor accidents in the water this past weekend.

Thirteen-year-old Jim Erb Jr. of Tecumseh was released from Herrick Memorial Hospital yesterday after spending the night for observation.

Erb received scratches to the chest and stomach and a sore neck when he dove into shallow water July 4 while swimming at the Tecumseh Park "pit" around 2 p.m.

He was given first aid at the scene by the Tecumseh Fire Department.

Two Tecumsehites escaped injury July 1 when their open motor boat capsized in high winds and rough water on Wampler's Lake.

Lenawee County Sheriff's deputies reported that the accident occurred around 2:30 p.m. about 100 yards off the south shore on the Lenawee County side of the lake.

Kim W. Shewman, 17, operator of the boat and his passenger, Wendell West, clung to the capsized craft until they were picked up and taken to shore by a passing boat.

A marine patrol boat from the Jackson County Sheriff's Department towed Shewman's boat to shore.

B & E Nets Thieves $150

An unknown number of vandals broke into Eric's Motor Sales at 1104 W. Chicago late Saturday night or early Sunday, stealing $150 in small bills.

The intruders pushed in a window in the southwest corner of the building to gain entry.

They pried the cigarette machine open with large screwdrivers and left the cash register container empty on the floor.

A resume of other police reports includes:

June 29 — Terry Cox, 413 S. Evans, reported his bicycle stolen from work. He recovered the bike later that day.

Joann Adams, 707 Russell Rd., also reported the theft of a bicycle. She had parked her bike near her apartment building when it was taken.

June 30 — Police picked up Donald J. Menominee, 20, of 416 W. Logan, on a felony warrant for sexual assault from Lenawee County. They found Menominee asleep in his vehicle.

July 1 — William A. Pope, 23, of 214 N. Union, was arrested for DUIL (driving under the influence of liquor) after police stopped him for having a taillight out and for speeding on E. Chicago. Pope failed field sobriety tests.

Ronald D. Stoddard, 17, of 207 S. Occidental, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly when police observed him behind Tasty Freeze and then had to pursue him.

July 3 — Gary E. Adams, 19, of 702 Conklin, was arrested by police for consuming beer on a public highway. Adams was walking down Cummins as police were on a traffic stop there.

Xavier R. Sanchez, 22, was arrrested by police on westbound W. Chicago. Sanchez was driving with his license suspended.

July 4 — Ernest B. Needham of Britton reported malicious destruction to his van while parked in the 100 block of E. Logan. He returned to his vehicle to find the windows soaped and sunroof egged.

July 5 — Robert Emerson, of 1412 Gady Rd., told police he was traveling down Adrian street when two young subjects threw a rock at his vehicle and broke the passenger window.

Paul McClue, 409 S. Pearl, reported malicious damage to his mailbox. He found the box blown up with fireworks.

Police also investigated a report of stolen money from the residence of Betty Eller, 509 Stacey. Between $40 and $50 in change was taken from a gold colored ash tray

Answer Two Calls

Although the heat has been excessive, the Tecumseh Fire Department answered only two calls in the last week.

One blaze, however, did extensive damage to a house at 5864 Milwaukee July 4.

Mary Cleveland told firemen that lightning struck the house around 7:30 a.m. burning out fuses. She went on to say that she replaced the fuses.

But that evening, firemen theorize that fuses and electrical wiring began smoldering and started ablaze. Firemen left the fire barn at 6:40 p.m. And returned an hour later.

The fire began again, however, and firemen returned to the scene staying until after 10 p.m.

Firemen on the scene stated that there was extensive damage to the interior and roof. Firefighters were forced to cut holes in the roof to get at flames in the attic and walls.

A damage estimate has not yet been made.

Mrs. Charles Allen, 85, of Allen Road called the Herald with a historical postscript about the Cleveland home. According to the History of Lenawee County, the home was built ca. 1849 by Mrs. Allen's great-grandfather, Jonas Kishpaugh.

As one of the first houses east of Tecumseh, it was used by early settlers as a rest stop before they continued for their destination.

On Tuesday, July 5, firemen extinguished a grass fire beside a house at 506 Blanchard.

The fire department got the call at 4:25 p.m.

Accidents Are Minor

Police investigated two minor accidents this week. None of the drivers were cited.

On Saturday, Christine M. Scheuerman, 18, of Adrian, stopped for a light on Adrian, at Chicago, when she was hit from behind by an auto driven by Barbara C. Adams, 31, of 106 E. Kilbuck. Adams told police she was unable to stop.

Sunday, Dennis Bowman, 30, of 302 N. VanBuren, backed up on S. Maumee, near E. Chicago, and struck an auto parked along the road. Parked auto belonged to Ralph V. Atkinson, 46, of 1785 W. Valley Rd.

Found Innocent of All Charges

Rebecca Davis, 20, of Tecumseh was found innocent of all charges in connection with the death of her newborn son last March.

The jury returned a verdict Friday evening just three hours after instructions from Judge Kenneth B. Glaser Jr. The jury did not find her guilty of second degree murder or of the lesser included charge of manslaughter.

Controversy during the trial centered on the question whether the baby was dead at birth or had lived after Miss Davis gave birth in her parents' home.

One pathologist testified early in the trial that he believed the baby lived at least 12 hours after birth and died of asphyxiation.

Another pathologist, a defense witness, testified no conclusion as to the baby's death, but considered it most likely that the baby died in delivery.

Miss Davis testified Thursday that she concealed her pregnancy but said she intended to keep and raise the baby after it was born.

She said she attempted to revive the baby when she gave delivery but it showed no signs of life at birth.

She testified that she kept the body in a small overnight case in her room for several days before throwing it along a rural Hillsdale County road.

Cost Rises

Contingency fees estimated by engineers have driven up the cost of the Russell Road project from Rogers to Mill which includes the bridge.

Revised cost estimate for the Russell Road project is now $573,000. Contingencies were estimated unusually high at about $94,000, city manager Cal Zorn told City Council Tuesday night. The manager felt however, that the project will not end up costing that much, estimating that it would run about $500,000.

Last year when the city applied for federal monies, cost estimate used was $470,000. The city now has a committment for $183,000 federal aid secondary and $312,000 federal public works money, a total of $495,000. City manager told council at the June 20 meeting that a surplus of $25,000 would be available. With new cost estimate however, city discussed selling bonds to raise the difference.

Many Michigan residents swore last winter that they would never again complain of summer heat—if and when it finally came. But the combination of high temperatures along with discomforting humidity may be changing that. Regardless, Tecumseh children have found a way to beat the heat and learn something too. They're taking swimming lessons under the aegis of Vic Lawson at the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool. The three youngsters on the left wasted no time in cooling off while Matthew Petry, 4, prefers other pool pursuits. Children will show parents their newly-learned skills this Thursday at 7 p.m. A free swim will follow.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

"How can a "Memory Book" help my child?"

When a child's father (or mother) dies, talking about the child's concerns and relieving his anxieties about the loss are important in working-through the grief experience. The "Memory Book" is an effective device for this.

It is a scrapbook-and-keepsake in which the children may write down their memories of their parent or, if the children are too young to write, have the parent write as the children "talk it out."

The Memory Book helps because, in it, the children openly relate their shared experiences, feelings and remembrances. The remembering and talking about the deceased parent offers the proper outlet for grieving... and understanding and accepting the fact of the loss.

Photos of the parent may be put in the book, especially if the pictures include the children, thus aiding recall and discussion. The activity, itself, is important. It puts everything out in the open and into family talk. It will assist in providing good and stable remembrances of the deceased parent as the children grow up.

You Told Us

Mr. and Mrs. Worth McClure and exchange student, George Anaya from Mexico City, were entertained at a 4th of July family picnic at the Clinton country home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Douglas, Rhonda, Chris and Tamara.

Other guests from Tecumseh included Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kempf and daughter, Lauri, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frost and son, Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kempf.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shook of Pleasant Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Higgins and son, Douglas of Saline, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Corneil and grandson Mathew, Mrs. Mildred Eaton of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Corneil of Tucson, Ariz. and Richard Crabb of Addison.

Plan Second Dance at THS

Encouraged by the strong attendance and smooth going of its first supervised summer dance for teens, the APT Board (A Place for Teens), has set July 8 from 9 p.m. to 12 a.m. as the time for its second dance at the high school cafeteria.

The APT Board also announced the establishment of A Place For Teens account at the United Savings Bank to receive public contributions for the Tecumseh Area Town Meeting Organization's (TATMO) goal to establish a permanent meeting place for teens with a full-time director.

The APT Board composed of six adults and four teens was formed after the April 25 adoption by TATMO of a subcommittee survey that showed an overwhelming interest and need to establish a meeting place for teens.

Adult members are Donna Roe, Pat Tressler, the Rev. David Fox, Martha and Cal Poppink and Rick Montcalm. Teen members are Cindi Egli, Mark Phelan, Louis Goings, Liz Perez.

The account established for A Place for Teens was kicked off with the $1,000 contribution from the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation to help finance summer dances for teen recreation.

The first of the dances, to be held every other week during the summer vacation, was held June 24 with approximately 250 students attending.

Parking attendant Gerry Green reported no problems. Chaperones, Jan Ocamb, Marge Steiner, Judy and Jim Palmer, Carol and Pat Cathey and Pat and Jay Tressler, reported no conflicts in the building.

In spite of an air-conditioning problem in the high school cafeteria, over 100 students remained until the end of the dance. The problem has been fixed in time for the July 8 dance.

Pop and chips were sold. Any remaining proceeds after expenses will be used to finance A Place for Teens.

Jeff Steiner and his band will again perform for the students at the July 8 dance and admission is still $1.

Teenagers would like to have a dance every Friday night since there is no other community recreation activities for them, reported the APT Board.

The following is an open letter to the citizens of the Tecumseh area from the APT Board explaining the need for a place for teens and how the community can help make it a reality:

An Open Letter to the People of Tecumseh,

There is a need. Town Meeting showed it. You've said it. Over 1,000 surveys have gone out to you—both teens and adults. Your responses repeatedly say one thing, "We need A Place for Teens."

APT was formed with this goal in mind. The Board of Directors has selected a place. We want to help our teens. We have the community behind us and we need your financial support.

A Place for Teens can be a reality. The need is now. Our teens do not have a place to go. They need a place for fun and rapping like we had. Remember those good times at the local drug store soda fountain, the downtown movie theatre, the Teen Club? Our teens have none of that.

When one drives through town after a basketball game and sees 150 kids waiting their turn to get into the Italian Village, then we should know we are not giving enough to our teens. Special thanks goes to Mrs. Ternak for doing our job, but now it is time for us to take action.

You can help. Here's how:

1. Make a contribution to APT in the name of your favorite teenager.
2. Make a "living memorial" contribution in the memory of a teen or someone who loved teens and wanted the best for them.
3. Encourage your favorite organization to make a contribution because you want it to demonstrate its interest in teens.
4. Merchants, make a contribution in the name of your business as a positive protest against vandalism and loitering.
5. Make a contribution so that you will have a part in making Tecumseh a better place for all its citizens.

Our goal:

1. A Place for Teens.
2. A full-time youth director
3. A program geared to the immediate needs and interests of our teens eg. unstructured, supervised meeting place, job placement, peer counseling, etc.

You have said this need must be met. You said it at Town Meeting. You said it in surveys. You continue to say it in converstions. The overwhelming message is "We need A Place for Teens." We need your help.

An account has been established at the Herrick Park Branch of the United Savings Bank with $1,000 from the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation. The name is APT (A Place for Teens). Make your voice heard by contributing today.

To Review Ordinance

The proposed historic district and historic district ordinance will be reviewed at a public hearing held by the Tecumseh Historic District Study July 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

The general public is invited to meet with the study committee, ask questions and give opinions.

After this public hearing, Tecumseh City Council will have three readings of the ordinance and a public hearing if the city is to adopt the proposed historic district and protective ordinance.

The Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee was appointed by Tecumseh City Council three years ago to propose a historic district and protective ordinance.

Members of the study committee include residents of the proposed historic district, members of the Planning Commission and the Tecumseh Area Historical Society.

John Surratt Is Reappointed

John M. Surratt was reappointed to succeed himself as a member of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Board and the city retirement board.

Council made the reappointment on Tuesday.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Appetites change during the warm weather. I know my family wants lighter meals, sandwiches, salads and lighter desserts. Here are some delicious suggestions you may wish to try.

This Macaroni Salad is a nutritious meal in itself.

MACARONI SALAD

8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni salt
10 ounce package frozen peas, cooked and chilled
1 cup diced celery
½ cup sliced green onion
1 small carrot, shredded
1 medium cucumber, peeled and diced
1 tomato, diced
1 can (12 ounce) luncheon meat, diced or 7 ounce tuna, flaked
¾ to 1 cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
lettuce

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, Drain and rinse with cold water; drain again. Add to remaining ingredients, except lettuce. Mix well and salt to taste. Chill and serve with lettuce, if desired. Serves 6-8.

Finger Gelatin makes a light between meal snack. I prepared this last week and it disappeared in a hurry.

FINGER GELATIN

4 envelopes Knox unflavored gelatin
3 packages (3 ounce each) flavored gelatin
4 cups boiling water

In large bowl, combine Knox unflavored gelatin and flavored gelatin; add boiling water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Pour into large shallow baking pan. Chill until firm.

Cut into 1 inch squares and enjoy. Does not require refrigeration. (Cookie cutters may be used to cut out special designs.

The engagement of Luanna Geierman and Delmar Newton is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geierman of Webberville. Luanna is a 1972 graduate of Howell High School and is assistant manager of Matthews Pharmacy in Brighton. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Southard of Tecumseh. Delmar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Newton of Fowlerville. He is a 1964 graduate of Fowlerville High School and is an X-ray repairman. An Aug. 6 wedding is planned.

Angela Born In Florida

A daughter, Angela Linsay, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCombs of Carol Springs, Fla., June 11. She's a first baby for the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Worolly of Tecumseh, and Mr. and Mrs. George McCombs, formerly of Tecumseh, now Boca Raton, Fla., are the grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Starkey, 5625 Holloway Rd., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, Sunday, June 26. Honoring them with an open house at 208 W. Cummins were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schmidt Sr. and Robert Starkey. Mrs. Howard Schmidt decorated the cake served to 75 relatives and friends. Lifetime residents of Holloway, Ralph Starkey and Edna Miller were married June 25, 1927, in Adrian. He is a retiree from the Tecumseh Products Co. and was also engaged in farming.

Siena Explores Youth Ministry

An intensive four-week program to explore the growing field of youth ministry is being offered by Siena Heights College, Adrian, Michigan, during July, 1977.

Participants will learn about recent trends, research, approaches, and skills for more effective ministry to, with, by, and for youth ages 13 to 19.

The program is designed for parish team members, adult moderators, youth leaders, parents, clergy, religious education coordinators, and teachers and administrators in public or private schools.

The second session, focusing on the factors influencing the development of moral behavior, will be held July 11 through 15, 1977.

Credit can also be applied toward a Continuing Education Certificate (2 C.E. units per week) or a diocesan religion teacher certification.

For further information, contact James C. Wiethoff, director of the Siena Heights College Youth Ministry Program, at (517) 263-0731, ext. 238 or 287, or visit the office in room 201, Sacred Heart Hall.

Alley May Be Vacated

Tecumsen City Council authorized city manager Cal Zorn and city attorney Greg Forsthoefel to contact property owners who did not sign a recently submitted petition to vacate an alley in the Wenonah Park plat.

The city officials are to determine if anyone has a necessary use for the alley, which according to Council's discussion Tuesday, appears to be fenced in and used as garden by most of the adjoining residents already.

If the alley is to be vacated, each adjoining resident will have approximately six feet added to their property description.

Swimming Demonstration

There will be a demonstration of swimming skills by local children at the Joyce Andrews pool this Thursday starting at 7 p.m. for parents.

The program will last for 20-30 minutes and a free swim period will follow.

Public Meeting for Building

A public meeting to discuss possible uses for the Bidwell Building will be held at the Tecumseh Public Library basement at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, July 12.

Any non-profit group interested in a use for the building may contact assistant city manager and community development director Paul Preston at 423-2107, Tecumseh Players president Gerald Johnstone at 423-5255 or planning commissioner Lynn Cook at 423-4285.

The Tecumseh Arts Council, Historical Society, Tecumseh Players, Music Club and other non-profit groups are welcome to make suggestions and attend the meeting Tuesday.

Council OK's Blacktopping

Tecumseh City Council authorized the city manager to contact Louis Caterina to determine the grade for his drive and have it graded. Caterina agreed he will pay the cost of blacktopping.

Caterina appeared before Council Tuesday night protesting that he did not know his inquiry would be raised at the last Council meeting, June 20. Council denied the request for grading and blacktopping at that meeting.

Caterina claimed that the grade was not made right by the city years ago when it came through doing work on the property owner's side of N. Union.

Rutherford - Brighton Are Wed

Gloria Dei Lutheran church was decorated with candelabra and bouquets of daisies and baby's breath for the wedding of Deborah Lynn Rutherford and Rick L. Brighton on June 25 at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Laszlo Gero officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rutherford, 507 E. Chicago Blvd. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brighton, 210 W. Kilbuck.

Pat Patten was the organist and Susan Prettyman was soloist.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white polyester gown with A-line styling. The bodice and long sleeves were made of sheer material flocked with butterflies and roses. The white skirt was decorated with a delicate butterfly decoration on the train.

Her jewelry was an opal butterfly necklace, a gift from the groom.

Her fingertip veil was secured by a headband made of matching material. She carried daisies and baby's breath.

Bonnie Flanders of Monroe was maid of honor wearing an aqua blue dress with blue, white and peach daisy print. The skirt was A-line and the sleeves were gathered. In her hair, she wore a daisy cluster with baby's breath and carried the same flowers in her bouquet with peach streamers.

Amy Rutherford, the bride's sister, Renee Brighton, the groom's sister, and Jan Boyers, all of Tecumseh were attired identically to the honor attendant but carried bouquets with blue streamers.

Dan Rutherford, the bride's brother and Woody Holcomb, the bride's cousin were acolytes for the ceremony.

Gene Boyers of Tecumseh was the best.

Tim Rutherford, the bride's brother, and Bob and Rick Boyers of Tecumseh were the ushers.

A reception for approximately 300 guests was held at the United Products Workers Union Hall.

Cheryl Wise and Gayle Bartenslager cut the wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Brighton was a graduate of Tecumseh High School and 1976 graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

Mr. Brighton was graduated from Tecumseh High School.

After honeymoon in Virginia Beach and the East Coast, the couple will reside at 5460 Raisin Center Hwy.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brighton, the groom's parents, hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Country House Restaurant.

THE INTERBANK CARD

Through My Window
by Marda Gene Duncan

Just lately we have had the pleasure of watching two kids - watching the antics of young squirrels is one of the joys of this time of year. The action is the same and yet there is always a difference too.

The two food trays of the near-my-window feeder were popular with the youngsters. And as long as each had his own dining spot peace reigned. This was the object of the twin feeders, we had hoped they would eliminate the sense of competition and be spaced far enough apart so that there would be much of this multiple dining.

For a short time the young squirrels would nibble from the same pile of food but truly, that never lasts long. Two piles of food solved the problem.

The first few climbs to the feeders always prompt chuckling from this side of the window. The youngsters are just so awkward and just so unsure of themselves that it is impossible not to laugh.

The supporting post offers no real challenge but once up that bang, both bumped their heads on the underside of the feeder.

It was easy to see them wondering what to do about that. Finally they twisted around the stretched enough so that first a little head and then a front paw appeared on the outside edge of the tray. In a few days they were scrambling up and over with the ease of veterans.

As usual this year's youngsters are sleek characters with beautiful, luxurious tails. They are beginning to grow up to their tails now but at first — well, of course, it was not really a case of the tail wagging the dog but it certainly often seemed that these kids had much more tail than they knew what to do with.

What a sight though when each tray held a young squirrel. Both crouched down in front of the sunflower seeds eating as if there were not tomorrow and each holding his tail flipped up over his back. And those tails were about three fourths of a head longer than were the squirrels.

Like human youngsters, Mother Nature's kids are not always sure of how they should act. The day which saw young fox squirrel on one of the trays and an even younger red squirrel on the other is a case in point.

At first both were so hungry they simply ate and carefully avoided looking at each other. Then gradually the red squirrel's nasty dispostion began to assert itself. A low gutteral chattering was the first indication of trouble. The other squirrel paid not attention. The scolding grew louder. Still no response.

By this time little Little Red was visibly working himself into a temper tantrum. He was sitting up straight and glaring at the 'enemy', his tail was jerking back and forth, even his throat vibrated as his scolding became louder, and more angry sounding. The fox squirrel continued eating.

Little Red was by this time absolutely furious. He made several quick feints, rushing to the edge of his tray and acting as though he were about to launch a full scale attack.

This quick movement attracted the big squirrel's attention but only to the extent that he raised his head, looked at the other squirrel, and then went back to the sunflower seeds.

This was almost the last straw. Little Red absolutely quivered, he was furious! His voice was now high pitched and shrill, his tail and throat were going a mile a minute, even his mouth was sputtering. I am sure he had forgotten all about eating.

I am also sure that he was wondering "why in the world doesn't that other squirrel know he should be afraid and run." At last he could stand it no longer, his rage had reached its peak and he made a lightning fast dash to the other feeder.

This was too much for the fox squirrel — but instead of running away he stood his ground and, of course, Little Red turned tail. He would not do battle with a big squirrel who obviously did not know the rules of the game.

Not only did he not know the rules but he actually added insult to injury. When the squirrel ran, the young fox squirrel actually took after him, chasing him off the feeder, across the yard, and over the creek bank. Mom and I cheered!

Bible School

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smoll

HOLLOWAY—The Friendly Neighbors Farm Bureau met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Young.

Members decided to retain the officers for another year.

Lawrence Smoll gave the minute-man report on House Bill 4332, which would outlaw production and distribution of child pornography and also make it much more difficult on adults involved in child prostitution.

Senate Bills 31 and 32, which would raise the drinking age to 19, are now in the House Civil Rights Committee. However, a church supported council on alcohol problems has a petition drive to raise the age to 21.

Allen Baker gave the package report on the marketing seminar held at the Hilton Inn, Lansing. Some of the speakers were: Dr. Larry Connor, Dr. Steve Harsh, Dr. Ray Black and Dr. Paul Kindinger. They spoke on "Energy Proposals," "Drying Grain," "Grain Marketing," and "New Farm Program."

Mrs. Hester Wooster had charge of the discussion topic on "Energy and Fuel." The thought was brought to the attention of the members that wheat straw and especially that from Kansas, a large wheat state, could be used to supply energy. A question and answer period followed.

The meeting concluded with a buffet luncheon served by the hosts.

A bridal shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spohr with co-hostesses Mrs. Eugene Vaughn, Mrs. Leland Fogelsong and Mrs. Loren Avery, in honor of Vicki Miles of Battle Creek, who will become the bride of Dewey Baker of Clinton on July 16.

Thirty three friends and relatives came for the evening to embroider quilt blocks for a quilt the hostess will make and present to the bride-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kerr, Mrs. Veda Jaqua, Mrs. Carl Gritzmaker and Mrs. Carol German attended the Lenawee County Historical Society meeting held at the Clayton Methodist Church on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Marvel Neuman and son, Richard Neuman were guests at dinner with Mrs. Etta Staup and her sister, Mrs. Velma Million.

Mrs. Elwyn Green and Mrs. Joe Glenn were among 1,200 women who attended college week at Michigan State for four days in East Lansing.

Mrs. Sarah Lowery attended the Corwin-Wotring reunion on Sunday at Island Park in Adrian.

Mrs. John Young attended a bridal shower for Debbie Butler at the home of Mrs. Harry Griesinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sawyer attended the Reister reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reister of Hillsdale. About 50 came from Cleveland, Swanton, Napoleon, and Toledo, Ohio, Milwaukee, Wisc., Manchester, Clinton, Adrian and Holloway. The occasion celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Sawyer. In the afternoon a birthday cake and home made ice cream were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spohr and Cherilyn Spohr were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ehringer in honor of Mr. Ehringer's birthday.

On Saturday, Mrs. Marvel Neuman and son, Richard Neuman, visited her sister, Mrs. Florence Mapes. Other guests were Elizabeth Pablica and Kathyrn Cooper of Toledo. All had supper and a social evening.

Paper Course Offered at WMU

A penetrating, week-long look at career possibilities in the paper chemistry and engineering industry concluded July 1 here at Western Michigan University for 25 high school seniors-to-be in a program entitled "Forest Resources, Pulp and Paper, and the Environment."

Among the students was Barry L. Barnhart of 77 Lee Villa Ct.

Seventeen of the group were from Michigan, the rest from four other states, including New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio and Wisconsin.

While at Western, the students took part in various paper science and engineering laboratory experiments, including making paper by hand from wood pulp fibers.

They explored the interrelationships of science and engineering in the pulp and paper and forest products industries as well.

Field trips to area paper mills also were on their agenda in addition to seminars, lectures and informal discussions.

This was the second group of high school students to spend a week at WMU this summer under the auspices of the Paper Technology Foundation, Inc., which covered all student expenses while here, except for travel to and from WMU and incidentals.

Ministry Program for Youth

James J. Finley and Michael F. Pennock will be featured speakers of the Siena Heights College, Adrian, Michigan, evening lecture series, part of the summer Youth Ministry Program held during the entire month of July.

The lectures will be held in Ledwidge Ballroom on the Siena campus from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

For further information on the lecture series, contact James C. Wiethoff, director of the Siena Heights College Youth Ministry Program, at 263-0731, ext. 238 or 287.

Attends Writing Conference

Barbara Jo Cook, nee Barbara Damon formerly of Tecumseh, attended the sixth annual Forest Home School of Christian Writing. The conference was held in Forest Falls, Calif. (east of San Bernardino) on June 12-15.

Mrs. Cook was selected as one of the two hopeful Christian writers from Washington. She submitted an application and a written article which was screened by Forest Home and the Evangelical Press Association. A total of 70 writers from the United States were chosen to attend.

The group was entertained in song and testimony by Norma Zimmer, author of the best selling book, "Norma," and featured singer of the Lawrence Welk Show.

BARBARA COOK

Mrs. Cook was a high school English teacher who also taught elementary school for seven years but now is retired, devoting full time to writing. She is a church reporter to the Auburn Globe News.

Her own article, published in January through her church newsletter, encouraged Mrs. Cook to coedit a quarterly spiritual booklet, "The Upward Way," published by Auburn Calvary Temple, 3535 Auburn Way S., Auburn, Wash. 98002.

She also has been published in "The Straight Skinny," the newspaper of Weight Watcher's and in "The Pentecostal Evangel."

Barbara is a 1961 graduate of Tecumseh High School and holds a BA from Michigan State University.

She is married to Guy (Bud) and they have one son, Gregory, a third grader. The Cook's reside at 10850 SE 319th St., Auburn, Wash., 98002.

Named UW Chairman

Adrian attorney James E. Sheridan was named general campaign chairman for Lenawee United Way's 1978 fund drive, president David S. Hickman announced.

The 1978 goal is $315,000, about $21,000 more than was pledged in last fall's campaign.

Sheridan worked last year in the professional division of the United Way campaign. He is currently treasurer of the family and children's services of Lenawee County, a United Way agency.

Local committee members include: Leroy Younglove, UAW Retiree, and Mrs. Linda Seegert, Local 1341 UAW of Fisher Body's Tecumseh Plant in charge of labor support committee.

Morley Shortt of Fisher Body will direct training of volunteers in the campaign.

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"I trust all the workers. I think we turn out a great car here."

Eileen Gilleo, General Motors Assembly Division, Tarrytown, N.Y.

"I have a 1963 Chevy now and I hate to part with it. It's still working great. But this year, I'm going to buy myself a new car. Sometimes people go right around the plant with the cars they order. I don't think I'll do that. I trust all the workers. I think we turn out a great car here."

"I started my 25th year in January. I work on the outside moldings. It's called supplying the line. I have what they call "nests" that I put the moldings in. As the car comes down the line, I take the plastic adhesive paper off the moldings and the men put glue on each end and put it on the car so that it lines up evenly on the doors.

"It's a fast job. If it's a four door car, I have to make up three, six, nine pieces of molding within seconds because we're doing better than a car a minute. You have to keep moving all the time.

"It's really teamwork. If I put the molding down right, it's going to be right. If I put the stock upside down, then the men might have to take the molding off and reglue it. So it's just a case of thinking every time I put the molding down.

"Ours is a happy area. We laugh and joke and still do our job first. Some people might find the job drudgery. I just really enjoy my work. I feel proud that I make cars.

"I think there's more opportunity for girls today. The whole attitude at General Motors has changed in the last few years. I see more girls with different jobs. A lot of them are doing jobs that amaze some of the men.

"My foreman is really great. She can do any of the jobs on the line. In fact, she broke me in on the job I'm on now.

"If a person's really interested, I don't think it makes a difference if they're male, female, old or young. After you're here for a while, for most people doing a good job becomes like an obsession. They're proud of their work."

What Area Historical Groups Are Involved In

If you think that the Tecumseh Area Historical Society is the only group in the area active in efforts to conserve historic architecture—surprise, surprise.

A circle tour of the Greater Washtenaw County area will reveal that Tecumseh is just a part in the conservation picture.

Tecumseh's three year effort for a historic district, the Promenade the Past historic building tour and the Macon Historical Society's restoration of Mills School were two Tecumseh area projects reported by the Ann Arbor News of April 25 in a full page feature story that reviewed conservation projects in the area.

The Preservation Week 1977 Committee, organized by Louisa Pieper of the Ann Arbor Historic District Commission, compiled press kits with information on preservation efforts and projects of 28 different groups in the Washtenaw County area.

An analysis of the 28 participants shows that about 20 were organized after 1970, nine were historical societies and five were neighborhood preservations groups. Fourteen of these were directly involved in the conservation of historic architecture for a vital community and developed educational campaigns.

Four of the other 28 participating groups were founded to support a specific cause, i.e. the arts, ecology, etc., but were still concerned with architectural conservation.

Two of the participants were publications that featured conservation news: The Ann Arbor Observer that circulates free of charge in the downtown Ann Arbor area and the Historical Society of Michigan which has a newsletter and a magazine, The Chronicle.

Eight of the other 28 groups were either interested in acquiring or already operating a museum of artifacts or village of historic architecture.

Communities in the process of a historic district are Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Saline and Tecumseh.

A circle tour of the organizations, their projects and accomplishments include:

Macon Historical Society—Conservation of the 130-year-old one room schoolhouse, old Mills school. President Linda Phillips said it has helped bring local history to life. Volunteers added a new roof and paint to the gift from Robert Bush. When authentic interior restoration is complete the society hopes to use it for meetings.

Saline Area Historical Society—Formed in the 1960's to save a landmark which was lost. Annual home tour is the first Sunday in October. Developing an oral history project.

Saline Historic District Commission—Appointed by city council. Produced survey "Saline Has a Past in its Future"; presented annual awards for conservation; published biking-walking guide and quarterly newsletter for older home owners.

Milan Historical Society—Seeks to preserve "James B. Hack Home", a founding father's home, for society headquarters- museum. Restored 1938 Henry Ford Fire truck, one he ordered to replace Model T truck, now in museum. "Union Church", first church in Milan built in 1866, once York Township hall and a local school, was purchased by Mormons in 1974, restored to original condition.

Ypsilanti Heritage Foundation—Designated by city council in 1973 at Recommendation of the historic district study committee. Saw "Towner House" renovated as a private home. Works with historic district property owners to establish preservation standards, increase public awareness.

Ypsilanti Historical Society—Museum at 220 N. Huron open 2-4 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Group tours available.

Depot Town Ypsilanti—Annual neighborhood clean-up. 12 buildings have changed hands and are being used.

Canton Historical Society (Canton Township, Wayne County, Mich.)—Trying to acquire Canton Center (Rd.) School house (1885) from Plymouth—Canton Community Schools to use as museum.

Plymouth American Association of University Women—Annually designates Plymouth Landmarks, encourages preservation and interest in local history.

Plymouth Historical Society—Main St. Museum open 1-4 p.m.

Salem Historical Society—Published Salem Township History. Held open house of Salem Walker Church last May 14.

Northville Historical Society—Constructing Mill Race Village, a combination museum village and community park. Specimens of 19th century architecture moved to site of former grist mill near town center. Received Ford Motor Co., city and private donations. Open summer weekends 1-4 p.m. Huge July 4 festival.

Dester Historical Society—Dexter Area Museum, 3443 Inverness St. saved the old German Lutheran Church, moved and restored it for museum. Works with schools, has spring arts and crafts fair, home tour and Christmas sale.

Waterloo Area Farm Museum—Furnished with artifacts from 1855-1895 period Pioneer day activities second Sunday in October. Includes barn, log house, stone with cellar, ice house and privy, apple orchard and farm workshop. Closed Mondays. Open June to Sept. 1-4 p.m. Listed on National Register of Historic Places. Won volunteer restoration award for memorial to Michigan pioneer.

Ann Arbor Art Association—restored historic Walker Brothers Carriage Factory

Ann Arbor Historic District Commission—Two historic districts, one pending. Responsible for policies for the districts, public education. Kempf House Museum, 312 S. Division, open Saturday and Sunday, 2-5 p.m. Groups by appointment. Ann Arbor Street Railway—City bicentennial project to have a "toonerville" shuttle between Main and State Sts. Bought and reconditioned trolley.

Ann Arbor Tomorrow—Downtown revitalization study to encourage, mobilize, all groups toward this project, assist city with goals and projects, identify areas of need, coordinate all efforts. Supports low cost off street parking, pushing for downtown "plaza" development and shuttle for downtown. Encouraged use of local architect for Maynard St. McDonald's and building the Liberty center multi-purpose building on Liberty at Maynard.

Cobblestone Farm Association—Restored the Ticknor-Campbell House, (1844 Greek Revival cobblestone farm house) at 2781 Packard Rd. on city of Ann Arbor owned property. Raised $60,000 federal and private funds. Used as "hands-on" pioneer farm museum. One day fall festival. Group tours by appointment.

Ecology Center of Ann Arbor—Encourages awareness of environmental issues, located at 417 Detroit St., an older brick building. Advocates planning to preserve neighborhoods, open space and farmland. Published "Footloose in Washtenaw"; a walker's guide to historical natural and ecological sites.

Old West Side—An Ann Arbor neighborhood, non-profit association dedicated to preservation of historic environment. Listed on National Register of Historic Sites, soon to be local historic district. Annual home tour third Sunday in September Walking tour map.

Washtenaw Neighborhood Association—Founded to protect against traffic, derelict housing, loss of trees and other neighborhood threats

Westside Neighborhood Group—Five issue oriented Ann Arbor business owners meet to define kind of neighborhood they want. Publish small paper when issues arise. Resulted in city funding for new trees, lights and sidewalk repairs. Plan chemical cleaning of buildings.

Hertler Bros., Inc. of Ann Arbor—210 S. Ashley, a farm and garden store, fixed and painted two years ago and operated in changing downtown with old fashioned service. Business tripled since reopening.

Overhead Work Call 'Miss Dig'

"Miss Dig," the utility communication system that has reduced damage to underground utility lines in Michigan, is going overhead.

A pilot project in Oakland County near Detroit and in Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties near Lansing will begin July 1. Contractors and homeowners who will be working near overhead electric lines can call the "Miss Dig" telephone number to receive utility assistance in avoiding accidents.

"Miss Dig" is a telephone notification system that was set up in 1970 to prevent damage to underground utility lines. Now it will provide a convenient method of receiving utility assistance where overhead lines may be involved.

A contractor or anyone planning to do overhead work will call the toll-free statewide "Miss Dig" number, 800-482-7171, at least 48 hours (two working days) prior to the activity, between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m.

A trained operator will obtain information on location and type of work and dispatch this by private teletype to a "Miss Dig" participating member with overhead lines in the area.

The utility will dispatch a representative to meet the contractor or other person at the location specified, at no cost. Information on the voltages will be provided.

"Our present system has enabled contractors and others to avoid striking underground lines, and the new system will help a contractor with a crane or a homeowner planning to erect a TV or CB antenna to avoid striking a high-voltage line," said Michael G. Digon, executive secretary of "Miss Dig."

Sponsors of the "Miss Dig" Overhead Electric Pilot Program are Consumers Power Company, Detroit Edison, Eaton Rapids Municipal, Lansing Board of Water and Light and Tri County Electric.

More information can be obtained from Mr. Digon by writing "Miss Dig" — Utility Communication System, P.O. Box 369, 4600 Coolidge Hwy., Royal Oak, Mich. 48069, or by calling 313-549-5000, Ext. 240.

8th Grade Recollections

by Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — For the many citizens who once attended one of the state's rural schools, late April and early May, bring many recollections to mind. Teachers and pupils found it a busy time. It was during those months that the eighth grade pupils in rural schools were reviewing and studying diligently in preparation for the county eighth grade examination.

Some pupils found the examinations fairly easy, while others considered the test quite difficult. The written examination usually required two days and covered all subjects taught in a one-room rural school.

The tests based on the course of study as prescribed by the state department of education and included - arithmetic, spelling, penmanship, grammar, geography, history, civics, physiology, reading (usually one of the classics such as "The Courtship of Miles Standish"), and orthography, and agriculture.

The examination was conducted in a nearby high school by the superintendent or principal. The questions were prepared by the state department of education or the county commissioner of schools and his staff.

All of the rural eighth graders wrote the same test on the same days, usually about the first week in May. For timid country school pupils, those were traumatic days.

In most cases the high school administrator was a stranger to the rural pupils, and they were in strange surroundings with other eighth grade country students they had never met before. In addition many of those rural young people were made to feel inferior by some of the high school pupils they came in contact with. In those days, rural people were sometimes called "Country Bumpkins" or "Hayseeds" - not complimentary terms.

Even though the rural pupils were clean and dressed in their best, they felt insecure and uncomfortable. Few had ever had a male instructor. Nearly all rural teachers were women. Not many pupils had ever attended a school of more than one room and always within walking distance of their home.

What a relief pupils felt when the last test had been completed and they were on their way home. Then came the suspense of waiting to know the results of the examinations which were corrected by the county commissioner of schools and his staff.

Finally considerate educators began to realize that eighth grade examinations, as had been conducted were not fair to rural youth. Pupils who attended town and city schools were not required to take the test.

Procedures began to change. Teachers in rural schools were requested to make a list of review questions for each of the eight grade subjects. Then a committee compiled quite a lengthy set of questions from the lists submitted and each school received a copy of the finished set to use for study.

From the sets of review questions being studied by eighth grade pupils, the county commissioner of schools selected about 10 questions for each subject. These were printed on separate sheets and on a specified date each teacher having eighth grade pupils received enough copies for each student in her class.

Instead of pupils going to the nearest high school to write the examination under the supervision of a stranger, the pupils were permitted to take the tests in their own school under the supervision of their regular teacher. How much more relaxed pupils were in familiar surroundings.

While the tests were being given, the younger students were dismissed. Some eighth graders griped a little because younger brothers and sisters were getting a little vacation, but the later method of conducting the tests was far superior to the former method.

To familiarize the rural students with high school buildings, instructor and classes, most high schools invited prospective freshmen to visit the high school on a designated day. Students and parents appreciated the change. In most instances the visit was an enjoyable experience and the rural students began to look forward to being freshmen with eager anticipation.

BOOK MARK

News from the Tecumseh Library.

Did you know anyone living in the Tecumseh School District may borrow books free from Tecumseh Public library? Here are a few of the library's new novels:

In Return to Thebes, Allen Drury concludes the story of the all-powerful and ill-fated 18th Dynasty of Pharaoh Akhenaten that he began with A God Against the Gods.

The author vividly recreates the fabulous court and society of the Egypt of 3,300 years ago. Mr. Drury did much historical research in writing this novel of the only Pharaoh to ever defy the ancient gods in attempting to establish his own monotheism.

Unbeknown to the passengers of the Bristol Maid as the ship left Australia in 1836, the ship would never reach England. In his latest novel, Patrick White offers an exotic adventure—a journey into the "black pit of man's savage past."

A Fringe of Leaves is a tale of shipwreck, capture, and survival at all costs. Ellen Roxburgh's ordeal as she struggles to maintain her 19th century gentility is a study in the strength of the human spirit.

Elizabeth Savage has returned to the ranch country of western Montana for the setting of The Girls from the Five Great Valleys. Hilary (the acknowledged leader of the group), Amelia (the frightened, classic beauty), Janet (the not-too-bright doctor's daughter), Kathy (clever but untrustworthy), and Doll (everyone loved her) — five adolescents coming of age in 1934 in a "cowtown - turned - college - town."

Ms. Savage moves smoothly among the characters, recreating their lives in a "vibrant tragicomedy of manners."

But wherever it shines . . . there are shadows.

Wherever there are golden opportunities there are also sombre tragedies. Some fail to grasp their blessings.

Ours is a nation which guarantees to every child the opportunity for religious training. Yet ours is a nation which smarts under the scourge of a moral disease — juvenile delinquency.

In blessing you with a son or daughter. God has entrusted to you a precious soul. You are required by law to give your child a secular education. But, despite the scourge of delinquency, a free nation must leave to your conscience the question of your child's moral and religious education.

God has blessed America. With a nearby Church ready and eager to provide Christian training for your child, and religious foundation for your family's life—the Sun shines bright. But there are shadows. You must decide!

Seek Re-Vote on Half Mill

CLINTON — Board of Education voted at a special meeting, June 27, to place the proposal for one-half mill for operations before the voters, again, Monday, August 22.

Defeated at the annual meeting in June 183 to 146 with a light voter turnout, the proposed millage would raise approximately $25,500.

Supt. Richard Wegner explained that the additional millage is necessary to operate on a balanced budget.

Because State Equalized Valuation of property in Clinton School District has increased this year, debt retirement millage has been reduced by .28 mill, consequently, the requested new one-half mill tax will only mean an actual increase to taxpayers of about half that amount.

In determining the need for the millage vote, board considered cost of heating oil and natural gas last year, which amounted to $34,000 more than budgeted for 1976-77.

Total fuel bill actually cost $60,000, an increase of $23,005 over previous year. This occurred while schools kept thermostats at near 65 degrees level through winter months.

Electrical cost was budgeted at $32,900 last year and actually cost $45,246. This was $12,346 more than budgeted. Local electrical rates are scheduled for another increase in July.

Likewise, maintenance and supply costs have risen more than budget allowed, Wegner explained.

Macon Montage

By Josephine "Josie" Jones

MACON — Local celebrations of our national birthday included:

A holiday weekend campout hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne at "Osborne Acres" on Arkona Road. Fifty-eight attended with their campers from Adrian, Ann Arbor, Belleville, Britton, Clinton, Milan, Ridgeway, Saline, Tecumseh, and area. Activities included volleyball, hiking, horse shoes, cartoons and movies, and "mini" bathing pools for the youngsters. The campers enjoyed outdoor cooking — Saturday night — hobo stew; Sunday — beef roasts cooked on hand turned spits. The camp-out concluded Monday with clean-up and departure.

Mary (Hewlett) Reed of Ann Arbor hosted a 4th of July picnic Monday afternoon. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Hewlett, Julie (Hewlett) Kampo and daughter, Becky, Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Hewlett, and Mrs. Garland Gove.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hamilton and family were among the guests at the traditional 4th of July outing and pool party at the Jim Colsons of Tecumseh.

Lorraine and Rodger Luegge from Cooksville, Tenn. spent this holiday weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ruhl. They also visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Luegge of Britton.

Other area news:

Former Macon resident Mrs. Margaret (Mudgett) Brewer now of Lubbock, Texas visited her old neighborhood and friends Saturday with her daughter, Julie Pfister and her two children.

Pearl Tucker is home and up and about after being a patient at Bixby Hospital.

Luella Rhoades is in Saline Community Hospital in Saline and progressing. Cards would cheer her, the room number is 128M.

Guy Zeluff a former Macon resident now of Lakewales, Fla. is a patient in Lakewales Hospital, Lakewales, Fla. 33853. Guy would appreciate hearing from old friends and neighbors. His room number is 240.

Evelyn Hawkins' daughter, Betty Stotler, is a patient in Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Macon United Methodist Church Calendar:

Administrative board meeting, June 11 at 8 p.m.

MACON - Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas, 8174 Short St. will observe their 50th wedding anniversary July 17. Friends and neighbors are invited to attend an open house at the Macon Methodist Church from 3 - 5 p.m. Helen M. Williams and Carl A. Thomas were married July 18, 1927 in Pittsford, at the home of the Rev. B. F. Williams, the bride's uncle. They spent their 50 years at the family home in Macon, and Thomas has spent his entire life there except for one year. Thomas worked for the Ford Motor Co. for 13 years, then went to the Tecumseh Products, retiring in July 1969. They have two children, James LaVerne of Macon and Sandra Jean Shafer of Follansbee, W. Va. and six grandchildren. The church women will serve refreshments. Couple reguests that gifts be omitted.

'Horning Parade' in Celebration

CLINTON — A horning parade about town in the rumble seat of the James Heimerdingers' Model A Ford, lent a touch of nostalgia to the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Judge, Sunday afternoon.

On the back of the Model-A, the family had placed a sign decorated with an original June 1927 wedding cover from the "Pictorial Review" magazine, and the words, "Married 50 years."

Attending the reception at the home of niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. William Stout, were 157 friends and relatives from Morenci, Sturgis, Wisconsin, Ann Arbor, Saline and Adrian.

Also attending were the couple's three sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Judge of Sylvania, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judge, Normal, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Judge of New Town, Conn.

Mrs. Judge's sister, Mrs. Juanita Kuhl and family of Sturgis, was also present.

A feature of the refreshment table was the five-tiered anniversary cake, made by the chef of Illinois State University, Normal, Ill., and brought here by son, Charles.

Chocolate cakes were made by niece Mrs. Jon Harwood.

The couple was given a money tree, flowers and other gifts.

Later in the evening 55 members of the family enjoyed a dinner together.

The Judges, formerly of Clinton, reside at Wamplers Lake.

Receives Autograph

MACON — Clarence and Margaret Hall received a personalized autograph from Norma Zimmer of the Lawrence Welk Show. Remembering the many years her grandparents watched the show and admired Norma Zimmer, Barbara Cook of Auburn, Wash. asked for an autograph for them.

The message also included the singer's favorite Bible verse: Phil. 4:13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Summer Work-outs July 7

Clinton's football squad will begin summer work-outs July 7.

Two sessions will be held one at 7 a.m. and another at 7 p.m.

Football players must attend just one of the two sessions.

Auxiliary To Offer Photography Program

CLINTON — Clinton Area Jaycee Auxiliary is offering a photography program for family and individual portraits as well as large groups and organizations on July 26, 27 and 28.

Fund Raising Enterprises, Inc. of Galion, Ohio, was selected to assist the auxiliary in raising funds for their community service programs throughout the year.

A photographer from this company will be at the Water Wheel Estates Community Building on the above dates.

Each family is scheduled to pose for its portrait at a specific time on a specific day so there is no waiting. The entire proceeds from the sale of the photography coupons goes to the Jaycees immediately. There is a $1 handling and insurance fee payable upon viewing the proofs. Each coupon bearer will be entitled to one 8x10 color portrait.

There is no sitting or head fee and several poses will be photographed to provide a variety of proofs from which the color portrait may be made.

Additional portraits beyond the one to which their coupon entitles them will be available at a nominal cost.

Persons desiring further information on the portrait program should contact Pam Hunt at 456-7888 or Sharon McGill at 456-7507.

Clinton Calling

James Mattis has returned home after completing a training course at the American Floral Art School in Chicago.

A son, Brian George, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Barry Heimerdinger in Bixby Hospital, June 30. They also have two daughters.

Mrs. Arthur Searle attended the June 25 wedding of her grandson, Mark Searle and Cathy Riordan in Fordam Chapel, Bronx, N.Y., and the reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Searle, at Coscob, Conn. The couple will reside at Wapping Falls, N.Y., where he is a psychologist at the State Hospital.

Mrs. Arthur Searle will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Piper of LaPorte, Ind. on a tour of the New England States.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pittman have sold their house in Herrick Park, Tecumseh and have purchased the Daniel Goodman residence on Tecumseh Rd., Clinton. They'll be moving late in July. Mr Pittman is social studies teacher at Clinton High School. Dan and Joan Goodman and family are moving to the former Eddie Kirkland house on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

Becky Grossman celebrated her 12th birthday June 28th with a slumber party with five friends, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Grossman. A Raggedy Ann donut cake was a feature of the refreshments. Wednesday, Becky had luncheon guests, her godmother, Mrs. Sam Vitale and children Lisa and Vincent of Auburn, N.Y. and Herbert Jacob of Grass Lake.

The Milton Grossmans, Mrs. Vera Jacob and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Jacob and family attended the Jacob family reunion at Sharon Townhall, June 26.

Joanne Grossman has returned home from a Friends Church youth camp in Charleston, W.Va. attended by 30 Tecumseh area youth.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hanson and family have returned from a trip to Mathium, Mass., where they visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sturtevant. While there the Hansons celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary. Daughter Susan stayed and will fly home later in July.

Senior Portraits

CLINTON — Clinton's 1978 seniors may have their senior portraits taken at the school by H.A. Powell Studios' photographer Aug. 29 and 30.

An appointment will be mailed to the student's home prior to the photographic date.

Seniors who do not plan to purchase pictures from Powell's should have them taken anyhow, so that they will not have to pay the extra charge for the class composit photo.

You are invited to see our wide selection of wedding stationery and accessories. Beautiful styles in every price range.

Treasures of Tutankhamun in Chicago

By Kathy Brown

The Treasures of Tutankhamun and the magic of Egypt are 210 miles west of Tecumseh until Aug. 15 where they are being exhibited at the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago, Ill. in cooperation with the University of Chicago.

The exhibit of 55 representative art works is the most important and beautiful of Egyptian art ever shown in the United States. The 55 works celebrate the 55th anniversary of the discovery of the tomb by Englishman Howard Carter in 1922.

Superlatives are the only way to describe the magnificent craftsmanship of the ceremonial beds, thrones, vessels, vases, chariots, inlaid boxes, statuettes, weapons, objects of luxury, comfort and religious significance that have survived 3,200 since the reign of the boy king from 1334 to 1325 B.C

The exhibit was designed so the visitor discovers the treasures in the footsteps of the archeologists. Contents of the tomb, antechamber, burial chamber, treasury and annex follow as much as possible the order in which they were excavated.

Blow-ups of the photographs taken by Harry Burton of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1922 are used artistically to educate the visitor. The significance of each object is described concisely and precisely for optimum learning.

Waiting in the infinite lines for tickets in the early morning hours is part of the museum experience now during the peak of family vacation time.

As many as 15,000 people tour the exhibit in a Sunday, 11,000 during a weekday. Lines form for the day's tickets at 7 a.m. Museum opens at 9 a.m. Tickets are sold out by 11 a.m. although general museum admission is still sold. General museum admission is the only charge.

It is time effective to line up early as the wait to see the exhibit is shorter. Tickets received at 10:30 a.m. had a five hour waiting period. In the 15 minutes it took to purchase a museum admission receipt and exchange it for a numbered exhibit ticket, the wait increased to seven hours.

Unique aspect of the wait is that the entire Field Museum and the museums in the Chicago Park District are used as a waiting area for the visitors. Updates on waiting time are available by phone. Television screens in major exhibit halls of the Field museum keep visitors informed.

Reportedly on Friday, when the admission is free, there is virtually no line in the evening.

Other days, people come prepared to wait for tickets. Breakfast in a paper bag, board games, paperbacks and self-organized airplane contests are family diversions. Jubilation describes the faces of those who emerge with "Tut" tickets.

Why does it seem the entire Midwest is converging on Chicago for a glimpse of funerary objects? A reason. obvious to the patient visitors is the splendor of the treasures, particularly the solid gold funeral mask, the most famous art work.

Another reason is that the Chicago museum is the only one in the Midwest where the exhibit will be shown. The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and five other museums will show it later.

Living to tell the story of standing in line makes a visit to the exhibit a status symbol for some.

The mystery which surrounds the life of Tut is a magnet for the curious.

Tut became king at the age of nine and died at age 19 of unknown cause. His skull was damaged but it may be attributed to damage after death rather than an assassination. He left his wife, Ankhesenamun, daughter of Akhenaton and Nafertiti, a widow without an heir. Ay, an aging statemen and Tut's chief advisor succeeded him to the throne. Ay is believed by some scholars to be the father of Nafertiti.

Tut's tomb is famous for what it contained rather than his person. It is said to be representative of a concept rather than a personality.

The period of his rule marked the restoration of the cult of Amun, the traditional religion abandoned by his predecessor. Amarna was abandoned as the capitol in favor of Memphis in Thebes. Tut changed the last of his name from "aton" to "amun" to signify change in devotion.

The period of his rule also marked the conversion of Egypt from a land dominated by Asiatic overlords to a world power that controlled an important land.

During the waiting period, visitors might investigate a companion Egyptian exhibit at the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago. Field Museum also has a newly reopened Ancient Egypt Hall and a Time-Life film, "Ancient Egypt" is shown hourly in the "no waiting" museum theater. "Man in His Environment" at Field gives a global view of the most serious environmental problems confronting men; it asks visitors to involve themselves in solutions.

The Adler Planetarium, Shedd Aquarium, Museum of Art and Museum of Science and Industry are in the immediate vicinity and also entertain visitors waiting to see "Tut."

The good will tour of Egyptian art was arranged by then President Richard Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Proceeds are to be used for renovation of the Cairo Museum, Cairo, Egypt.

Gifts from the Exxon Corp. and the Robert Wood Johnson Jr. Charitable Trust, matched by the National Endowment for the Humanities made it possible.

Masonry metals - such as concrete, brick, and slate - can be drilled easily if you use the proper equipment. The powered masonry drill has a carbide tip and a spiral fluted shank which make drilling and dust removal fast. The available drill sizes range from 3/16" to 1". Before you apply this power tool, take a nail and make a preliminary point in the masonry surface for the drill tip. When you drill, use an in-and-out motion so that you remove the dust as you go along. A hand tool for making holes in masonry is the star drill. This tool consists of a steel bar with a star-shaped point.

At TECUMSEH RENTAL CENTER, 112 S. Pearl St. 423-4470 we would be glad to help you if you are planning a do-it-yourself project. We probably have the tool or equipment that you would need to make your project much easier to do and make the job much easier for you. Having the right tools and equipment will always reduce the time and effort to get the project done. Why buy when it's cheaper to rent? Stop in soon. Open: Mon.-Sat. 9-8, Sun. 9-3.

HANDY HINT:
Always protect your eyes with goggles when you drill masonry.

'Cementing' Bonds

Thousands of American families have discovered that they can cement the bonds of international friendship right in their own living rooms.

The Youth for Understanding Host Family Program is a unique living experience that brings teenagers from Europe, South America, and the Far East together with ordinary families all over the U.S.

Youth for Understanding is now seeking families who want to participate in the program by opening their homes to one of 3,500 international students arriving in the U.S. this August.

Under the program, a family provides a home for six months or a year to an international high-school student from one to 24 counnries.

Host families are asked to treat the student not as a guest, but as another member of the family.

As volunteers, host families are expected to provide the exchange student with room and board. Clothing, spending money, insurance, and other personal expenses are provided by the student's natural family and by program fees.

For further information, contact the Youth for Understanding community representative, Mrs. Fred Shumaker, 456-7674 or call Thomas A. Holbrook, (313) 769-7800.

Growing Concern

There is growing concern that human rights are threatened in a growing number of countries undergoing internal changes due to revolution and political upheavals.

Ronald E. Sobota, spokesman for Jehovah's Witnesses in Tecumseh, said his religious organization is now restricted in its activities in 47 countries throughout the world.

Sobota said recent studies revealed people are subject to harassment and persecution due to race, religion, national origin and political affiliation.

Extension Club Meets

The Northeast Tecumseh Extension Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edward Stoelt on Milwaukee Rd.

Seven members were present at a potluck supper.

Next meeting will be Sept. 4 with the place yet to be determined.

Singles Club Hosts Casuals

The Casuals will provide music at the July 9 Ann Arbor Saturday Night Singles Club Dance for single adults 25 years old and over.

Dance will be at the Ann Arbor "Y", 350 S. Fifth Ave. from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Golf Season in Full Swing, Several Tourneys Scheduled

The summer golf season is in full swing with a number of tournaments scheduled at local golf courses.

A four-man scramble will be held July 31 at Raisin Valley Golf Course. Entry and greens fees are required. You must pick your own team and sign up at the clubhouse.

The Michigan Scramble will be held at Raisin Valley July 17.

Macon Golf Club is hosting a junior tournament July 13, 14 and 15 followed by the men's stroke play tourney July 16, 17 and 23. Players qualify by playing 36 holes on the 16th and 17th. The final 18 holes are then played July 23.

Macon is also hosting a women's scramble made up of three-player teams Aug. 12. The competition begins with a shot-gun start at 9 a.m.

Macon's men's best ball tournament begins Aug. 13. Players must put in two days of competition either Aug. 13 and 14 or Aug. 20 and 21 or Aug. 27 and 28.

Macon finishes up its tournament season with a men's cook-out Oct. 1 featuring golf, dinner and prizes.

Centerview is having a three-man scramble July 16 and 17. The Lenawee Ladies Open is July 23 followed by the Michigan Scramble July 30. The Centerview Junior Open is Aug. 23, 24 and 25.

IT LOOK AS IF Tecumseh's varsity basketball season is underway a little early this year. Actually, the Indians have been holding summer work-outs including scrimmages. The action above took place during the Indians' scrimmage with Adrian last Wednesday. (PHOTO BY MIKE SUNDERLAND)

TCC Pro Is 2nd

Tecumseh Country Club pro Stan Brion placed second in regional semi-final long-drive competition last Friday.

The semi-finals — for Michigan and Ohio residents — was held at Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio.

Brion's longest drive of the day was a 286-yarder with the winner hitting 288 yards. There were 24 competitors.

Finals will be held in Pebble Beach Aug. 17.

LCC Players Are Guests

Ladies from Lenawee Country Club were guests of Tecumseh Country Club on Wednesday, June 29.

Thirty-six members and thirty-five guests took part in the tournament.

Ruth Temple, Arline Thoss, Liz Grossman, and Norrine Barss were in charge.

Following the luncheon, gift certificates were given to the following winners:

From Adrian - Ann Wynn, first low gross; Jean Horvath, second low gross; Marge Siddall and Jan Keller tied for first low net; M. Vogel, third low net; Midge Hoffman, first low putts and Betty Smith, second low putts.

Police In 1st Place, Kiwanis, UPW, and Credit Union Win

MAJOR

Police took over first place with two victories this week - first, a 10-2 win over Plywood as three pitchers combined for a no-hit victory. Jim Hite, John Kitson, and Mark Rosenberg were the three hurlers. Jim Hite also hit a three-run home run in the first inning.

Greg Henricks smacked three safeties to pace the 12-hit attack. In win no. 2 over JC's, a 14-5 victory, Jim Hite cracked another homer. The same three pitchers combined for the win.

Kiwanis stayed close with a 13-4 victory over Credit Union. Mickey Hyatt pitched four innings of near perfect ball as he struck out 10 and walked only one. John Gould led the hitting with two singles and two RBI's.

UPW snuck by Rotary by a score of 7-5. One key to the win was the pitching of Jeff Barnes, who pitched the last three innings and struck out nine batters. LeRoy Edwards had a key triple in the fifth inning.

Credit Union defeated Rotary 18-3 as Dave Williams pitched a one hitter. Dave struck out eight and also led the hitting attack with two doubles.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY LEAGUE

3-way Tie for 1st, VFW Unbeaten

(Week of June 28 - June 30)

Tuesday

The Tuesday league is still close with three teams tied for first.

Handley Equipment kept a share of the lead by beating Clinton Merchants 15-8. Larry Sanborn had three hits, including a round tripper. Terry Betz and Chris Bates also hit home runs. Dave Slusher and Terry Reiser hit homers for Clinton Merchants.

out as United Savings bank and Tractor Village combined for 33 runs on 47 hits.

United Savings Bank was the winner by a score of 21-12. Roger Proctor, Clyde Gunder, and Ron Baxter, all from USB, led all hitters with four hits each.

Ron Baxter and Mel pardee hit for the circuit as did Roy Woodworth for Tractor Village.

Finally, Local 429 held onto a share of first place by sneaking by Tecumseh Merchants 10-7. Louie Gonzalez smacked a home run for one of his two hits. Dean Cubberly also had two hits for Local 429.

Wednesday

In game no. 1 on Wednesday, Erb's Chevrolet scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to defeat Wagon Wheel 10-7.

Karl Lindh led the 14-hit attack with three safeties, including a home run. Tom Richter also hit a round tripper for Erb's, while Bob Bivens hit two for Wagon Wheel.

Game no. 2 was a game - shortened 15-run affair. Iott's Insurance scored 17 runs on 12 hits to defeat Faraday 17-2.

Dan Keller and J. Jackson led the attack with two hits each. Steve Blohm hit a homer for Faraday.

In the final game, VFW took over sole possession of first place by defeating the Loggers 9-4. Home runs played a major part in the victory as Al Schafer, Gordie Whelan, and Scott Edwards all pounded them out for VFW.

Don Eaton and Dave Pray also hit them for Loggers in a losing cause.

PONY LEAGUE BASEBALL

(Week of June 27-June 29)

VFW won it's first game this week and liked it so much that they did it again. Victim no. 1 was Lavoy Homes by a score of 21-14.

LaVoy held the lead until they changed pitchers and Ron Smith could not throw anymore. VFW played steady ball and got a few key hits, including a grand slam by Steve Belcher. Mike Waters was the winning pitcher.

Game no. 2 was a well-played 5-4 VFW victory over Gaston's. Tom Hamilton was the winning pitcher.

Ottawa kept its torrid pace by defeating UPW 7-2. Richard Hoard was the winning pitcher.

In the final game of the week, Lavoy Homes clobbered 17 hits and crushed UPW 17-4. Dave Duhan led the hitting attack with five safeties and Harry Withrow and Ron Smith added three hits each.

Ron Smith was the winning pitcher giving up only three hits.

Rec. Dept. Sponsors Two Trips

There are still some openings left for one of two camping trips sponsored by the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department.

The first trip, July 12, 13 and 14 is to the Sandy Pines resort for any 10-14 year-olds interested. Cost of this trip is $25 and included in this is transportation, meals, camping fees, and supervision. Sandy Pines is a private resort outside of Grand Rapids and has tennis, swimming, hiking and many more athletic activities. This trip is now full but a waiting list has been started.

The other trip is to Mackinaw and the surrounding areas. This trip is scheduled for August 2, 3, 4 and 5 and for all junior and senior high students. Cost of this trip is $37.50 and this includes all meals, transportation, camping fees and any other expenses.

Registration for both of these trips may be done at the Tecumseh Recreation Department.

FOCUS
on City Government

By Paul L. Preston, Jr.
Tecumseh's Assistant City Manager
and Community Development Director

PUBLIC SAFETY

Public safety is one of the most important services provided by a city government. It is through the city police and fire departments that both our lives and our homes are protected.

POLICE

The City of Tecumseh police department consists of ten patrolmen, two sergeants and Chief Merlin Mowery.

Chief Mowery has been with the department two years coming from the Michigan State Police with over thirteen years experience. He feels "that the Department has done a fine job in the past and will continue to do so. There are many areas of police work which are becoming more and more difficult, demanding new professionalism and training if we are to win the battle with crime."

The Department possesses a high degree of professionalism, experience and training. The average length of service for all policemen is ten years, varying from twenty-four years to a new hire of less than a month.

The last three policemen hired possessed bachelor degrees, one has gained his bachelor's degree while working for the city, and two others have associate degrees. In addition, each policeman hired by a municipality in Michigan must be certified by the state. To obtain his certification a policeman must either possess a bachelors degree or complete 256 hours of classroom work in police related courses.

There is round the clock police protection with at least one patrolman on the street during each shift. In addition, there is a patrolman at the station at all times to answer phones and to handle the radio.

The city has just hired a clerk dispatcher under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act Program to handle phone calls and the radio. This will free a patrolman for additional patrol time.

It is very difficult to obtain comparative crime statistics for communities our size, however, we are able to compare figures from Hillsdale with those of Tecumseh. Hillsdale has 47.3 index crimes per 1,000 population while Tecumseh has SEVENTH FATALITY — Lenawee experienced its seventh fatality of the year Monday afternoon when Navy recruiter Randall Haburn of Adrian passed an auto on northbound M-52 and struck a cattle truck head-on. The Haburn auto was wedged under the truck, as far back as the saddle tanks. Both vehicles ignited upon collision. The truck driver and his grandson were treated for burns at Bixby after witnesses to the collision pulled the two from the truck.

Head-On Crash Claims Navy Recruiter's Life

Randall L. Haburn, 27, of Adrian, a Lenawee Navy recruiter, was killed Monday afternoon when he struck a cattle truck head-on, on M-52, just north of Russell Rd.

According to Sheriff's reports, the driver of the truck, Harold A. Wolf, 64, of Morenci was taken to Bixby Hospital and is listed in fair condition. His passenger and grandson, 11-year-old Wes A. Wolf, was also treated for burns to the face and arms, but was released.

According to Lenawee deputies, Haburn was northbound on M-52 when he passed a second, unidentified auto at a high rate of speed. He apparently did not see the approaching truck and the two collided in the truck's lane.

The unidentified auto did not stop for the accident. The Haburn auto wedged under the truck on impact and both the Haburn car and Wolf truck burst into flames.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the scene at 4:20 and the Tecumseh Fire Department was called at 4:23 to put out the fire.

Firemen spent nearly two hours on the scene. They put out the blaze and then waited until two wreckers arrived to pull the wedged vehicles apart. The road was then hosed down and opened to traffic.

According to deputies, the fatality is the seventh one in Lenawee County this year, as compared to 12 fatalities during the same period in 1976.

VANDALISM CONTINUES

Damage Totals $1080

Local businesses continued to be prey for vandals this week. The latest victims were Northern Propane, who sustained $800 in damage, and Easton's Friendly Service, $280.

Ray Lovett, 320 N. Adrian St., told police Monday that he was awaken in his upstairs apartment by a crashing sound below. The owner of Northern Propane descended to find the two front east windows broken. Two large rocks were lying on the building floor.

The two, nine foot by seven foot windows can be replaced, but will run between $800 and $900. Police checked the area with negative results.

Last Thursday, Harold Easton told police he found his air pole and pump damaged. Vandals there apparently used a tire iron or hammer to break glass and damage the face of his equipment.

A resume of other reports includes:

July 7 — Elmer David, 702 Conklin, reported the larceny of a bicycle from a back yard at 315 N. Union. Estimated loss has been set at $83.

July 8 — Timothy Stephenson, 19, was arrested by police after they stopped him on Chicago, east of Oneida, for equipment violations. Two warrants came back from Pontiac State Police and Flat Rock police when Tecumseh police ran a file on Stephenson.

He was also arrested for driving with a suspended license.

Police also arrested Thomas M. Sherman, 27, on Friday for driving with a suspended license. He was driving on W. Chicago only one taillight when police stopped him.

July 9 — Police arrested Robert B. Navarre, 17, of Monroe for possession of marijuana after they stopped him on eastbound Chicago with only one headlight. Police found two bags of alleged marijuana in the auto as Navarre opened his glove box to find his registration.

July 11 — George Finnegan of 9 S. Occidental reported his mailbox smashed. Vandals apparently used a club or iron pipe to smash the top of the box.

Lawrence Wojciechowski of Tipton reported the theft of a 10-speed bicycle from THS. Bike loss was set at $115.

Police arrested Hector Sanchez, 18, Monday on drunk and disorderly charges when they found him in the 100 block of W. Chicago.

July 12 — Earl Campbell, 205 W. Logan, reported a bicycle stolen from the high school. Loss there was estimated at $65.

Donald L. Phelan Elected President

At an organizational meeting of the Tecumseh Board of Education held last Wednesday, July 6, members elected new officers.

Donald L. Phelan, D.D.S., was elected president; William Macbeth, vice-president; James Records, secretary and Richard Heglin, treasurer.

The board agreed to continue meeting on the third Monday of each month at 7 p.m.

May Open August 1st

The county's new Secretary of State office, to be located in the left half of the Tecumseh Fabricare building on Herrick Park Dr., may open as early as Aug. 1 but possibly mid-August, according to owners of the building.

"As close as we can tell, the target date is Aug. 1. However it may run longer, about two weeks," said Mark Murray, owner's representative.

Murray said that confirmation of a lease with the state office did not come until just a couple of weeks ago. He expects to meet with a representative from new office leasing division of the secretary of state office next week to work out the agreement of the moving date. Meanwhile, Murray said that construction on the offices is proceeding.

Whether or not a manager was selected is unknown. Regional manager of the Secretary of State offices, Philip Allen, could not be reached for comment. Unofficial sources said the office would likely employ three people and may involve a transfer.

Chamber To Open New Office

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce met early Thursday morning, discussed and accepted Glover Realty's offer to allow the Chamber to use the back of their building for an office area.

The area will serve as an information center for the town, and the city does plan to use it to some extent to answer city related questions.

The chamber plans to have the office manned to some extent to answer citizen's and visitor's questions. The phone line will be hooked up with Glover's so phone messages can be taken.

The project, which will be on a trial basis, allows the chamber to set up a desk and filing cabinet to store information and answer questions. The office has been discussed in the past, but has not been possible until now.

Chamber members hope the new office will be open by the first part of August.

In other chamber business, the appointment of Henry Newlin to the Chamber board was approved and a second vacancy on the board was tabled. The group plans to contact potential prospects further before making the appointment.

Tecumseh's first industrial-statistical committee was also set up with Don Dobrosky as chairman. The committee plans to rework the present general information brochure available from the chamber into a more recent view of the city.

The group also hopes to include statistical information regarding the businesses and people here to give potential families and businesses a better insight into Tecumseh.

Other members working on the committee include Henry Newlin and Tecumseh's assistant city manager, Paul Preston.

Pole Building Bid Accepted

At a meeting of the Tecumseh Board of Education last Wednesday, members accepted the low bid of $9,308.02 from Goble Lumber in Blissfield for the proposed storage building to be built at the high school.

The high bid was $12,416 submitted by Morton Buildings. A total of five bids were submitted.

Construction is slated to begin during either the last week in July or the first week in August. The work will be completed by Sept. 1 as part of the agreement with Goble.

In other action, the board approved of the hiring of a combination math-English teacher and an audio-visual supervisor for the high school.

Citizens Discuss Theatre Option

Citizens interested in continued use of the Bidwell Building, a recent gift to the city, brainstormed ideas for future uses at the Tecumseh Public Library Tuesday night.

Michael Quinn, architect from Preservation Urban Design in Ann Arbor, answered questions on structural changes that would be necessary to convert the commercial building into a community theatre-cinema.

Preservation Urban Design did the original feasibility study for Mrs. Donald Cobb, Mrs. James Robideau and Mrs. Carlton Cook. That study proposed the building be redesigned to accommodate several shops with an arcade and business offices on the third floor. However, due to the high rental rates that would result from renovation, the project was abandoned.

In general, Quinn said that the Bidwell building was sound structurally and had great potential because of its downtown location.

Asked if the plan for a community theatre were feasible, Quinn replied, "Actually, pretty feasible."

This was the basic plan suggested:

The 12 inch brick walls that support the second, third floors and the roof would be taken out and the roof would be supported by three steel trusses.

This would make the auditorium 25 foot high at the front of the building and 22 foot high in the back. Building is 45x60.

Provisions for cinema projection booth, fly-up set, etc. would determine whether the stage would be at the front or back of the building. Seating capacity would be approximately 250.

First floor and half basement of the building could be prepared for leasing to a commercial interest.

With its downtown location theatre patrons would have ready access to city parking, particularly at night when commercial traffic is light.

Cost for the renovation plan is speculative. Since the main change in this plan is interior treatment, Quinn indicated that cost would still be roughly the same as for the shopping arcade or $275,000.

This would provide "raw space" for theatre design, electrical and mechanical work, reinforcement of floors and does not include theatre furnishing such as lights, seating, stage, etc.

Barrier Free Design Codes recently adopted by the state would necessitate an elevator at least to the second floor. Quinn explained that if the building were owned by a non-profit organization, a variance might be granted as a hardship case. Cost of elevators in historic buildings have often made renovation prohibitive. When governments are involved in renovation, the design codes are more strict.

The Manchester Theatre does not have an elevator. Access to the third floor theatre is via stairways to the second and third floors. However, the Manchester group said is has satisfied codes and inspectors.

Representatives of cultural groups who attended Tuesday's meeting seemed pleased with the intimacy that the proposed 250 seat theatre would provide. The Community Center Glass Room holds 170 in a packed house.

Monies for the feasibility study and project may be available from the National Endowment for the Arts or the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Assistant City Manager Paul Preston said he has applications for these studies and is investigating funding possibilities.

Quinn showed slides of historic opera houses and theatres, approximately the same size as the Bidwell Building, and described how each was altered for modern use.

His company is presently involved in designing Crossroads Village in Genesee County. It is reassembling the Fenton Opera House for the reconstruction of an 1880's village.

Merchants Plan Two Day Sale

Tecumseh merchants' Sidewalk Sale will be a two day event next weekend, Friday, July 22 and Saturday, July 23.

While a majority of the stores plan an outdoor sale the two days, some will have indoor sales on Saturday.

A special advertising tab, distributed with The Herald in the Tecumseh, Manchester and lakes areas, will be printed Tuesday. Merchants should contact Kent Downing, 423-2174 as soon as possible.

Among the proposed special events are an auto and recreational vehicle show, pony rides, street band Friday and ice cream social.

Promenade Nets $3,116

Promenade the Past earned $3,116 for two of the sponsors.

Half the money will go to the Presbyterian Women's Association and a fund for a small elevator in the fellowship center of the Presbyterian Church.

Other half will be used for improvements in the historic district.

The Tecumseh Area Historical Society with the cooperation of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce were the other two sponsors of the historic building tour.

Tentative dates for Promenade the Past 1978 are May 20 and May 21, the third week in May, same as this past year. Volunteers for next year's committees are being sought.

Waynick Sentenced

Randy Waynick of Billmyer Highway, Tecumseh, received a four and one-half to seven year prison term in the first sentencing to result from the arrests of more than 30 last month for delivery of drugs.

Waynick pleaded guilty two weeks ago to delivery of PCP, phencyclidine.

Judge Glaser commented on the seriousness of the drug problem in Lenawee when handing down the sentence. He said the harsh sentencing for convicted dealers was necessary to begin solving that problem ane discourage continued illegal sale of drugs.

IF IT'S A RACE — McDonald's construction is in full swing and is in the lead over Big Boy's. The brick is up and the bulldozer is leveling the area. Local backers of Big Boy report that they have been promised that construction there will begin again Monday after over a month of waiting for construction materials.

Area Arts Council Directory

Are you a dance or music teacher, craftsperson, visual artists, photographer, or someone with expertise in theater production in the Tecumseh or Clinton area?

If so, the Tecumseh Area Council for the Arts would like to hear from you.

The Arts Council is compiling a directory of human resources in the arts. People that the Arts Council wants to include need not be professionals but should have knowledge they would like to share with others. People who have special skills or who teach in some area of the arts are asked to contact the following people by Aug. 20:

- Visual Arts - Tom Rudd, 423-3153
Music - Elizabeth Wilson, 423-3603
. Crafts - Deborah Harris 423-4264
Dance - Jo Cooley, 423-2395
Photography - Charles Saling, 423-3370
Theater - Lori Egli, 423-4557

"We feel this directory will make the arts more visible in the area by showing how rich the resources in our own community are," said Deborah Harris, a member of the Arts Council temporary board.

"Although we plan to contact artists, musicians, and others whom we know personally, we also want to reach all the resource people 'hidden in the woodwork'," she added.

"Those who give lessons in any area of the arts should be especially eager to contact us, because inclusion in the directory will actually constitute free advertising."

The Arts Council is a new group which is organizing this summer.

36.5 per 1,000 population. An index crime is defined as: murder, robbery, assault, burglary, larceny and auto thefts. Hillsdale has eighteen fulltime policemen in comparison to our twelve.

In comparing city crime figures for the first five months of this year with the same period last year, burglaries are down 7%, larceny is down 30%, and assaults are down 6%. In the same time period arrests have nearly doubled.

FIRE

The Tecumseh Fire Department is a unique combination of full time members and volunteers. There are three full time drivers and approximately 20 volunteers.

The three full time drivers work rotating 24 hour shifts and their major responsibilities include monitoring the radio and phones, driving the truck on a fire call and operating the pumper at the fire scene.

Wallace MacGeorge has served as a volunteer for nineteen years, the last fifteen as Chief. Wallace states that, he has "a great deal of pride in the department and the job they have done in the community."

Being a volunteer fireman is a lot more than just racing to the scene of a fire and turning on the hose. Each volunteer goes through extensive training prior to becoming a full fledged fireman, including time on the auxiliary and at least one year probations. Each volunteer must attend two training sessions a month, one evening meeting, and a Sunday morning meeting.

At these training sessions fire fighting techniques are discussed, they refresh themselves on the operation of each piece of equipment, and on occasion abandoned houses are used as sites for fire and rescue training.

For example, a house is filled with dense smoke, each fireman is required to go into the house to try to locate a dummy that has been hidden. This type of training can be very important if a real person is ever caught in a burning house.

Nine firemen have completed the state's basic Emergency Medical Training Program at Bixby Hospital. This involves two nights a week of classroom work and study for approximately three months. This is done on their own time with the city only paying for the cost of the course itself.

The fire department is equipped with an emergency truck which is intended for emergency use only - it is not intended for the transportation of patients. There are private ambulance services for that purpose.

A good indication of the quality of a community's fire department is its fire insurance rating. The city has the lowest rating available to a volunteer fire department.

The total appropriation in the 1977-78 budget for police and fire protection is $360,169 or 21% of the total city budget, police $279,994 and fire $80,175.

8 Accidents

After six weeks with as few as two or three minor accidents, Tecumseh police were kept busy this week investigating eight different accidents, all minor. Two of the drivers were cited for hazardous driving.

A resume includes:

July 7 — Robert J. Ondrovick, 27, of 113 N. Maiden Lane, told police he was backing into a parking space along along E. Chicago when a second car passed by and struck his. Passing auto was driven by Leora Brighton, 71, of Brooklyn.

James N. Todoroff, 22, of Monroe, was cited for failing to have his vehicle under control when he rammed into a stopped auto in front of him. Larry L. Crittenden, 39, of 3926 Boyd St., told police he had stopped for an auto in front of him when he was hit.

Phillip L. Lazarz, 18, of Tipton, was northbound on N. Wyandotte, driving slowly and left of center when Ju-Chul Rhee, 38, of 8745 Hawthorne passed on the right. The two collided as Lazarz was making a right.

July 8 — Manuel Arana, 49, of 131 E. Chicago backed out of a parking space in the city's northeast parking lot when he struck an auto parked along a building. Parked auto belonged to Larry D. Henry, 136 E. Chicago.

July 9 — Valma L. Franisco, 44, of Carlton, told police she was driving through the city's northwest parking lot when an auto backed into her. Lorraine F. Wilson, 43, of 1010 Red Mill, did not see the approaching auto.

Ormand P. Socks, 71, of 505 E. Pottawatamie, was driving through the Kroger parking lot when Lorna E. Phillips, 40, of Clinton pulled from her parking space and hit the Socks auto.

Also on Saturday, Martin J. Boot, 20, of 906 W. Pottawatamie, attempted a right turn on E. Chicago at Evans Street when he hit a parked auto belonging to Rick Furgason, Britton.

July 11 — Susan M. Wozenski, 23, of Chesire, Conn., was cited for failing to yield at a stop sign after she pulled into the W. Chicago intersection from Occidental and struck a westbound auto. Kay I. Amstutz, 35, of Britton could not avoid the accident.

11 Girls Camp Out

Eleven girls from the Tecumseh area attended Camp Fire's Camp Tawanka in the Irish Hills last week.

It was the first year of camping for all of the girls and they said they enjoyed the swimming, boating, singing, crafts and outdoor skills.

Although most of the girls slept in cabins, Susan Palmer, Ann Kosby and Patty Kosby did their camping in tents at Kee Wee Unit for advanced campers.

Several of the girls also took advantage of the horse back riding lessons. Everyone learned a new word — "Biffy" (bathroom in forest).

All of the girls parents attended the closing ceremony held Saturday morning, in the natural amphitheater at the camp.

Local Plant Featured

A tour of the Fisher Body Division's Tecumseh Plant is cited in the July Motor News magazine as a top travel attraction open to the public without charge.

An article entitled, "Where to Go for Free" describes nearly 70 state, metro and county parks, nature centers, museums, gardens, arboretums and industrial tours across Michigan for the Club's 1.2 million reader-members.

Theme of the July issue is "How to Save Money and Have Fun" while enjoying Michigan's wide range of summertime activities and vacation objectives.

Couple Wed in Iowa

A reception for newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bishop will be held July 16 at 7 p.m. at the Bethel Baptist Church in Britton.

Marcia Wynn and Francis Bishop were married in the Harmony Bible Church at 1 p.m. on July 9 in Danville, Iowa.

Pastor J. Edward Davis officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wynn of Burlington, Iowa and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bishop of Britton.

Cindy Peters from Faith Baptist College, Ankney, Iowa, was the organist. The groom's father and a duet of Larry and Cindy Nilius sang.

On the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar flanked with candelabra. She wore a gown of white Qiana styled with a mandarin collar, lace bodice insert and cap sleeves. Matching lace adorned the sleeves, neckline and hemline.

She wore a fingertip length veil with a crown of fresh flowers. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

Melinda, the bride's sister, from New Jersey, was matron of honor wearing a light blue nylon print dress. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

MR. and MRS. FRANCIS BISHOP

Sarah Wynn, the bride's sister of Burlington, Iowa was attired as the honor attendant.

Leo Bishop, the groom's brother of Ankney, Iowa was the best man. Andrew Bishop, the groom's brother of Britton and John and Gary Wynn the bride's brother of Burlington, Iowa were groomsmen.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the church fellowship center.

Attending the ceremony from Britton were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bishop, Andrew, Joy, Irene, Jean and Esther Bishop and Bryon Gall.

The new Mrs. Bishop graduated from Burlington High School and is now a senior at Faith Baptist College in Ankney, Iowa. Mr. Bishop was a 1972 graduate of Faithway High School in Ypsilanti and of Faith Baptist College in 1976. He is employed at the Iowa Lumber Co. in Des Moines.

Following a week in Michigan, the couple will reside in Ankney, Iowa until Marcia completes her college education.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bishop at the Burlington Hotel in Iowa.

Honored at Baby Shower

Mrs. Cortland Hunt of Horton was honored at a baby shower, Sunday afternoon, at the home of her husband's aunt, Mrs. Duaine Hunt, Shepherd Rd.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Michael Marr, of Alaska, in absentia; Mrs. Charles Anderson of Ypsilanti; and Mrs. James Wolf of Plymouth, Ohio.

A stork centered the gift table.

A pink and blue decorated cake was made by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Hunt of Tecumseh.

Among the 21 guests were Mrs. Hunt's mother, Mrs. Bud Johnson of Hanover; and grandmother, Mrs. Olie Johnson, Chelsea and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Clarence Keller, Clinton.

Other guests were present from Clinton, Tecumseh, Adrian and Jerome.

Winners of the games, Carol Bower, Gloria Hunt, Diane Hunt, Susan Bailey, Leola Hunt, Lois Fuss and Mary Hunt, each took home a potted plant.

MRS. ROBERT RODGERS

Charlene Miller and Robert Rodgers Wed

Charlene Denise Miller and Robert Craig Rodgers were married July 2 at 6 p.m. in the Faith Temple in Adrian.

The Rev. Robert G. Ulrich officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Miller of Britton and the son of Mr. Fred Rodgers of Findlay, Ohio and the late Margie E. Rodgers.

Sister Sharron Ulrich was the organist.

Becky Rowe, Julie Schultz, Sandi Felbaum and Joyce Loomis composed a quartet for the wedding ceremony.

White gladioli, carnations and baby's breath with blue and pink daisies decorated the altar for the bride's approach with her father.

For her wedding she wore a white satin gown with sheer Cluny and Venice lace. Lace and pearls were appliqued to the full bishop sleeves and wide cuffs. Cluny lace enhanced the full A-line skirt with empire waistline and detachable cathedral train.

A Juliet cap of Cluny lace secured her mantilla of french illusion, edged in Cluny lace.

Tear drop pearl earrings were part of her trousseau. She carried a bouquet of white roses, white carnations, pink and blue daisies and baby's breath.

Lolly L. Luegge of Britton, the groom's cousin, was maid of honor wearing a blue polyester knit gown. The sleeveless styled gown had a sweetheart neckline, shirred empired seamed bodice. The sheer "lettuce edged" jacket of woven polyester had printed flocking. It had a V-neckline with front tie closure, long full sleeves and snap closure cuffs.

She wore a ripple brim hat trimmed with blue satin ribbon. She carried a single white rose backed with fern and baby's breath with a satin ribbon attached.

Fredda K. Rodgers, the groom's sister of Findlay, Ohio, and Edith A. Miller, the bride's sister of Britton also attended the bride attired in pink gowns of the same style.

Larry D. Miller, the bride's brother of Britton was the best man.

Charles Whitaker of Onsted and Tim Logan of Britton were groomsmen.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Local 429 Union Hall, Clinton.

Centerpieces of the wedding flowers decorated the bride's table covered with white table cloth and blue crepe paper.

The new Mrs. Rodgers is a 1977 graduate of Britton-Macon High School. Mr. Rodgers attended Blissfield High School and was discharged from the United States Army. He is presently employed at Strands in Petersburg.

The couple resides at 136 W. Chicago Blvd., Apt. No. 2.

The groom's father hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Sveden House, Toledo, Ohio.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Elizabeth Pypa and Mark Slagh has been announced by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pypa of Anchorville and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Slagh of Tecumseh. A garden wedding is planned on August 26.

How Did Manchester Do It?

By KATHY BROWN

Just as the waters of the Raisin River flow south from Manchester to Tecumseh, so are the ideas flowing.

A non-profit corporation recently founded a repertory theatre on the top floors of the 110-year-old Goodyear Building on the main street of Manchester, population 1,650.

The project is being seriously studied by Tecumseh, which acquired July 6 the free gift of the 125-year-old Bidwell Building on Tecumseh's main street. The city is considering restoration of the building in part for commercial business and a community auditorium.

How did the Manchester group do it? Business acumen and pure artistic talent.

The building that houses the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre was the Emil Jacob Post No. 117 of the American Legion for many years.

Originally a theatre, it was also a dance hall and basketball court. The court lines are still on the floor.

Chris and Tim Hoover, formerly with the Gandy Dancer in Ann Arbor, new owners of the Black Sheep Tavern, Manchester, recently purchased the old legion with the foresight of restoring it as a theatre.

An employee of the Tavern contacted three interested, multi-talented friends. Each turned down a promising future, and for the love of theater and advancing the arts, combined their talents to restore and promote the Black Sheep Theatre.

Stan Gill, a director, designer, producer, actor and teacher in the Lansing, Okemos and Detroit School systems, turned down an assistant professorship at the University of Wisconsin.

Owen J. Anderson a multi-talented actor, involved in Detroit area theater companies, television and radio, mime artist, said 'No' to Sesame Street in New York.

James R. Fleming, concert producer, presently associated with Concerts International, a Chicago based, four state operation, left his $20,000 a year job as assistant to the vice-president of Student Affairs at Chicago State University.

They are the three officers of the Association for the Performing Arts, which the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre is a division. No one associated with the venture has been on a payroll since April, said Fleming. Salaries are on a contingency basis.

A staff of 13 lives in Manchester while others, including top notch actors from nearby Detroit and other states, commute.

"No one should ever enter anything without knowing about what they're going to sacrifice," Gill and Fleming advised.

"When I first saw it (the theatre), there was a 10 foot icicle hanging from the ceiling. You literally couldn't cross over to the stage in 10 minutes of crawling over things," said Gill.

Since the building was not owned by the Hoover brothers until May 1, major renovation was remarkably completed in just two months of intensive labor by a skeleton crew of four working 16 hours a day. The premier was July 1. Restoration continues on the second floor (lobby).

One advantage the facility had going for it was that it had once been a theatre. The 55 x 75 third floor includes the 110-year-old 24 foot deep x 14½ foot high "rake" (gradual incline) stage.

The original wall decor below the ceiling was retouched and an original olio, circa 1920, on loan from the Manchester Township Library Board, was incorporated into the theatre restoration. Center support beams necessitated a "Y" shape for the 230 seat house, but makes a comfortable traffic pattern.

Major repairs were the electrical work and cutting a new back stage entrance.

Equipment such as the sound system and stage curtains were donated by theatre suppliers. Gill brought in some $10,000 of his own equipment, including a dimmer, piano, lights, costumes.

Cost of remodeling was approximately $10,000, less than one-third the cost of the building. "It would be a minimum of $50,000 for anyone else," told Gill and Fleming.

Ten patrons contributed toward expenses.

Other divisions of the Association for the Performing Arts are Traveling Smiles, touring children's theater; Great Shows Program, artists in the schools; and theatre workshops.

As a non-profit association, it is eligible for private donations and grants i.e. through the Michigan Council for the Arts, etc.

The Tecumseh Players announced that local practitioner Dr. Robert Murray is fund raising chairman for the Tecumseh Players Theatre Fund.

Dr. Murray was one of the original founders of the Tecumseh Players and has been an active supporter of the local thespians for the past 15 years.

As chairman of the Players' fund raising efforts, Dr. Murray will be in charge of organizing a committee for pledges, drives, etc.

The Tecumseh Players' Theatre Fund was established at the United Savings Bank with Doug Dillon a few months ago for the purpose of receiving public contributions to provide a theatre for Tecumseh.

All financial contributions to the Tecumseh Players' Theatre fund are tax deductable.

The Players' emphasized that "The citizens of Tecumseh are not being asked to provide a theatre for the Tecumseh Players. Rather, we are asking you to help the Players provide a theatre for Tecumseh.

In addition to meeting production expenses every year, the Players have accumulated nearly $10,000 in 15 years to be used in acquiring a theatre building-the original goal of the Tecumseh Players' since the group's founding.

The Children's Theatre performances in June raised $567 for the theatre fund.

Card Champs Are Named

Play-offs for the championships in the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary bridge and euchre tournament for the 1976-77 season were completed.

Ladies' bridge final play-off was won by Mrs. James Pratt and Mrs. Ray Tirb of Manchester. Runners-up were Mrs. William Macbeth and Mrs. Neville Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ford were pitted against Mr. and Mrs. William Snook in the couples' bridge finals with the Snooks winning the Championship.

Mrs. Ken Munger and Mrs. William Williams were the final contestants against Mrs. Grady Briggs and Mrs. John Bradley in the ladies' euchre finals. Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Bradley were the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Champanois won the couples' euchre championship in the final contest in which they played against Mr. and Mrs. Gail Austin.

Hospital Auxiliary thanked all who participated in the tournament. This is one of the major money making projects of the year. Net profit totaled $2,136. Money is used to purchase hospital equipment.

Organization of the tournament for the 1977-78 season is now under way. Bridge and euchre players who would like to play in the tournament are cordially invited to join and may do so by calling Isadore Koffron, 423-2074 or Jean Merz, 423-2457.

Attend Convention

Marten R. Vegter, CPA of 308 S. Maumee, and the Rev. Allan Gray of Seminole were among more than 15,000 people attending the 62nd convention of Kiwanis International in Dallas, Texas, June 26-29.

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Tecumseh, Vegter and Gray participated in the election of new Kiwanis International officers and trustees, the passing of resolutions upon which the organization's 1977-78 community service programs will be built, and the amending of the Kiwanis International constitution.

Kiwanis International, a worldwide men's service organization, has nearly 300,000 members in 6,980 clubs located in 56 nations.

Among the noted individuals speaking before the conventioneers were Art Buchwald, syndicated columnist, author, and playwright; and Kiwanis International President Stanley E. Schneider, Crestline, Ohio.

Founded on Jan. 21, 1915, in Detroit, Mich. Kiwanis International dedicated to serving youth, community, and nation, and operates under the motto "We Build."

EXPLORING — Amy Nichols, a Tecumseh student, is shown taking part in the Horseback Riding for Handicappers option of Exploration Days held at MSU recently. Exploration Days is an annual State 4-H event attracting about 4,500 youth ages 12-18.

Members, Leaders Participate at MSU

147 Lenawee County 4-H members and 21 leaders recently participated in the annual 4-H Exploration Days at Michigan State University.

The annual three-day event, featuring "action-learning" options, is designed to give 4-H'ers and their leaders from all over Michigan an opportunity to explore a particular interest area, according to Mrs. Mary Miller, Lenawee County Extension 4-H, youth assistant.

The 146 options were taught by MSU Extension specialists, volunteer leaders, and other specialized resource personnel. Members are encouraged to share what they have learned with others in their local clubs.

The Lenawee delegates and the more than 4,500 other participants demonstrated what they had learned to the public at "Action" Day held in MSU's Spartan Stadium Concourse June 25.

Thousands who came saw live performances of bike racing, African dances, talent shows, or tried their hand at milking a cow, ceramics, and macrame. There were also continuous demonstrations in such areas as crafts, solar oven cooking horseshoeing, dog obedience, and weaving.

The following 4-H members and adult leaders from Lenawee County participated in the three-day event:

Britton-Macon — Kevin Barrett, Juliana Churchill, Darla and Deanna Governo, Dawn Johnson, Julie Jones, Lynette Kopka, Phil and Wes Loesch, Susie Long, Amy Nichols, Dale and Nancy Pape, Ann Rundell, Arrin Schroeder, Joan Spencer.

Holloway Homemakers — Lisa Wiesmann.

Non 4-H'ers — Greg Gadek, Phyllisanne Marsh, Jon Prettyman, Jamie and Mary Stewart.

North Franklin Hustlers — Audrey Thompson.

Raisin Slickers — Jeffrey Dempsey, Pam Ehlert, Tammy Fisher, Kevin Gratz, Kevin Irsin, Jim Rickaby, Karl Withrow.

Round Top — Adam and Matt Frye, Margarette Gaydosh, Mike Gordon, Christine Pifer, Keith and Mark Tillotson.

Tipton Jets — Cindy Every, Maria and Valerie Kortier, Charlene and Susan Noveskey.

Tipton Teamworkers — Ric Callis, Mary Campbell, Marci Earl, Steven Erickson, Steve and Toby Karpo, Karman and Troy Pawson, Cindy Vincent, Christine and Terry Walker.

Band Director Resignation Accepted

CLINTON — Board of Education voted to accept the resignation of Mark Schnizlein, band director, at the meeting Monday.

Several parents were present to express their concern about the band program.

Supt. Richard Wegner suggested positive action to be taken in regard to the band: student attitude improvement; formation of a band council; frequent challenges throughout the school year; a merit system; adequate financial support; recognition of band students and the support of the Band Booster Club. Band Camp plans are in abeyance until another band director is hired.

A special school election will be held Aug. 22 to submit an operating millage increase proposal to the vote of the electors, for one-half mill for a period of three years.

Board voted to accept the resignation of Veronica Ottinger as a noon aide.

Board voted to accept the low bid of Underwood-Fordland for a Ford bus at $16,867.

New officers were elected at the organizational meeting: president, R.D. Kirkland; vice-president, Robert Way; secretary, William Zimmerman; and treasurer, Robert Werner.

Board resolved to meet on the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. at the Board of Education office.

James Wilson was named to serve on the advisory committee of the Vo-Tech.

Several candidates have been interviewed for the industrial arts, art and instrumental music positions, but no decisions have been made. This is also the case with the head basketball coaching position.

Siding, roofing and trim painting are being done on the building on the athletic field at the high school.

Negotiations are in progress on contracts for the teachers, secretarial, custodial and bus driver employees.

Teacher negotations are scheduled for July 13.

Plat 4 Plan Is Rejected

CLINTON — Village Council rejected the Plat 4 Pleasant Valley Plat, because it includes plans for a park which is not practical. According to the Village Attorney, Mel Smith, it would leave the village liable for its upkeep.

When this plat is changed, it could be approved.

Council accepted the bid of Thompson-McCully for a street paving bid of $11,095.20. Areas to be paved are Donna and Marion Sts. and the driveway of the light plant.

State Highway department agreed to provide a school crossing sign and to paint a crosswalk on US-12 at Currier St.

Larry Haynes of Haynes Corp. was granted a letter of intent that the village will purchase the new generator engine for the light plant. This will enable the company to continue with negotiations for the engine.

Dr. DeBardaleum, who is constructing property just west of the Village, sought clarification of the cost to extend electrical power to his property.

Next regular meeting will be July 20.

Spreeman Reunion

CLINTON — The 38th Spreeman Family Reunion will be held July 24 at the Smith-Kimball Community Center at Clinton.

A potluck dinner will be held at 1 p.m.

Clinic for Pre-schoolers

CLINTON — The pre-school vision and hearing clinic for all children who will be entering kindergarten from the Clinton area will be held at the Clinton Methodist United Church, 114 E. Church St., Clinton on:

Thursday, July 21, 8:45 to 11:45 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. and Monday, July 25 8:45 to 11:45 a.m.

All children three and one-half through five years of age are eligible to participate in the free clinic conducted by the Lenawee County Health Department.

Any child who has not been registered may still participate by coming to the clinic on one of the above days.

Vision is required by law before a child enters kindergarten.

Guest Pastor To Speak

CLINTON — The Rev. Robert Folkert of Addison, former pastor of the Addison Congregational Church, will be the guest speker at the United Church of Christ, July 17.

The newly organized barber shop quartet, the Four Wards of Harmony, of Clinton, sang "I Believe" during the worship service at the church Sunday.

The group is composed of Dr. Richard Dixon, lead; Jim Akers, baritone; Roger Waltz, bass; and Terry Calhoun, tenor.

SWING SOUTH — A temporary bridge has been constructed by the State Highway Department on W. Michigan Ave. (US-12) at Clinton's west village limits. The brief detour will route the highway's heavy traffic over a sturdily constructed bridge, complete with concrete guard rail across River Raisin, and will allow for the construction of a new and wider bridge on the main road. Detour route is due to open to traffic Thursday or Friday. (PHOTO BY MIKE SUNDERLAND)

Pay Ended for Trustees

CLINTON — Clinton Township Library Board voted to discontinue the practice of paying trustees $15 for each meeting attended.

This action will save the board $1,000 per year.

It had come to the board's attention that State Library Association considers serving in an elected library position a "civic duty." Apparently Clinton was the only place where library trustees were paid for such duty.

In other action the board approved the appointment of Nancy Warren to serve on the board until the December election, in place of Harry Comstock who resigned to serve on the township board.

Nick Holt was named secretary-treasurer to succeed Vi Winder, who resigned when she moved.

Esther Schmidt was named to the post of vice-president, which had been held by Comstock.

Cemetery Care Concerns Board

CLINTON — H.E. Gerard was hired by the Clinton Township Board, Monday, to care for the Aten Cemetery. Gerard will provide materials and labor for $5 per hour.

Attending the meeting were all members of the board, the new member Harry Comstock; and several visitors, Jim McDermott, Dick Gutow, Nick Holt and Jim Schuler.

Resignation of Comstock from the Clinton Township Library Board, was accepted with regret. Nancy Warren was named to the position, which will continue until the next general election.

Building inspector Charles Wilson reported $109,100 in building permits, which were approved.

Black top has been completed on 200 feet of Bartlett Rd.

Board voted to blacktop 7-10 mile on Pennington Rd. from Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. to Mead Rd.

Because several matters are pending, a special meeting of the Riverside Cemetery Board will be announced soon. This board, which meets every three months, will have its next regular meeting in September.

Board voted to transfer $1,000 from the 1977-78 general fund to Riverside Cemetery.

Shower Honors Reynolds

BRITTON — Friends and relatives gathered for an early evening party to honor Yvonne Reynolds with a bridal shower July 9 in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fox, of Britton. Hostesses were Martha Fox and Betty LaGore, aunts of the bride-to-be.

Refreshments were served, including heart-shapes cakes, made by Mrs. Mable Forgacs. Pink and white decorations enhanced the food and gift tables.

Approximately 35 guests attended the shower from Tecumseh, Clinton, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Westland, Erie, Tipton, Connecticut and Britton.

Yvonne will become the bride of David Bigelow on July 29.

Woodcarvers Attend Ohio, Show

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bower were in Columbus, Ohio Saturday, where they attended the National Woodcarvers Show, held at the Veteran's Memorial Building.

On Sunday morning they went to West Liberty, Ohio and toured the two Piatt Castle's, Mac-O-Cheek and Mac-O-Chee.

The Mac-O-Cheek Castle was built in 1864 in the model of a French Chateau and has it's original furnishings of Early American and French period antiques.

Mac-O-Chee Castle was built in 1879 in the model of a Flemish Castle and furnished with rare European antiques.

The Bowers returned Sunday evening.

20th Reunion Is Held at Dickerson's

BRITTON — The class of 1957 of Britton-Macon High School celebrated its 20th reunion recently at the home of Don Dickerson.

Thirteen members of the 28 member class attended. Several letters and phone calls were received from these who couldn't be there.

Those present were Betty (Hawkins) Stotler, Claudia (Cook) Shulters, Diana (Seagert) Pape, Katherine (Downing) Fanslau, Ken Welter, George Rusling, Ray Krause, Louis Loesch, Howard Haas, LeRoy (Pete) Plank, Karl Kimerer, Ed Faust, and Don Dickerson. Spouses and children brought the total to 58 present.

A softball game, swimming, and reminiscing were the diversion for the afternoon with a potluck supper.

Anyone who left silverware may claim it at Katherine Fanslau's.

Girls Softball Team Results

BRITTON — The Britton-Macon High School Girls' Summer softball team won its first three games, playing the first game June 28 on home ground against Manchester.

Judy Frayer pitched a 30-17 victory for the Britton team. Home runs were hit by Shannon Skelton, Julie Kniffen and Jody Smith. Judy "Powerhouse" Frayer hit two for the winning cause. Other hits were a triple by Julie Kniffen and doubles by Sharon Wielfaert and Lee Ann Price.

Second game, June 29, against Tecumseh, at Britton, ended with a 13-12 victory for Britton, pitched by Judy Frayer. Only home run of the game was hit by Shannon Skelton, with two on in the last inning to bring in the winning runs.

Julie Kniffen with a triple and Sharon Wielfaert and Julie Reau with doubles helped out in a very close contest.

Team played Manchester II July 5 for its third game. With temperatures in the 90's the Britton girls decided to make this game a short one and took it 24-6 in the fifth inning, on the 15 run game rules.

Homeruns were hit by Julie Kniffen and Shannon Skelton, triples by Jody Smith and Shannon, doubles by Lee Ann Price, Jill Smith and Edith Miller for the winning Britton team.

Game for July 7, with Tecumseh was canceled due to rain. On July 11 the girls traveled to Manchester to play Manchester I.

Britton now stands 3-0 in the three-team summer league.

Cheerleaders Hold Clinic

BRITTON — Summer Cheerleading Clinic will be held again this year July 18-22 at the Britton athletic field, by the Britton-Macon High School cheerleaders from 9 a.m. till noon for five to 15 year olds from the area and surrounding communities.

Program is open to cheerleaders, non-cheerleaders and cheerleading squads. Fee is $1.50 per day or $5 for the whole week. Lessons include jumps, mounts, cheers, pom-pom routines, and stunts on mini trampoline.

Parents are invited as spectators on the closing day, July 22, to watch the girls compete in the various routines for which awards will be given.

Those interested in receiving these lessons should call 451-8244 or 451-8062 before July 16.

Money earned will go into the cheerleading fund.

4th Child On 4th

BRITTON — A son, Justin Albert, was born July 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bury, 12293 Welch Rd., Britton, at Oakwood Hospital.

The couple has three other sons, Joseph, Adam and Victor.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hill and Mrs. Ann Bury, all of Detroit.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Weight Watchers International, Inc. has proclaimed July "National Hot Dog Month" in recognition of one of America's favorite foods.

The following recipes were prepared by Weight Watchers Organization in celebration. They both sound great.

OPEN FACE CHEDDAR FRANK SANDWICH

6 ounces frankfurters, boiled
4 English muffins, split and toasted
4 ounces grated Cheddar cheese
4 ounces sliced onion
1 medium tomato, sliced
4 lettuce leaves

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Cut frankfurters in half and slice lengthwise. Place equal portions on each muffin half. Top each with ½ ounce cheese. Place on non-stick baking pan and bake 4 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve with remaining ingredients evenly divided. Makes 4 servings (2 muffin halves each).

BARBECUED FRANK-KEBOBS

1 lb. frankfurters, cut in 2 inch pieces
2 medium green peppers, quartered
12 cherry tomatoes
¼ cup prepared mustard
¼ cup red wine vinegar
Brown sugar substitute to equal ¼ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon dehydrated onion flakes, reconstituted in 2 tablespoons water
2 cups cooked enriched rice

Preheat broiler. Divide frankfurters and vegetables into 4 equal portions and arrange each portion on a 15 inch skewer. Place skewers on rack in broiler pan. Combine remaining ingredients, except rice, and brush on kebobs.

Broil kebobs 4 inches from heat for 8 minutes, turning once and brushing often with barbecue sauce. Serve each kebob over ½ cup hot rice. Makes 4 servings.

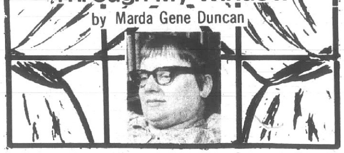
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



Early and mid-morning serenading is not all that uncommon here where Logan St. meets Evans Creek, but July 1 found Mom and I enjoying a mid-morning concert that was definitely far from ordinary.

It was an exciting thing, thrilling, and just plain nice. As much as we love bird voices they in now way compare to the voices of the kids from South Carolina.

It had been a busy week, full days and late nights, so when Friday rolled around we decided it was time for a rather quiet and leisurely morning.

Breakfast was over but Mom was still in her robe and I was still wearing my night sheet when the doorbell rang. Mary Jane (Hayden) Wells came bubbling into the room.

"Today's Teens", a youth group from The First Baptist Church of Spartansburg, S.C., were on tour and had performed the evening before at the Masonic Auditorium in Toledo, Ohio.

Ron Wells, Mary Jane's husband, is the minister of music at the Spartansburg church and incidentally a composer of no small talent.

The group was on its way to Mackinac Island for a weekend engagement and Mary Jane said that when the buses reached the Dundee turn-off she could simply not be that close to Tecumseh and not swing around for a short visit.

Although the entire chorus was not here, one of their big Greyhound buses was trying to track down a piece of equipment, we had a yard full of teenagers.

A nice looking bunch of kids, they sang beautifully together. Smiles, enthusiasm, well trained good voices — Mom and I thoroughly enjoyed their mini concert.

As Mary Jane said, since you could not come to see us last evening we are here to see you today. How many? Who counted, but I do know that our side yard, from west facing window to creek bank, was full of "Today's Teens"!

But that was the first of July and as I dictate this the calendar shows that it is the sixth. This morning's chorus was not so nice. We are in the midst of the summer's first 'really and truly' heat wave. Early early this morning the windows and doors were all open and we received full benefit of that just-after-dawn serenade.

Unfortunately it was neither pleasant nor musical. An alarm clock is a jarring and dreadful way to wake up but I now know of something worse. Much worse. A pair of red squirrels.

Just after daybreak these two miserable characters started their harsh scolding. Already they were mad at the world and giving full-voiced vent to their ill temper. It is shrill and rasping the sound they make. A frightful way to start the day.

A few moments ago there was more noise from outside and, once again it was completely lacking the nice musical blend of Mary Jane's and Ron's group. Oh, these noise makers were a group all right, a group of young bluejays and an attending adult.

Even above the racket of the air conditioner and the large fan we can hear the screaming and the squalling of the young jays as they beg to be fed. And oh, what a pitiful sight they are too. Wings quivering and mouths open wide, they look so helpless and on the verge of collapsing from hunger.

Well, they may con the adult bird into feeling sorry and feeding them but we know better. We just watched one of the kids and, as his brother or sister was being 'crammed' full of scratch feed, he did a nice job of feeding himself.

Until today the bluejay family has spent most of its time in the mulberry trees. Out there their noise was not quite so 'nerve rubbing'. Although it is fun to see them up close, I am half sorry they decided to vary their diet and eat bird feeder fare instead of fresh fruit!

Handley's, VFW in First Place

MEN'S SLO-PITCH
Week of July 5-7
TUESDAY LEAGUE

At mid-season, the log jam on Tuesday was broken for at least one week as two of the three teams were defeated.

First, Handley Equipment defeated United Savings Bank 12-6. Mike Servoss pounded four hits including a round tripper to lead the devastating 17-hit attack. Ron Baxter hit one for the distance to pace United Savings Bank which had 14 hits but didn't put them together.

Clinton Merchants busted loose for 22 hits and 22 runs for victory number one over Local 429 22-7. Dave Slusher had a big night smashing five hits including a round tripper. Ken Davis hit a homer for Local 429.

In the other game of the evening, Tecumseh Merchants stayed close by slipping past Tractor Village 9-4. Doug Wilcox and Charles Fitch had three hits each while Mark Murphy added a home run.

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE

In game number one, The Loggers made short work of Faraday as they smothered them in five innings 22-7. Jim Hunt smacked four hits which included two doubles and two for the distance. Dave Pray and Ken Roberts also hit home runs. Faraday's lone ray of sunshine was a four-bagger by Kenny Wagner.

In game number two, VFW stayed on top crushing Wagon Wheel 18-4. Gordie Whelan and Randy Dotson smacked home runs and Al Schafer had four hits.

Bob Bivens and Chuck Warner also hit round trippers for Wagon Wheel.

Finally, Iott's Insurance beat Erb's Chevrolet 13-9. Dan Diver had three hits to lead Iott's and Ken Breitner hit a homer. Ron Blumhardt and W. Corwin each had three hits to pace Erb's Chevrolet.

THURSDAY LEAGUE

Thursday's games were rained out and will be made up on Saturday, July 16.

Camp Trip Aug. 2-5

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department still has a few openings in its camping trip to Mackinaw City and the surrounding areas.

Any junior high or senior high student interested in taking this trip on August 2-5 is asked to contact the recreation department.

A trip to the island, the U.P. and other special events are all included in the $37.50 fee. This also includes all meals, transportation and supervision.

JC's Win Two, Post 6-1 Record

MAJOR LEAGUE

UPW started the week out with a stunning 19-3 victory over Credit Union. UPW scored at least one run in each inning. Jeff Barnes was the winning pitcher and leading hitter.

While pitching, he gave up five hits and struck out 11 batters. As a hitter, he smacked two homeruns and added a double in three times at bat.

JC's stayed on top with a 9-0 win over Kiwanis. Ken Kurzyniec was the winning pitcher, allowing only two hits and one walk, meanwhile striking out 14 batters.

Michael Walper paced the hitters with two, including a double. Rick Aranda added a triple for JC's. Matt Allen had both hits for Kiwanis.

Also, a 17-12 victory over Rotary helped JC's keep the league lead. The leading hitters were Ken Kurzyniec with a homerun and triple, John Walper and Jim Judd hitting homers, and James Pulley with a triple.

Ritchie Palmer had two doubles to pace Rotary's hitting. Rotary did pull one game out as they defeated Plywood 11-8 in eight innings.

Finally Kiwanis ran by Plywood 8-1. Mickey Hyatt was the winning pitcher, giving up two hits, three walks, and striking out 15.

John Gould, Matt Allen, and Mickey Hyatt each had two hits.

Airport Bowl Undefeated

LADIES SLO-PITCH
(Games played Friday, July 8)

In the first game, Dundee Products pounded Ive's Body Shop 29-2 in only five innings of play.

Ive's never proved to be a threat to the powerful Dundee team. Wittkopf pitched a four-hitter for Dundee.

Airport Bowl remained undefeated for the season by bowling down DST 20-4. Airport was in complete control of the game at all times. Oxley pitched a seven-hitter for the victors.

The third game of the evening was a forfeit.

10 Teams in Tourney

Ten teams took part in the "two best ball of foursome" tournament at Tecumseh Country Club on Wednesday, July 6.

Ginger Burrington and Myrtle Bender were in charge of the committee and presented prizes.

First place team: Joyce Butters, Ann Dodd, Bobbie Smith and Julie Mullaly; second place team: Maurine Hannibal, Connie Sack, Anne Gillespie and T. C. Roekle; third place team: Ruth Jobes, Ester Claude, Barb Blanden and Nicki Snook.

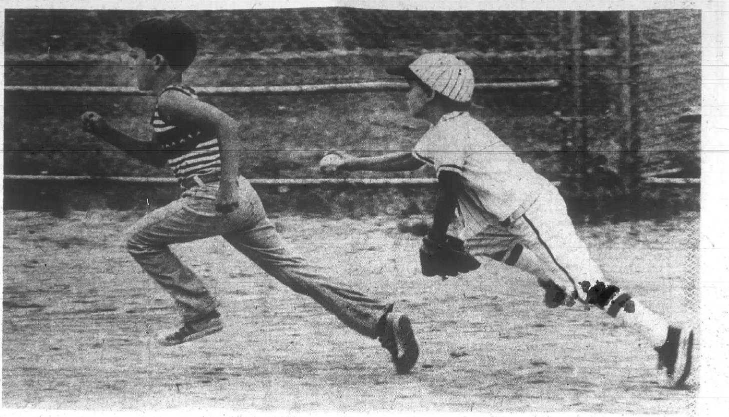
In the Frank Smith Day Tournament on July 4th, there was a four way tie for first place. Connie Sack, Harriet LaVoy, Esther Claude and Juanita Boldt had sudden-death play-off with Connie Sack winning the trophy.

Joan Tucker won fifth place.

Movies Offered

Continuing each Wednesday this summer, the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department is showing outdoor movies for free in the evening.

These movies consist of Walt Disney, Abbott-Costello and other humor films. Showtime is 9:30 or whenever the sun sets.



It's never too early to learn the fundamentals of baseball and these five- and six-year old youngsters are a case in point. All play "tee ball" under the supervision of the Tecumseh Recreation Department and this Saturday they play their final game. No score is kept, there are no strike outs, it's all for fun. Above right, David Foster attempts to tag Jimmy Phelan for an out while Mike Doal, left, takes a break during the action. Vito Aiuto, 5, right, studies the ball intently hoping to connect on his next swing.

Playgrounds Continue

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department's playground program has been running each day. Many events have been highlighted such as movies, a visit to a farm, a magic show, arts and crafts.

Last week was highlighted by the opening of a fire hydrant.

All school age children are urged to participate in this program which offers a variety of activities and events for all.

PONY LEAGUE

In Pony action, Ottawa Machine won one and lost one in a hectic week of action. Lavoy Homes defeated Ottawa 7-5 as Ron Smith gave up only five hits. Bob Valdez had two hits for LaVoy and Todd Palmer did the same for Ottawa.

The winning runs were scored in the last inning on an errant throw during a run down. In a tough battle later in the week, they snuck by Gaston's 3-0. Tony Howard was the winning pitcher as he gave up only three hits.

On the other side of the ledger, Marty Wallich pitched a fine game allowing only four hits.

In other action, UPW also split a pair of decisions.

First they defeated VFW 11-8. Rex Robinson had three hits and Sherman Bunting had two to pace UPW's offensive attack. Tony Forsthoefel was the winning pitcher in relief.

Gaston's hung on in the seventh inning to sneak by UPW 7-5. UPW loaded the bases with two out in the seventh but couldn't score.

Marty Wallich was the winning pitcher.

Hockey Group Meets July 21

2-DAY EVENT BEGINS FRIDAY

Expect Large Crowds for Sidewalk Sale

If the past is any indication, Tecumseh will have more shoppers downtown Friday and Saturday, July 22-23, than at any other time of the year.

This weekend is Tecumseh's Sidewalk Sale, annually the largest sale of the year. And as usual, there will be bargains galore.

The sale will have an unusual touch this year, with the events surrounding the sale carrying a carnival theme.

The Tecumseh area Jaycees will hold a chicken barbecue Friday from 3 p.m. til 8:30 on Chicago Blvd.

An ice cream social and pony rides are also scheduled Friday to delight the children. The free rides will originate from behind the city fire barn and will be provided by the Tecumseh Equestrians

The Rotary Club is sponsoring the social and plans to serve ice cream at Easton's Friendly Service from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

"Live and Unrehearsed" will provide recorded music from in front of the old Ken-Ray building all day Friday.

Finally, George Underwood Ford, John Underwood Chevrolet, Erb Chevrolet, Les Dallas, and Tom Prang Motor Sales will be holding an automobile-van-recreational vehicle show all day Friday along Chicago Blvd.

Free parking will be available, but Friday only.

Mary Lou Dangler, sale chairman, reports there are 32 stores participating this year. That list includes:

Happy Here But Not with Taxes and Insurance

Tecumseh industrialists are happy in Tecumseh but are critical of state taxes, especially unemployment and workman's compensation insurance. In many cases, if expansion is to take place, it will probably take place outside the state.

This was the report to Tecumseh City Council Monday night of a survey taken by Assistant City Manager and Community Development Director Paul Preston.

He recently interviewed existing industries to learn the weak and strong points about the city as a site for industry. Fisher Body Plant and the Tecumseh Products Co. were not included in the survey, said Preston. He plans to meet with the Products at a later date.

Preston summarized that the vast majority of industrialists rated life in the community as good or excellent. Community life included general living conditions such as overall appearance, parks and recreation, streets, schools and health facilities.

Police and fire protection are excellent as are public utilities, sanitary sewers, water and storm sewers, according to those surveyed. Industries also feel general tax assessments are fair and that the city and county taxes do not hamper business.

When asked about the state itself said Preston, "I get entirely different answers." He said cost of operations such as state taxes, workman's compensation and unemployment insurance were the policies critized.

The majority said they would like to expand, however, when it comes to where they would expand, it appears that the later costs of operation and labor market are determining factors.

Labor market deals with the type of product to be manufactured. If it is an assembly line type of operation requiring little or no skill, the industries responded they will move to an area of unskilled cheap labor. If the manufacturing required some skills then they would probably expand right here, reported Preston.

"They all consistently state that the auto related industries in the area have a serious effect on the labor force," Preston told. "Average pay scale in Tecumseh is considerably less than paid by the auto industries so our industries hav, a hard time competing in the labor market.

"On the other hand, approximately 75 percent feel that the quality of labor is good with one notable exception who felt quality of labor was poor," Preston elaborated.

Lack of good transportation system such as a major freeway was not considered a problem by those interviewed.

Explains Ideas for Developing Bidwell Site

Assistant City Manager and Community Development Director Paul Preston gave a general report to City Council on public sentiment regarding future plans of city's recent gift, the Bidwell Building located on the corner of S. Evans and W. Chicago Blvd.

Although the ideas are "by no means set in stone at this time," said Preston, the general concensus is that the first floor of the building be used for commercial purposes.

He said two types of uses of the Bidwell Building are commercial, i.e. retail and offices, and civic purpose, i.e. theatre, arts council office, Chamber of Commerce, etc.

The first alternative was explored in a detailed architect's report of Feb. 1977 for then owner Gladys Robideau. Estimated cost for conversion was $278,000. Rentals would have been $4.50 to $7 a sq. ft., considerably higher than existing rents in the central business district.

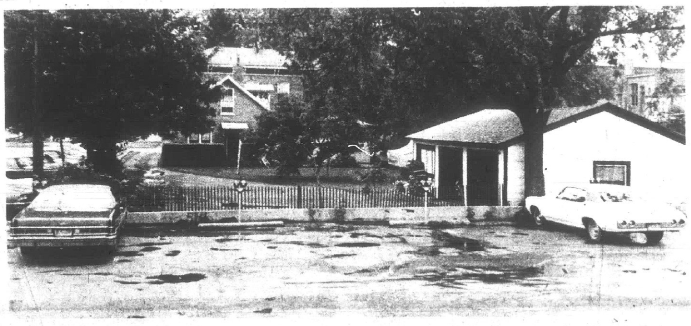
The second possibility, civic use, was discussed at the July 12 citizens meeting. Majority of citizens in attendance were from the Tecumseh Players. Discussion centered on use of upper stories as a theatre. Architect's rough estimate of cost was the same as for the retail-office venture.

Preston cited alternative methods of financing to be:

Community Development Funds - A 100 percent federal grant, no matching funds required if used for "the preservation or restoration of historic sites," one eligible activity. Major problem is that funds do not become available until January 1978 and complete development plan must include other items besides restoration of one structure "or your chances for funding are next to nil."

National Historical Trust Grants — Another federal program with funds available for buildings of both a public or private nature.

State grants for historic building renovation — Building must first be on the state register of historical sites. It appears that $165,000 of repairs can be covered in a grant. Major purpose of the building must be for public use. State indicated that it never received a grant request for repair of a building for commercial reuse.



PLANS TO EXPAND LOT — With the $50,000 purchase of the Maurice Tuckey property at 117 N. Ottawa, Council plans to expand parking facilities by about 50 spaces, making the northeast lot the largest one in the city. Here the property is seen from existing parking.

2 Contracts Are Settled by Products

Officials of Tecumseh Products Company announced the settlement of two labor contracts at their Lauson Engine Division and Power Products Division located in New Holstein and Grafton, Wisc.

The Grafton engine facility also produces automotive compressors.

Both contracts were resolved prior to the contract expiration dates of June 30, without a work stoppage. The contracts were approved by an unanimous vote and were effective July 1, for a three year period.

This brings to six Tecumseh-union contracts successfully negotiated in the first six months of 1977. Two contracts were negotiated at the Marion, Ohio Compressor Divison in May, 1977. These contracts were settled with the union and ratified by the employees one week prior to the expiration date without any loss of production or effect on the Marion operation or its customers.

Other contracts satisfactorily resolved earlier in the year were at the Acklin Stamping Division in Toledo, Ohio and at the company's Canadian facility in London, Ont. All of these contracts were settled peacefully and with no work stoppage, said the company.

Jeff Youngest Chairman Ever

Jeff Ely, 19 of 311 W. Chicago Blvd., was recently elected the Lenawee County Democratic Party Chairman and becomes the youngest county chairman in Michigan history.

Jeff is also a member of the Democrat State Central committee and the Fourth District Executive Committee.

In 1974, he was the chairman of the Ernest Oliver campaign for state representative. In 1976, Jeff was the Lenawee County Chairman for Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign.

Vandals Pick on Schools

Tecumseh schools fell prey to vandals this week as perpetrators entered Patterson Elementary and Tecumseh High School to take a number of tools, speakers, amplifiers and a radio.

Last Wednesday, William Marks told police he entered the high school early to find two windows removed to a room where six speakers and two amplifiers were stored. Physical damage was minor, but the equipment was valued at $250.

Sometime Tuesday night, vandals broke into Patterson and made their way to a cabinet in the custodian's room. They pried the cabinet open, took $32 in tools, a $20 radio, and then put the hinges back on the cabinet.

According to police, the vandals also took a bicycle inside and rode it on the gymnasium floor before leaving.

A resume of other reports includes:

July 14 — Norman Robinson reported a B&E at 611 Adrian St. His daughter went to the home to find the garage door partially open. Nothing was apparently taken.

July 15 — David M. Alexander, 19, of Newport, was arrested for possession of marijuana after police stopped him on W. Chicago with only one headlight. Police found the alledged substance on the passenger's seat.

July 17 — Ernie Oliver, 201 Maple, told police that vandals snapped one of his young trees during the night and attempted to break a second tree.

July 18 — Hector R. Sanchez, 18, of 506 W. Chicago, was arrested for drunk and disorderly after his auto hit a tree at the Community Center. Police reportedly found Sanchez by his car in an intoxicated state. Open beer was also found in the car.

Mrs. Clifford Adkins, 601 Center, Mattie Shelton, 910 N. Union, and Sandy MacGeorge, 216 Park, all reported stolen bicycles this week.

Bids Sought

The city issued advertisements for bids on various phases of construction of the four lighted tennis courts at Satterthwaite Park next to the Community Center.

Bids will be opened at city hall on Aug. 11 at 2 p.m.

City Approves 3-Year Contract

The city of Tecumseh will enter another three year contract with the Walker Landfill for $900 per month.

City Council approved the contract Monday night. Contract may be reconsidered by either party annually.

87-Degree Temperature Average Here

Tecumseh's official weather station at the wastewater plant proves that it has been hot here during July - unusually hot.

Average high temperature for the first 19 days is 87, and low, 64.

Statistics show that the city has suffered through eight days of 90-degree or plus weather with the temperature rising to 98 degrees on July 7 and July 15. High humidity has not contributed to comfort.

Five days of rain this month has helped with total rainfall amounting to 2.27 inches.

City manager Cal Zorn says water usage is up from approximately 32-million gallons of water per month to about 40 million.

Acquisition Lets City To Expand Off-Street Lot

Tecumseh City Council approved Monday night the $50,000 purchase of the Maurice Tuckey property, 117 N. Ottawa. Property is to be added to the city's off street parking system. It is the sole residence on the west side of N. Ottawa St.

Purchase will add 51 spaces to the existing 67 metered spaces making the northeast lot the largest city parking lot.

City manager Cal Zorn told Council that the last parcel purchased for city parking averaged $4.78 per sq. ft. Tuckey property averaged $3.28 sq. ft. Cost to tear down the building was estimated at $2,500.

Purchase will include 15,240 sq. ft. The largest lot of the proposed purchase is approximately 192 feet deep and 67 ft. wide. The smaller lot is 114 ft. deep and 20.75 ft. wide.

A possible method of financing proposed by Zorn was $8,000 cash on hand in auto parking fund, $35,000 loan from the special assessment fund and $7,000 loan from the general fund.

"I think it is very essential that we have this. It is right in the middle of our parking lot," Zorn told Council.

Mayor Harold Easton said he thought it was a good price.

Referring to congestion in that city's parking lot Council woman Mary Bowers said "We need it in that area particularly.

"If we'd let the other properties go, we wouldn't have the parking we do," said Bowers. "We've done a good job. We shouldn't pass this one up."

Zorn said that there would be some room for walkways and landscaping in the lot. "I'd really like to do that," he told Council. He said the city would try to save the trees, especially the smaller maples. There is also some money for downtown beautification, Zorn pointed out.

"I don't see us getting at this until next summer," he predicted.

The corner lot at Logan and Ottawa, known as the Kennedy property and owned by the city for several years, should be saved for commercial development Zorn told Council.

New $152,000 Is Allocated for Park Drive

Tecumseh was informed that its allotment for public works funds was increased $152,000 from $312,000 to 464,000.

Tecumseh City Council followed suit Monday night by going on record that the industrial park drive was the city's second priority for public works monies. First priority remains the Russell Road bridge.

Increase was due to the additional funds allocated by the federal government to compensate communities left out during the first round of public works funds.

Establishing the industrial park drive as a number two priority will enable the city to use public works funds for that purpose. Engineer estimates were $170,000 for the industrial park drive.

NEW TECUMSEH STREET IS BIG IMPROVEMENT FOR TRAFFIC

Russell Section Nears Completion

Two street projects are nearing completion, and one should prove to be a considerable improvement.

The new section of Russell Rd. should be completed in about two weeks, although the base of the bituminous concrete has already been laid. Manholes and water valves must be adjusted before the finish coat.

The new street from Green Hwy. to Mill is 47 feet wide and will have two lanes for traffic with parking allowed on the north and south sides.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says the city will advertise for bids for completion of the street to Rogers Hwy. after receiving a permit from the Department of Natural Resources and approval of the city's application for grants.

Since the project was on the city's original priority list, issuance of the permit and application approval are considered a mere formality.

Officials expect to complete a double-seal coating of the east end of Burt St. this week. City crews started earlier this week but rain halted work, which was resumed Wednesday morning.

Celebrates 150th Anniversary

By KATHY BROWN

Her wailing whistle, the smoke and ash drifting over the cornfields are now an old memory, just like a fainting chorus of "Happy Birthday" and the smoke from candles on a cake.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, first in the nation in 1827, now part of the Chessie System, celebrated her 150th anniversary last week with a special excursion from Detroit to Grand Ledge July 9.

The star of the celebration was a familiar friend to the Tecumseh area. She was the steam locomotive that pulled the American Freedom Train on its Bicentennial journey through 138 cities in 21 months.

When it pulled through Lenawee County July 1975, folks from the area were among the 40 million who viewed it trackside on its 25,833 mile trip.

Escorting locomotive 2101 on her birthday excursion were this reporter and family. Eighteen cars of railroad buffs were filled for the event sponsored by the Michigan Railroad Club.

Cattle stampeded, motorists created parking lots of railroad crossings, media men jumped on and off the train to beat afternoon deadlines. Pompom girls turned out. Even an army convoy was held up.

During the photograph run pass near Howell, awesome silence prevailed as 2101 was photographed, filmed and recorded from every possible angle. Railroad stories and memories of male relatives who worked on the rails were swapped by young and old alike.

Many were dressed for the occasion, sporting engineer caps, pocket watches, caps, goggles, scarves and colorful patches on denim jackets, purses and shirts. Little lads and ladies were dressed like engineers in coveralls and caps.

On the homeward trip, Chessie rocked to sleep many of her passengers. One teen enthusiast's T-shirt summed up the experience: "Purr-fect Transportation."

Locomotive 2101 was built in 1945. She was retired in 1967 and saved from the scrap dealer's torch by Ross Rowland, her engineer and founder of the American Freedom Train.

The locomotive and two tenders were restored by Rowland and a group of enthusiastic volunteers, guided by professionals, in less than five weeks.

At 900,000 lbs., she produces more power than a 707 airplane at take off. Steam pressure of 240 lbs. provides tractive effort of 68,000 lbs. with an added 11,100 lbs. when the booster cuts in.

The first tender carries 26 tons of coal and 19,000 gallons of water. Her coal was shipped to the Grand Ledge area and local police and fire departments assisted with refueling.

Petition Is Denied

After what was a momentarily confusing discussion, Tecumseh City Council denied the petition to close the alley behind residents of Muscody and Hiawatha St. in the Wenonah Park plat.

Confusion during the public discussion arose when Council tried to determine what the residents really wanted.

Council decided that the majority of residents present at Monday's meeting wanted a swift decision to their situation. Council decided the alley should be open.

All but one of the property owners were present. Only one said that he used the alley for public access. Several of the others were actually indifferent but wanted a decision. Some admitted that fences were on the property line, but only because they bought the property that way with the understanding that there was a public alley there.

Council instructed the residents that there should be no further encroachments on the alley.

Rejects Bids, Wait for 78's

Tecumseh City Council rejected Monday night three bids on the purchase of a ¾ ton pickup truck for the city's fleet.

City was informed that since the opening of the bid, the 1977 Chevrolet can no longer be ordered. Bid by the Underwood Chevrolet-Olds-Pontiac dealership was $4,472.

Other two bidders, Les Dallas, Inc. bid $4,997 on a 1978 ¾ ton Dodge and Underwood Motor Co. bid $5,045 on a 1978 ¾ ton Ford.

Invitation to bid did not specify model year.

City manager Cal Zorn told Council that the model year didn't make any difference to the city.

Salesman Rod Brown from Underwood Chevrolet told Council that he thought he could get the 1977 model from the dealership ordering bank, but later found out he could not. He told Council that the increase on a 1978 model would be the six percent, currently advertised in the media, thus raising the price quotation to $4,741, still making it the lowest.

Council realized it may cost the city more in the end but decided the fairest option was to reject all quotations and accept new bids in a few months when 1978 model prices are known.

"I think we learned something on this too," said City manager Cal Zorn. "We better watch a little better the next time we bid." Zorn added that police cars ordered in May are in transit. The bid was awarded to low bidder Les Dallas Inc. for three cars.

Transportation Bill Approved

The Michigan house July 6 gave final approval to legislation designed to provide better and equal services for senior citizens and handicapped.

The legislative action, once the governor signs the bill, will remove a legislatively mandated moratorium on the purchase of transit vehicles that has been in effect since last October and is a major victory for elderly and handicapped transportation supporters.

Specifically, HB 4108 mandates:

No bus can be purchased unless an authority either equips line-haul buses with lifts or, provides equivalent demand-responsive services.

If buses are not equipped with lifts, then an equivalent demand-responsive service must be offered.

A plan for handicap transit services must be submitted and approved by the highways and transportation department before buses can be purchased.

JUST TO BE SURE — Cortland Hunt is having a free blood pressure test given by Bill Wolfe and Wayne Allen, who are opening Southern Michigan Clinical Laboratories at 124 W. Investigate Six, Ticket Three Tecumseh police investigated six accidents this week and ticketed three drivers. None of the accidents proved to be serious.

Last Wednesday, Fredrick H. Schwartz of Clinton was northbound on N. Ottawa, at the N. Evans intersection curve, when a second auto cut in front of him.

Schwartz told police he swerved to the right and hit the guard rail, then crossed the road and jumped the curb there. He stopped as he hit a U-haul trailer.

Friday, Richard J. Cook, 20, of Manitou Beach, was cited for failing to yield after he began a left turn onto N. Pearl from W. Chicago. Cook struck a westbound, W. Chicago auto driven by Beverly L. Koebbe, 19, of 1325 Southwestern.

Walter Moros, 58, of 903 Murray backed out of his driveway Friday and struck a parked auto across the street. Parked auto belonged to Leslie Kopka, 100 S. Occidental.

Both drivers were cited in an accident Saturday when Sharlene F. Rentschler, 19, of 506 Occidental was preparing to exit from Heeman's market. Rentschler told police Dennis G. Palmer, 62, of 6201 Green Hwy. struck her auto while entering.

Palmer was cited for failing to have his vehicle under control and Rentschler was cited for not having a registration or insurance certificate.

Sunday, Glen K. Wonderly, 16, of 710 S. Union, backed from a drive on Murray and struck a parked auto belonging to Paul Salters, 5143 Osburn.

Also on Sunday, Louis M. Gower, 17, of 605 W. Pottawatamie, pulled from a stop sign on Occidental at Russell and collided with Edward Clemons, 39, of Clinton. Clemons told police he was speeding, and he left 100 feet of skid marks from attempting to stop.

Covenants Postponed

Tecumseh City Council decided Monday night to postpone consideration of the Industrial park covenants, procedures and policy statements until the next regular meeting.

Although Council did have a quorum of four members present, three members were excused from Monday's meeting, Council members Carlton Cook, Aden Mead and James H. Palmer.

Also postponed was the appointment of an official representative and alternate for the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League.

Survivors included her daughter, Mrs. David (Betty Jo) Darish of Tecumseh.

Tecumseh Is One of Highest

Tecumseh's per capita allocation from the Michigan Land and Water Conservation funds appears to be one of the highest in the state, reported Assistant City Manager Paul Preston to Tecumseh City Council Monday night.

Tecumseh received a total of $86,000 from 1966 to 1975 for four projects. Since 1975, it received an additional $41,800 in grants for a total per capita allocation of $17,104. The total per capita grant amount for the county through 1975 was $4.58.

The statistics were derived from a 10 year report from the state outlining the use of the funds.

During the 10 year period, Lenawee County, located in Region II, received the most money or $382,820 for 10 projects. The other counties in Region II and amounts received were Hillsdale County, $88,750 for two projects and Jackson County $337,407 for two projects.

The Tecumseh projects and their dollar amounts are: Tecumseh Park, $17,500; Tecumseh Park Building, $27,000; 80 acre recreational site, $1,500; Globe Dam, $40,000 and tennis courts, $41,800. This later allocation was the most recent and the largest.

Preston indicated to the Herald that Tecumseh's track record for park development and continued contact with Lansing officials may help the city in future requests.

Use Plan Is Approved

The revised Land Use Plan, which Tecumseh Planning Commission worked on for several months with Region II planners, was approved for printing by Tecumseh City Council Monday night.

Major change shows the necessity of about 33 acres divided along east and west sides of Occidental at M-50 for commercial development to satisfy the expected demand for further population increases.

Wedding Vows Spoken

Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Britton was decorated with vases of carnations and roses and pastel satin bows for the wedding of Barbara Joan Actis and David Stephen Bush, on July 9 at 7 p.m.

Pastor Thomas Trapp officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Donald F. Actis of Bay Shore, New York and Ruth E. Actis of Seminole, Fla. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Elwood Bush of 9381 Pennington Rd.

Mrs. Winella Bush was organist and Thomas Schroeder sang during the ceremony. Jeanette Slone, interpreted the Lord's Prayer for the deaf.

On the arm of her father, the bride wore a white satin and chiffon gown styled with a V-neckline and chapel train. White lace adorned the midriff, cuffs of the long sheer sleeves and hemline. Mrs. Rosemary Bush of Tecumseh sewed the wedding gown.

She wore a gold cross necklace and a white chapel veil secured with a lace headpiece. Mrs. Elwood Dush made the veil. The bride carried a white rose with ivy vine on top of a white Bible.

Dawn Bush, the groom's sister of Tecumseh, was the maid of honor wearing a blue polyester crepe collar and sheer chiffon sleeves. White lace accented the yoke and sleeve edges.

She wore a blue shoulder length veil attached to a headpiece of blue polyester crepe. She carried a white basket of blue carnations and white baby's breath.

Deborah Bush, the groom's sister of Tecumseh and Janet Kuethe of Omaha, Neb. attended the bride wearing pink and yellow gowns respectively styled as the honor attendant's. They wore matching veils and carried flowers in matching colors. D. James Bush, the groom's brother of Tecumseh, was best man.

Peter Noys of Clearwater, Fla. and Gary Schlub of Beltsville, Md. were groomsmen.

Arthur Brown, the bride's great uncle, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Steven Wood, groom's uncle of Ann Arbor and Douglas Bush, the groom's brother of Tecumseh, were ushers. Robert Actis, the bride's brother of Seminole, Fla., was ring-bearer.

A dinner was held following the ceremony in the church fellowship center. Mrs. Hazel Bush, the groom's grandmother decorated the bride's table with bowls of flowers and a favor at each place.

Guests came from New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Washington, D.C., Florida and Illinois.

The new Mrs. Bush is a graduate of Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., the world's largest accredited liberal arts college for deaf students. She received a bachelor of science in physical education in May.

Mr. Bush is attending Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne, Ind. and is currently vicar at True Light Lutheran Church, New York City.

The couple will reside in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the church with the Bush family hosting.

Dance Is Success

The second Friday evening summer dance for teens sponsored by the APT (A Place For Teens) board was a success with over 200 teenagers attending, reported Pat Tressler, one of the board members.

The third dance will be held this Friday, July 22 from 9 p.m. to midnight at the high school cafeteria with Jeff Steiner again as the disc jockey.

APT board is a subcommittee of the Tecumseh Area Town Meeting Organization. Board's goal is to found a permanent place for teen recreation. Donations from the public are being accepted in APT's account at the United Savings Bank Herrick Park Branch.

Couple Married in Battle Creek

CLINTON — Battle Creek Friends Church was the setting for the ceremony uniting Vicki Eileen Miles and Dewey Allen Baker, July 16.

The Rev. Rick Matthews performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Victor R. Miles of Battle Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Baker, 14146 Allen Rd., Clinton.

Organist was Mrs. Donald Lawrence and the soloist was Mrs. McDill.

Altar arrangements were of yellow, pink and blue flowers and candles.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of white polyester trimmed with lace and pearls on the scoop neckline, bodice and long sheer sleeves. Skirt ended in a chapel train. A lace and pearl trimmed cap held her elbow length veil of illusion.

The bride's jewelry was a sweetheart necklace made from a diamond of her grandmother's ring, as a gift from the groom.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and ivy.

Maid of honor, Beth Marothy of Battle Creek, wore an empire gown styled with a V-neck, bell sleeves and a gathered front of pink polyester knit. A matching picture hat was worn and she carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, pink and blue carnations with baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jeffrey Miles of Grand Rapids, sister-in-law of the bride; Miala Baker, of Clinton, a sister of groom, was similarly gowned in blue.

Harry Comstock of Clinton, was best man. Ushers were David Schroder and Jim Vaughn, both of Tecumseh.

Reception at Battle Creek Friends Church Fellowship Hall was attended by 250 guests.

A five-tiered wedding cake, made by the groom's mother, was a feature of the bride's table.

The Ladies' Missionary Society served the reception.

The groom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyce Lidster of Minnesota, Miss., and Marilyn Baker and Gail of Illinois, and other guests came from Iowa and Indiana.

The bride is a graduate of Harper Creek High School and is a sophomore at Adrian College, majoring in Home Economics.

The groom is a 1974 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed in the plant department at Adrian College, and is farming with his father.

His parents hosted the reception at the Holiday Inn, Battle Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside at 14146 Allen Rd., Clinton, upon their return from a trip in the Upper Peninsula.

Exchange Students Seek Homes

Beginning in August, five different boys from five different countries and different ways of life will suddenly have much in common — they will be International Exchange Students sponsored by Youth for Understanding living with American families, hopefully in Lenawee County.

The Brazilian boy is 17, the youngest of six children. He lives alone with his father, as he has no mother. He enjoys reading and playing tennis and is easy going and outgoing.

The Swiss boy is the oldest of four children, but would like to be placed with a family where he would have older brothers and sisters. He is interested in music and skiing, and would like to continue studying Latin and Greek.

The German boy is 16, and the youngest of three children. He plays the guitar and is active in the student council of his school. He also enjoys horseback riding and playing soccer.

The boy from Finland is 17 and plans to try out for sports here in America. He participates in ice hockey, basketball and football in Finland, and says that sports are a big part of his life. He has one younger brother.

The boy from the Phillippines is 17. He lives with his mother and an older sister, and a younger brother. His interests are basketball, chess and volleyball. He wants to meet interesting people. He has studied English for 10 years.

If anyone is interested about becoming a host family to one of these young men, call Jacque Rolland, 456-7691 or Nancy Shumaker, 456-7674.

Art Fair Is Friday

Local artists will again display their work at the second annual Art Fair on Friday, July 22 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the First United Presbyterian Church lawn on W. Chicago Blvd. and Pearl St.

Some of the things to be shown will be Norwegian rosemaling, photography, pottery, paintings, macrame, weaving and knitting.

During the lunch period from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. the women of the Presbyterian Church will sell sloppy joes, drinks and cake for any hungry shopper.

Posters at Library

Poster lovers now have a choice of 64 new posters to check out at Tecumseh Public Library.

The colorful 11" x 17" posters are laminated and have holes punched for easy mounting on walls in homes, offices, schools, and churches. Each poster features a funny, inspirational or sometimes wry comment on the human condition.

A group of junior high students named Kid Power raised the money for this new library collection by sponsoring a bake sale.

Reports for Duty

Airman 1st Class James H. Powell Jr., has arrived for duty at Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio.

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"...the chances of our developing a high temperature battery that will end up in an electric car are rather good..."

Dr. Elton Cairns, Assistant Head, Electrochemistry Department

"I'm excited and optimistic. I think the chances of our developing a high temperature battery that will end up in an electric car are rather good. We're interested in electric cars because we recognize the need for a shift in our primary source of transportation energy...from oil to coal or nuclear energy.

"The potential range of electric cars depends on how and where you drive the vehicle. If you allocate 25% of the vehicle weight to a zinc nickel oxide battery and you drive the car in urban traffic conditions, then you get a range of about 100 miles. If you replace that with an equal weight of a lithium iron sulfide high temperature battery, then you get about 200 miles. It's high performance enough so you could easily attain normal highway speeds. Once fully developed, this battery should provide both adequate range and performance for a full-sized electric car.

"And there are some possibilities that might let us double the range. Then you might have a vehicle range of 400 miles.

"At the moment, the high temperature cells we have here at GM have a lifetime record of over 10,000 hours of continuous operation and over 700 complete discharge-recharge cycles. No one anywhere else has done that well.

"There are a number of benefits. One is a pollution-free car. I think it's better to have one large pollution control system at an electric power plant than it is to have a million pollution control systems on cars.

"There are some problems, too. We must select materials for the container of the cell which will remain inert over long periods of time. And these materials must be inexpensive. GM is a master at finding effective, low-cost, large-volume production methods. If GM can't do it, I don't think anyone can.

"It's very gratifying to know that research we do falls into very broad, important categories that relate to everyday life, as well as being interesting and technically challenging. It makes me feel good that the work I do could be useful to everyone in terms of national energy self-sufficiency. It's about the best combination a technical person can have."

MR. AND MRS. RALPH FRALEY

Vows Recited, Couple United

CLINTON — Nancy Lea Davis of Ann Arbor and Ralph F. Fraley recited their marriage vows in Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Britton, before Pastor Thomas Trapp, Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Davis, 8300 Clinton-Macon Rd.

The groom is the son of Ralph H. Fraley of Tiffin, Ohio and the late Madeline Fraley.

Organist was Mrs. Wesley Gilmore and the solist was Mrs. Timothy Collins.

Altar flowers were white gladioli, yellow daisies and greens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white polyester knit featuring a Queen Anne neckline and sleeves of appliqued Venice lace, and English cut-out net. Her headpiece was formed of clustered yellow roses, white daisies and baby's breath, and she carried a matching bouquet.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Linda Stern, Saline. She wore a pastel yellow gown of polyester knit with cap sleeves and a V-neckline. Her colonial bouquet was of white and yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Donald Gantzer of Coldwater was best man. Ushers were Wayne Davis of Clinton and Donald Davis of Tecumseh, brothers of the bride.

Reception dinner was held at the Peerless Gear Union Hall. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated in white and yellow daisies featured a bridal doll couple between the pedestaled layers.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and attended Washtenaw Community College. She is employed as loan officer for National Bank and Trust Co. of Ann Arbor.

The groom is a graduate of Columbian High School, Tiffin, Ohio and attended Columbus College in Columbus, Ga. He is castings liaison for Tecumseh Product Co.

The couple if vacationing in Traverse City.

The engagement of Pamela Jo Watters to Dennis S. Goble is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watters, 120 Occidental Hwy. Miss Watters is a 1976 graduate of Tecumseh High School and is a sophomore at Siena Heights College, majoring in music education. Mr. Goble is the son of Mrs. Emma Hammock, 516 Chicago Blvd., and William Goble Sr., of Britton. He is a 1976 graduate of Tecumseh High School and is employed with his father in Goble Dry-Wall Co. A wedding is planned for Nov. 26. Bride-elect is the granddaughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald R. Baughey of Adrian.

Rub a-dub-dub, Learn in the Tub

By KATHY BROWN

Rub a-dub dub. There are Kickle snifters and a hairy tub at Tecumseh Public Library (TPL).

Before you're convinced that the local athenaeum has degenerated into bedlam, rest assured that its all part of the scheme to encourage youthful readers to partake of some good clean fun- - reading.

Kickle snifters are elfish creatures the size of one's thumb. They are fond of gentlemen's long beards. For a more complete explanation of this symbiosis, adults may refer to Alvin Schwartz's "Kickel snifters and Other Fiercesome Critters."

For each book that young students read in the library's summer reading program, they are privileged to tuck a Kickle snifter into the old man's beard.

Children in the read-to-me age group can qualify for the summer reading fun by having an adult read the books to them.

Each student is also given a Kickle snifter booklet to record the authors and titles of books he or she reads. Readers have until Aug. 10 to complete 10 books.

Although total participants for this summer's program will not be recorded until August, almost 100 students participated in last summer's program.

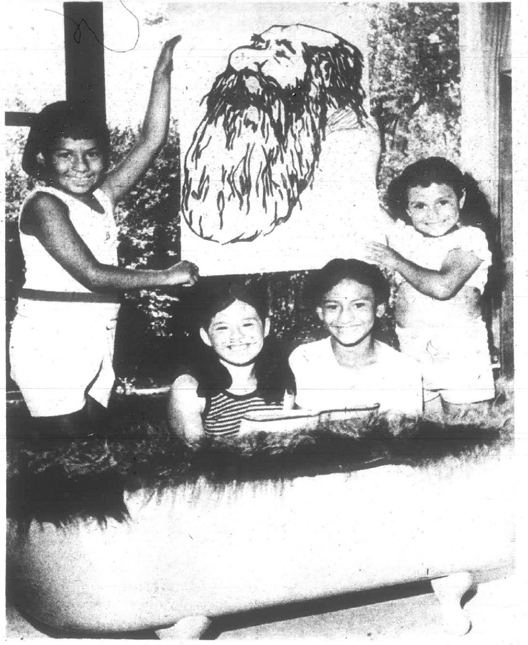
To tantalize their reading appetites, assistant librarian, Mary Beth Reasoner presents an animated story hour every Wednesday afternoon at TPL from 1:30-2:30 p.m. As many as 60 students come along for entertainment and usually select books afterwards.

"Want some good clean fun? Try the TPL tub," proclaims the slogan in the library window.

Gary and Nancy Abner of Tipton, daughter of library employee Doris Day, were the donors of the footed bathtub that was repainted a bright orange by another library employee, Marge Boynton and converted into a reading nook.

Library page Marty Perkins upholstered the tub with green fun fur. Three strong males, Larry Bauman and Chris Sullivan and Greg Forsthoefel, two high school students coaxed from the nearby tennis courts, set the massive tub in its rightful place by a window in the children's section of the library.

Hence the tub is rapidly becoming a favorite spot for children to plop into and immerse themselves in a good book.



GIGGLES AND KICKLE SNIFTERS — The Flores girls look tickled to participate in the Tecumseh Public Library summer reading program. Left to right standing with the poster of the bearded man and Kickle Snifters are Susie, 8 and Anna, 5. Seated are Beckie, 10 and Terri, 11. They posed before joining other children for the weekly summer story hour from 1:30 - 2:30 p.m. in the library basement. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

Report Filed from Historic Study Group

In other Council action Monday Night, the report of the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee was received.

The Historic District Study Committee held its public hearing July 11. Approximately 15 members of the committee were present to answer questions of about as many residents from the historic district.

General questions were answered and according to the study committee chairman, Lynn Cook, only two of the citizens opposed to the recommendations for the historic district and protective ordinance.

City council will hold its own public hearing before the recommendations become law.

Potluck, Reunion

July 10 67 members of the Hamden-Webster-Shrouds families held a potluck 10th family reunion at Bachmeyer Park in Blissfield.

The business meeting was lead by President Mrs. Mildred Allshouse. Laverne Stites made a family reunion banner.

Last year there were two weddings, Terry and Linda Etter and Debbie and Dan Watchman; two births, Dick and Mary Freet a daughter, Darla Rose; Ronnie and Char Shrouds a daughter, Rebecca Louise.

Eugene and Gertrude Hamden have recently moved from Adrian to Mobile, Ala.

Gifts of money were given for traveling the farthest to Fred and Flossie from Napoleon, Ohio; youngest member present, Rebecca Louise, daughter of Ron and Char Shrouds; oldest couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shutte and oldest persons present, Harvey Hamden, 82 and Charles Shrouds, 79.

Election of officers found the results as follows: president, Mrs. Evelyn Freet; vice president, Myrna Etter; secretary, Nancy Pellowe; treasurer, Carol Locke.

Historian of the Hamden family is Myrna Etter. Next year's reunion will be held on July 9, 1978 at Bachmeyer Park in Blissfield with Laverne and Jane Stites handling arrangements.

Dr. Ocamb Is Director

Dr. Harold Ocamb is a member of the acting board of directors of Area VII Professional Standards Review Organization, Inc.

The private, non-profit organization has been formed to review the quality and medical necessity of health care services partially or wholly paid for by the federal government through the Medicare, Medicaid, Maternal and Child Health and Crippled Children's programs.

It will be concerned first with services provided in short-term general hospitals in the area, which includes Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties.

The office is located at 210 Collingwood, Suite 220, Ann Arbor (48103). The telephone is (313) 668-6772.

Top Donor to Care Fund

The Herrick Foundation, Tecumseh Products Co., was the major donor to the perpetual care fund for preservation of the Old Zion Lutheran Church in Freedom Township.

Repairs to the 110-year-old historic landmark are being made by work bees and the preservation fund is now over $11,000. The funds are held in escrow pending additional contributions.

Only the earnings of the perpetual care fund are to be used to finance the repairs and maintenance of the building, therefore a much larger fund will be necessary.

The purpose of saving the church is to preserve an era of bygone years and religious objects of historic value to the Freedom Township community, Chelsea area. Part of the contents is a Tracker mechanical pipe organ which is over 100 years old.

Skip Plays Name Game

By KATHY BROWN

Skip Johnstone, 15, of Tecumseh, has been playing a name game for the past seven months. He's not evading the law. He's an autograph collector.

In the short time he's been active in the hobby, he's collected 23 signatures of authors, politicians and entertainment personalities. Names like Crosby, Hope, Durante, Linkletter, Petty, Milliken, Young, (Charles) Schultz.

Skip's collection is currently displayed at the Tecumseh Public Library (TPL) with various books on the hobby.

Skip's introduction to the hobby was fated when he wrote author Kurt Vonnegut in December 1976 to let the author know that his book, "Slaughterhouse Five" was banned, from the school library.

"I just thought he might like to know what's been happening," Skip said matter of factly. "Then three days later, I got an answer."

"I thought, 'Wow, this is easy.' " He then combed the library for reference books such as "Who's Who in America" and current biography magazines such as "People" to find the addresses of others from whom he wanted autographs.

"This is one of the most current libraries for names and addresses," Skip complimented TPL.

He sent self-addressed, stamped envelopes and enclosed two 3 x 5 cards so the collection would be fairly uniform and the duplicates may be traded or sold at a later date.

Another technique Skip used was to send copies of the title page of the author's book.

When he wrote to a person he admired, he told them so. He does not advise flattery just to get an autograph.

Skip's methodology has become more sophistocated through reading about the hobby. He recommended "Big Name Hunting" by Charles Hamilton, eastern autograph dealer.

Robert Notlep author of "The Autograph Collector" began his hobby at age 14. Today at about 40, he has over 25,000 autographs, related Skip. One of the pride's in Notlep's collection is a portrait of the Kennedy Cabinet, signed by each member. Estimated vale is $500.

Surprised? Some of the authographs in Skip's collection are worth $25 now.

On the other hand, the hobby is expensive, Skip forewarned. "It costs 26 cents a letter and sometimes you have to write repeatedly." He wrote four letters before Alfred Hitchcock obliged. To acquire the autograph of authoress Joy Adamson of "Born Free," Skip had to write her in Kenya, Africa.

Skip has some 30 requests in the mail now. The late Wernher VonBraun may have replied before his death. Skip is watching the mail. Others he has written to include Buddy Hacket, Mel Blanc, Mel Brooks.

Skip keeps a faithful log of his correspondences.

How does one tell the real McCoy from a machine written moniker? Skip explained that a genuine signature has breaks and uneven pressure whereas an autopen has even pressure which a magnifying glass should reveal. He's certain that all in his collection are genuine.

About his hobby Skip said, "It impresses people. It makes you feel important that these important people have stopped to write me, a little guy."

Skip himself is no wallflower. He is active in the Tecumseh Players working with lighting and sometimes acting. His parents, Gerald and Kathi Johnstone are the president and secretary of the Players. Skip also likes basketball.

People have asked Skip to research the addresses of big names. "It may turn into another business. Who knows?" said Skip capriciously.

Skip welcomes questions about his hobby. He also said he's interested in hearing from anyone with an inside track to a famous personality.

"I'll take donations," he chimed.

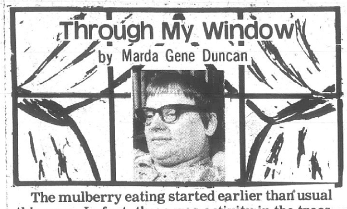
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



The mulberry eating started earlier than usual this year. In fact, there was activity in the trees several days before we could bring ourselves to believe what was really happening. It simply did not seem that the berries could be ripe enough to eat.

Well, we were both right and wrong. They were being eaten but they certainly were not ripe, at last as we think of ripe. Little green nubbins that looked hard and dry — a far cry from the fat, juicy berries of the ripe fruit.

Apparently there were no stomach aches or distress from eating the green fruit. (At least none of us saw either birds or squirrels helping themelves to any triangular shaped bottles of the pink stuff.)

The first and most numerous customers were, of course, grackles and starlings. Especially the latter. Hoardes of them flocked to the trees and the screaming and squalling of the kids, as they begged to be fed, was frightful.

By day's end our nerves were raw and our ears rebelling — had they all suffered severe bouts of indigestion, none of the people in the gray and white house at the end of Logan Street would have been the least bit sorry.

Squirrels are great mulberry eaters too, both the fox squirrels and the nasty little red squirrels. If only these last characters could live up to their looks; with their tiny size, snowy white tummies and reddish brown backs, their big bright eyes and bottle-brush tails, they are as cute as can be but their dispositions are mean and their tempers fiery.

Two young red squirrels discovered the mulberry trees and for a while, maybe a day or two, got along quite well together. They ran up and down and back and forth like kids playing tag. Now the chases are not so friendly, they must be trying to decide whose territory is where.

Before war was declared there were a couple of fun red squirrel happenings. One day I looked out to see two white things hanging from one of the branches — the little reds, side by each, were hanging by their hind feet and reaching down for mulberries. The white things were their tummies.

Several days later one of the youngsters was near the top of the tree and rather uncharacteristically lost his footing. He fell half-way down through the tree before catching hold of a limb. Then, of course, he scampered away with hardly a break in stride. Superb agility.

Yesterday I watched a beautiful performance. A red squirrel was running from the mulberry tree to the walnut tree, the limbs meet and form a good tree-road. From what I could see the squirrel was not eating, it was not hard to believe that he was simply running around and looking for trouble. He found it too. In the form of a gorgeous and handsome redheaded woodpecker.

I saw Little Red dash up a limb of the walnut tree and suddenly he was tearing back in the opposite direction, even faster. Right in back of him was the woodpecker. Apparently the squarrel had gotten too close and the bird had had enough. He drove Little Red out of the walnut tree and to the other side of the mulberries. I am sure Mother wondered what I was cheering about.

A pair of these lovely redheaded woodpeckers have been around for many weeks now. They pick mulberries and take them to a dead limb in the walnut tree for leisurely dining. They also use the walnut tree as a staging area from which they launch numerous insect catching flights. This swooping provides breathtaking displays of their spectacular black and white wings.

There is a heavy crop of mulberries this year and one of the lower limbs on the tree by the white end-of-the-street barrier hangs almost to the ground. Not good for the boy who mows the lawn but great for the woodchuck.

One day Mom looked out to see Murphy standing up straight on his hind legs and using his front paws to pull the mulberry branches to his mouth. He was not only eating berries but the leaves as well. Now we have a silly looking tree limb, all of the tip-ends of the branches are bare.

As I dicate this the mulberries are well over half-harvested and the chokecherries are a deep and lush red. Mother Nature does indeed set bountiful banquet boards. Murphy, the woodchuck, will not fare so well with the cherries but everyone else will. This includes the bird watchers too.

Takes Top Band Honors

Alison Phillips, clarinetist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Phillips was a member of the Blue Lake Arts Camp's International Band that took top honors in a band competition held in Hamar, Norway.

The band was touring Europe as part of Blue Lake's International Program. It won first place in the Janits Jar Festival. The International Band competed in the top division which is for members 18 years or older, almost professional in caliber.

The International Band received 117 out of a possible 120 points, the highest point total ever given in the festival's history.

Fund Drive Nets $7,149

Catholics of the Tecumseh area contributed $7,149 to the annual Diocesan Services Appeal of the Diocese of Lansing as the fund drive received an all time high of $832,836 in pledges to finance projects for the coming year.

The goal for the entire 10-county diocese was $784,650 but Catholics in the 84 parishes and missions gave 106 percent of that amount.

The money is used to fund projects, offices and programs which provide community services, educational grants and programs to carry out the mission of the church.

Last year the total amount pledged was $727,285, some $105,000 less than this year.

Carl VanTil Transferred to New Unit

CLINTON — Sgt. Carl J. VanTil, 31, of E. Lansing headquarters Michigan State Police, is transferred from the crime prevention unit of the community services section of the executive division to the section's administrative unit.

VanTil joined in 1968 and served first at Clinton before transfer in 1970 to Wannen and in 1975 to the executive division at E. Lansing.

'78 Golf Practice Scheduled

CLINTON — Practice for the 1978 golf season will begin Aug. 18 at 12 noon at Meadowlane Golf Course.

For information call Jim Pittman or the high school office.

Clinton Calling

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Calhoun and son, Terry, attended the National Type Conference of the American Landrace Association in Logansport, Ind. last week. Harold is a member of the board of directors of the Association. Extreme heat and periodic power disruptions by the county's power station kept it from being too enjoyable. Apparently Indiana is having wide-spread power shortages at this time.

Macon Montage

By Josephine (Josie) Jones

MACON — Sharon and Pat Connors and children, Tim and Kristin, have returned from a five week camping vacation through the southern states. The family was not too surprised to find they got along quite well without modern conveniences sush as television, telephone and hot running water.

The camping trip was a unique departure from their everyday living. The Connors found their two-day visit to Disney World a sudden return to today's fast pace of living. From Orlando, Sharon and Pat motored to Boca Raton for an enjoyable three-day visit with former Tecumsehites, Beulah and George McCombs.

After leaving Florida, they spent a restful week at Stone Mountain, Ga. The vacation ended as it began at the Smoky Mountains Camp Grounds near Gatlinburg, Tenn., an area the Connors have enjoyed for many years. They spent the time walking in mountain streams, visiting primitive mountain living areas and just driving through the Smoky Mountain National Park viewing the breathtaking scenery.

However the family was happy to return to familiar surroundings and the comforts of home and find that Pat Jr. had kept the "Connors' Acres" intact.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark and son, John, have returned home after spending a week at the State Park in Ludington.

Donald Bush Is President

BRITTON — Donald Bush was elected president of the Britton-Macon Board of Education at the board's annual reorganizational meeting July 11.

Donald Bush was elected president, Karl Kimerer, vice president, Richard Bruce, treasurer, and Wesley Gilmore, secretary.

The Board of Education will continue to meet on the second Thursday of the month in the superintendent's office at 8 p.m. during the months of May through October and at 7 p.m. during November through April.

The Deerfield State Bank was selected as the depository bank for the 1975 debt retirement fund and the 1975 building fund. All other school monies will be deposited in the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh.

The board applied for state aid reimbursement for debt retirement under Section 27 of the State Aid Act. If approved it will amount to approximately $4,530.

The balance of $74.10 in the Girls Athletic Club will be transferred to the athletic account in the student activities fund.

The board approved the purchase of 15 warm-ups for girls' athletics. They will be used for both girls' basketball and volleyball.

Diane Matuszak will become the girls' varsity basketball coach with Peggy Raeburn taking over the junior varsity squad.

The starting time of school was moved up to 8:18 a.m.

The board will again purchase student insurance for all students. Cost will be $1.80 per student and there will be a maximum of $28,000 per claim.

The superintendent was authorized to purchase six IBM typewriters for the commercial department.

The board decided to have one session of kindergarten for anything less than 30 students. At the present there are only 19 enrolled for kindergarten in the fall.

The board approved the low bid of Robert Bush and Sons ($2,300) to tile and put a sump pump in the tunnel leading to the multi-purpose room.

CHEERLEADING CLINIC IN BRITTON — Britton-Macon varsity cheerleaders are holding a cheerleading clinic for around 40 younger girls through this Friday. You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Beat the heat with super simple, cool, light desserts. Although the desserts are similar, you will want to try them both as they are delicious.

KEY LIME PIE

1 can sweetened condensed milk (15 ounce)
4 eggs, seperated
½ cup lime juice
1 baked pie shell (9 inch)

Combine condensed milk, lime juice and egg yolks, and mix well. Beat eggs whites until stiff and fold into above lime mixture. Pour into prepared pie shell, place in freezer, freeze until firm. Remove a few minutes before serving.

This lemon dessert requires no cooking at all, just mix and freeze. Great!!

LEMON FREEZE

½ cup corn flake crumbs
2 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup margarine, melted
1 (15 ounce) can sweetened condensed milk
one-third cup lemon juice
2 eggs, seperated
3 tablespoons sugar.

Combine corn flake crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar, and margarine and mix well. Reserve 2 tablespoons crumb mixture for topping. Press remainder firmly in bottom of ice cube tray. Chill.

Combine condensed milk, lemon juice and egg yolks and mix well. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in 3 tablespoons sugar and continue to beat until stiff, but not dry. Gently fold into condensed milk mixture. Spread evenly over crumb crust; sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Place in freezer and freeze 6-8 hours or until firm.

Hope to hear from you. See you next week.

Memoriam

In memory of Louis Underwood who passed away July 24, 1973.
He is, he was and he always will be, My Dad.
And I'll always love him for teaching me to be strong, which I am.
And I like others, have a core that is a part of him, a part of me that will be there for ever and I'll always love him for he is, he was, and he always will be my Dad.

Berkley Leads Macon Open

Bill Berkley of Tecumseh leads a field of 48 golfers in the Macon Open Golf Tournment after two qualifying rounds.

Berkley fired a 74 last Saturday and a 69 Sunday to take the lead with a 143 total. Berkley is the only competitior to break par and is five shots ahead of his nearest challenger.

Mike Webber is in second place with a 148 and three golfers are at 149.

The final round of play is this Saturday after flights are formed Thursday.

Jacobs and Moore Take Golf Tourney

Local golfer Doug Jacobs teamed up with Ted Moore of Findley, Ohio, to win the Toledo Junior District Two-Man Best Ball Tournament on Monday of this week.

Jacobs and Moore carded a two-under 69 at Detwiler Golf Club in Toledo to take the win.

On Thursday and Friday of this week, Jacobs is participating in the National Junior Invitational at Lakelands Country Club in Fostoria, Ohio.

Jacob's sister Sande, placed fourth in the state with a 93 in the Junior PGA tourney held at Ferris State College Golf Course.

The tournament was held last week with 20 participating. The winning score was an 86.

Ottawa Hangs on to First

Pony League

Ottawa had three games this week and they won only one of those three. this tightened up the league race and makes things more interesting.

Ottawa's win was a 5-4 victory over UPW. Derek Nahabedian pitched six and one-third innings of no-hit ball. Tony Hoard preserved the win and no-hitter. Derek also led the hitting attack with two hits.

One of the losses was a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Gaston's. It was a very close game until the seventh when Gaston's scored four runs. Marty Wallich was the winning pitcher giving up only three hits.

The other defeat was a 12-10 loss to VFW. This was a 'give-away' game in which walks and errors played a big part on both sides.

Tom Hamilton and Mike Waters combined for the victory.

VFW got two more victories first by defeating LaVoy 6-3. Mike Waters was the winning pitcher with six strikeouts and only two walks. The leading hitters were Jeff Butler, Tom Hamilton, and Ken Lewis.

The other win was a 5-1 victory over Gastons. In this game, Greg Langmeyer pitched a one-hitter for the win. In other games, UPW beat LaVoy 8-6 and Gaston's beat LaVoy 3-2.

Dermyer Scores Ace

Dan Dermyer, 205 Bidwell, scored a hole-in-one on the 170-yard 16th hole at Raisin Valley Golf Club Tuesday.

Dermyer used a seven-iron for the ace while playing with his wife Norena and Dawn Balent.

Rec. Dept. Sponsors 2 Teams

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department has two girls' fast-pitch softball teams this year.

One team consists solely of 12 year-olds and the other is made up of 13, 14, 15 year-olds.

Neither team has a winning record thus far, but the season is still young. The 12 year-old team is 1-2 on the season, picking up their sole victory from Manchester by defeating them 7-6. Kim Creswell was the winning pitcher, while many of the players connected for clutch hits.

They have lost to Manchester and Britton.

The 13, 14, 15 year-old team has a 2-3 record thus far. Both victories have been against Manchester. They won the first one by a score of 25-5 and the second one just as easily by a 26-0 score.

They have lost two to Toledo and one to Britton.

Their season continues until August 1.

RYAN SALING, 2, is a little young to take the field himself, but that doesn't stop him from enjoying the action. Ryan watched the Athletics defeat the Twins 13-9 Tuesday. Ryan is the son of Charles and Roberta Saling. (PHOTO BY KENT DOWNING)

6 'Beat the Pro'

Wednesday, July 13, was 'Beat the Pro' Day at Tecumseh Country Club.

Stan Brion, club professional, shot a 69. Brion gave all the ladies an extra two strokes on their handicap and even though 47 played, only six managed to 'beat the pro'.

Those winners were Maurine Hannibal, Ruth Jobes, T.C. Roekle, Gloria Jahner, Lynn Erb and Julie Mullaly.

The following had chip-ins: Ruth Jobes, Helen Damon, Margaret Finley, Julie Mullaly, June Macbeth, Mildred Bahnmiller, and Ruth DuShong.

Ruth Hanna, Pat Estes and Shirley Smith headed the committee.

Senior Citizens Trip Aug. 14-18

There are still a few openings in the Tecumseh Recreation Department Senior Citizens trip to Ohio and Kentucky on August 14 through August 18.

This trip will take in the famous outdoor epic of "Tecumseh" at Chillicothe, Ohio. The next day it's lunch at the famous Shaker Village with a tour of the Village following.

Then it's on to Bardstown, Kentucky, where the group will stay two full days to take in the sights in and around Bardstown and Cave City. Highlights of the stay in Bardstown will be viewing the Stephen Foster Story, 'America's Favorite Outdoor Musical'.

Then it's on to Louisville where the group will wind up the trip with a ride on the Belle of Louisville, a 2½ hour cruise on the scenic Ohio River.

All area senior citizens are invited. For further information, contact Ward Eardley, Director, at the Tecumseh Recreation Department at 423-5602.

'Christmas in July' is Friday

If the hot weather has you dragging, The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department has something to take your mind off the heat.

On Friday, July 22, all playgrounds will be getting together for a hot dog roast and their annual Christmas in July party.

Games, food, music, gift exchange, and Santa Claus will highlight the event.

For further information, contact the playground leaders or the Recreation Department at 423-5602.

Tourney is Aug. 12-14

The Pizza Inn First Annual Invitational Softball Tournament for women competing in Class E will be held Aug. 12, 13 and 14.

The double-elimination slo-pitch tourney will feature 16 teams.

There is an entry fee and teams must provide two new balls. Trophies will be awarded to the first four places.

For more information contact Ed Soto at 263-3477.

Plywood is Thursday Leader

Tuesday League

The log jam on Tuesday night has occurred again. After one week of one leader, there are now three teams tied for the lead.

The first team to cause a tie was Local 429 who snuck by Handley Equipment 8-7. Going into the top of the seventh inning, the game was tied 5-5. Local 429 scored three runs and then held on as Handley could only manage two runs.

Louis Gonzalez was one of the leading hitters for Local with three hits including a triple. On the other side, Gary Judkins had four safeties for Handley and Tim Gall had three.

Game number two had Tecumseh Merchants running by United Savings Bank 10-4. Doug Wilcox and Roger Fisher each had three hits to pace the 16-hit attack. One of Doug's hits was a homerun.

For United Savings Bank, Ron Baxter hit a homerun and two singles.

In the finale, Clinton Merchants squeezed by Tractor Village 9-8 in eight innings. Jim Schuler hit one for the distance for one of his three hits. Terry Reiser also added three safeties for Clinton Merchants. Dwight Loop had three hits for Tractor Village.

Wednesday League

Wednesday Night League tightened up a bit as VFW suffered loss number one while the Loggers and Iott's both won.

In game number one, Loggers broke loose in the sixth and seventh innings to run by Wagon Wheel 14-6. Jim Hunt and Bob Vogel both had three hits each to lead the attack for Loggers, while Dave Pray, Ken Pieh, and Dennis Kime all smacked round trippers.

Dennis Tripp and Alan Hively each hit one for the distance in a losing cause.

Erb's Chevrolet pulled away from Faraday in the sixth inning by scoring six runs. The final score was 12-4 in favor of Erb's. J.D. Lancaster was the big stick with four singles. For Faraday, John Mell and Mike Raymond hit homeruns.

In the last game, Iott's scored in every inning except the first to hand VFW their first defeat 13-10. All 10 of VFW's runs came in the sixth inning. Mick Curtis and J. Risener each had three hits for Iott's. Gordie Whelan hit a homerun for VFW.

Thursday League

After two weeks of rainouts, the Thursday night league finally had a chance to play.

And that is just what they did playing Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. The team that played the most was Tecumseh Plywood and they did the best, winning four games and losing one. They beat every team the second time around.

Victim number one was Luper Plumbing by a score of 6-2. Pete Dermeyer had two hits for Plywood. Eric Travis hit a round tripper for Luper. Victim number two was Proctors by an 11-6 margin. Doug Fowler had three hits while Pete Dermeyer and Tom Komoun hit round trippers for Plywood.

Mike Corley and Bart Bartels hit for the distance for Proctors.

Victim number three was George's Market by a score of 9-5. Sam Short hit a homer for Plywood while Ike Harris did it for George's. At this point, Plywood had to play George's again and lost 13-12 in the bottom of the seventh inning. George Heeman hit a homerun for George's Market while Sam Short hit another for Plywood.

In Plywood's last game of the week, they snuck by Ember's in eight innings by a score of 11-10. Nick Hebert had four hits to pace Plywood while Pete Dermeyer had three hits.

In other action, Ember's got one victory by defeating George's Market 10-3. Dave Gurtzweiler and Ron Mastie each had three for Ember's. Ike Harris had three hits for George's, including a home run.

In the other three games, Luper Plumbing played and won two and lost one. First, they lost to Proctors 20-13 in eight innings. After being tied 12-12 at the end of seven, Luper's gave up five walks and four hits to allow eight runs to score. Barry Conklin had four hits to lead Proctors' hitting attack. Bart Bartels chipped in with a round tripper.

Then, in the next game, Luper's exploded for 19 runs on 20 hits to smother Ember's 20-13. A devastating first inning when Luper's scored nine times was just too much for ember's to overcome. Ron Frenzen, Ed Clark, and Kevin Eggelston each had three hits for Luper's.

One of Clark's hits was a homer. Bill Tuberville smacked four singles for Ember's.

In the final game, Luper's snuck by Proctors 7-5 scoring three runs in the seventh inning to obtain the victory. Randy Arnett and Terry Ranta each clobbered three hits for Luper's to pace the 13-hit attack.

JC's Lead Major League

Major League

There was a mixed week in the majors due to the weather conditions, but several games were played as the season moved on.

First game had Credit Union defeating Plywood 8-5. Mark McFadden pitched a two-hitter and struck out 11 batters. Dave Williams was Credit Union's leading hitter with two safeties.

In the next game, Rotary came from behind in the bottom of the sixth inning to sneak by Police 9-8. Rotary scored five times in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the win. Mike Barnhart was the leading slugger for Rotary with three hits.

JC's stayed on top with an 8-7 hang-on victory over UPW. Ken Kurzyniec was the winning pitcher. John Walper had two hits for JC's.

Kiwanis held out to beat Rotary 14-10. Paul Vredeveld had three hits for Kiwanis which included two doubles. Wally Harvey also hit a home run. For Rotary, Carl Harsh had two hits.

Kiwanis also beat Police 12-0. Mickey Hyatt was the winning pitcher giving up no runs, no hits, and walking only one batter. He struck out 12 batters out of 19 that he faced. Wally Harvey, John Gould, Matt Allen, and Mickey Hyatt each had two hits a piece. One of Mickey's and Wally's were home runs.

3 Staff Vacancies

Three teaching vacancies still exist for the 1977-78 school year, Supt. Robert Duhan reported Wednesday.

An English-mathematics instructor is needed at the high school; social studies-group guidance teacher for the junior high, and an instrumental music teacher for the junior high and elementary levels.

Harry Travis, social studies-group guidance instructor at the junior high, is taking a health leave for a year, and Robert Schoof, instrumental music instructor, is returning to school.

The principalship at Patterson elementary school is not filled, but applicants are being interviewed, Supt. Duhan said. Cynthia Opelt, principal, is on maternity leave.

$1,000 Raised for Golf Pro

Popular Stan Brion, long hitting golf pro at the Tecumseh Country Club, received exceptional backing of the club's membership Saturday night when members raised over $1,000 to send him and his wife to the annual PGA driving contest at Peble Beach, Calif.

Brion is consistently among the country's leaders in the driving contest and was a finalist last year when the event was held just prior to the PGA Tournament at Congressional Country Club, Md.

Francis Barss, TCC member and owner of an Adrian catering service, feted members Saturday evening to barbecue chicken with the proceeds donated for trip expenses.

GT Adds New Equipment

Additional dial switching equipment has recently been installed in the Tecumseh central office.

Six-hundred lines and 200 terminals of central office equipment were installed to provide for more dial switching facilities.

These "lines" are the circuitry or communications channels necessary to route customers calls within and through the Tecumseh central office. The "terminals" make more telephone numbers possible for customers to use.

This $107,485 project was necessary because of the continuing growth in the Tecumseh area.

It is part of a $4.1 million dollar service improvement and expansion program in southeastern Michigan in 1977. General Telephone presently serves 7,965 telephones in its Tecumseh exchange.

Site Reviewed for Auditorium

By Kathy Brown

The desire for an auditorium for Tecumseh is not a new one. People have talked about it for over 18 years.

Several groups that talked about it include Tecumseh City Council, Tecumseh Board of Education, Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, other civic and cultural groups and most recently in Oct. 1976, the 200 area residents at Town Meeting.

However, in the 18 years or more, there has been no facility to satisfy this desire. Gerald Johnstone, president of the Tecumseh Players, surveyed 26 Michigan communities Tecumseh's size. Tecumseh was the only one that did not have a theatre, an auditorium or both.

The Community Center was apparently only a temporary solution. Today it is heavily used - daily by senior citizen and recreation programs and nightly by various groups including the Tecumseh Players, Shawnee Squares, Tecumseh Area Historical Society, etc. and sometimes two groups in one evening.

If restored, would the Bidwell Building serve as another temporary solution? This question was asked at a July 12 meeting to discuss the building's fate.

The essence of the collective response was:

If restored into a 250-seat theatre-cinema, the facility would offer the intimacy of a small theatre, seat more than 170 capacity of the Glass Room at the Community Center, yet be large enough for most Tecumseh meetings and groups. Furthermore upkeep would appear to be affordable.

Seek Early Registration

School officials are asking newcomers to the Tecumseh school district and with elementary youngsters to have their children register at the Board of Education office on W. Chicago Blvd. prior to the opening of school on Sept. 6th.

Senior and junior high students will register the last week of August at the THS and JHS buildings.

Supt. Robert Duhan also asks that families who have moved or are planning to move within the school district to report this information to authorities before the opening of school.

6-Year Resident Killed in Wreck

Services were July 26 at the Purse Funeral Home for Lawrence Junior Gose, 42, 4881 DeLeon Dr., who died Saturday from injuries suffered in an auto accident. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Bixby Hospital.

Gose was found the morning of July 23 after his car went off the road and rolled over in a ditch.

Gose was traveling east on Deerfield Road when his car lost control at the curve at Wilmouth Hwy. Accident occurred sometime around 3 a.m. Gose was the only occupant of the vehicle which was destroyed.

LAWRENCE GOSE

Accident was reported to the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department at 7:47 a.m. July 23.

Gose was born March 6, 1935 in Monroe to Leo and Cleo (Ellison) Gose.

He was a resident of Tecumseh for six years and worked at Tecumseh Products Co. for the last 24 years.

Gose is survived by his wife, Mary; a son, John; and four daughters, Mrs. Frank (Marilyn) Terrasi, Dundee; Mrs. Rick (Pamela) Smelka of Missouri; Mrs. Dave (Judy) Rathburn of Monroe and Laurie at home.

Other survivors are his father and his stepmother, four brothers, John, Jim, Terry and Gary, all of Monroe; two sisters, Mrs. Charles (Marie) White, Petersburg and Mrs. Lillian Connors of Monroe and three grandchildren.

Gose was preceded in death by one son, his mother and one sister.

The Rev. Allan Gray officiated and burial was in Ridgeway Cemetery.

Investigate Six Minor Mishaps

Tecumseh police investigated six minor accidents this week. Only one of the drivers was cited for harzardous driving. A resume includes:

July 20 - Glenn E. Schmidt, of 616 W. Kilbuck, backed out of a drive and struck an auto driven by Helen M. Saltz, 53, of Adrian. Saltz was westbound on Kilbuck at the time of the collision.

Mary E. McElroy, 17, of 1020 Red Mill, told police she stopped behind an auto on Chicago, but then her foot slipped from the brake and she bumped into the auto. Second auto was driven by John B. Sisson, 19, of 302 Herrick Park.

July 21 - Dolores V. Surratt, 308 N. Van Buren, stopped for the sign on W. Brown at N. Union and then pulled out into the intersection. She struck a southbound auto driven by Merle A. Watkins, of 701 Seneca.

July 22 - Franklin A. Hamann, 32, of Britton, was cited for failing to yield after he pulled from a drive on E. Chicago and hit a westbound auto driven by John I. Armstrong, 38, of Tipton.

July 24 - Judson L. Miles, 53, of 9420 Valleydale told police a dog ran in front of his car on Occidental, near Conklin, and he could not avoid hitting the animal.

Nellie E. Bowser, 68, of Detroit, backed from a private drive at 205 S. Democrat and struck an auto parked across the street. Parked car belonged to Janice Hockrein, 303 W. Chicago.

Last Saturday, Dennis Palmer, 62, was cited for failing to have his vehicle under control and for not having proper registration or certificate of insurance when he collided with Sharlene F. Rentschler, 19, at Heeman's Market. The Herald mistakenly reported that Rentschler was cited for no registration.

KELLY ARMSTRONG seems to have found a way to strike back at the insufferable heat that plagued Tecumseh and elsewhere last week. Kelly was participating in one of the Recreation Department's playgrounds activities. The recreation staff opened a fire hydrant by the community center and several children made good use of the icy water that flowed forth.

Mrs. Brandt Found Dead

Funeral services are pending at the Purse Funeral Home for Mrs. Fern Arlene Brandt, 77, former Tecumseh businesswoman, who was found dead in her home at 310½ S. Pearl St., Tuesday.

It is believed that she died Saturday.

Mrs. Brandt and her husband, Ernest, who died Feb. 5, 1959, operated the Brandt 5 and 10 cent store here for 30 years. She closed the store and quit business in 1963. It was located at the site now occupied by Cal's Tog Shop.

Mrs. Brandt was born Oct. 20, 1899 in Bronson. On July 3, 1918, she married Ernest C. Brandt in Sherwood, and they moved to Tecumseh in 1930.

She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church, Women's Golden Rule Circle and the Monday Club.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Ivan (Dorothy) Gorr of Findlay, Ohio; son, Max Brandt, Adrian; three step-sisters, three step-brothers, 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Repair Pumper

Tecumseh's fire department will be without its 1963 pumper for the next week to 10 days while repairs are made on the vehicle's pump.

Replacement of bearings and possibly repairs to the gear box are scheduled. Costs could run as high as $4,000.

The pumper was taken to Grand Ledge Tuesday evening, where the pump will be removed. Actual repairs will be made at Battle Creek.

Physicals Aug. 11

Physical examinations for all boys and girls who plan to participate in high school sports during 1977-78 school year will be held Aug. 11, at 9:30 a.m., in the high school gym.

The examinations will be conducted by local physicians.

'Job' Response Is Disappointing

The telephone of the Tecumseh Answering Service rang few times of late with job offerings for the Barbara Johnson Memorial Jobs for Tecumseh Teens.

So far this year about 26 students were given a one time opportunity at a job, reported Jaycee Auxiliary chairman Margie Ball. Some are still waiting for a chance to work.

"It is very disappointing," said Mrs. Jean Bick, owner of the answering service. "I don't feel that there have been as many calls this year as there were last year. It's a shame because there are so many teenagers that are willing and able to work," Mrs. Bick stated.

The answering service is the lifeblood of the jobs for teens program. Potential employers use it to request a teen for any particular job from light housework to painting to pet, plant or babysitting. Members of the Jaycee Auxiliary then call back at the end of the day and match the job to a teen interested or experienced in the work.

Salary is determined by the student and the employer. A log is kept to make sure each student gets a chance.

This is the second year that the personal answering service was used for the Jobs for Teens program. The United Way pays for the service.

"The program had so much trouble staffing a phone and installation for just the few summer months made it expensive, so they decided to try the answering service. They were pleased. It kept the whole cost down to a minimum," Mrs. Bick explained.

Often times Mrs. Bick or one of her daughters who answers the phone will explain how the Job for Teens program works if a prospective employer is not quite sure of what to do.

Potential employers are reminded that the Jobs for Teens program runs until the last week of August. If anyone has a job to offer a teen, call 423-3708 at least 24 hours ahead to allow for placement.

Registration for teens for the summer program closed last month and no new applicants will be taken. However, "A few teens picked up applications and did not return them. They may think they're registered, but they're not registered until they return the application. We'll still accept these teens because we know who the students are," explained Margie Ball, Jaycee Auxiliary chairman.

Incidentally, Beulah McClellan will be the new owner of Tecumseh Answering Service. Take over will be next week. Mrs. Bick is now working as a nutrition aide with the Extension Service.

Open Office on Aug. 1st?

Mark Murray of Fabricare reported that the new Secretary of State office at the Herrick Park location will be setting up for business Aug. 1, but whether or not it will be open for public business is not known. Regional director Philip Allen again could not be reached for comment.

MEYER'S PLANE ENTERS MUSEUM — Harold and Janet Lossner of Iowa disassembled Al Meyer's personal OTW pilot trainer Tuesday in order to transport it to an aviation museum near Milwaukee, Wisc. The WWII vintage aircraft was the 102nd and final OTW manufactured.

(PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

'OTW' Enters New Era

By Frank Weir

It's one thing to fly a 1944 antique biplane to Milwaukee, Wisc., from Tecumseh, but its quite another to disassemble it and crate it there instead.

But that's just what Harold and Janet Lossner of Des Moines, Iowa are doing with the last Out To Win (OTW) biplane manufactured by Meyers Aircraft.

The OTW was designed to train military pilots in World War II and the Out To Win name was Al Meyer's "war production symbol and personal goal" according to Mrs. Meyers.

Al Meyer s saved the last OTW for his personal use, the 102nd plane built. Production started in 1939 and ended in 1944.

The Lossners are long-time air enthusiasts and, in fact, own the 57th OTW built. After disassembling the aircraft, they will take it to the Experimental Aircraft Museum located near Milwaukee for restoration.

The museum is sponsored by the Experimental Aircraft Association and Al Meyers stipulated that the 102nd and final OTW would go there. The museum plans to completely restore the aircraft so that it can be flown as well as displayed.

The actual disassembly is simple according to Harold Lossner who teaches different aircraft courses at Des Moines Technical High School. The wings and landing gear are removed while the fuselage is kept in one piece.

The bed of a house trailer is used for the fuselage while the wings were placed on top of the Lossner truck. Lossner performed the job on Tuesday of -this week. The propeller remained on the plane for the trip.

And where does Lossner get the expertise for the job?

"We've completely rebuilt five OTW's from junk parts. We have 10 (of the planes) in our area right now."

The Lossners along with several more OTW owners or previous owners belong to the Meyers Club.

Vandals Hit THS...Again

Tecumseh police were busy this week, investing 12 complaints, including a second B&E at the high school.

Vandals broke into the school just last week and stole a number of speakers and amplifiers. Then Tuesday, Robert Glasscock, custodian at THS, called police and reported a second breaking.

The perpetrators apparently entered the building via the construction area between Monday afternoon and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. They then went to the second floor and broke the entrance door window to the chemistry classroom.

They entered the storage room there and left with 10 to 12 scales and balances. Police did take a number of objects back to the station to have fingerprinted.

A resume of other reports includes:

July 21 - Robert I. Baker, 49, of 109 W. Patterson, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol after police observed him driving back and forth across the center line on westbound Chicago.

July 22 - Postmaster Jack Metcalf reported a broken window at the Post Office. Police arrived to find the window blown out by a shotgun blast.

Maria L. Harroid, 712 Waskin, told police her auto was scratched on both fenders and doors while parked in the southwest city parking lot.

Jeanette Hoag of Adrian found her auto tires punctured in the front when she exited from the Cedar Shack Friday. The tires were apparently cut with a knife and were valued at $50.

July 23 - Dancers Dept. Store reported damage to one of their front plate glass windows. The window was hit by a beer bottle.

July 24 - Mary Jo Rosencrane, 215 N. Oneida and Judy Palmer, 1201 Shady Lane, reported stolen 10-speeds from their residences. The Rosencrane bike was stolen from her front porch. The two Palmer bicycles were taken from their storage shed while they were on vacation.

Police arrested a 16-year-old Monday on charges of possession of marijuana and for resisting arrest after they approached an auto in the 100 block of W. Chicago for throwing a beer can from the car.

The young man was arrested for possession when police asked him for identification and searched him. The 16-year-old fled on foot when the driver of the auto he was in protested the arrest. Police caught the young man on foot behind Gambles.

July 26 - Rickie Hemphill, of Russell Square Apartments, reported the larceny of a CB and sander from his van. Vandals pryed his vent window open to take the objects.

Dan Harvey, reported two stolen bicycles from his home at 7002 E. Monroe over the weekend. The bikes were valued at $100.

Two Railways Acquire DT&I Stock Jointly

The Chessie System and Norfolk and Western Railway have agreed to acquire jointly the stock of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad Co. for $23.6 million.

DT&I tracks are used by Fisher Body GM and enter Tecumseh south on Union at Cummins.

A 450 mile Class I railroad, the DT&I runs generally north and south between Detroit and southern Ohio, with trackage rights in Cincinnati. It handles a large volume of automotive business and other freight. The acquisition, from the Pennsylvania Co. is subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mrs. Meyers' reported that the flight "stirred up the countryside" a bit, sending people into their homes for cameras. She said the passengers of the balloon and onlookers were able to talk to each other, making it an informal and pleasant experience.

Preparation of the 65,000 sq. ft. balloon takes about 3½ hours for the brief time it spent in flight Saturday. The craft burns 20 gallons of propane gas per hour.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

We perform at least 85 services for a funeral!

We handle a myriad of details for each funeral to meet the special wishes and needs of the family. As funeral directors, we often help out for several months after the funeral to make sure all details are completed.

It is important for funeral directors to consult at length with the family on literally dozens of details. Here are just a few of them:

FUNERAL: setting its time and who is to officiate; choice of casket and clothing, music, Scriptures, etc.

CEMETERY: purchase of grave lot or of family plot; opening and closing of grave; getting permits.

LT. AND MRS. GORDON McELROY

Griest-McElroy Are Married at Annapolis

The U.S. Naval Academy Chapel, Annapolis, Md., was the setting for the June 25 marriage of Lt. Gordon K. McElroy and Kathleen Marie Griest. Cmdr. F.J. Murray, CHC, USN, officiated the nuptials.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. Griest, Arnold, Md.; and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. McElroy, 1020 Red Mill Dr., are parents of Lt. McElroy.

For her wedding, the bride chose a voile gown with high lace neckline, long billowing sleeves, lace cuffs, and a cathedral train trimmed with lace. Her cathedral veil was also lace trimmed. She carried a cascade of white orchids with baby's breath.

Maid of honor Cindy Griest, sister of the bride, wore a blue Qiana halter dress with the V-neckline trimmed with braiding, over which was worn a chiffon jacket with fitted waistline, long sleeves and hooded collar. She and the bridesmaids carried a cascade of white gladioli, tipped with blue, and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids were Krissie Griest, sister of the bride; Sue and Mary McElroy, sisters of the groom; Lisa Miller, cousin of the bride; and Cassie Jordan. Their yellow dresses were styled the same as the maid of honor.

The best man was Ensign Michael Anderson. Ushers and swordbearers were: Ensign Peter Knoetgen, Ensign Larry Simpson, Ensign Bruce Scott, Midshipman John Boswell and Midshipman Joe Fallone. Also, serving as usher, was Bill McElroy, brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Naval Academy Officers' Club. The garden reception following the afternoon wedding was held at the Griest home for 150 guests from Maryland, California, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maine, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama.

The bride graduated with honors from The Medix School, Glen Burnie, Maryland in the dental assistant program. A 1971 graduate of Tecumseh High School, Lt. McElroy graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy, June 8. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Lt. McElroy will be stationed at the Quantico Marine Base for five months, attending the Marine Corps Basic School. Their new residence is: Apt. K102, Belleau Wood Apts., 19342 Belleau Wood Dr., Triangle, Va., 22172.

Escott-White Vows Spoken

An open Bible flanked by candelabra decorated the altar of the First Baptist Church in Tecumseh for the wedding of Deborah Sue Escott and Craig Steven White on July 15 at 6:30 p.m.

The Rev. Kenneth T. Boyd officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Escott, 500 Seneca St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. White, 9761 Britton Hwy.

Janet Champanois was the organist and Judy Dillinger, Bonnie Dittman and Diane Knaggs, sisters from Toledo, Ohio sang at the wedding.

The bride and groom's parents were escorted to the altar and lit a candle representing each family. During their vows, the wedding couple lit individual tapers then together lit a unity candle to solemnize the vows.

For her wedding the bride wore a white chiffon, Swiss crepe gown styled with Guipure lace trim on the sweetheart neckline and cuffed full sleeves. The A-line skirt swept into a chapel train.

Her jewelry was a diamond necklace and earrings, gifts from the groom. She wore a fingertip veil secured by a Camelot headpiece adorned with pearl drops.

She carried a bride's Bible, given by her groom, and a bouquet of white sweetheart roses, carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Rhonda Escott, the bride's sister of Tecumseh, was the maid of honor wearing an A-line halter gown of sheer dacron multi-colored print over green peau. Her jacket was styled with cape sleeves and the waist was accented with a wrap around tie.

She wore a picture hat with floral sheer streamers and Venice lace trim on the crown.

She carried a nosegay of green tipped carnations and yellow daisies with baby's breath.

Other bridesmaids were Cheryl O'Brien of Belleville, Erin White, the groom's sister of Tecumseh and Monica Helms of Tecumseh as flower girl. They were attired as the honor attendant and carried bouquets in yellow and green.

Scott White of Tecumseh served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Mike Ery of Tecumseh and Dale Seegert of Britton.

A reception for 400 guests was held at the United Products Workers Union Hall. Silver candelabras decorated the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gage of Tecumseh greeted guests at the reception. Connie Price, of Britton, passed the guest book.

Marion Allshouse of Hudson assisted by Audrey Escott of Toledo, Ohio, cut the cake and Shirley Allshouse of Tecumseh and Madalyn Irwin of Britton served punch. All are aunts of the bride. Jan Kniffen cut the groom's cake and Bethel Seegert served coffee. Both are of Britton.

The new Mrs. White is a 1975 graduate of Tecumseh High School and was employed at Huron Valley Graphics in Ann Arbor. Mr. White was graduated from Britton-Macon High School in 1975 and is employed at the Ford Motor Co., Rawsonville plant. He attends Washtenaw Community College.

Following a honeymoon in the Pocono (Pa.) Mts., the couple will reside at 1316 Southwestern Dr.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their home.

Showers were given by Rhonda Escott, the bride's sister and Cheryl O'Brien of Tecumseh and by the groom's cousins in Detroit.

14th Home Tour for Marshall

A broad cross section of 19th Century architecture will be the highlight of Marshall's 14th annual historic home tour, Saturday, Sept. 10 and Sunday, Sept. 11.

Event is sponsored by the Marshall Historical Society with the cooperation of some 35 civic, social, fraternal and religious organizations.

Billed as a "Third Century Salute," the tour will feature a total of 14 structures open to the public, including four on the National Register of Historic Places.

The 14 buildings range in age from 66 to 143. They represent an outstanding selection of 19th Century architecture, particularly from the 1840-70 period when Marshall enjoyed its 19th Century high point. All Marshall residents make a special effort to groom their homes, gardens and entire community for the tour.

For the eighth year, the event will run on both days to let visitors enjoy the unstructured tour. Hours 9 - 5 p.m. on Sept. 10 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sept. 11.

The tour also includes church luncheons, bake sales, antique sale, an arts and crafts fair (with over 110 crafts people), band concerts, an ice cream social, a civil war encampment, barbershop quartet singing and others.

Grand Old-Fashioned Parade is at noon each day. Saturday will feature the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps and Sunday the fifth Michigan Regiment Band from Howell.

Large, free parking areas have been set aside. Free shuttle buses make continuous trips from parking areas to tour areas.

Working with the historical society and 35 participating organizations are more than 1,400 local volunteers who take the opportunity to express the pride they have in Marshall's 19th Century city atmosphere and uniqueness.

Home tour profits have been used to purchase 15 Michigan state historic markers over the past five years.

For additional information on the tour write: Marshall Historical Society, Dept. 7-25, P.O. Box 15, Marshall, Mich. 49068.

A1C AND MRS. LESLEY HALL

Theresa Philo and Lesley Hale Wed

Theresa Mae Philo, the daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Philo of 2532 Ives Rd., and AIC Lesley Hale, the son of Senior Master Sgt. and Mrs. Jack W. Hale of the United States Air Force, Germany, were married July 16 at 11 a.m. in the First United Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh with the Rev. Edmond Watkins officiating.

Mrs. Ardith Oberlin was the organist.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white lace and nylon gown over taffeta. It featured cap sleeves with cape in back, rounded neckline edged in floral lace and a short train.

Her jewelry was her grandmother Raymond's necklace and a pin belonging to the groom's mother. She wore a cathedral length veil and carried a cascade of white and red roses.

Karen Fuss of Adrian was maid of honor wearing a sleeveless gown of light blue Qiana knit and matching sheer cape. She carried a cascade of white and blue carnations. Bridesmaid Sandy Philo, the bride's sister of Tecumseh, wore an identical gown.

Robert [illegible] Luthy of Goldsboro, N.C. was best man. AIC Richard Hale, the groom's brother of Duluth, Minn., was groomsman. Edward and Michael Philo, the bride's brothers of Tecumseh were ushers.

Heather and Angela Philo, daughers of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Philo of Tecumseh, were the flower girls attired in gowns of dotted swiss over a light blue lining with high waist, round neckline, gathered short cap sleeves. They carried white baskets with miniature white and blue carnations.

A luncheon was served at the United Products Workers Union Hall, with music by "The Pacesetters". Sandra Jean Philo of Adrian served punch and Cindy Wheeler of Waldron served cake.

Marilyn Phelps of Tecumseh assisted in the kitchen.

Special guests at the wedding were the groom's grandmothers, Ruth O'Berry of Trilby, Fla. and Emily Hale of Sarasota, Fla. They substituted for the groom's parents who were unable to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hale of Illinois, the groom's uncle and aunt, were also special guests.

The new Mrs. Hale is a graduate of Tecumseh High School. AIC Hale was graduated from Spring Senior High School, Spring, Texas.

The newlywed's new address is 110 Windsor St. Goldsboro, N.C. 27530.

The rehearsal dinner was a garden party hosted by the wedding couple at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Philo, 702 W. Pottawatamie.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

By the time this article sees print, one of three things will have happened to our once beautiful back yard elm tree. It will either be long gone, or a date will have been made with the tree man to put it out of its misery, or Mom and I will have kidded each other believing that just maybe the tree looks a wee bit better and perhaps we should wait a day or two and see what happens.

Actually, of course, deep in our hearts we know what must happen — the tree must go. Any tree is precious but this one is extra special and the day we hear the chain saw will be a sad one indeed.

It all started way back in the spring of 1941. Good gracious, that is a long time ago but how quickly the years have flown. The excitement was great the day Mom, Dad, and I looked at what was then a vacant lot here where Logan Street meets Evans Creek.

Vacant that is except for the stakes outlining our house-to-be. Only those who have built or had a house built for them can possibly know what a thrill this is.

When we calmed down enough to look carefully we discovered that a small elm tree sapling was growing in the middle of what would be the kitchen. Since this was long before the fad of having trees growing in a house we knew the contractor had planned to cut the tree down. It was much too nice for that so we had the house relocated.

Thus instead of being square with the road we are angled slightly — it was a good move, we like the house at this angle and in later years it worked so that the view of the creek from the west window in my room is absolutely perfect. All thanks to the elm tree.

When the house was built the top of the elm was just showing over the roof of the garage. Now it towers over the house and until this year provided lovely shade. The back yard, kitchen, and upstairs bedrooms will miss it.

And isn't it sad to realize that such a large, strong tree can be brought to an untimely end by a tiny insect. Actually the wood boring beetle by itself does not carry the Dutch elm disease, what it does do is act as a carrier of the fungus which is the culprit.

As it was explained to us, the fungus grows and clogs up the 'water works' of the tree until eventually the life giving sap can no longer flow and the tree dies, another victim of the dread Dutch elm disease.

For many years now this frightful scourge has run unchecked through the elm tree population. By now most of the trees are gone. I understand that they have finally discovered some successful treatment but, of course, this has come too late for most of us.

That we kept our tree as long as we did has been surprising. For many many summers it had large doses of turpentine and whether this helped or not is really a moot question. Someone told Dad about it and we figured that it could do no harm.

This year the turpentine injections were of no help, in the spring the leaves were slow in coming out and few in number. The tree never acquired a good green top and lately it had looked sicker and sicker. Although it has been hard Mom and I know there is only one thing to do — the tree must go.

This has always been a good tree for bird watching. A suet feeder on the trunk was popular with the brown creepers, hairy and downy woodpeckers, and even a wren once in a while. Two summers ago the orioles were especially active, they nested in one of Cameron's large trees and used our elm as a feeding base or something.

Perhaps my fondest memory of the elm and its birds goes back to my high school years. The tree was tall enough then so that a lower limb branched off just outside my upstairs bedroom window. For three years robins built nests there and successfully raised families. It was close to the window and I had an ideal watching spot. Great fun.

Unfortunately, when this elm tree goes an era will end.

Abi Evans Chapter Celebrates 50th

Mrs. Frank Vanderlinden, Regent of Abi Evans Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, opened her country home, "White Oaks Openings" on Tipton Highway, for the 50th anniversary luncheon of the chapter on July 22.

Thirty-six members and guests dined in the spacious diningroom for a luncheon after an opening prayer by the chaplain Mrs. Donald Smith.

Mrs. Eldon Behr of Okemos, the state regent was a special guest.

The only two charter members were present as honorary guests, Mrs. E.T. Armstrong of Adrian and Mrs. Orville Laidlaw of N. Fort Meyers, Fla., who was also the original organizing chairman in 1927.

The honored guest and the officers were seated at the main table with appointments decorating all the rooms for this occasion.

Mary Laidlaw of Miami, fla. was another member coming a great distance to attend.

A short business meeting followed. Mrs. Neil Pearson talked briefly on civil defense. Mrs. Behr presented the Chapter with a certificate of recognition on its D.A.R. magazine subscription from the national committee.

Mrs. Vanderlinden presented the honored guests with a handmade needlepoint book marker with an emblem marking the occasion.

Mrs. William Jennings Frayer, program chairman, introduced Mrs. James Thomas who gave a history of Abi Evans. She highlighted a paper written by Mrs. Laidlaw and given at the 25th anniversary. Mrs. Laidlaw was then called for a few remarks. She told how the name of the chapter was chosen and a little of the founding of the original 22 members.

Mrs. Mervyn Boltz was the speaker for the afternoon and she chose seven Revolutionary women of importance for her topic. As she spoke she passed a pewter medallion of each lady for close inspection.

These ladies had a great hand in the formation of the united States: Faith Robinson Trumble, Mass.; Catherine Littlefield Green, Del., Haana Odgen Caldwell, N.J.; Mary Ball Washington, mother of George, Va.; Mercy Ottis Warren, Mass., Nancy Morgan Hart, Ga. and Abigail Smith Adams.

Mrs. Bolts presented a picture to the chapter of Abi Evans as a gift.

A 50-year paper, researched and prepared by Mrs. Louis Schneider and Mrs. Frayer will be given at the next meeting at the home of Irene Wisner.

The ladies were again invited to the dining room for refreshments to a table centered with a birthday cake with the chapter insignia.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Camping has become a popular family pastime. Although very enjoyable, it does have some limitations in the cooking department. Here are two suggestions for quick meals, ideal at campsite.

Hobo dinners are fun, individual meals that appeal to all ages. Delicious, too!!

HOBO DINNERS

1 (4 ounce) hamburger patty
1 thick slice onion
1 thick slice tomato
¼ green pepper
1 medium potato, peeled and quartered
1 carrot, peeled and quartered
salt and pepper

Salt and pepper hamburger patty and place on 12 inch square of aluminum foil. Top with sliced onion, tomato and green pepper. Rub potato with butter, salt and pepper potato and carrot and add to foil. Seal foil and place on grill over hot charcoal for about 45 minutes. Serves 1. Note: Or place in 425 degree oven for 45 minutes.

Here is a great idea for a one pan, nutritious breakfast from Jan Peshke. Try this one at home or on your next camping trip.

SCRAMBLED EGGS AND HASH BROWNS

4 slices bacon
2 cups hash browns
¼ cup onion, chopped
¼ cup green pepper, chopped
4 eggs
¼ cup milk
1 cup shredded cheese

Brown bacon in skillet; remove bacon but leave fat in pan. Mix hash browns, onions and green pepper and place in skillet. Cook over low heat until underside is brown. Beat eggs and milk and season with salt and pepper. Pour over potatoes, top with cheese, and garnish with bacon slices. Cover and cook until egg is done. Makes 4 servings.

He was a two-time contestant in national wrestling meets. He was on the dean's honor roll, president of Phi Epsilon Kappa fraternity, a member of the Future Pastor's Evangelist Missionary Fellowship for World Missions, and a member pf jail ministeries and campus evangelism. He plans to teach school in Grand Rapids, while attending the seminary there.

Youth Are Entertained

July 17 the Friends Youth of the Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church met for a time of planning and inspiration. After the evening service an approximate group of 27 youth "cooled off" with a combination swim party and cookout at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spreeman.

Thursday 19 members of the group spent the day at Cedar Point. The rain didn't even stop their fun.

The group usually meets on Sunday at 6:30 p.m. and on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. They are looking forward to July 30 when NAPHTALI, a contemporary singing group from Malone College, will be at the church for a cook out and game time at 5:30 p.m. followed by an evening concert at 8 p.m.

Admitted

Barbara Kay Locker, 21, of 1008 Willow St. was admitted to Herrick Hospital early Monday morning with injuries received when she lost control of her vehicle and struck a tree.

Locker was alone in her automobile, northbound, when she ran off the road on the right side and hit the tree.

Mishap occurred at midnight, four miles north of M-50 on Matthews Hwy.

Clinton State Police investigated the accident.

Interest Spans 18 Years, Auditorium Still Proposed

Here is a historical review of Tecumseh's interest in a civic auditorium:

A "civic center" for "high school graduations for our teenagers, church conventions and other conventions, civic dinner parties, programs during the winter months to provide entertainment to the public, etc." was listed first as a desirable goal in an Oct. 8, 1959 full page ad from the newly formed Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation in the Herald.

The June 18, 1960 report, the Foundation Advisory Committee of Tecumseh, (FACT), determined that "A civic auditorium including a theatrical stage is definitely needed in the community." Priorities investigated by FACT were based on a public opinion survey.

(Incidentally, the response beats any in recent memory. Questionaires were distributed on a Saturday to every household in Tecumseh by the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary and the collected on Monday. A total of 1,185 were returned with detailed comments from over 300.)

At the time the survey was taken, the Strand Theatre, movie house and the United Products Workers Union Hall had a capacity of 600 each.

"However, both of these as well as city churches and school gymnasium have poor acoustics," stated FACT. The town's population in 1960 was approximately 7,000, about 600 less than today.

The study further determined that "Seating capacity for the largest program of the year, i.e. graduation, was not economically practical. However seating capacity if too large, is detrimental to programs having smaller attendance. For most uses, a 1,200 seat auditorium would be ample," FACT recommended. Report suggested the schools provide and deed the site to the city, the auditorium be city owned, administered by a separate board and managed by the recreation director.

Music practice areas were suggested in return for required services furnished by the schools.

Cost estimate of such a facility in 1960 was ¼ to ½ mill depending on whether a full-time director was hired. Estimated use was 24 times each by the schools and civic groups, an average of one meeting a week.

Also in 1960, The Tecumseh Development Plan (Master Plan) included a civic center, where the present library stands in close proximity to the schools and downtown for ready access. Apparently, the library was the only reality of the plan.

The downtown commercial district was to be transformed into landscaped mall for pedestrians with M-50 traffic rerouted onto Logan and Pottawatamie. All of this was to serve Tecumseh in 30 years with projected population of 30,000.

In June 1961, the city acquired the present Community Center on M-50 through a sizable donation from an anonymous citizen and the cooperation of Talon, Inc., former owners.

The $35,000 renovation provided the community with the Glass Room, which once contained power equipment, a 250-seat meeting room (before the stage was added) for civic groups and parking facilities for 250 cars.

The 8,000 sq. ft. on the second floor was to be for teen dances and parties and nearby pond for skating in winter.

The city assumed operating costs and Tecumseh's need for a civic auditorium seemed satisfied.

In Feb. 1968, plans were announced to tear down the Strand Theatre for a 13,000 sq. ft. addition to the Gambles store. A series of troubles plagued the theatre, combined with the poor health of the operator.

The Strand Theatre was originally a social hall, built in 1878 by public subscription, at $500 per share. Drive for $5,000 was completed in two weeks.

The Tecumseh Players, founded in 1959, performed in the Strand, the Odd Fellows Hall, Dawson Auditorium and most consistently, the Glass Room. The schools first asked to use the Glass Room for plays in 1968. The Jaycees Follies were previously held at the Strand or at the Croswell Theatre in Adrian.

In March 1969, plans were unveiled for a new high school and included an 800-seat auditorium with music center, swimming pool and 2,200 seat gym, 1,000 more than present one. Facilities were to be available to the public.

In Feb. 1970, voters in the Tecumseh School district vetoed the plan with a 3 to 1 margin. In 1968, Clinton Schools approved a school bond issue that included an auditorium and music room.

In Feb. 1972, plans for a new THS were reintroduced and defeated again in Feb. 1973. By Aug. 1973 Board decided not to return to the electorate.

A 1974 capital improvement mail survey by the Tecumseh Planning Commission showed that 16.8 percent of the 250 citizens responding said an auditorium was a need. 41.6 percent said it was desirable and 41.6 percent said it was unnecessary.

Tecumseh City Council set aside $2,000 of Sesquicentennial profits as a nest egg for an auditorium.

Oct. 1976 Town Meeting participants raised the idea again. Also in 1976, The Tecumseh Players reasserted its original goal to work for a community auditorium and established the Tecumseh Players Theatre Fund in March 1977 for public donations at the United Savings Bank. Players' first fund raiser was the children's theatre in June which netted $567. Players saved over $10,000 in 16 years.

In July 1977, the city accepted the free gift of the Bidwell Building. Paul Preston, assistant city manager and community development director, is investigating uses including commercial and civic, including a theatre.

'Bye Bye Birdie' Debuts

Kind but kidding words for teenagers are the keynote of the broadway musical comedy hit, "Bye Bye Birdie," which will come to roost at the Historic Croswell Opera House, downtown Adrian, opening July 27 for a 10 night run.

The humorous plot devised is that Birdie, about to be snatched to the army, will make a big farewell ceremony by kissing a random-chosen swooner as the cameras click.

The story of "Birdie" is also concerned with the tribulations of the song bird's manager, who is not only about to lose his most profitable client to the military, but is also caught in a cross-current set up by his sweetheart and his possessive mother.

Ed Glazier of Ann Arbor (Albert) and Pati Evans of Adrian (Rose) will star in this sly piece of needling contemporary American life, as the theatrical manager and the girl he means to marry — someday.

Reavis Graham will be seen as the undulating Birdie, Mary Ann Pullella of Toledo, (Kim) as the blue-jeaned miss chosen to get the goodbye kiss, Dick LaRowe of Morenci, (Hugo) as her jealous beau, Betsy Graham and John Evans (Mr. and Mrs. McAfee) as her exasperated parents.

Tecumseh area actors and actresses include Jeannie Johnstone, Judy Vanzo, Kathi Johnstone, Dave Bauman and Sue Mills, and Kelly and Kevin Williamson of Macon, Dean Shullick of Adrian, Dave Bauman of Tecumseh, Chris Cherry of Onsted and Steve Hokenson of Adrian, members of the Boys' Teen Chorus.

Songs add tunefulness to the comic fantasy directed by Steven C. Reynolds. Rochelle Wertenberger is choreographer and Robert A. Soller is scene designer.

The production runs Wednesday through Sunday for two weeks, closing on Aug. 7. Tickets are available by phoning 263-5674 between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

The Lenawee County Chamber of Commerce is hosting a "Hospitality Time" prior to the curtain time on opening night, July 27. Light refreshments will be served on E. Maumee St. near the front entrance of the Opera House.

Energy Is Program for Rotary

The United States energy needs will double by 1990. In order to fulfill increased energy needs without becoming greater dependent on oil imports, the United States must look to coal and nuclear generation of power in the future.

Donald Woodward, energy consultant for Consumers Power Co. outlined some of the problems and proposed solutions in the energy field for the Tecumseh Rotary Club at its weekly noon meeting Tuesday at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

He also indicated that there must be some relaxation of pollution control standards in order that utilities be allowed to use high sulfur coal for power generation.

Woodward pointed out that the United States is becoming increasingly dependent upon imported oil. Oil imports, according to Woodward, are now running about 45 percent of this country's usage and is growing.

On the other hand, Woodward asserted, the coal reserves of this country are estimated to approximately 500 years of national needs and the by-products of coal could almost replace those derived from oil.

Woodward concluded that the United States government must be realistic in the regulation of the use of coal and more realistic in the pricing structure of natural gas.

Further he pointed out Americans must conserve, but in the final analysis, a more sane governmental approach and a unified energy policy would be the most beneficial approach to the energy problem.

Woodward described how underground storage facilities are made and also described the power pool in which Comsumers Power participates. This power pool allows Consumers to draw power from as far away as Chicago, Ill. and Ontario in case of certain emergencies.

Guests at the Rotary meeting were J. Gilbert Purse, and Harvey and Don Kimpel.

Seminar Attended

Dr. Walter C. Elwartowski of Tecumseh just returned from Los Angeles, Calif., where he attended a special research seminar conducted by the Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation.

The recent July 13-14 event was the 230th Parker School for Professional Success Seminar and 26th PCRF homecoming. TV entertainer, Joey Bishop, hosted opening night activities.

Guest speakers included such notables as Dr. Hans Selye, author of the book Stress Without Stress; Dr. Emanuel Cheraskin, author of "Psycho-Dietetics" and "Diet and Disease"; Dr. Scott Haldeman, (neurology specialist) and Gail Sheehy, author of "Passages."

Relatives and friends are invited to attend an open house Aug. 7 from 3-7 p.m. at 12550 Neblo Rd. to celebrate Mrs. William Neblo's 75th birthday anniversary. Hosts are her children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Church and family of Leslie and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Neblo and sons of Jackson. Gifts are to be omitted.

34th Farm Safety Week

The 34th annual National Farm Safety Week has been proclaimed for the week of July 25-31. "Safety is a Good Investment" is the theme for this years observance.

This is the 34th consecutive year in which the nation has paid special tribute to farm safety as a means of reducing costly accidents that cut agricultural productivity and bring great personal loss to thousands of farm families annually.

TRANQUILITY

Mrs. Baxter looks as if she doesn't have a care in the world. She is always perfectly groomed. Her house and her garden, with its beautiful flowers, are always just so.

She isn't trying to give a false impression; in fact, she would be horrified at the thought. But the truth is that things have not been all that easy for her. Her husband is a semi-invalid; their only son was killed in a tragic accident. She works in her husband's business three days a week, to help keep things going.

Where does she get her serenity? How has she had the courage to accept so much adversity with so much grace? A friend asked her one day, and she pointed to the tall, white steeple at the end of the street.

Many people have found their answer in the Church. Have you looked there?

Forrest Haskels Caught in Johnstown Flood

By Maxine Calhoun

CLINTON—Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haskell, 12301 Collier Rd., have a tale to tell of their traumatic experience as they survived the flood in Pennsylvania last week.

It was just last Monday, when Forrest agreed to drive his mother, Mrs. Forrest Haskell Sr., of Plymouth, in her motor home, to St. Michaels, Pa. to visit other relatives.

Going along on the jaunt were the Haskell's two sons, Mark, 17, and Guy, 12, and two cousins.

The group were chatting until quite late Tuesday evening at the home of Forrest's aunt, Josephine Roberts in St. Michaels, Pa., near Johnstown.

During rain and lightning storm the electrical power went out. A big candle was lighted on the dining room table, and lanterns were carried to the second floor as the family retired for the night, after noting water seeping into the basement.

Although the house is located near a creek and only 30 yards from the Beaverdale Dam, they were unaware of the flood threat.

The family was alerted at 1 a.m., when a call came from the Haskell's daughter, Romona, in Clinton, and Mrs. Haskell discovered the water already rising on the first floor when she when down there to answer the telephone.

With three invalids over 70 years old and six youngsters, Forrest and Joan Haskell waited out the terrifying hours, while trapped inside the house.

Helplessly, they watched a neighbor go floating by, screaming for help, as well as dogs and skunks.

Water had risen to the second floor and they prepared to cut a hole in the attic roof with an axe, when the water started to recede.

Taken out of the house, Thursday, the group was able to obtain rooms in a nearby town, after wading through three-foot deep, oily mud slime on the main floor of the house.

The candle, which had stayed lighted on the table when it rose with the flood waters, still burned, safely, as the table settled down again when the water receded.

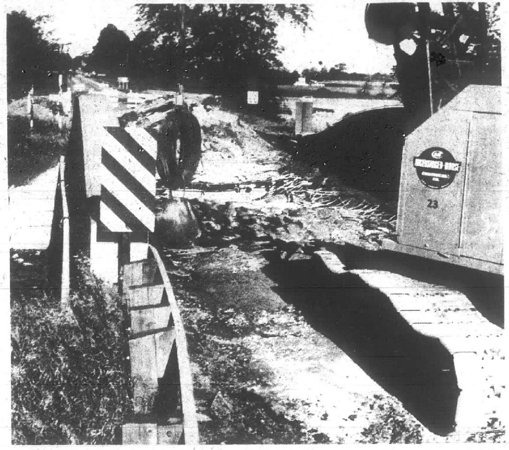
They were helped to a motel where they stayed a few nights.

Nearby, the Beaverdale Dam began to leak and they were warned to keep away when they tried to return to the property.

The Haskells and son, Guy, Mrs. Forrest Haskell Sr. and the other children returned to Michigan by rented car. The motor home was washed away. Mark Haskell remained to lend a hand with the cleanup in St. Michaels, Pa.

Although some 49 persons were reported dead in the flooding of that area, the Haskells learned that there were many more unidentified bodies reportedly at the nearby airport.

The Haskell boys were pursuaded to go along on this trip because they were promised they could see the monument to the "Johnstown Flood", which took place in 1886. . .They didn't see the monument!



HAVING A BALL — Bridge on W. Michigan Ave. in Clinton was built so well in 1925 that workmen are having trouble tearing it down to build a wider one. Crane operator swings a 3,000 lb. ball that "just bounces" as it strikes the well-reinforced guard rails. This bridge, 52 years ago, replaced an earlier, narrower iron bridge that matched another nearby on US-12, which crossed the old mill-race beside the former Clinton Woolen Mill, now DST, Inc. property. Mill race was phased out and filled in when Water Wheel Estates was built. New bridge will cross River Raisin.

Riverside Fence Bid Is Accepted

CLINTON — At a special meeting of the Clinton Township Board, July 19, bid was accepted for a fence at the west end of Riverside Cemetery.

Bid from Sears, for labor, material, and installation at a cost of $5,810 was approved.

A portion of the cost, $1,000 for 310 feet of the fence will be assumed by the St. Dominic's Catholic Church. Remainder will be shared 80-20 percent with the village council which had previously voted approval.

Fence will be green, galvanized posts, six-foot high with 18" bar and three strands of barbed wire.

Richard Dixon, representing the village council, brought up the matter of Oakmont Cemetery, located at the corner of Franklin and Currier Sts. Village has maintained the property, which only requires mowing, since it is not used for burials.

Village requested that the township assume the responsiblity of the cemetery. This is apparently only a technicality since the village will continue to keep the lawn mowed there. Township agreed to assume the responsibility.

Joe O'Donnell, sexton for the Riverside Cemetery, and George Lancaster, representing his insurance company, discussed the insurance needs for the newly restored stone chapel in the cemetery.

Township board voted $15,000 insurance coverage on the chapel building, and $5,000 on the new maintenance and office building.

Sexton O'Donnell will set a value on the contents of the chapel as they are received, and a "fine art" floater policy will be added to the insurance policy to protect historical objects.

Township board voted to use the federal anti-recession funds to pay the assessor's contract.

Harry Comstock was appointed to the committees on the Cemetery Board and Fire Board, vacated by Robert Winder.

Board noted that in the absence of a trustee, at a committee meeting, Supervisor Frank Gignac will assume the position, with voting power.

Milk Truck Flips

CLINTON — Lawrence C. Goodlock, 47, of Addison, was the driver of a milk hauler semi-truck which overturned on US-12 200 ft. west of Sharon-Hollow Rd., at 7:50 p.m. Saturday. Driver sought his own treatment.

The truck fishtailed in both lanes, then swerved back to the north shoulder and struck a guard rail.

Clinton and Sand Lake Fire departments were called to the scene.

Goodlock was cited for driving too fast.

In a related accident, Loretta Lefler, 24, of Belleville was eastbound on US-12, 200 ft. east of Monagin Hwy., when she came around a curve and observed vehicles ahead slowing and stopping for the westbound Goodlock truck out of control.

Lefler vehicle ran off the road on the left to avoid hitting an automobile ahead, then struck a guard rail and went down an embankment.

Driver was uninjured, however a passenger, David Begley, 21, of Ypsilanti was treated for minor injuries at Herrick Hospital.

No citation was issued by Clinton State Police.

Shearman Is Cited

CLINTON — Clinton State Police cited Peter T. Shearman of Austin Rd., Saline, for driving too fast, when his automobile struck a tree on Austin Rd. just east of Clinton-Manchester Rd., at 2:35 a.m. Sunday morning.

Driver told officers that bright lights of an oncoming car blinded him, causing him to run off the road.

Shearman was treated at Saline Hospital.

Receives $12 Million Order

CLINTON — The Budd Co. announced that its trailer division has received a $12 million order for 1,600 prepainted galvanized vans from Xtra, Inc., one of the nation's largest leasing firms.

Xtra plans to use the new Budd vans as part of its railroad piggyback trailer fleet.

The galvanized van, a new line recently introduced by Budd, features fully hardened galvanized panels which offer increased yield, tensile, and buckling strength than its aluminum counterpart. The galvanized van also has greater elasticity and puncture resistance.

The van's panels are treated with galvanized zinc coating, epoxy primer and acrylic finish coat for long lasting resistance to rust and corrosion.

36 Spreemans Hold Reunion

Osterhouts Are Feted

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osterhout were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening, with a buffet luncheon at their home, given by their children, Julie and Jeffrey.

Robert Osterhout and Elizabeth Mitchell were married July 19, 1952 in the Holloway Presbyterian Church by the Rev. John Marvin.

There were 130 relatives and friends who attended from Addison, Hudson, Clayton, Deerfield, Blissfield, Tecumseh, Bloomfield Hills and Britton.

As a surprise Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Schnell and sons arrived home after three years with the U.S. Army near Fairbanks, Alaska. Mrs. Schnell (Karen Mitchell) was the flower girl in her aunt's wedding.

Final Inspection Concerns Council

CLINTON — Occupancy of new residences before the final inspection by the building inspector, was a problem that concerned the Village Council at a meeting July 20.

Charles Wilson, building inspector, said that some of the houses violated safe building standards, and that some building was done before he had an opportunity to inspect various steps of the construction.

Council reminded Wilson that he had power to order parts of construction be torn down so he could inspect prior work, if he had been denied an opportunity to do so before.

Council will amend the enforcement of building permits.

Council must determine use of a public works grant of $69,000 within 28 days. This is an addition to an earlier grant of $144,000.

Possible uses of grant include curb and gutter on Tecumseh Rd.; improvements on Railroad St.; resurfacing of Franklin St. and possible access to Park. No decision was made.

Council authorized an amendment for the sewer plant grant design cost, to include waste heat recovery.

Trash pickup policy was discussed. Pickup will continue on Monday and Friday. Trash truck will not be loaned to any individual.

Council approved Village share of $400 for a fence at Riverside Cemetery.

Richard Sharpe reported that the village's number one lineman, Joe Jacobs has resigned. A replacement is sought.

A seven-acre plat in Oak Tree, Inc., originally designated as a park, continued to concern Council. Council wants to have the property extended to some of the existing lots, which the company contractors will not agree to.

Council has said that maintenance of such park property could become impossible to enforce in future years.

Next regular meeting is Aug. 8.

Ohio Chaplain Visits Immanuel Lutheran

BRITTON — The Rev. Harold A. Lindberg comes to Immanuel Lutheran Church of N. Blissfield July 31 for the 9 a.m. Sunday School and 10:15 a.m. worship services.

He is Chaplain of Medical College of Ohio Hospital in Toledo, serving a 187 bed facility. He is also full-time director of pastoral care, instructing seminarians and clergy who come to this teaching hospital.

All in the community are welcomed to the Sunday School and worship hours this Sunday, according to the local pastor, Karl Oelschlager, who, together with his wife, will attend the Lutheran Conference of Worship and Music at Concordia Lutheran College in Ann Arbor for about a week.

Reynolds Is Honored

BRITTON — Yvonne Reynolds was the guest of honor recently at a bridal shower, given by Arlene Weyher, Dawn Moore and Julie Osterhout.

Twenty-eight friends and relatives were seated at tables decorated with garden flowers at the fellowship center of the Congregational Christian Church.

Games were played and prizes awarded.

Refreshments were served from a linen covered table centered by an arrangement of garden flowers flanked by burning candles.

Miss Reynolds will become the bride of David Bigelow July 29 at the Ridgeway Church of the Nazarene.

Jennifer Baptized

BRITTON — Jennifer Lynn Filter, daughter of Mrs. David Filter and recently adopted by David Filter, was baptized at a family ceremony on Saturday afternoon at Grace English Lutheran Church in Tecumseh.

Pastor Kenneth Strack officiated at the baptism. Jennifer's sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Check of Parma.

After the baptism, a family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Filter on Ridge Highway.

State Representative John Mowat Questions AFDC Benefits to Strikers

To the Editor:

Is it fair to ask the citizens of Michigan, through their tax dollars, to pay for welfare benefits to people who are on strike? I do not believe it is. For this reason, I have requested that legislation be introduced which would prohibit people on strike from receiving benefits under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and General Assistance programs.

I am not against strikes or strikers. What I am opposed to is the present system where we are weakening the principles of collective bargaining by allowing strikers to collect welfare benefits.

Collective bargaining involves a private negotiation between two parties, both under economic stress, who must resolve their differences without government interference. Yet the government is interfering by subsidizing welfare benefits to strikers, thus relieving the economic stress to one of the parties involved in the bargaining. This is not fair to business nor the taxpayers in this State.

We must also consider both the direct and indirect costs which taxpayers incur when strikers are allowed to collect welfare benefits. During the General Motors strike in 1970, strikers collected more than $4 million in AFDC benefits over a four-month period, as well as over $10 million in Food Stamp benefits.

The costs due to declines in sales and income tax revenues when a large scale strike takes place were estimated to have amounted to $5 million per week during the 1970 General Motors strike. In November of that year, Flint's merchant business was down 25 to 30 percent, and the city was losing $110,000 a week in withholding taxes alone. These facts necessitated lay offs of city employees in Flint and several other Michigan cities.

The fact that strikers are able to collect welfare benefits, in addition to strike benefits, prolongs a strike since workers are not faced with as great of the economic hardships during the strike. In fact, it is often possible that the striker can collect as much in non-taxable welfare benefits as he could earn on his job. And, in addition to receiving AFDC benefits, the family is also eligible for Food Stamps, Medicaid, Emergency Assistance, School Lunch programs and some paid social services, which also increase costs to the taxpayers.

Union leaders argue that strikers are entitled to welfare benefits as a matter of right, since their tax dollars have contributed to welfare programs. Yet no individual has a right to any specific return from his taxes except the value of the benefits he receives as a citizen. Any childless taxpayer can attest to the fact there is no specific return from his property taxes which are used to support public schools. Welfare benefits are not a right, especially when one has chosen not to work.

In the interests of preserving the spirit of collective bargaining, strikers should not be allowed to collect welfare benefits. To do otherwise only discriminates against the taxpayers in this State, and I do not believe that is fair.

If you have any questions on this issue or would like to discuss it further, please feel free to call me.

Sincerely,
John S. Mowat, Jr.
State Representative

To the Editor:

Dear Marten:

On behalf of the Board of Education, Administration, faculty, and the community, please accept our most sincere appreciation for the recent financial support, by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Incorporated.

During the past three months, the foundation has contributed a total of $16,212.00 to the Tecumseh Public Schools, for the following community projects.

Project No. 1 Sound System in H. S. Gymnasium

Install a new sound system in the high school gymnasium. The total cost of this project was $3,000.00, with the foundation contributing $2,500.00 This project was completed in late May.

Project No. 2 Permanent Bleachers at Softball Field

Install permanent bleachers at the softball field with a seating capacity of 300. This project was completed in early July at a total cost of $9,932.00, with the foundation contributing $8,432.00, which represents the total cost of the bleachers.

The school district paid an additional $1,500.00 for site work prior to the completion of this project.

Project No. 3 Preservation of the Historical Collection-Public Library

Although the librarian, Ms. Harris, has corresponded with the foundation relative to this on-going project, I do want to acknowledge the magnitude of it. The initial project cost is $5,280.00, which is being financed entirely by the foundation.

The proposal presented to you by Ms. Harris in February was well planned and developed by her and the public library staff. The preservation of these many historical documents is a tremendous undertaking, and a never ending task. The contribution by the foundation sets the stage for an outstanding historical collection, which in time will be much appreciated and utilized by our citizens.

Annually, we are devoting budget appropriations to the preservation and upkeep of these historical documents, as recommended by the librarian.

Again our thanks to the foundation for its continued support, in an effort to assist us with making Tecumseh and the surrounding area a better place to live, learn and work.

Respectfully,
Gene Cooley
Assistant Superintendent

To the Editor:

May 31, 1934, there appeared in the Tecumseh Press an account of Elizabeth Wild (who married Dunn, Joseph Smith and Beekman) when she died in 1934 at age 102. There were also accounts in the Adrian papers at age 98 and age 100.

The remarkable fact was that her father, Samuel B. Wild, born in Isle of Man in 1759, came to Connecticut in 1770. In 1835, he took his third wife and six children from Connecticut and settled in Michigan.

Sincerely,
Christine W. Wilde
Mrs. Arthur Evans Wilde Jr.

P.S. Since Samuel B. Wild lived at Cambridge Junction in a log cabin that became Vollmer Farm 1934 (near Tipton) perhaps and obituary can be located on him (1842-1850), and his wife, Mahala Barney Wild.

Kindly give me information and-or fee concerning this question.

(Editor's note: Occasionally the Tecumseh Herald receives out-of-town requests for genealogical information such as this letter. This one is printed with the thought that any living, distant relatives or friends of the family may choose to correspond with Mrs. Wilde to help her further in her research.

Tecumseh Public Library director Deborah Harris told the Herald that it handles out-of-town requests such as these. Usually inquirers send 10 cents for each copy and sufficient postage to handle mailing which is appreciated. She said that it is also helpful when inquirers are as specific as possible with names and dates.

The Tecumseh Public Library has copies of the Tecumseh Herald from 1850 to present with some years missing in the later 1800's. It also has 10 years of the Tecumseh News from April 24, 1884 to March 29, 1894 and 1912 and 1914. These are not indexed.

Ione Weaver and Lynda Ellis, library volunteers did index the births, deaths and marriage and announcements in the Herald from 1850 to Sept. 16, 1886. At the present time, there is no one to continue.

To repeat a once successful plea, anyone who would like to make a contribution to their community may volunteer to work on the library's local history indexing project.

Tecumseh Public Library's collection has been recognized by Michigan State Librarian Francis X. Scannell as one of the fine ones in Lenawee County. Since it was started a few years ago, it has been heavily used by people inside and outside the community.

SACRED CONCERT HERE — Naphtali, a musical group representing Malone College in Canton, Ohio, will present a sacred concert at Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church on July 30, at 8 p.m. Youth activities begin at 5:30 p.m. Group also ministers Sunday at 11 p.m. Naphtali performs contemporary and traditional gospel music and is on a 10,000 mile, 10 week tour this summer. Its unusual name is found in Gen. 49:21, which says, "Naphtali: doe set free, which makes beautiful words."

'Storer Day'

The 60th consecutive summer of serving youth with camping at the same location near Jackson will be celebrated at YMCA Storer Camps on its 16th annual "Storer Day" Aug. 11.

The search is on for the earliest campers who were pioneers in summer camping in 1918, 1919 and 1920.

Anyone who has knowledge of campers in those early years may contact executive director Clark L. Ewing at Storer Camps, 536-8607.

"Storer Day" was instituted in 1962 to honor those who have served Storer Camps in unusually constructive ways and to dedicate buildings and other structures to those so honored.

Storer Camps began serving girls with summer camping in 1955 and built a separate girls camp across the lake from the camp for boys in 1968. The YMCA Camp now serves around 1,800 youth from first grade through high school in summer camping programs, including trips to all parts of the U.S. and Europe.

Ten Attend Day Camp

BRITTON — Mrs. Allan Bower and nine of her fourth grade Camp Fire girls attended day camp the week of July 11-14. Camp was held at the fire cabin at Lake Adrian, sponsored by the Tuckabatchee Council, under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Vargo.

Mrs. Bower was counselor and accompanied the girls each day.

Wednesday night the girls slept in tents. Thursday a Council Fire was held and each girl received her honor beads she had earned.

Besides earning 88 beads, they also learned a fire tender, high adventure, and day camp and conservation patches.

The girls learned songs and made new friends.

Girls attending were Andrea Bower, Cindy Boike, Sarah Bush, Nickie Cook, Michele Jordan, Deanna Osborne, Coleen Spence, Shelly Pickell and Patty Willart.

JC's and Kiwanis Go Down to Wire

Major League

Beginning the last full week of play the race for first looks like a two team race which could go down to the last game of the season.

JC's had two games and won one and lost one. They still hold a half game lead over Kiwanis. The loss was to Tecumseh Plywood who became the giant killers so far this season.

That was Plywoods first victory as they came from behind in extra innings to get the win. After six innings the game was tied 3-3. In the top of the seventh inning, JC's scored two runs to take a commanding 5-3 lead.

But this was Plywood's night as they fought back and pounded out five hits for three runs.

Eric Thornton, John Tressler, Bill Russell, Norm Anspach and Tim Smith were the five hitters.

JC's came back later in the week defeating Credit Union 6-3. Ken Kurziniec came in to pitch in the second inning and allowed only two hits. One of those hits was a home run by Brian Sowle.

Kiwanis stayed hot on JC's trail with a 9-8 hand on victory over UPW. John Gould had three singles and Mike Brown had two hits for Kiwanis. Jeff Barnes was two for two for UPW.

Police got one victory defeating Credit Union 9-5. Jim Hite pitched three innings striking out eight. Also Jim had two hits for Police. Police did lose 8-6 later in the week to UPW.

Deerfield Upsets Airport Bowl, 6-4

After two weeks of being rained out, the Ladies Slo-pitch League finally got caught up over the weekend. Friday night's games were those scheduled for July 11.

In the first game, Deerfield Co-op took on Ive's Body Shop and defeated them 22-7. Deerfield was in complete control for the entire game, but broke loose in the fourth for 10 runs to put the game out of reach for Ives.

Saunders and Rothfuss led the way for Deerfield with round trippers and McElroy and Berry each collected two hits for the losers.

The second game of the evening put the number one and number two placed teams against one another. Airport Bowl sat on the top of the league with a 5-0 record and Dundee Products was 4-1 — their sole loss to Airport.

Airport proved to be too much for Dundee as they beat them 15-9. The victors jumped ahead in the first inning and the lead exchanged hands in the fourth but Airport came back with a Betsy Owens grand-slam homerun to put the victory out of Dundee's reach. Every Dundee player reached base safely.

In the night cap, Doc's Frame and Axle easily defeated DST 33-12. DST has a 0-6 record for the season. The game stayed close until the fourth and fifth innings when Doc's broke away and put it completely out of reach for DST in the seventh by crossing the plate nine times.

Saturday morning games were those scheduled for July 18. DST and Dundee Products were billed against one another in the mornings' first match and both were coming off tough losses from the night before.

Dundee Products proved to be too much for DST by beating them in only five innings 23-0. It was a hitter's delight for Dundee as each team member scored once.

Wittkoph pitched a three-hitter for Dundee.

In the middle game, Doc's Frame & Axle defeated Ive's Body Shop 20-3. The contest remained close until the third inning when Doc's scored eight times and then played a defense game by allowing Ive's only three hits the rest of the game.

Baugh was the winning pitcher and the leading hitter with four singles.

The upset of the season was Saturday when Deerfield Co-op handed Airport Bowl their first loss of the season 6-4.

Deerfield played excellent ball offensively and defensively the entire game and made only one error. Airport hit the ball but right to the Deerfield fielders. Deerfield scored three of their six runs in the first inning and the remaining ones in the third.

Airport threatened in three different innings, but never could come through with them. McWilliams was the winning pitcher and Oxley picked up her first loss.

Handley and Merchants Are All Tied Up At 5-2 Each

Tuesday League

Tuesday night league still has a tight race going. There are two teams tied for first and two teams only one game behind.

United Savings Bank stayed close with an 11-4 triumph over Local 429. Mel Pardee was the leading hitter for United Savings Bank with three hits while Ron Baxter added a homerun.

In the second game, Tecumseh Merchants scored eight times in the third inning and went on to defeat Clinton merchants 10-2. Doug Wilcox, Mark Murphy, and Dick Schimmel all had three hits to pace the 19-hit Tecumseh Merchants attack. Also Mark Murphy and Mark Goodacre each smacked a roundtripper.

The final game of the evening was a 16-6 win for Handley over Tractor Village. Doug Duval had a perfect evening at the plate with five singles for five times at bat. Gary Judkins chipped in with three to help the 20-hit attack.

Wednesday League

The Wednesday night dogfight between VFW and Loggers continues both posting victories.

First, VFW made short work of Faraday 22-7 in five innings. VFW had 24 hits paced by Jim Pawlowski who had four hits, and Scott Edwards, Gordie Whelan, Jim DeLisle, and Steve Kruger all with three hits a piece. Bill Smith also smacked a roundtripper.

For Faraday, Mike Raymond and Kenny Wagner slapped three hits each.

In the second game, Iott's stayed close by running past Wagon Wheel 11-3. Chuck Risner led the team with four hits, including a homerun. Dan Iott had three safeties of which one was a grand slam homerun.

For Wagon Wheel, Bob Bivens hit one over the fence.

In the finale, Erb's Chevrolet gave Loggers a scare but Loggers exploded for eight runs in the seventh inning to bury Erb's 18-10. Don Eaton and Dave Pray each had four hits of which one was for the distance. Loggers had 25 hits to go with their 18 runs. Tom Richter had three hits for Erb's.

Thursday Night games were rained out and will be played Friday, July 29.

Going to Valparaiso

Bill Lutz, Most Outstanding Player for the Britton-Macon High School football team last season, has notified Valparaiso University coach Bill Kosh that he will enroll at the Indiana school this fall.

Lutz, a linebacker, was captain of the Tories last fall and was a unanimous choice to the Tri-County All-Stars as a linebacker.

V.U. assistant football coach Don Drinkhahn stated, "Bill was a linebacker in a 5-2 defense, but has the ability to play outside of our basic 4-3. We are expecting him to give us needed depth in that position."

Berkley Victorious In Open

Tecumseh's Bill Berkley won the Macon Open Saturday with a two-over-par 74.

Berkley shot a 74 and 69 earlier in the week to card a 217 total. The 69 was the only below-par round of the tourney.

Keith Richardson was second at 222 while Mike Weber finished third at 223.

The tourney was a medal play event, previously match play. Berkley won the first match play men's tournament at Macon some ten years ago.

Robert G. Miller and John Travis, both of Tecumseh, won the second and third flights respectively. Miller carded rounds of 87, 81 and 79 for a 247 total while Travis shot 89, 89 and 83 for a final tally of 261.

Ottawa in Lead

Pony League

Ottawa stayed on top this week and Gaston's kept the pressure on by gaining two victories each.

Ottawa first defeated LaVoy 6-2. Tony Hoard was the winning pitcher and leading hitter with two safeties.

Their second victory was a 5-1 win over VFW. Derek Nahabedian was the winning pitcher striking out 14 and giving up only one hit. Ryan Szymanski was Ottawa's leading hitter with two hits. Jeff Butler had the lone single for VFW.

Gaston's two victories were over LaVoy and UPW. The winning pitcher in the LaVoy game was Marty Wallich.

The other game had VFW downing UPW 8-6. Greg Langmeyer was the winning pitcher.

Dave Graf Wins Junior Tourney

Tecumseh golfer Dave Graf won the 1977 Woodlawn Junior tournament finishing up Friday with a 218 total.

Graf started the tournament with a three-under-par 69 last Wednesday shooting a 77 on Thursday and an even par 72, Friday.

His nearest competitor was Mark McNitt six shots back at 224.

Scott MacDonald of Tecumseh lost a sudden death playoff against Rick McNeil of Clayton to take the second spot in the second flight. McDonald and McNeil both carded a 268 total after regulation play.

3-Man Scramble Sunday

Raisin Valley Golf Club three-man best ball scramble tournament will be July 31 at 8 a.m.

Teams must call by Saturday July 30 to qualify for play.

Raisin Valley is also preparing to conduct its yearly Club Flight Tournament.

Names must be in by Aug. 1. Those entering must be club members or have a league handicap from Raisin Valley Golf Club this season.

3 TCC Golfers Place in Tourney

Maurine Hannibal and T.C. Roekle were members of a four-man team that took second place in the third flight at the 12th annual Washtenaw Invitational last Thursday and Friday.

Hannibal and Roekle teamed up with Sue Marsh and Doris Adams from Washtenaw County to card a 258 total for the two day best-ball tourney.

A team including Ginger Burrington of Tecumseh also took second in its respective flight.

The tournament was held at Washtenaw Country Club in Ann Arbor.

Trip for Senior Citizens

Tecumseh Recreation Department is sponsoring a Senior Citizens trip to the Ohio-Kentucky area on August 14-18.

Trip will include stays and tours in Chillicothe, Shaker Village, Bardstown, Cave City, and Louisville.

Highlights of the trip: famous outdoor epic of "Tecumseh"; Stephen Foster Story, 'America's Favorite Outdoor Musical'; a ride on the Belle of Louisville, a 2½ hour cruise on the scenic Ohio River.

All area senior citizens are invited. Contact the Recreation Department Office at 423-5602 for further information.

Britton Girls Post 4-1 Record

BRITTON — July 12 Britton traveled to Manchester, defeating Manchester I, 14-11. Judy Frayer chalked up another win for her team. Jody Smith chipped in with a double, while teammates Carrie Farmer and Shannon Shelton both had triples.

Shortstop Lee Ann Price made an outstanding unassisted double play at second, while Julie Kniffen paced the Torie girls with three hits in a 14 hit attack.

July 20, Britton suffered its first loss of the season, losing to Tecumseh by a score of 9-16.

Jill Smith went the distance for the losing cause.

Sandy Judkins was the leading hitter with three safeties. Britton now stands 4-1 in the league.

Movies Shown at Center

Outdoor family movies are shown at the Community Center every Wednesday evening at 9:30.

Schedules are available by calling the Recreation Department at 423-5602.

Hammack Scores Ace

Complete listing of the teams and their game times can be obtained from the Recreation Department.

43 TCC Women in LCC Tourney

Ladies from Tecumseh Country Club were guests of Lenawee Country Club on Wednesday, July 20. Forty three ladies from Tecumseh and forty five from Lenawee took part in the golf tournament.

After lunch, prizes were presented to the following winners.

Tecumseh: Maurine Hannibal, first low gross; Allee Collins, second low gross; Ruth Jobes, first low net; Ann Dodd, second low net; Joan Tucker, first low putts; Jean Merz, second low putts.

Lenawee: Ann Wynn, first low gross; Peg Edmunds, second low gross; Carol Siler, first low net; Betty Schwyn, Myrtle Hadden and and Hazel Howard tied for second low net; Jean Horvath and Wannetta Boersma tied for low putts.

Playground Activities Continue

Playgrounds are held each weekday from 10 a.m. - 12 noon and 1 p.m. - 3 p.m. at four locations: Tecumseh Acres, Scout Cabin, Patterson, and Herrick Park.

Some of the activities include field trips, games and arts and crafts. Last week was highlighted by opening a fire hydrant at the Community Center. Everyone, including the supervisors, were drenched.

Santa Claus made an appearance at the annual Christmas in July party last Friday and distributed gifts to all the kids.

This week's highlight is putt-putt golfing. Playgrounds are open to elementary school age children.

Waiting List For Trip

Tecumseh Recreation Department will sponsor a camping trip to the Mackinaw area and Mackinaw Island on August 2-5 for junior and senior high school students.

The trip is full at the present time; however, we will take names on our waiting list.

Nurses Ratify New Agreement

Herrick Memorial Hospital and the Michigan Nurses Association, representing the registered nurses, reached a settlement for a three year working agreement. It was ratified Monday.

Negotiations on salary and professional issues started in March.

"The nurses received a reasonable economic package. They have had no salary increase since 1975," said an employee news release.

Starting salary for full-time registered nurses per hour is $5.70 with $6.32 maximum in the first year of the contract, starting salary for second year $6, $6.65 maximum, starting salary for third year $6.30, $6.95 maximum.

According to the employee release, "The main concern of the nurses was its goal to provide adequate and skilled patient care and the hospital agreed by subsidizing continuing education and attendance to seminars and workshops by nurses."

Agreement is the hospital will pay 50 percent for a maximum of six credit hours per semester for each nurse. It will also pay for registration costs to attend a seminar or workshop related to work, not to exceed $30 per seminar and no more than two seminars per year.

Other professional issues negotiated included the role of the nurse which clearly defines the responsibilities of both the nurses and the hospital.

A related professional issue was the establishment of a nursing care committee to discuss problems and recommed solutions.

New Office Is Opened by Chamber

The Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce announced the opening of its new office located at 125 W. Chicago Blvd. in the Glover Real Estate office.

Office will be open Monday, Tuesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Wednesday afternoon from one to five p.m.

Monday, Tuesday and Friday the secretary for the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce, Joyce Gould, will staff the office.

Wednesday afternoon, Community Development Director, and Assistant City Manager, Paul Preston, will help staff the office.

The new phone number is 423-3740 and in addition to those hours already mentioned the phone will be answered by staff members of the Glover Real Estate One, with messages answered daily except for Thursdays when the office will be closed.

"We welcome all calls and questions, and we hope to provide a 'personal' service to our community", said Roger Proctor, vice president of the chamber of commerce.

Helms Park Benefit Is Here Sunday

A benefit for the Dyke Helms Memorial Park fund will be held Sunday when Tecumseh Jaycees will be manning the ice cream machines at the Dairy Deluxe, across from St. Peter's Episcopal Church on N. Evans St.

Through the cooperation of Bill Groulx, Dairy Deluxe owner, the Jaycees will operate the machines with all profits going to the fund.

All area residents are urged to make their purchase from noon to six o'clock, Sunday afternoon, Aug. 7th.

In addition, a coupon on page 14 of The Herald will enable an individual, or a family, to free topping or dip-top on any ice cream purchase.

Mr. Helms, a former businessman and a long-time member and officer of the Jaycees, died suddenly from a heart attack on May 14.

DIANN ANSCHUETZ

New Director Is Appointed for Seniors

Diann Anschuetz of 502 Seneca is the new program director for the senior citizens of the Tecumseh site at the Tecumseh Community Center. Diann replaces Christine Fliss who is taking maternity leave.

Diann and her husband, Gerald, have three children, Cindy, 13, Jerry, 11 and Vicky, 8. They have resided in Tecumseh approximately 11 years. Gerald is employed by Grinnell Fire Protection at the Toledo office.

Diann said that she has "many interests including crafts" She said, "The senior citizens have suggested many new activities that they'd like to do so we'll go with the majority." She suggested that senior citizens stop in to meet her.

"I like older people. It is a challenge to help people. My parents are senior citizens and I realize how much they sometimes need help."

Diann is active in the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary and is a member of Grace Lutheran Church. She formerly worked at Stauffer Chemical. More recently, she worked as a substitute aide at Lenawee Institute.

Diann recommended that any senior citizens that have questions regarding the senior citizen programs, including meals and transportation, should call her at Tecumseh site at 423-5939.

GRANT IS REJECTED

City Faces Loss of $312,000

As the Herald goes to press, the fate of Tecumseh's $312,000 appropriation of federal public works funds is uncertain. Local officials, however, are hopeful that funds will be finally approved after resubmission of the city's plans.

Monday night city manager Cal Zorn informed Council that the application was rejected on the basis of a technicality. However, the city since learned it has until Friday to re-apply.

City's plans for the Russell Road project from Rogers to Mill, including the bridge, were vetoed by the Chicago regional office of the Economic Deveeopment Administration due to "a technicality."

Manager Zorn was notified by phone Thursday that city's project would not be acceptable because it included some channel work at the bridge. Public works funds may not be used for dredging, channelling or dam projects.

Zorn told the Herald that of $573,000, the total cost of that portion of the Russell Rd. project less than $1,000 was related to channel work. "It is absolutely asinine, the whole thing," Zorn told Council Monday night.

Official notice of the appropriated monies was received a month ago.

McLravy engineering firm of Lansing, which completed plans for at least three other city bridges, was preparing the new plans for the city, minus the channel work. Chicago office told Zorn to resubmit the plans with a letter of explanation.

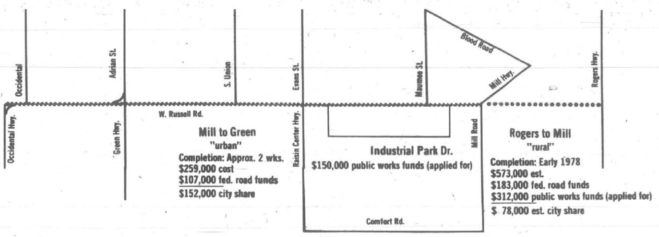
City also applied for public works funds for the industrial park drive, estimated cost of $150,000. No word has been received on that application.

Both the completion of the Russell Rd. project from Rogers to Green Hwy. and the industrial park drive are important to the city's plans for industrial park development.

Urban section of Russell Rd. from Mill to Green Hwy. is expected to be completed in about two weeks, much sooner than original Nov. 1 target date.

Delay in public works funds, however, will hold up completion of the Russell Rd. bridge, originally thought to be completed by early 1978.

Without the $312,000, the city's share of the project will rise and probably be raised through bonds. City is now only sure of $183,000 through federal aid road secondary funds for the Rogers to Mill section of Russell Rd.



Police Cite 3 in High Speed Chase, Accidents

Tecumseh police wished the accidents were fender benders this week, but they weren't. In four separate incidents, police cited three drivers, took part in a high speed chase, and sent one woman to Herrick Hospital to be treated for minor injuries after she collided with a second auto Friday.

A resume of those accidents includes:

July 28 - Frank J. Laburn, 57, of 700 Waskins, told police he backed his auto into a parked car as he left his parking space at the curb of Maumee Street. Parked auto belonged to Charlene A. Langmeyer, 54, of 411 E. Logan.

July 29 - Police ticketed Jeffrey A. King, 22, of 9103 N. Union, for speeding after he and police were involved in a high speed chase. King was reportedly traveling in excess of 70 mph on Union. He then turned into Paul's Trailer Court.

King turned left inside and struck a parked car belonging to James A. Graham of Brooklyn. The Graham auto was driven 36 feet forward and struck a third auto owned by Orville E. Bush, of New York state.

King reportedly fled after the accident, as police sight of his jeep. The vehicle was found a few minutes later in a bordering corn field.

July 29 - Edward J. Spychaia, of Maumee, Ohio, was cited for failing to have his vehicle under control after he hit his brakes on southbound N. Evans and slid into a northbound auto. Barbara G. Scheffler, 33, of Clinton could not avoid the accident. She was treated at Herrick Hospital for scratches.

Aug. 1 - Paul S. Wegner, 22, of 1402 E. Monroe, was cited for failing to yield when turning left when he pulled in front of Jesse V. LaVoy, 47, of 8574 Loire Valley Dr. LaVoy was eastbound on W. Chicago and Wegner westbound on Chicago, turning to S. Evans when the two collided.

Favor Retailer

Three members of the Tecumseh Council reaffirmed their belief Monday night that the city should seek a retail establishment for the Bidwell Building, corner of S. Evans and W. Chicago Blvd., a recent gift to the city.

"I'm of the firm opinion that we should get a commercial interest to take it over. Possibly give them the building if they will restore and use it. We should get it back on the tax rolls," said Mayor Harold Easton.

In agreement, were Councilman Carlton Cook and Councilwoman Mary Bowers.

Gladys Robideau gave the city the building with no strings attached. Her perference was use as a cultural center.

Idea of first floor commercial use and renovation for second and third floor as a theatre or civic auditorium was also suggested by Council members and citizens.

Chamber is developing a retail committee to develop retail business in Tecumseh and may be able to assist the city, in finding a suitable occupant, suggested Paul Preston, assistant city manager and community development director working on the project.

Kids Have Fun Learning Golf from TCC Professional

About 30 youngsters, ranging in ages nine to 14, completed two months of golf instructions Friday from Stan Brion, golf professional at the Tecumseh Country Club.

The youngsters not only learned some pointers of the game but had fun doing it, and from one of the game's longest hitters.

Brion, former touring pro, took the youngsters, both boys and girls, through all the phases of golf, including the miserable sand trap shots shown above. Lessons were given Tuesday and Friday mornings.

TCC pro will be in California Sunday to participate in the PGA's annual driving contest, which will be held Monday and Tuesday. Contestants will be allowed five hits Monday with the best advancing to the finals on Tuesday. Brion has been a finalist in the past.

The contest will be held at the famed Pebble Beach Country Club.

Indian Fan Club Drive Is Underway

Annual drive to raise funds for the high school athletic programs is underway by the Indian Fan Club.

Contributions are being sought from business, industry and professional people in the community.

The Indian Fan Club provides support and financial assistance for camps, banquets, equipment and other related functions and needs.

Officers are: Ron Wisner, president; Bob Robinson, vice president; Irene Allen, secretary; Earl Egbert, treasurer.

Tom Jacoby, Buck Smith, Lois Tilton and Marilyn Hans, all trustees.

Questions Loitering

Loitering is very difficult to control, city attorney Greg Forsthoefel told Council Monday night.

However, there are existing city ordinances, relative to littering, malicious destruction and disorderly persons, that may be used to curb some of the activity caused by loitering, the attorney told them.

Councilwoman Mary Bowers raised the subject of loitering and debris. She received complaints from citizens. "Most destruction comes because they are loitering," Mayor Harold Easton pointed out.

FOCUS
on City Government

By Paul L. Preston, Jr.

Tecumseh's Assistant City Manager and Community Development Director

PUBLIC SERVICES

Public services encompass a number of different city functions, streets, sewer and water.

WATER

It is somewhat difficult to make the subject of water and sewer interesting but one only has to look to the West and South to see how important it is. The city has at the present time seven operating wells capable of pumping five million gallons a day. The city is presently pumping about 1.3 million gallons a day or a total of forty million gallons a month. The water is purified and fluoride is added prior to transmission to users. The city has two storage tanks holding a total of four hundred twenty-five thousand gallons.

SEWER

The city's waste disposal system processes nearly 1.1 million gallons of waste a day. Of this amount nearly one third comes from Tecumseh Products and Fisher Body. The plant is capable of processing 1.4 million gallons a day. The system is very efficient, removing 98% of all solids. Due to the stringent state and federal requirements for waste removal the city will be required to further expand the system to ensure the proper removal of all phosphorus from the waste. This expansion will cost an estimated two and a half million dollars. The funds for the expansion will come from a 75% federal grant, 5% state grant and the remaining 20% from the city.

There are a total of nine employees in both the sewer and water departments with a total annual budget of $309,100. Two thirds of all revenue comes from water sales and sewage surcharge. One of the largest expenditures is forty thousand dollars for electrical power to run the wells and treatment plant.

STREETS

The city has nearly thirty-eight miles of street. When Tecumseh became a city in 1954 there were very few paved streets, most were seal coated (a layer of crushed rock covered with a thin layer of oil). Since that time nearly all the streets have had curb, gutter and asphalt paving installed. A number of years ago the city council approved a one mill levy for the installation of street improvements each year.

There are essentially two methods of financing the installation of street improvements. When a new subdivision is developed it is the responsibility of the developer to put in all street improvements. Needless to say this cost is then passed on to the buyer of the property. Where streets exist, but where there is no curb and gutter, the property owners are assessed for the installation of curb and gutter. The assessment process can be initiated by either the city or the property owner in the form of a petition.

A good majority of the existing streets in the city were done through this assessment process. The property owner is normally given three years to pay his share at no interest. The city then picks up the rest of the cost through its normal street funds. The city street department has six employees. The total street budget is two hundred seventy thousand dollars. Of this amount one hundred thirty-eight thousand or approximately one-half comes from the state gas and weight taxes with the remainder coming from local taxes and special assessments.

One of the two major street improvements to be undertaken within the next year is the extension of Russell Road to Rogers Highway to include a bridge over the Raisin River. This project is to be funded by a federal Local Public Works Grant. The other major project will be the installation of certain street and utility improvements in the Industrial Park, also to be financed by a Local Public Works Grant. The total federal grant for these two projects is six hundred forty-seven thousand dollars.

WILLIAM MUKENSTURM

Services are 2 p.m. Thursday at the Purse Funeral Home for William Alger Mukensturm, 61, of 215 W. Logan St. who died at 3 a.m. Aug. 2 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ypsilanti. He was a patient there since July 20.

Mukensturm was born Feb. 20, 1916 in Deerfield. He was a lifelong resident of Lenawee County. He managed the J.J. Walper and Son Elevator of Britton where he worked for 40 years.

He attended Eastern Michigan University and was a veteran of World War II where he served in the South Pacific.

Mukensturm was a charter member of the Hall-Slater Post of the Tecumseh VFW and a member of the Tipton Knights of Pythias and Tecumseh Masonic Lodge.

Survivors are three brothers, Ronald and Donald, both of Tecumseh and Robert of Aurora, Ill. and 7 nieces and nephews.

One brother preceded him in death.

The Rev. Max Bailey will officiate and burial will be in the Tipton Cemetery.

Military graveside services will be conducted by the Tecumseh VFW.

VERN ERNEST ROE

Services were at St. Joseph Catholic Church Aug. 2 for Vern Ernest Roe, 84, who died at Hillhaven Convalescent Center, Adrian, where he was a patient for nine months.

Local survivors include Donna Roe and Ed Roe of Tecumseh, grandchildren.

Roe was a blacksmith at the Lenawee County Fairgrounds for 30 years and retired in 1972. He kept racing horses and entered them on the local circuit.

BEATRICE DONALDSON

Services were July 20 at the Winchester Funeral Home, Charlevoix for Beatrice Donaldson, 65, of Ellsworth who died July 17 at Little Traverse Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Survivors include five daughters, including Mrs. Dermont (Barbara) Poley of Tecumseh, five sons, three brothers, two sisters.

A son and her husband Levi preceded her in death.

Any memorial may be sent to the Missionary Church in East Jordan.

GEORGE KIELWASSER

Graveside services were July 30 at Brookside Cemetery for George Kielwasser, 76, of Ann Arbor, who died July 28 at St. Joseph's Hospital after a brief illness.

He was a former resident of Tecumseh, living there with his wife, the late Marian Brooks Kielwasser.

Survivors are a son, daughter and two sisters.

NATHAN BROWN

Services were Aug. 1 at the Jenter Funeral Home, Manchester, for Nathan Brown, 70, of Ft. Pierce, Fla., formerly of Manchester, who died July 28.

He is survived by six sons, including Harold of Tecumseh; four daughters, including Evelina Jurasek of Clinton; four brothers, including Justin and Knowlton, both of Clinton and two sisters.

Burial was in Washtenaw Memorial Park, Ann Arbor.

ELIZABETH G. SEEGER

Services were Aug. 1 at the Brintlinger-Pershing Funeral Home in Decatur, Ill. for Elizabeth G. Seeger, 69, of Decatur, Ill. who died at the Decatur Memorial Hospital at 10:17 p.m. July 28.

Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery, Decatur, Ill.

She was a former employee of Motor State Products Co. in Ypsilanti and attended Grace Lutheran Church, Tecumseh.

She is survived by her husband and a daughter and three grandchildren.

Investigate 24 Reports

Tecumseh police found this past week to be their busiest yet this year as they checked into 24 complaint reports, including the third B&E of the high school in as many weeks. They also investigated two stolen automobile reports and made seven arrests involving alcohol.

In the first of two stolen auto reports, Ed J. Biscupski, 512 Seneca, reported his auto stolen from the high school midmorning last Wednesday. Police found the auto at the corner of Ives Rd. and Green Hwy. They do have three juvenile suspects in the case.

Sunday, Thomas Caizada, 18, of 907 Murray Dr., was arrested for unlawfully driving away a vehicle after James Wright, 1000 Shady Lane reported his vehicle missing. Lenawee police found the Wright vehicle on Dinius Road and turned Calzada over to Tecumseh police.

Monday, officers on patrol found two rear doors at THS were opened by breaking the windows. One of the doors lead only into the locker room area. The second provided entrance into the entire school, but nothing appears to have been disturbed or taken.

Those arrested for alcohol related incidents this week include:

July 29 - Johnny P. Diaz of Adrian was arrested on drunk and disorderly charges after police found him passed out behind the wheel of his car in an alleyway of the city's southwest parking lot.

Talking It Out

ROGER PROCTOR

'What should I look for in a nursing home?"

People often tell us about their experiences with nursing homes. We have some very fine ones in our city and these are just some of the things to look for in choosing a nursing home.

1. Consult first with your doctor as to the particular type and amount of care required.

2. Visit the facility yourself, alone.

3. Does the home provide all the services your doctor requires?

4. If the patient is dependent on Medicare or Medicaid, does the nursing home participate in both programs?

5. Obtain and read the "patient's Bill of rights." This is posted conspicuously and gives the regulations necessary to be certified for Medicare and Medicaid.

6. Who is the "house" doctor? Is he available on Staff or on-call 24-hours? How many registered nurses?

7. Are emergency patient transfers to a hospital provided for? How far away is it?

8. What is the exact total monthly covered and what is and is NOT covered? Is a written basic service agreement available?

Be sure to discuss with the patient's doctor other special services he may require -- special diet, exercise, personal attention, etc.

Sharon Wenzel, Jack Curtiss Are United

Sharon Kay Wenzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wenzel, of Dundee and Jack Mohr Curtiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Curtiss of Tipton were married July 22 at 7 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church in Dundee with the Rev. F. M. Hedwall officiating.

MRS. JACK CURTISS

Mrs. Richard Addy was organist and Roxanne Cangealose and Charles Justice were soloists.

For the candlelight wedding, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza with Guipure lace accenting the wedding ring neckline, bishop sleeves and bodice of the gown. The A-line skirt swept into a cathedral train with sat-a-peau and lace at the hemline.

Her tiered veil with blusher was secured by a Camelot headpiece. She carried a colonial nosegay of white roses, stephanotis, lavendar and ice blue miniature carnations with springeri fern.

Mrs. John Curth of Tecumseh was the matron of honor attired in a sheer nylon floral print dress with scooped neckline with an over the shoulder ruffle and ruffle on the bustle of the skirt, flowing around to the bottom.

She carried a matching parasol with an arrangement of lavender and ice blue carnations, baby's breath and springeri fern.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gordon Wenzel of Dundee, the bride's sister-in-law, and Susie Keinath of Dundee. They were attired the same as the matron of honor.

Stacy Wenzel, the bride's cousin, was the miniature bride in a similar bridal gown of white organza and lace. She carried flowers identical to the bride's.

Jimmy Steffen, the groom's nephew, was the ring bearer.

John Curth of Tecumseh was the best man.

Bruce Costigan of Dewey Lake and Gordon Wenzel, the bride's brother of Dundee were ushers.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the United Products Workers Union Hall. The tiered wedding cake with fountain in the center was baked by the bride's mother and aunt and served by Mrs. James Steffen of Clio and Beth Curtiss of Bend, Ore., the groom's sisters.

Out of town guests came from Utica, Flat Rock, Wyandotte, Allen Park, Trenton, Detroit, Monroe, Clio and Sault St. Marie, Montpelier, Ohio and Bend, Ore.

The new Mrs. Curtiss is a graduate of Dundee High School and Alexandra Beauty College of Ypsilanti. Mr. Curtiss is a Tecumseh High School graduate, attended Northwestern Community College at Traverse City, is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. and attends Jackson Community College.

The newlyweds plan to reside in Tecumseh following a wedding trip to Quebec, Canada.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their Evans Lake home.

Jan Snyder and James Hunt Wed

Family members and friends gathered at the First United Presbyterian Church in Tecumseh July 30 at 4 p.m. for the marriage of Jan Elizabeth Snyder to James L. Hunt.

Pastor Edmond I. Watkins officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Snyder, 4066 Aebersold Dr. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hunt, 1018 River Acres Dr.

Peggy Jo Raeburn was the organist and Patricia Lam, the groom's sister was the soloist.

Two yellow roses were placed on the altar in memoriam for the bride's grandfathers, Charles W. Howe and Oscar E. Snyder, who died this year, and in memoriam for the groom's grandfathers.

For her wedding, the bride wore a candlelight gown of Qiana. The sleeveless gown was styled with a V-neckline and diamond shaped insert at the waist of pale blue Qiana overlayed with hand beaded ivory lace. The gown was made by the bride's sister-in-law, matron of honor Judy Lee Snyder.

The bride's jewelry was a ruby lindy star ring, a gift from the groom and a diamond necklace belonging to his mother. An arrangement of silk flowers adorned the bride's hair. She carried a bouquet colonial of mixed flowers with white tea roses.

Matron of honor Judy Lee Snyder of Tecumseh wore a yellow Qiana gown with butterfly sleeves, mandarin collar and capelet of yellow dotted swiss.

Silk flowers were arranged in her hair and she carried a bouquet similar to the bride's with yellow streamers.

Nancy Lee Snyder, the bride's niece, of Tecumseh, was attired in a yellow cotton dress with puff sleeves, topped with a yellow dotted swiss pinafore. She wore flowers in her hair and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Matthew Lam, the groom's nephew of Battle Creek, was the ring bearer. He wore a pale yellow linen jacket and knee pants and knee socks.

Robert Hunt, the groom's brother of Eaton Rapids was the best man. Robert Vogel of Clinton and John Kennedy of Tecumseh were ushers.

A reception with buffet dinner and dancing for 175 guests was held at the Tecumseh Country Club with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hunt, the groom's aunt and uncle, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brooks as hosts.

Joyce Richardson registered guests at the church. Gail Hohenstein and Kathy Shroyer registered guests at the reception.

Terri-Lynne Lehman made the wedding cake and cut it at the reception.

Mrs. Lester Hunt, the groom's grandmother, and Mrs. Charles W. Howe, the bride's grandmother, were special guests.

The new Mrs. Hunt is a 1969 graduate of Tecumseh High School. She attended Central Michigan University and Siena Heights College and has a bachelor of arts degree. She is affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority and is an art teacher at Britton-Macon Public Schools.

Mr. Hunt is a 1969 graduate of Tecumseh High School and has a bachelor of arts degree from Eastern Michigan University and is a buyer for Tri-County Logging Co.

Following a wedding trip to New York and Pennsylvania, the couple will reside at 4208 Comfort Rd.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Tecumseh Country Club.

AUNT LAURA'S TREASURES

Haviland Family Collection on Auction Block

Speakers strapped to their backs the auctioneers' task began at 10:30 a.m. After an hour of taking bids in the sun the sweat began running, the helpers arms began to ache and the bids started getting higher. Shown here are Ken Mitchell taking bids and Stacy Zilke keeping them in order.

A new hat from an old era fits right in with today's styles. Here unidentified girl gets approval from her male friend on one of the many hats.

Pat Wilson of 419 Wertern in Toledo looks over Aunt Laura's spinning wheel just in case the price is right. He said it'll be a show piece in his home.

Edith Preserved Family History

By Kathy Brown

An era of family history came to an impersonal end Saturday. Edith Haviland's collection was sold at auction.

Miss Haviland, an Adrian school teacher, shared her family history and collection of antiques and collectibles since the 1950's.

Now 83, she is a patient at Provincial House, Adrian. To provide for her care with dignity, the family requested that her collection be auctioned.

Edith was a great niece of "Aunt Laura" Haviland, one of Lenawee County's moving spirits behind the Underground Railroad and founder of Raisin Institute, a private boarding and day school for both black and white pupils.

A tiny memorial boulder alongside Wilmouth Hwy. in Raisin Township marks the former home of Charles and Laura Haviland, the site of the Institute.

Edith's collection was believed to contain some of Aunt Laura's things. Other items belonged to other family members. Some Edith purchased. Once a niece spent weeks cataloging various items that Edith owned.

Before the auction, family members, mostly nieces and nephews saved items to pass down.

Edith's history lessons about "Aunt Laura" were shared with countless Scouts who marched along the Freedom Trail, the Underground route, and civic and church groups interested in local history.

Richard Potts, Tecumseh Herald pressman, a fifth grade pupil of Miss Haviland, recalled her invitation: "First week of June she always made a date with the kids to see her museum. She was a good teacher. She took an interest in all the kids."

Through her museum, as a teacher and historian, Edith Haviland willingly shared herself and her heritage over the years.

Auctions attract all types of buyers from old to young. Of course if you are unable to make that bid just playing in the grass can be worth the time spent. Here Dynel Kind, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kind of 105 Russell Rd. plays in the grass.

Mrs. Freda Ross of 411 E. Front in Adrian spends moments which brings back many nostalgic thoughts by going through the hundreds of bottles, vases and glass trinkets.

One person's junk is another person's treasure. Some people were overheard saying, "Look at all this junk." Others said, "Look at all these treasures." To know whether its trash or treasure, go to a good ol' auction and find out for yourself.

Youth Action at Church

Youth meetings this week at Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

Aug. 6, a group will attend the church's quarterly meeting in Ypsilanti. Upon returning to the church, the men's softball team will play a double header at 6 p.m.

After the games, a group will travel to Devil's Lake to see the movie, "A Thief in the Night."

The Friends Youth met for its evening meeting July 24. Following the evening church service, the teens officially greeted Allen and Carol Richardson, new assistant pastor, by decorating their house in a brillant array of blue, pink and yellow tissues. When the rain fell that night, the tissues began to stick.

July 27 an in depth look at the "Balanced Life—Jesus Christ" was taken by 22 youth at the church. After the meeting, the teens played Frisbee football.

Saturday the day began by watching the girls' softball team. Following the game a group of about 30 teens played an old-fashioned game of Red Rover and a different, messy version of dunking for apples. Prizes were awarded and a weiner roast followed.

To top off the day's activities, "Naphtali," a contemporary singing group from Malone College, performed in concert at 8 p.m.

Plans Craft Festival

Working miniature models of farm machinery made by visiting craftsman Maurice Kennedy will be one of the special interests demonstrated at the Aug. 6 Crafts Festival at Sauder Museum Farm and Craft Village.

Festivities begin at 10:30 a.m. in the historic Archbold, Ohio village and conclude at 8:30 p.m.

Jenny Hoffman of Wyandotte will demonstrate the 16th century art of bobbin lace. The lace, made by braiding spools of fine threads, is often found in delicate table cloths.

The Jaquillards of Pemberville will bring colonial tin ware and tole painting. Norma Grieser, community china painter, will also work with miniature wooden tree ornaments, copper enameling, painting on driftwood, carvings in pits, wood fiber flowers and teen doll furniture.

Leaded glass, chair caning, quilting, guh and silversmithing will also be demonstrated.

Repairman Graduates

Airman Brian P. Leger was graduated from the U.S. Air Force's electronic equipment repairman course conducted by the Air Training Command at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Airman Leger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Leger of 500 Murray Dr., is now trained to install and repair special airborne and ground electronic equipment, and will serve at Myrtle Beach AFB, S.C.

Completion of the course earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman is a 1976 graduate of Tecumseh High School.

William Tucker of Onsted and Mary Lou Farley of Clearwater, Fla. announce the engagement of their daughter Karen Marie to Jeffrey A. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nichols of Adrian. Miss Tucker is presently employed at Kroger Co., Adrian. Her fiance will graduate from Malone College, Canton, Ohio with a chemistry-mathematics degree. He is employed at SWS Silicones Corp., Adrian. A June 1978 wedding is planned.

The engagement of Cherilyn Gae Spohr and John C. Hochstetler is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Spohr, 4400 Holloway Rd. Bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Tecumseh High School and is a senior at Spring Arbor College. She graduates in May with a BA in elementary education. Mr. Hochstetler is the son of Mrs. Helen Hochstetler of Manchester. He is a 1970 graduate of Manchester High School and attended Spring Arbor College. He is a self employed farmer in Manchester. A wedding is planned for the fall of 1978.

Open House at County Museum

An open house will be held Aug. 13 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Lenawee County Historical Society Farm Museum located just south of the S and H Store at Birdsall.

Take North Adrian Highway (M-52) to the museum driveway which about 100 yards south of the S and H store parking lot and then turn left (or east) and drive up to the house and park.

Museum is the city of Adrian's major park project. City put up a sign to identify it. Presently, it is leased to a farmer, Ray Thompson, until the city is ready to change over.

Alexander School Boy Scout Troop of Adrian, lead by Brent and Larry Walworth, gave the barn a good housecleaning in late June.

New gifts to the museum include:

The O'Reilly Coach from Hudson, moved courtesy of City Cartage last summer and a door and door frame from the Old Scheuermann House in Rome Township, the oldest house until fire destroyed it seven years ago, a gift from Harvey Warrick of Rome.

The Dickens family will provide expert guiding and discuss old crafts.

75 Expected for Fair Race

Seventy five entries are expected to race in the $200,000 Michigan Breeders Futurity at the 1977 Lenawee County Fair, the big highlight of the racing program. Post time is 1 p.m. at the grandstand Aug. 28.

Post time for the registered light horse races will be at 7 p.m. Aug. 22, and the Michigan Colt Stakes get underway on Aug. 24 with post time at 1 p.m.

Scrap Book Volunteers

The Lenawee County Historical Museum is still looking for a volunteer each for Clinton and Macon to compile scrapbooks for the Lenawee County Historical Society's archives.

The Museum now has 125 scrapbooks. Archivists from other communities consider this work too costly, but the volunteers from Lenawee County, including Veda Jacqua and Bertha LaPointe from the Tecumseh area, are making the preservation of history possible.

Doris Trowbridge will arrange a scrapbook workshop before autumn. Any volunteers may contact Mrs. Trowbridge at the museum, 265-6071.

'72 Plans Class Reunion

Reservations for the 1972 Tecumseh High School class reunion are now closed for the dinner at 8 p.m. but any alumnus may still join the group for the dance beginning at 9 p.m.

There will be a small charge to cover the cost of entertainment.

Reunion is Aug. 6 at the Eagles in Adrian. For more information, call Stephanie (Hensen) Brown at 423-3412.

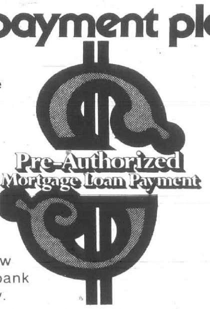
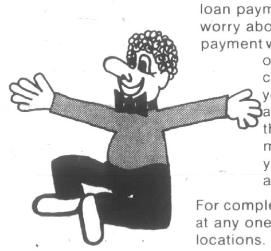
"ask first" about their pre-authorized mortgage loan payment plan.



At First Federal Savings we have taken the bother out of making mortgage loan payments and savings deposits, with our "pre-authorized mortgage loan payment" plan.

You will never have to write a mortgage loan payment check. Each month we will transfer the correct amount from your First Federal Savings account (or draw a check from your commercial bank checking account) automatically.



Using the "pre-authorized mortgage loan payment" plan you needn't worry about forgetting to make a payment when you are on vacation or out of town. We take care of the payment, so you save time, effort and postage. Plus, with the "pre-authorized mortgage loan" plan, you can even save automatically, too.

For complete details, call or stop in at any one of our five convenient locations.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Ice cream treats and popsicles are popular this time of year for the young and the young at heart. Here are some frozen treats that you can make yourself.

Start with chocolate pudding to make these great fudgebars.

FROZEN FUDGE POPS

1 package (4 serving size) chocolate pudding and pie filling
¼ cup sugar
3 cups milk

Combine pudding mix, sugar and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat and cool five minutes, stirring twice. Pour into shallow pan and freeze until ice crystals form around edges, about 30 minutes. Stir until smooth but not melted. Spoon into pop molds or 4 ounce paper cups; place a wooden stick in each. Freeze until firm. Makes 7 pops.

Try these easy popsicles from gelatin and Kool-aid.

POPSICLES

1 package (3 ounce) gelatin, strawberry, orange, cherry
2 package Kool-aid, same flavor as gelatin
1¼ cup sugar

Mix above ingredients and keep in cool, dry container. To prepare popsicles, dissolve 6 teaspoons dry mixture in ¾ cup boiling water. Add ¾ cup cold water and mix well. Carefully pour into popsicle molds or 4 ounce paper cups. Freeze until firm.

These peanutty pops are filled with childrens favorite things to eat.

PEANUTTY POPS

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 cup peanut butter
1 cup chocolate milk

In medium bowl, mix unflavored gelatin and sugar; add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. With rotary beater, blend in peanut butter; stir in milk. Pour into 5 ounce paper cups and place in freezer until partially frozen. Insert wooden ice cream sticks and freeze until firm. Makes 6 pops.

Call 423-4848 to share your favorite recipes. See you next week.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made by Larry A. Cornell, & Linda S. Cornell, his wife of Adrian, Michigan, Mortgagor, to Mortgage Securities, Inc., Morgagee, dated the 4th day of February, 1971, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 4th day of February, 1971, in Liber 713 of Lenawee County Records, on page 121, which said mortgage was thereafter assigned to Bell Federal Savings & Loan Association by assignment date April 22, 1971, and recorded on April 30, 1971 in the office of the Register of Deeds for said County of Lenawee in Liber 717 of Lenawee County Records, on page 331, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due, at the date of this notice, for principal and interest, the sum of Seventeen Thousand One Hundred & Ninety One —61/100 Dollars, ($17,191.61);

And no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 26th day of August, 1977, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., Local Time, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, inside the east front door entrance to the County Building in Adrian Michigan (that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee is held), of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage, with the interest thereon at eight per cent (8%) per annum and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fees allowed by law, and also any sum or sums which may be paid by the undersigned, necessary to protect its interest in the premises. Which said premises are described as follows: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit:

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"We're considering new materials for use in producing more fuel-efficient cars."

Steve Babcock, Department Head, Materials Engineering

"Increased fuel economy can be obtained through several techniques, including the use of more efficient engines, better dynamic design and lighter weight. The work with new materials that we're doing in this department in planning for the future is almost totally aimed at weight reduction.

"One of the first materials that we're gaining experience with is what we call high-strength steel. Other materials we're considering are aluminum and advanced or 'composite' plastics.

"Right off the bat, a lot of people think that the new materials are weaker than conventional steel. That certainly isn't the case. With certain plastics, for example, we can get strength increases up to 6 to 7 times the strength of common body sheet steel.

"Our objective is also to produce a vehicle equal to or better than the quality we have now. For instance, it's conceivable that using plastics as an alternative to steel will improve corrosion resistance. That will be a benefit added on to the fact that we're going after weight reduction.

"Present costs of the new materials are higher. The tendency is that we end up having to pay more money to reduce the weight of the car. Of course, our goal is to produce a vehicle that the average citizen can afford.

"We don't have all the answers yet. That's why we're being deliberate and cautious in introducing the use of new materials. We go through exhaustive tests, both in the laboratory and at the proving grounds.

"Here, the name of the game is innovation and creativity. Innovation to me represents satisfying a need for the future, a way to design and build cars that are more fuel-efficient."

MUSICIANS ENTERTAIN AT 1976 WALKER TAVERN FESTIVAL

Need Photos

CLINTON — Local photographers who happen to have good, clear black and white or colored snapshots of last year's Fall Festival events are asked to bring them to Kukini Travel or to Woodward's Village Gift Shoppe.

They are needed for this year's publicity.

4th Festival at Cambridge

Fourth annual "Frontier Entertainment in Michigan" festival will be presented August 13-14 at historic Walker Tavern in Cambridge State Historic Park at Cambridge Junction.

Highlighting the two days of historical fun will be the "New Lumberjack Orchestra," a group of fiddlers and dulcimer players who feature the authentic folk music of the American frontier. Accompanying the music will be dancing. Hours will be 1-5 p.m. each day.

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, the program is part of the continuing series of special events at Walker Tavern, an 1830s stagecoach stop being restored by the Michigan History Division of the Michigan Department of State.

There is no admission charge.

In addition to music and dancing, the festival will feature a quilting bee, rug hooking, horseshoe pitching and children's games which were popular forms of family and neighborhood entertainment in pre-Civil War Michigan.

Mortgage Burning Is Set

CLINTON — Clinton Baptist Church will observe a mortgage burning in an all day event Aug. 28, beginning at 10 a.m.

The Church was built on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. site in 1966, under the pastorate of the Rev. Floyd Vaughn, who remains.

Schedule for the day is: Church services from 10 a.m. to noon; potluck luncheon from noon to 1:30 p.m.; Gospel singing from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. and mortgage burning at 2:30 p.m., followed by singing.

Featured country gospel singers will be the Goodwill singers of Adrian; and the Family Singers and the Graceways, all from Ypsilanti.

Guest speaker will be Willard Martin, an area missionary for the Lendale Association.

Franchise Is Granted

CLINTON — Forty-nine residents of Clinton Township went to the election polls Tuesday and voted to grant Detroit Edison Co. a 30-year franchise for electrical power, by a 39 "yes" to 10 "no" vote.

Relief for Fuel Bill

Eligible Michigan senior citizens may receive up to $50 relief on fuel costs incurred in 1977. The deadline for requesting this money is Aug. 15.

A one member family whose income is $3,713 or less per year or a two-member family with a yearly income of $4,913 or less who had or have fuel bills greater than $20 per month should apply for the utility credit. Overdue bills will also be paid.

Applications are available at each senior citizen center in Lenawee County. The Center director will assist you in completing the request.

Current recipients of Supplemental Security income (SSI) food stamps, or Medicaid should have received the applications by mail.

Trailer Permited, Charge Dissputed

CLINTON—Clinton Township Board approved the placement of a house trailer at the Margaret Service property on Clinton-Macon Rd., for 120 days, while the fire-damaged house is being repaired.

Other discussion concerned a charge of $417 over the contract amount for a fire truck purchase. Apparently Ford Motor Co. raised the price by this amount after the contract was signed and the matter is still in dispute.

Township Board members approved the May 10 meeting report of the fire board, at which Fire Chief Harlon Ruhl appointed Jim McMurray as captain and Carl Fletcher as lieutenant of the fire department.

Building permits totalling $106,200, reported by Charles Wilson, were approved by the board.

Board adopted the Michigan Electrical Code, effective immediately.

Instead of waiting for the next board meeting, the board voted to pay election workers for the Detroit Edison Franchise election after Tuesday's election.

A contract with Lenawee County for data processing of tax assessments was approved.

MR. AND MRS. ALLEN RICHARDSON

Moves To Accept Assistant Position

From Tecumseh Village Mobile Park, Sebring, Ohio to Tecumseh, Mich. Allen and Carol Richardson made the move recently to accept the job of assistant pastor of Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church.

The couple will work together coordinating Christian education and youth group activities. Allen will preach occasionally and lead with music. Carol will also be active in the church's music programs playing piano.

They reside at the assistant parsonage on 409 Brown St.

Families of the couple were known to Pastor Dane Ruff, Allen's family from Rhode Island and Carol's family from Ohio, when the Rev. Ruff pastored there.

Allen was graduated from Malone College in Canton, Ohio with a degree in Christian education. He interned in the same ministry and was the pastor of a small community church in Limaville, Ohio.

Carol attended Malone College and comes from Alliance, Ohio. She said they have had a warm response from the community.

Joint Project

At the request of Council Monday night, Tecumseh city manager Cal Zorn will work with the State Highway Department and the Tecumseh Promenade the Past historic tour committee in a joint tree planting project for the downtown historic district on M-50.

Approximately $1,500 is available from Promenade the Past funds to purchase trees. City was asked to provide labor and equipment for planting.

Council Approves Park Covenants

Tecumseh Council Monday night approved the industrial covenants regulating aesthetics and permitted uses for the prospective occupants of industrial park.

Council also set the sale price at $5,000 per acre for the 53-acre site between S. Evans and Mill, south of Russell Rd.

Realtors fees will be paid to salesmen bringing industry to Tecumseh.

Assistant city manager Paul Preston, author of the covenants, will prepare a developer's kit for prospective industries.

The industrial covenants deal basically with requirements for set backs, easements, building size, building materials, landscaping, maintenance, permitted uses and parking, to make sure that each investor's building is of quality construction and blends with the scheme for the park's development.

Preston explained that the covenants give the city more control and in most cases are expected and preferred by industry.

"He (the buyer) knows that everybody buying land is subject to the same conditions that he was subject to," Preston explained.

According to a fact booklet about the park, Tecumseh's market for prospective industry will be labor intensive firms from the Detroit and Toledo areas. Approximately 20 small industries could be situated on two and one-half-acre sites as outlined in the booklet.

Preston said that industrial park sales average seven to 10 acres per year. At this rate, Tecumseh's park could be sold out in seven to eight years.

Because the city wants to bring more jobs to the community, it will seek labor intensive industry and try to limit warehousing allowing it in conjunction with manufacturing operations.

"After talking with people, it became obvious that certain uses were not desirable," said Preston. Prohibited uses in general are heavy industries of offensive nature.

Construction in the park must take place within the first 12 months of ownership and be completed within two years after the start. This was allowed for Michigan climate. If construction is not completed within two years, city has option to refund money and take possession.

An important aspect of the industrial park development process will be city's approval of all plans, which must be submitted in writing. City is responsible to pass on the plans within 60 days, or else they will be considered approved.

Fair Needs Bands, Floats

The Michigan State Fair is looking for marching bands, floats, baton twirlers and beauty queens for special events at the State Fair this year. Prizes will be awarded.

Delay Addition Opening

Tecumseh High School's two-story addition for special education will not be finished until well after school opens next month.

Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent, says a six to eight week delay in obtaining brick, plus other problems, may postpone the addition's opening at least two months later than previously planned.

Officials originally hoped that the addition would be ready early in September.

Meeting Set

Tecumseh area La Leche League will meet Aug. 10.

Topic will be "Weaning and Nutrition" and will include a bake sale of delicious and nutritious items.

Investigate 24 Complaint Reports

July 30 - Armando Flores, 35, of 2800 Russell, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor (DUIL) after police found him squealing tires and driving to the right of the roadway on eastbound Chicago and northbound on N. Evans.

Flores, reportedly resisted officers as they attempted to handcuff him. A backup unit was called and Flores had to be wrestled to the ground as he struck the officers. Flores was also arrested for resisting arrest and for assaulting officers.

A brother, Rodolfo R. Flores, 24, of 203 Bidwell was arrested during the incident for interfering with officers as they attempted to make the arrest.

Jerry J. Reed, 22, of New Mexico, was arrested for having open intoxicants after police stopped him on Chicago, in front of the Community Center.

Also on Saturday, Thomas A. Hamilton of 515 N. Evans was arrested for DUIL after police found him weaving in the southbound lane of S. Evans.

July 31 - Rollie G. Herron of Somerset Center was arrested for being drunk in a public place after police discovered his auto partially parked in the eastbound traffic lane of W. Chicago. Herron was reportedly passed out in the front seat.

Aug. 1 - Police arrested Steven E. Drake, 22, on charges of having open intoxicants when they were investigating an accident at Chicago and Evans Street.

Other complaint reports this week came from:

July 29 - Bill Newman 7957 E. Monroe Rd., reported malicious destruction to his auto when parked behind the Party Shop. He found his rear fenders dented and antenna broken.

July 30 - Joe Pospisil of 315 W. Cummins, reported the larceny of a lounge chair from his front porch.

July 31 - Bobby Freshcorn, of 906 Shady Lane, told police his wife left her purse in the car over night and found it and the auto's rear speakers missing the next morning.

Mark Nation, of 807 Sunset, reported his auto damaged in the parking lot of the Church of the Nazarene. The right side of his auto was hit by an unidentified truck. Suspects left the scene.

Aug. 1 - Jean Parmley, 212 E. Logan, reported an attempted B&E of her residence. She returned home to find a screen ripped and window open. There was no entry.

Police investigated a report of a stolen battery from a truck Monday when Tom Kampmueller, of 506 Orchard Lane reported the incident.

Report Ten Bikes Stolen

After a seemingly "mild" summer of only one or two bicycles stolen here and there, Tecumseh police report 10 bicycles were stolen this week.

A resume of stolen bicycle reports this week includes:

July 27 - Terry Lighthall, 415 W. Pottawatamie, reported a stolen bike from his back porch. Police recovered that bicycle half an hour later.

Dan Maves, 9580 Newburg, and Tim Mayers, 1418 Southwick, reported stolen bicycles when they parked on the west side of Easton's.

July 28 - Terry Waynick, of 211 N. VanBuren, reported his bicycle stolen from his front porch. The bicycles was locked to the porch and recovered in Adrian.

Janet Ruhl, 1408 Southwick, lost her bicycle when an unknown number of people took the bike from the garage of her home.

A third bike was taken Thursday from Luke Somerlot, 1005 Shady Lane. The bicycle, valued at $150, was stolen from in front of the garage.

July 29 - Jackie Lynch, 802 Conklin, reported her bicycle was stolen while she was at driver's education class at THS.

Aug. 1 - Milt Appel of 808 River Acres reported a stolen 10-speed from behind the barn at the Party Shop. Loss was set at $160.

Mary Griffin, 217 N. Evans, reported a stolen bicycle from the swimming pool area.

Aug. 2 - Eric Mason, of 117 Park, told police he parked his bike outside the Tecumseh Herald office front door for only half an hour when it was taken.

☐True or ☐False

Could this be your picture? Are you putting on a false face when you get up each morning? Are you pretending that you live surrounded by big, bright balloons? Or, on the other hand, that things are down, down, down? Or, that you were just born unlucky, and at this late date there isn't much you can do about it?

Most of us would have to admit that there is more than a little of the clown in the image we present to others — whether on the high side or the low side. More's the pity. Because we would come across a lot better if we could just be ourselves.

There is a place where you can be yourself, where you can find yourself! No questions asked! The Church. Won't you try it?

More Lines Added

BRITTON — General Telephone Co. construction crews have begun to install new cable to provide more private lines for Britton customers.

The $173,203 project is underway and is scheduled to be completed in December 1977. There will be approximately 1.6 miles of aerial cable and 24.7 miles of buried cable installed.

Facilities are expanded to provide not only for the increased customer requests for private lines of today and for future needs.

REV. LYNN VanBUREN

Magician To Appear

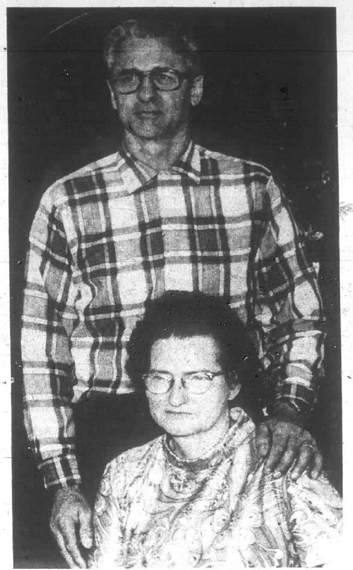
BRITTON—Gospel-magician, the Rev. Lynn VanBuren, will present a program of magic with a gospel message to the combined Sunday School classes at the Britton Bethel Baptist Church at 10 a.m. Aug. 7.

The church is located at 296 S. Main, Britton.

The Rev. VanBuren, formerly a professional magician, is now a full-time gospel evangelist from Byron Center.

He travels the continental U.S. using magic to illustrate the message of Jesus Christ.

He will also preach at the 11 a.m. worship service. Public is invited to attend the special services.



MR. AND MRS. BERNARD BISHOP

Bishops Are Missionaries

BRITTON — Bernard and Doris Bishop will leave Aug. 1 to become full time missionaires under the Hiawatha Baptist Missions of Grand Rapids.

Their first assignment is to Stevens Point, Wisc., where they will be involved in construction of church buildings.

Doris expects she'll be painting, varnishing, sewing and serving wherever she is needed, maybe cooking meals for the volunteer workers.

Bernard retired recently after 15 years employment at Tecumseh Products Co.

Mrs. Bishop was born in Britton and the couple have lived for the past 28 years in the same neighborhood. Now they have sold their house.

They are members of Ridgeway Baptist Church. Mr. Bishop has served there as Sunday School teacher, bus driver, deacon, treasurer, choir member and choir director.

Hiawatha Missions are located in several western states and Canada and are now locating in some of the southern states.

The couple has two children, Mike Bishop of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Thomas Bailey, Britton, and three grandchildren.

Seven Help at Mission

BRITTON — The Rev. and Mrs. Gerald L. Booth Jr. traveled to Steven's Point, Wisc. July 18 with five teens for a week of carpenter work at the Berea Baptist Church.

The Rev. Arthur Mahn, former member of the Britton Bethel Baptist Church, presently a missionary with Hiawatha Baptist Mission, is the missionary-pastor of the Steven's Point Church.

A 40x60 auditorium was added and remodeling of both the outside and inside of the old structure is being completed.

Russ Huyser, missionary-carpenter with Hiawatha Baptist Mission, directed the work. Several other families from Indiana and Michigan also helped.

Jean, Joyal, and Esther Bishop, Karen Purvis, Dawn Lovell and Timothy Booth helped repair, sand and stain pews, prepare the auditorium for painting, cleaning and cooked for about 40 people.

One of the highlights of the week was the presentation of a $100 check from the church to the Rev. and Mrs. Mann for a two day mini-vacation.

Wednesday and Thursday while the Mann's were away, the Britton group took over their responsibilities.

A service at the county home was held. The girls brought special music followed by a message by Pastor Booth. Pastor Booth conducted the Wednesday Bible Study and prayer service and the girls again presented special music.

The group returned home July 23.

Honored

BRITTON—In observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. George Cline were entertained Sunday by their children, Mark and Linda Cline and Greg and Jan Cowen.

They were taken to Hathaway House, Blissfield for dinner, then surprised by an open house at their home upon their return.

A buffet supper was served to 50 guests from Ypsilanti, Adrian, Milan, Deerfield, Clinton and Britton.

A special guest was Mr. Cline's mother, Mrs. Helen Dunbrook of Palmetto, Fla.

Virginia "Ginger" Crutchfield and George Cline were married Aug. 2, 1952 at the Methodist Chapel, Angola, Ind. by the Rev. Donald Sapp.

Mr. Cline is self-employed as a building contractor and is employed at Tecumseh Products, too. Mrs. Cline works with the Community Health Study in Tecumseh.

Surprise

BRITTON—Mrs. Richard Handley and daughters entertained at a surprise birthday party cook-out for "dear ol' dad," Richard Handley.

At home, he found 51 friends and relatives to help him celebrate. It required careful planning by mom and the kids.

After dinner, a cake decorated by Wilda Haas was served.

Swimming and games were the diversions.

Guests came from Britton, Ridgeway, Clinton, Tecumseh, Blissfield, Saline and Palmyra.

Student Physical

Free physicals for Britton-Macon students interested in athletics or cheerleading will be held Thursday, Aug. 11.

The physicals are for students in grades 7-12 and those taking the physicals must report to the school at 9 a.m. sharp.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smoll

HOLLOWAY — The Friendly Neighbors Farm Bureau had a picnic at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Engle at Wamplers Lake.

Mrs. Louis Machan opened the meeting with a poem, "I Feel Needed." Mrs. John Young and Mrs. Machan each thanked the group for their birthday cards. Members sang "Happy Birthday" in their honor.

The House Bill 7171 provides a four-year farm program which would expire in 1981, raising the minimum dairy price support to 80 per cent parity, with mandatory semi-annual adjustment and authority for quarterly review.

A target price for 1977 wheat crop of $2.65 and $3 per bushel for the 1978 crop. For corn, $1.85 for 1977 crop and $2 for 1978 crop, which would be adjusted to variable cost of production, machinery and overhead cost.

Lawrence Smoll led the discussion topic on "Right to Food-A Moral Issue." Since World II the United States has shipped over 8 million dollars of food to needy countries, much of it at a low price. The conclusion of the discussion was a willingness to work, equals the right to food.

Merillat Is Flying Fisherman

by Frank Weir

Is James Merillat's Grumman a "Gosling?"

That question isn't as impertinent as it may seem. James Merillat, 9239 Macon Rd., is the proud owner of a Grumman Widgeon amphibian flying boat.

And his Widgeon may be one of 25 planes, code-named Goslings, intended for Great Britain on a lend-lease program during World War II. Add the fact that Merillat's plane belonged to the late Al Meyers and its historical significance is obvious.

The Widgeon is a 36-foot long plane with a wingspan of 42 feet. It's powered by two 260 hp. engines and is built to be landed in water. However, retractable landing gear makes the craft that much more versatile.

Merillat's plane has an illustrious history, being among the first to be built in 1941. The Canadian Department of Natural Resources ended up with the plane but Merillat thinks there is a possibility the aircraft was to be sent to Great Britain.

There were 125 Widgeons made to 1944 and Merillat estimates that only 35-40 are still in operation. There are only two in the entire state.

Merillat speaks fondly of the craft and he is building a hanger for it at Calhoun's International Airport on Rogers Hwy.

Although the Widgeon has the capability to fly anywhere in the world, Merillat is strictly interested in the north country.

An avid fisherman, Merillat tries to get a group of friends together once a year and fly north on fishing expeditions. Merillat has been to the Arctic - five times - Hudson Bay, the Northwest Territories, the Aleutian Islands and Pt. Barrow, Alaska to name a few.

A year ago this month, Merillat attempted to fly to the magnetic North Pole, a journey of some four days. "I filled my wing pods with fuel hoping to land in water and refuel my main tank. Just as I approached the point of no return, I looked down and discovered that everything had turned to ice."

Although the plane has a flying range of 800 miles, he was forced to turn back.

Not discouraged, Merillat plans to attempt the expedition in July of '78. He plans to take a different route going further west towards Alaska before flying north.

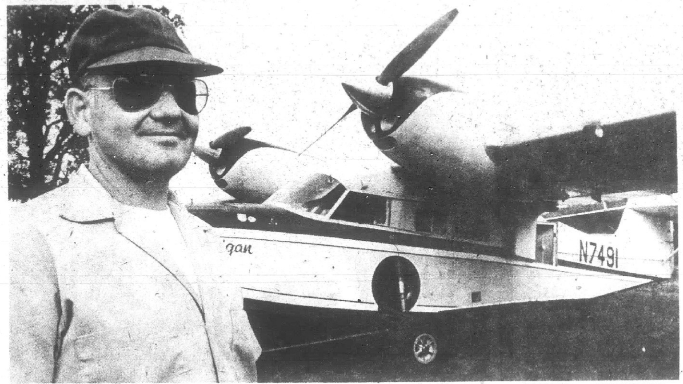
Merillat has been flying since he was 17 years old in 1951. His father worked for Meyers Aircraft Co. so flying was second nature to him.

And the Widgeon is just one of Merillat's aviation projects. He also owns a PA-12, a single engine plane he purchased in 1962.

In addition, Merillat has been building his own biplane for 11 years. The basic plans came from the Experimental Aircraft Association and Merillat is modifying them.

Merillat is a maskmaker at Ford's Saline plant and has been with the company for 22 years. He anxiously looks forward to his retirement in a few years when he will be able to pursue flying full-time.

And that will mean a lot of trout dinners on the banks of the Hudson Bay.



PROUD GRUMMAN OWNER — James Merillat stands near his Grumman Widgeon flying boat. He bought the craft four years ago and uses it for exotic trips to the far north.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

If one sees a small gray bird with a top-knot the chances are almost certain that it is a tufted titmouse. If that same bird is a shade or two lighter gray in front than on the back, if he has bright black eyes and a short straight pointed bill it is a hundred percent certainty that he is a tufted titmouse.

To say that a titmouse is six inches long really does not mean too much thinking of his length in comparison to the 10 inches of a robin, six and one third inches for a sparrow and 12 inches for a bluejay makes a better comparison.

Tufted titmice are great little birds and we are always more than happy to have them around. Trim and neat, usually every feather is in place. They are also friendly and inquisitive which makes them excellent bird feeder birds.

The cold weather months are, of course, their best times at feeding stations. In the summer Mother Nature's banquet boards are so lavish that our handouts are not all that attractive.

Occasionally in summer the near-my-window feeders have been visited by a titmouse and the other day we had the fun of watching a youngster. The feeder's bill-of-fare was obviously quite new to him and he was just not sure.

Watching him cautiously sample the scratch feed, nibble at some cracked corn, and have all sorts of trouble with the tough shell of a sunflower seed was almost like watching someone in a fancy restaurant trying to decide which fork to use.

But even more fun than his actions was his appearance. Being young his feathers were on the ragged side, which is decidedly "untitmousish." He was skinny, his legs were long and his topknot was still new. He had not quite mastered it yet.

For some reason it always surprises me that these birds are cavity nesters. With no woodpecker bill to chisel out a hole they use a natural crevice or an old woodpecker hole. Apparently they are not fussy birds either for they nest in a stump, fence post, or tree trunk. And the height, according to the books, ranges from three to 97 feet above the ground.

The entrance usually is about an inch and a half in diameter; this also is the size for a bluebird's front door but the smaller wren naturally prefers a smaller door, one and a quarter inches. Tufted titmice can also be enticed into man-made bird boxes — wouldn't that be a good experience!

As might be expected of such nice birds, both male and female work together at the nest building chore. They also share what must be the tedious job of incubating the eggs. I say tedious because imagine being cooped up in a tiny hole for 12 days.

Tiny? — well, at least small. One book said that when the female was taking her stint on the eggs the male brought her foot but no mention was made of her returning the favor when he was brooding.

Once out of the eggs which, by the way, are whiteish with dark brown freckles and usually number five or six per nest, the youngsters are 'at home' about 16 days. Both parents feed the kids. Even after the 'coming out party' the family group is apt to stick together.

Wonder from where the little guy who visited our feeder had wandered? We hoped the rest of his family was nearby but, if they were, he either did not share news about a good food supply or perhaps he was just not that thrilled with our well stocked food trays. Whichever he has not, as of this dictating, brought them to visit.

One last bit of information about the nests these interesting birds build. According to the books they use a variety of materials. Leaves, grasses, bark, moss, weed stems, feathers, cotton, wool, etc. A shedded snake skin is sometimes incorporated into the structure but other birds do this too.

There are many reports of these little gray birds pestering animals, dogs, cats, and squirrels, and one author claims they pluck the hairs and use them in their nests. Buy why do these birds sometimes take a leaf and work it into a ball — what kind of a building block could this be?

Seeing the tufted titmice at the feeders is fun, reading about them shows that they are equally interesting in their family rearing habits.

Fourth Dance Is Set

The fourth summer dance for teens will be held Aug. 5 from 9 p.m. to midnight at the high school cafeteria.

The third APT Summer Dance was held July 22. Over 200 students attended. Air conditioning was working full force. Dancers could more comfortably enjoy the music selected and played by disc jockey Jeff Steiner.

Officer Gerry Greene reported no conflicts in the parking lot; chaperones reported no conflicts in the building.

Chaperones for the July 22 dance were Lori and Dick Egli, Martha and Cal Poppink, Donna and Craig Rosacrans, Marge Steiner and Pat Tressler.

July 8 chaperones were Kathi and Gerry Johnstone, Barb Kruger, Donna and Craig Rosacrans, Marge Steiner, Pat and Jay Tressler and Tammy Wilt.

Welcome Wagon was the first community group to donate money to A Place for Teens toward a permanent teen center. A savings account was established. Monies will be used to finance a Tecumseh Teen Center. Inquirers may contact Donna Roe, 423-3313 or Pat Tressler, 423-7874.

RENT IT! from
George & Carol Parknowitz

When you have to sand a curved surface, the disc sander would suit this purpose well. It is especially useful for the removal of rust and paint, and for polishing surfaces. The disc sander is an essential tool for auto- and boat- body repair shops. Yet is is easily operated by even the beginner home handyman. The 5" or 7" disc of this machine is mounted onto a pad of rubber, and the motors available range from ¾ to 1½ horsepower. Some models come with two possible speeds -- 2500 and 5000 rev/min. When you use the disc sander, turn it on and allow it to attain its full speed. Then apply it to the surface with slight pressure.

Why go out and invest money on a tool that is going to be used only for a one time project, drop in to TECUMSEH RENTAL CENTER, 112 S. Pearl, 423-4470 and rent the tool from us. Why buy when it's cheaper to rent and you won't have to worry as to where to store the item once you are through with it. Renting is the fast, convenient and inexpensive way to have the tools you need when you need them and not investing money in them. Stop in soon and browse around. Open: 9-8 daily, 9-3 Sun.

HANDY HINT:
Never hold the disc sander in one place for too long a time or it will remove too much material.

JC's Defeat Kiwanis 3-2 To Capture Major League

The last major league game of the season was an exciting finale between JC's and Kiwanis. They were both tied for first with a 9-2 record.

Two of the best pitchers at this level, Mickey Hyatt for Kiwanis and Ken Kurzyniec for JC's, battled for six innings. But when they were finished with their allotted innings, the game was tied 2-2.

It took JC's one inning to sneak a run on an errant throw. JC's managed only two hits, but the last one was a big one by Tim Judkins.

For Kiwanis, there were seven hits, three by Mickey Hyatt and two by Wally Harvey, including a homerun.

In other games, UPW moved into a tie for third place by gaining two victories, one over Rotary 12-7 and the other over Credit Union 4-0. Jeff Barnes pitched the shutout for UPW.

Kiwanis had two other games as they ran over Credit Union 22-9 and trounced Tecumseh Plywood 12-2. In the Credit Union game, Matt Allen had three hits and Mickey Hyatt had a grand slam home run for Kiwanis. On Credit Union's side, Brian Sowle had three singles and a walk.

The Plywood game belonged to Mickey Hyatt as he pitched and gave up one hit, four walks, and fourteen strikeouts. Also, Mickey Hyatt hit a homerun and John Gould had a triple.

Scott Strack had the only Plywood hit — a single. Police won one when they defeated Tecumseh Plywood 8-5. Three pitchers — Bobby Jordan, Rick Crawford, and John Kitson — combined for the victory.

Doc's Hands Airport 2nd Loss of Season

LADIES SLO-PITCH SOFTBALL

First game of the evening was an upset victory for Doc's Frame and Axle as they defeated Airport Bowl 11-4 and handed Airport their second loss of the season.

Doc's got control of the game in the first inning and dominated the game. Kathy Baugh and Barb Hamilton each had a four-bagger for Doc's and Mannino had two hits for Airport.

In game number two DST grabbed that elusive first victory. They did it by trouncing Ive's 37-18.

For DST, Alice Haines, Debbie Corwin, Linda Loucks, and Marilyn Merrick all collected five hits each to pace the 33-hit barrage.

Alice Haines and Susan Banks both hit homeruns. Debbie Corwin smacked two grand slam homers as Linda Loucks hit one.

For Ives, Donna Kennedy hit a roundtripper.

In the final game, Dundee stayed close to Airport by downing Deerfield 12-4. Mary Mueller paced the winner with three hits which included one for the distance. Sandi Raymond also hit a homerun for Dundee.

Bauman Wins Golf Tourney

Keith Bauman of Tecumseh won the third annual Ever-Green Junior Tournament at Ever-Green Golf Course last Friday.

Bauman passed Carey Swanson of Hudson who was the first round leader.

Bauman carded scores of 72-73-76 for a 221 winning total. Swanson shot 69-79-77 for 225 and second place. Dave Graf, another Tecumseh player and winner of the Woodlawn Junior Tournament last week, took third place with rounds of 73-79-76 for a 228 total.

Tight Race in All 3 Leagues

Tuesday League

There are two weeks of games still left for the Tuesday Night League and the race still is a tight one.

Handley holds the upper hand as they have a one game advantage over three teams who are waiting for them to slip.

In game one, United Savings Bank kept their hopes alive by downing Clinton Merchants 14-11. USB took the lead in the first inning and held on all the way. Jerry Chatfield and Gene Cooley paced USB with four hits each.

Gary Beasley was Clinton Merchant's hitting leader with three safeties.

In game two Local 429 stayed close by defeating Tractor Village 9-2. James Davidson smacked a homerun for 429 and Joe Stoddard and Ken Davis had three hits each.

The third game was a hitting fest as Handley and Tecumseh Merchants banged the ball for 34 hits and 33 runs. Handley came out on top 20-13. Mike Servoss had four hits including a grandslam roundtripper for Handley.

Larry Sanborn and Tom Grounds also hit one each for the distance. Doug Wilcox had four hits for Tecumseh Merchants.

Wednesday League

Wednesday Night League is still a two-team race that comes to a head this week.

VFW and Loggers are deadlocked in first place where they have been most of the season. They clash this week to possibly determine the champion of the Wednesday Night League.

In game one, Wagon Wheel went on a rampage and stomped Faraday by a score of 25-2. They collected 23 hits led by Bob Bivens and Rick Breeding's four hits each, plus a homerun by Chuck Warner.

Loggers stayed in a tie for first by hanging on and defeating Iott's Insurance 15-12. The homerun was Loggers number one weapon as Jim Hunt and Don Eaton hit two each and Dave Pray and Al Roberts added one each. Lee Feldman smacked a roundtripper for one of his three hits.

Finally VFW beat Erb's Chevrolet 9-2. In the first two innings, it looked like a runaway for VFW as they scored seven of their nine runs.

But Erb's tightened up and made a game for the rest of the five innings. Gordie Whelan had two hits to pace the VFW ten-hit attack.

Wednesday Standings

Thursday League

Thursday Night League follows suit with the other leagues and now has a tight race for first place.

Tecumseh Plywood lost the first game to Proctors 21-8.

Leading the 21-hit attack for Proctors were Al DeShano and Fred McCrate with four hits apiece. Tom Komoun and Sam Short led Plywood's hitting with three hits each.

In game two Embers defeated Luper Plumbing 8-5 to stay in the thick of the race. For Embers, Joe Bill smacked a homerun for one of his three hits. Roy Schlegel also had three hits and Dave Gurtzweiler hit a homer.

Luper's big stick was Eric Travis with three singles.

In the final game, Luper Plumbing beat George's Market 14-10. Luper's had four home runs, two by Eric Travis, and one each by Terry Ranta and Ray Jackson.

For George's Market, Dave Newman had three hits and Ike Harris hit a roundtripper.

Ottawa Wins Pony Title

Ottawa hung on to win the Pony League Championship. They defeated UPW 5-1 and then played one of their best games of the year but lost to Gaston's 1-0.

Marty Wallich of Gaston's and Derek Nahabedian were locked in a true pitcher's duel. Each pitcher gave up only two hits. The one run was scored by Marty Wallich on a wild throw. This was Marty's second shutout of the season.

Ottawa's third game was a 3-2 loss to laVoy. Val Rafael was the winning pitcher. Jim Bagby had a key hit for Lavoy with bases loaded. Joe Ruggirello had two hits for Ottawa.

In other games, UPW played twice and won both. First, a 17-14 victory over LaVoy was a walk-plagued game with a few errors and a couple of hits.

The second victory was a 3-1 win over Gaston's. This was the last game of the season and a no-hitter for Tony Forsthoefel.

Only four batters reached base — two on walks and two on errors. Marty Wallich pitched a fine game, but a few more walks and a key error made the difference.

23 Teams in 4-H Play

Twenty-three Lenawee 4-H softball teams just completed the first round of playoffs, beginning at the county level. Winners will advance to the district and then, if successful, to state play.

County winners in the double elimination slow-pitch tournament completed this week include: Roundtop 4-H Club in White (9-14 age) League, coached by Brian Shearer of Adrian. Winning All-Girls Team was also from Roundtop and coached by Mrs. Virginia Tillotson of Adrian.

Other top 4-H teams in the county playoffs were Green League — Britton-Macon, Roundtop and Raisin Slickers.

Nearly 400 youth were involved with county 4-H softball play this year during the last two months.

Sportsmanship trophies sponsored by the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh will be awarded to the top team of each league as selected by all teams in that league.

Working with 4-H club coaches, a county softball developmental committee and the county agent organized regular season play and tournaments. Members of the 1977 softball committee include: Mike Corley of Britton, Dave Fritz and Dave Irwin of Tecumseh, and Vern Fry of Tipton.

Lenawee slow-pitch teams go against county winners from Wayne, Washtenaw, and Monroe Counties, Aug. 6 beginning at 9 a.m. at the Tecumseh fields on Russell Road. Winners of these district playoffs will enter state playoffs at Michigan State University on Aug. 20.

Football Practices

Clinton varsity and junior varsity football practices will begin Monday, Aug. 15 at 8 a.m.

All players are to report to the high school.

Junior high football will begin Monday Aug. 22. All junior high players should report to the middle school at 8 a.m.

Rape, Kidnapping Charges Filed Against 4 Youths

Four Tecumseh youths were arrested Monday evening and charged with kidnapping and raping a 15-year-old girl shortly after midnight Friday, following a dance at the school.

According to local police, the four arrested and jailed were Mark Keller, 19, of 119 Brown St.; James Groover, 23, of 520 Outer Dr.; John Sell, 19, of 9246 Tonneberger Dr.; and Charles Sessoms, 19, of 703 S. Pearl St.

All four were arraigned Tuesday morning before Judge Yale Leland Kerby in District Court. They were released on personal recognizance bond of $1,500 each.

Felony charges are kidnapping and first degree sexual assault.

Information released by the police reports the girl was picked up on W. Chicago Blvd. about midnight. She had been to a dance and was with a friend at the time.

The girl told officers she was seized and taken away in a van, where all four reportedly attacked her. About a half hour later, she appeared at the local police station. Officers took the girl to Herrick Hospital, where she was later released.

Keller reportedly was the driver of the van when the girl was picked up.

Tecumseh police are continuing to investigate the case.

Tentative date for examination of the youths is Friday, Aug. 12, at 4 p.m. in District Court.

City Officials Optimistic about Obtaining $312,000

City officials are optimistic that the Economic Development Administration will approve its new application for $312,000 in federal public works funds.

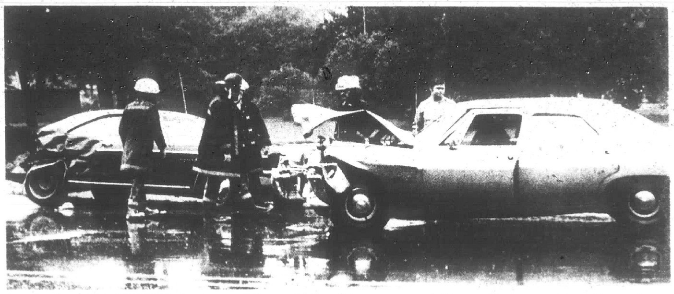
Last week, Cal Zorn, city manager, told council that EDA had rejected the application because of some dredging or channel work planned for installation of a bridge over River Raisin.

The $312,000 allocation would finance the extension of Russell Rd. east to Rogers Hwy., plus construction of a new bridge. The dredging or channeling, costing approximately $1,000, is not acceptable as public works funds may not be used for such work.

Zorn says new plans relocate the bridge about 21 feet and eliminates the dredging work.

Paul Preston, assistant city manager, and a representative of a Lansing engineering firm were in Chicago Friday afternoon at EDA regional office. Tecumseh official is optimistic after the visit and believes the application will be approved.

Final decision is expected from EDA by mid-September.



TWO HOSPITALIZED — A rural Tecumseh resident and one from Adrian were hospitalized Wednesday afternoon after their cars collided on W. Chicago Blvd., just west of Sunset Dr. Fay Kempf's car, right, was totalled in the collision, and David Cabello's auto was heavily damaged. (PHOTO BY MIKE SUNDERLAND)

2 Hospitalized, One Cited in Wednesday's Collision

Two motorists suffered injuries about 8:30 Wednesday morning when their automobiles collided on W. Chicago Blvd., near Sunset Dr.

Taken to Herrick Hospital were Fay Kempf, 68, of 8947 N. Adrian Hwy., and David Cabello, 45, Adrian. As of late Wednesday morning, both were still confined at the hospital.

According to police, Cabello was westbound when his car struck a rock, and he lost control. His auto spun around, crossing the yellow line into Kempf's eastbound car.

Cabello was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Kempf apparently was the most seriously injured of the two, suffering a severe gash to the forehead and other possible injuries.

Earlier this week local police investigated another personal injury mishap.

One woman passenger was rushed to Herrick Hospital this week after the car she was in ran the stop light on N. Evans and struck a second auto on eastbound Chicago.

According to police reports, Joan A. Larson, 35, of Adrian ran the light with five passengers in her auto Monday. Mrs. Joseph Basingo was taken to the hospital after she complained of pain, but there were no visible injuries.

The driver of the second auto, Robert T. Clevinger, 26, of Onsted, told police that Larson just did not stop for the light. Larson was cited for failing to stop.

A resume of other accidents this week includes:

Aug. 4 - James Devantier, 18, of Blissfield, told police he was eastbound on E. Chicago when a tree limb fell in front of him and damaged his right front fender. Incident occurred as Devantier was approaching Maumee Street.

Aug. 5 - Linda C. Myers, 31, of 420 N. Evans, was cited for improper backing Friday when she backed out of a private drive on N. VanBuren and struck an auto parked across the street. Parked auto belonged to Lucie Smith, 824 N. Evans.

Aug. 6 - Stephanie L. Sackett of Tecumseh parked her auto along W. Logan, near the Pearl Street intersection, during the night because she had mechanical problems. She returned the next morning to find the auto damaged. No one reported hitting the parked car.

Aug. 8 - Ray L. Mattis, 29, of 1006 Shady Lane, had parked his auto along the curb on Blanchard when Donald Judd, 607 Blanchard, backed out of a drive and struck the parked car.

Aug. 9 - Both Rickey P. Bunton, 29, of Ypsilanti and Frank J. Myers, 30, of 5403 Nolan, were traveling east on Chicago Tuesday when the collided. Myers was reportedly hit in the rear after he stopped for traffic. Bunton was following and could not stop.

Chamber Committee Plans New Brochure To Introduce City

A new Chamber of Commerce committee, the Industrial and Commercial Development Committee, is presently studying the feasibility of a new brochure for an introduction to the city.

The committee's main objective is to help establish the revitalization of industry and commerical enterprise in the city. For that reason, Paul Preston, city assistant manager and community development director, is playing a very important role.

Other members include; chairman Don Dobrosky, Bill Powell, Henry H. Newlin, Merlyn Downing and Ray Rouleau.

They hope to soon boast of a professional-type brochure that lays out the city's parks, recreation, churches, schools, and gives perspective businesses and industries a general overview of the town.

At the same time, the committee is working with Preston to catalog the resources of the city. If the chamber or city contacts prospective businesses or is contacted, the chamber wants to be able to respond with concrete information on what buildings or land are available.

The cataloging will even include such information as what rent price the prospective business or industry might expect, heat, and size of the building.

Beverly Baughey, assistant manager at the Lenawee Country Club, became manager of the Tecumseh Country Club Tuesday, succeeding John Kennedy, who resigned. Mrs. Baughey, of 210 E. Kilbuck St., was associated with the Adrian country club for 16 years.

Destruction To Property Investigated

The number of bicycle larcenies dropped drastically this week as the number of simple malicious destruction reports increased. A resume of police complaint reports follows:

Aug. 3 - Howard Baughey, 221 E. Cummins, and Bob Ondrovick, 113 N. Maiden Lane, reported the only stolen bicycles last Wednesday.

Aug. 4 - James P. Murphy of Naubinway was arrested for possession of marijuana after police initially stopped him for a simple equipment violation. A quantity of alleged marijuana was found in the auto glove box.

Glenn Kohler reported malicious destruction to the glass plates of his office downtown. The incident occurred while Kohler was on vacation. Damage estimate was set at $200.

Aug. 5 - Gerald Nelson, of 6070 Orchard Lane, reported malicious destruction after he found his auto brakes failing.

Aug. 6 - The apartment at 114 N. Pearl was broken into sometime this week as Dennis Wells found his file box of old coins stolen. Gary Pennington reportedly lost $30 in change that was on his dresser. Total loss was set at $130.

Aug. 7 - Police on patrol found the sign post at the entrance to the Legion Field damaged on Burt Street. A vehicle apparently rammed into the gate.

Aug. 8 - Otto M. Wood of Monroe was arrested for being drunk and disorderly after police went to the Eagle's Club

Tecumseh Teens Found Jobs

By Kathy Brown
with Randy Rousselo

"There's nothing to do!"

What adult hasn't heard that lament from a teenager, especially during the summer vacation?

Survey by Tecumseh Herald reporter Kathy Brown with teen interviews by Randy Rousselo, Tecumseh High School student editor, proved that Tecumseh teens found things to do. A variety of opportunities for employment and recreation were available.

One of the prime concerns of teenagers is jobs. In general, teens wanted jobs close to home to minimize dependence on family for transportation.

Jobs were a big concern among the younger teens who were anxious to show independence. Some expressed embarassment about rejecon when asking for jobs were not advertised.

Older students who sought work had goals such as a car or college in addition to spending money.

The city recreation department was probably the biggest employer for teens. Turnovers is small especially in swim instructor positions where experience and leadership of older teens counts.

A total of 40 students were employed on the playgrounds, Pit and pool and as umpires. Students earned from $2.30 to $3.45 depending on experience and job.

For 13-18 year olds, the Jaycee Auxiliary operated the Jobs for Tecumseh Teens program with assistance from the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

Majority of students that applied for placement were 13-15 year olds with limited experience. Only 26 jobs were placed to date with 25 students in the program. Pay was determined by employer and teen.

Despite annual publicity, some adults were unaware of the program or found a ready source of teens in the neighborhoods.

Federally subsidized CETA program employed about 12 economically deprived in Tecumseh through the schools, city and St. Elizabeth.

Other examples of teens who found work include:

Kelly Kruger, 15, and Melvin Yoder, 18, who were among those detasseling seed corn in the peak of the July heat wave.

Liz Perez, 13, tutored a young boy in her neighborhood. Randy Rousselo, 17, worked for Redman Construction. Wendell Withrow, 17, worked at Hidden Lake Gardens in addition to coaching little leagues. Ann Hella, 16, worked at Rusty's Drive-In. Tom Haeussler, 17, worked at Bugs' Station.

Mark Phelan, 17, and buddy

SUMMER PROJECT FOR 7 — Seven teenagers in the Shady Lane neighborhood decided to improve the ball diamond of the "Shady Lane" city park behind homes on the street. "Many people don't even know it's there," said organizer Steve Palmer. They used their own rototiller, shovels, bought paint, wood for a backstop and sand. Pictured are left to right, Rich Palmer, 12, Steve Palmer, 15, Mike Rosenberg, 10, Steve Dangler, 13, Ralph Rosenberg, 14 and Mark Rosenberg, 12. Not pictured is Brian Banda, 16. Schools Hire Principal, New Teachers

Margaret Yerman, a teacher in the Brandon School District, Ortonville, for the past eight years, has been hired as principal for Patterson Elementary School.

She will replace Cynthia Opelt, who is on maternity leave.

Miss Yerman has a bachelor of science degree from Kent State University and will receive her masters this month from Eastern Michigan University.

Raymond Schmidt, industrial arts instructor for the past five years at Hudson, has been hired to replace David Ruff at the high school. Ruff resigned.

Marlene Harter has been employed as English-math teacher at the high school, and Daniel Secor is the new math-industrial arts teacher at the junior high.

Ernest Palmer has been employed as geography-group guidance teacher at the junior high.

Plan Ahead

People are not waiting long enough for job placement from the Job for Teens Program, reported Marge Ball, Jaycee Auxiliary chairman.

Those who request a teen are asked to please plan ahead and wait a half day for placement.

The Auxiliary was calling the answering every 24-hours, making student placement one day.

But employers would not wait that long so the placement procedure was stepped up to placement in eight hours, or half a day.

The Auxiliary asks that people who use the service be patient with the placement service, as the teens are available and willing to work.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

What should the deceased wear?

Clothing helps to express the unique characteristics of an individual. Even in death, clothing can convey the special personality of the deceased. In the planning of funeral details, the matter of clothing for the deceased should not be overlooked.

Has there been a request in the past from the deceased concerning his or her own feelings? Sometimes a uniform of office or volunteer leadership has been requested, because of the significance to the deceased. Medals and jewelry may be considered to complete the uniform or dress.

Is clothing worn by the deceased during lifetime appropriate? By all means. A suit or dress which was a favorite of the deceased -- or the survivor -- may be the prime consideration.

CHARLES L. BRYANT

Services were held Aug. 8 at the Proctor Funeral Home for Charles L. Bryant, 29, of Adrian who died Aug. 4 as a result of injuries received when his motorcycle collided with a pickup truck at a blind intersection in Adrian Township.

Bryant was northbound on Bent Oak Highway towing another motorcycle behind him when the accident occurred at 7:55 p.m. at the intersection of Shepherd Rd.

The other cyclist, Ted. A. Blaska, 24, of 104½ S. Division St. suffered minor injuries but sought his own medical treatment.

According to the sheriff's department, the motorcyclists were apparently unable to see the oncoming truck, driven by an Adrian man because of standing corn in a field near the intersection.

Truck driver was eastbound on Shepherd and had the right-of-way, but a stop sign on Bent Oak Highway was missing. Motorcyclists apparently thought they had the right of way.

Bryant was born in Yancey County, N.C. June 28, 1948, son of Reese and Ethel (Williams) Bryant.

He was a truck driver for Comfort Brick and Tile Co. in Tecumseh. He served two years in the U.S. Army in the Vietnam conflict and two years in the Michigan National Guard, Adrian.

Bryant lived in the Tecumseh-Adrian area for the last 11 years.

He earned his G.E.D. from Lenawee Vo-Tec.

Survivors are his father, mother, wife, the former Pamalynn Cain of Adrian, five sons, two daughters, three brothers, two sisters and maternal grandfather.

Burial was in Lenawee Hills Memorial Gardens.

MABEL WILLIAMS

Services were Aug. 8 at the Proctor Funeral Home, Clinton for Mabel M. Williams, 94, who died Aug. 4 at the Lenawee County Medical Care Facility.

A lifelong resident of the Clinton area, Mrs. Williams formerly lived at 204 Locust St.

She was born Aug. 8, 1882 in Milan.

On May 7, 1904, she married Frederick A. Williams. He died in 1959.

Mrs. Williams worked for the Clinton Woolen Mills for 35 years.

She was one of oldest members of the Clinton United Methodist Church where she taught Sunday School for many years.

Mrs. Williams was the past president of the Friendly Class.

Surviving is a son, Leroy of Tecumseh.

Two sisters and a brother preceded her in death.

The Rev. Thomas Kruchkow officiated and burial was in Riverside Cemetery, Clinton.

RENT IT! from

Is your daughter's birthday coming up soon? Why not give her a special party — one with a theme? A party set as a French cafe gives plenty of opportunity for appealing decor, food, and costume. The easiest way to present a Parisian effect is to arrange the seating around several bridge tables, rather than around a long one. If you have red and white checkered table cloths handy, if not you can easily rent some along with the tables and chairs, that would look authentically Continental. Hang red and white streamers around the ceiling for a festive air.

You can rent all your party decorations at TECUMSEH RENTAL CENTER, 112 S. Pearl, 423-4470 and save money on having to buy them all. Loomis, Erickson Recite Vows

Betty Ann Loomis and Arthur Elliott Erickson were married July 29 at 4 p.m. in the Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church by the Rev. A. Dane Ruff.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Loomis of Dundee and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Erickson of Tipton.

Mrs. Ashley Chase was the organist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white seersucker gown of her own design. It featured a standup collar, bottom ruffle and lace on the bodice, sleeves, collar and cuffs.

Her veil was secured by a high cap, adorned with white pearls.

She carried a bouquet of white daisies, blue carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. David Hancock of Tipton was the matron of honor wearing a blue gown with ruffle at the bottom of the skirt. It featured a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves accented by lace.

She wore a light blue picture hat and carried white daisies, blue carnations and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Loomis, the bride's sister-in-law of Tecumseh, Joyce Loomis, the bride's sister of Dundee and Elizabeth Erickson, the groom's sister of Tipton.

They were attired in polyester A-line gowns with sleeveless styling, sweetheart neckline, shirred empire seamed bodice and sheer lettuce edged jackets of woven polyester, flocked with white daisies. Jackets were styled with V-neckline with front tie closure, long full sleeves with snap closure cuffs.

They wore picture hats and carried bouquets of white daisies, blue carnations and baby's breath with blue streamers.

Julie Loomis, the bride's daughter of Dundee, was the flower girl attired in blue and white dress, featuring a lace yoke and back tie. She carried a wicker basket of flowers.

David Hancock of Tipton was the best man. Chuck Loomis, the bride's brother of Tecumseh and Philip and Edward Erickson, the groom's brothers of Tipton, were ushers.

MR. and MRS. DANE SCHUTTE

Lynda Dee Knight, Dane Schutte Marry

The First United Presbyterian Church was the setting for the July 23 5 p.m. wedding of Lynda Dee Knight and Dane Marvin Schutte.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bob D. Knight of 302 Maple and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Schutte, Adrian.

Janet Denton was the organist and Howard White of Ann Arbor was the soloist.

Centerpieces of peach daisies, carnations and baby's breath and candelabra decorated the church for the bride's approach on the arm of her father.

For her wedding, she wore a white organza gown with Queen Anne neckline, sheer bishop sleeves, chapel train and silk Venice lace over the bodice and skirt.

Silver double heart earrings and a heart necklace with diamond were her jewelry. She wore an organza picture hat trimmed with silk Venice lace and a bow.

She carried a nosegay of white carnations, stephanotis, peach sweetheart roses and baby's breath with white streamers.

Patricia Tressler of Tecumseh was the maid of honor wearing a peach polyester floral wrap around gown with fitted bodice and V-neckline.

She wore a wide brimmed peach hat trimmed with a sheer nylon peach scarf and carried a bouquet of peach carnations, daisies and sweetheart roses, accented with baby's breath and ribbons.

Other bridesmaids were: Roberta Coleman of Tecumseh, gowned in aqua; Michelle Schutte, the groom's sister of Onsted, gowned in mint green; Gloria Fosbender of Tecumseh gowned in pink; Teresa Morris of Ludington gowned in yellow and Jenny Boggs of Tecumseh, the flower girl, gowned in peach with an eyelet apron.

Their gowns were made by Mrs. Wynne Matteson of Tecumseh.

Mike Bishop of Onsted was the best man. Ushers were Randy and Brian Knight, the bride's brothers of Tecumseh, Steve Schutte, the groom's brother Steve Helenski and Ralph Laver all of Onsted, Greg Gatares of Hudson and Troy Lafollette, the ring bearer, the groom's cousin of Onsted.

Randy Knight, the bride's brother and his fiancee, Rena Spahr of Osseo were hosts for the 300 guests at the United Products Workers Union Hall.

Nancy Peters of Ithica passed the guest book. Jan Strohl assisted at the reception and Michele Aten and Debbie Richmond cut the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Plaar of Holiday, Fla. and guests from Onsted, Royal Oak and Sterling Heights were among the special guests.

The couple made a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, Fla.

The new Mrs. Schutte is a graduate of Ferris State College, is affiliated with Delta Zeta Sorority and employed at Sycor, Ann Arbor. Mr. Schutte is employed by Fowler Construction.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Patrons Have Tea

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhyne Smith, Adrian will be the setting for an afternoon tea, Aug. 18, in honor of Eve Weiher, Brenda Krauss and Albert C. Gordon.

Ms. Weiher is the director of the upcoming Croswell production of "My Fair Lady", and Krauss and Gordon are cast as Eliza Doolittle and Henry Higgins.

Members of the Croswell Opera House and Summer Theatre staff and cast members of "My Fair Lady" will greet guests.

"My Fair Lady" opens on Aug. 18 for a 10 night run, Wednesday through Sunday for two weeks, closing on Aug. 28.

Charles Osburn, director of professional services at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, was honored as Michigan's pharmacist of the year recently at the Michigan Pharmacists Association convention at Lake Geneva, Wisc. The award, presented annually to a Michigan pharmacist, was based on Mr. Osburn's outstanding community service. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Osburn, 231 Park St.

Seminar Is Held at Holt

The Holt Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses at Holt, will be the site of a two-day seminar, Aug. 13 and 14. Officials state that 1,800 should be in attendance for this semi-annual event.

Vow Before Candlelit Altar

CLINTON — Ramona Marie Haskell and Warren Lee Corwin recited their marriage vows before candlelit altar setting of yellow, white and peach daisies, carnations and snowdrift in the United Church of Christ, Saturday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roy Wagner.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haskell, Jr. 12301 Coller Rd., Tipton and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Corwin, 11300 Clinton-Manchester Rd., Clinton.

Mrs. Larry Dicks played the organ and soloists were Mrs. Edward Day and Harry Sherwood.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white chiffon gown, fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline edged with appliques of Venice lace, capelet sleeves, satin empire waist and a circular chapel train.

She wore a silver heart necklace, a gift of the groom. Her picture hat was covered in organza with Venice lace appliques, with chapel length illusion streamers appliqued in Venice lace.

The bride's bouquet was formed of yellow sweetheart roses, white daisies and baby's breath with variegated ivy.

Norma Roberts of Plymouth was maid of honor. She is an aunt of the bride. She wore tiered maize chiffon gown with a soft ruffled bodice with a V-necked back. A matching silk flower was worn in her hair and she carried yellow carnations, white daisies, snowdrift and baby's breath.

Identically gowned in yellow chiffon, the bridesmaids were Cynthia Haskell, sister of the bride; Cynthia Piatt, Dina Cipriani, Crete, Ill.; Jan Haley, Lafayette, Ind.; and Sharon Martz, Sheridan, Ind.

Wendell Corwin of Clinton was his twin brother's best man. Ushers were Mark Haskell, brother of bride; Mark Carlton; Jeff Glass, and Roger Gault, both of Indiana; and Dave Santure of Clinton.

Flower girl was Summer Ann Steve, of Newark, Del.; and the ring bearer was Matthew Blaisdell of Manchester.

Reception dinner at Bauer Manor in the Irish Hills was attended by 250 guests. Coordinators for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Piatt.

Fran Corwin, sister of the groom and Christy Piatt poured punch. Guy Haskell, brother of the bride and Andy Piatt passed the guest book. Among the out of town guests were several Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brothers of the groom.

The bride attended Tri-State University in Angola, Ind. and was Chapter Sweetheart of Sigma Phi Epsilon for 1977-78. She is employed at Ace Drill, Adrian.

The groom is a junior at Tri-state University, Angola, Ind., and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He's employed for the summer at Ford Motor Co.

Rehearsal dinner was held at Big Daddy's Den, Saline hosted by the groom's parents.

The couple is on a brief wedding trip to Toronto, then will be at home in September at Apt. 0, Williams Street, Apartments, Angola, Ind.

Teens Find Fun, Few Jobs

became painters as did other young entrepreneurs. "It is about the only kind of work you can get without lots of experience," Mark pointed out. Mark was also at Boys' State, on family vacation and volunteered at the Lenawee County Democratic Committee office.

Kathy Kruger, 15, Kelly's twin, may have been one of the more fortunate. She said, "I got paid for having fun." She was employed in the federally operated Youth Conservation Corps for teens 15-18 of all backgrounds and regions of state.

During the camp in the Manistique area, Kathy's group assisted with conservation projects, learned outdoor skills and first aid, hiked a weekend on Grand Island and cruised near Pictured Rocks.

Applications were available through school, but Kathy applied after her father read about it in the newspaper.

Despite teen interest in McDonalds and Big Boy jobs, the restaurants do not open until September.

Most significant addition for teen recreation this summer were the dances hosted every other week by A Place for Teens board of the Town Meeting Organization, sponsored by the Community Fund.

more fortunate. She said, "I by adult chaperones. "It gives kids something to plan around, someplace to go," said one 13 year old. Non-driving students especially enjoyed them.

KATHY KRUGER

Teens with the skills and equipment enjoyed the inexpensive and close to home opportunities offered through the Tecumseh Recreation department: tennis courts, (upcoming tournments), swimming at the Tecumseh Park "pit" and pool, softball organized for 13-14 year olds, canoeing, hiking around the Community Center, biking, occasional movies that attracted all ages and trip for 12-15 year olds to Cedar Point and Mackinaw and Sandy Pines camp.

Some teens voiced an interest in a full-sized basketball and open softball diamond for impromptu games. Tecumseh Park and schools have hoops, but are unused most of the time said recreation director Ward Eardley.

Next year he plans mixed ages softball teams for ninth through 12th graders. This summer, only eight signed on despite media publicity and flyers. Teens said they were unaware of opportunities.

Besides more jobs, and a regular place to meet, teens voiced interest in a local cinema. Adrian, Ann Arbor and Toledo were too far.

Driver's education is a big part of the summer of 288 teens near 16. For some, the two-hour, five week committment nixes a job. Others work around it. Other education opportunities include summer school at Adrian schools and the Tecumseh Public Library.

Some teens participated in the arts through the Tecumseh Players first children's theatre and the Croswell's summer production in Adrian, notably "Bye Bye Birdie" with large teen cast.

Tecumseh's Shawnee Marchers, about 30 students, participated in three competitions and took second place in flight three at Bad Axe, Vassar and Essex, Ont. Band camp is last week of August, in Tecumseh for the first time. Eight students attended other statewide band camps.

Church youth groups met at least once during the summer vacation with an organized activity and offered opportunities for service or ministry. Friends Church group is the most active judging from regular reports.

Agape Christian coffee house on S. Evans attracted as many as 30 teens on a weekend night for informal conversation and music.

Teen Hospital Volunteers, about five of 30, continued through the summer.

4-H offered several county wide projects related to recreation, citizenship and leadership service opportunities in addition to the projects of the two local clubs and social gatherings, such as the Community Center square dances.

Golf was high on sports list because of strong school program. Four Tecumseh teens participated in championship play or won titles. Others golf with parents or practice with friends at the Sand Trap.

Dan Yoder, varsity wrestler who placed sixth in state, went on to two wrestling camps. Cindy Egli, 17, was a junior counselor at Adrian Medalist Camp and attended Girls' State in addition to her Croswell performance in "My Fair Lady". Other teens also attended gymnastics or sports camps.

and found the waitress had been struck in the jaw.

Paul E. Underwood, 35, was arrested on drunk and disorderly charges after police found him on E. Chicago in a drunken state. Underwood was reportedly very uncooperative for police during the arrest and until he was lodged in Lenawee County Jail.

Aug. 9 - Police discovered one of the large plate glass windows broken at Bill's Citgo Tuesday, but found the building secure. The owner of the building at 102 W. Logan reported nothing missing. Window replacement will run $200.

Dallas Motor Sales on W. Chicago reported the larceny of a battery this week from a new pickup parked at the rear of the garage. Battery was valued at $38.

Five 'Fair Ladies' in Croswell Play

Two Tecumseh mother and daughter acting duos will perform with other area actors and actresses in the Croswell Opera House production of Lerner and Lowe's "My Fair Lady" for 10 nights opening Aug. 17 through Aug. 21. Performances repeat Aug. 24 through 28 inclusive.

Featured from the Tecumseh area will be Lori Egli and daughter, Cindy of 615 W. Chicago Blvd. and Kathi Johnstone and daughter, Jeannie of 1203 Willow.

Lori Egli has appeared in the Red Barn Theatre, Lawton, Okla. and in the Tecumseh Players productions. Cindy, a student at Tecumseh High School, will appear in the chorus and dance.

Kathi Johnstone has appeared in the Players' productions and at the Croswell as has Jeannie, recently seen in the teen chorus of the Croswell's "Bye, Bye Birdie."

Trevor Williamson of 8424 Clinton-Macon Rd., Clinton, is a design engineer for Ford Motor Co., Dearborn. His theatre experience included King Pelemore of "Camelot," Chief Brown Bear in "Little Mary Sunshine," Mr. Shears and chorus in "Finnian's Rainbow."

Joann Dalgard, 5802 Billmyer, has appeared at the Sault Area Little Theatre and the Tecumseh Players.

Directing "My Fair Lady" the last summer musical for the Croswell this season, is the Eve Weiher of Toledo, Ohio. Highlighting the cast is Brenda Krauss as Eliza Doolittle and Albert C. Gordon as Henry Higgins.

Transforming the stage with his noted sets is designer Robert A. Soller and his production staff, Terry Hayes designing the lighting. Choreographer is Rochelle Wertenberger and costumer is Suzanne Kiersey.

Tickets and information are available by calling the Croswell box office 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 6-9 p.m. on show nights, by phoning 263-5674.

Census Records Can Be Ordered

Family researchers, genealogists, take note! The Tecumseh Public Library (TPL) can now order federal census records on microfilm for use at the library.

The 1790-1890 census rolls are interloaned from the National Archives to TPL free of charge.

Census records provide much useful information for genealogists who want to prove where a family lived or trace family development.

Persons interested in ordering these microfilms must know the county in which the person lived. This information can be found on birth and death certificates. The only exception is for the 1850 Michigan census; the library has a last name index for this year.

Information on different censuses varies. The early records, (1790-1820) useful in establishing the place of residence, list only the head of household, other family members in 10-year age groups, and the number of slaves. Additions for the following years include:

1830 - the number of blind and aliens.

1840 - a very accurate Revolutionary War pensioner list, the number of deaf-mute, insane, "idiotic," illiterate.

1850 - the first to list the name and age of every free white, value of real estate, occupation of males.

1860 - occupation of females.

1870 - the first to list Indians.

1880 - the first to give name and relationship of each member to head of house, also gives parents birthplaces.

Comprehensive Plan Developed

A series of corrective approaches dealing with Jackson, Lenawee and Hillsdale Counties water pollution has been developed by the Region II Planning Commission's Water Quality Study.

These alternatives present possible solutions to the problems of agricultural and urban runoff, degradation of the Region's lakes and inefficient municipal sewage disposal systems.

A comprehensive plan is being constructed using a combination of these approaches to best benefit all areas and achieve the goal of clean water.

The Region's waters are currently being severely affected by agricultural activities, including soil erosion and animal waste contamination, and runoff of debris, oil, lead and dust from streets and parking lots.

Extensive development around the Region's many lakes, many having areas not suitable for such activities, has resulted in polluted and aging lakes.

In some cities within the three-counties, improvement of waste treatment facilities has not kept pace with either the growth rate or technology, and many of these systems now require expansion or renovation. Many methods are available for curtailing pollution and improving the Region's water resources.

Animal waste management includes practices such as avoiding waste concentration, preventing wastes from entering waterways, and developing on-site disposal systems for animal wastes.

Contour plowing, strip planting and no-till planting are examples of non-erosive cultivation practices. Fertilizer and pesticide use reduction are also urged.

Regular street sweeping, retention basins and physically treating stormwater are suggested practices designed to curb urban runoff.

Sewering the Central Lakes area through a municipal sewage disposal plant, or several cluster sewage systems serving 10 to 12 homes are potential solutions which are being investigated by the study.

The Commission plans to hold public meetings in each of the three counties during September to discuss the potential benefits and costs of the various plan concepts.

Launches Home Test Program

Consumers Power has begun to install furnace modification devices in the homes of 22 customers in the South Central Region.

Equipment will be tested during the 1977-78 and 1978-79 heating seasons as part of a nationwide space heating efficiency improvement program.

Consumers Power will determine how well the modifications work, how well a proper level of comfort is maintained, and what initial and maintenance costs are incurred.

The tests are part of a broad gas conservation program submitted July 27 by the Company to the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Customers selected by the Company will have special meters installed to determine which modifications are most cost efficient.

There will be three combinations of modifications: reduced main burner orifice and flue restrictor; automatic damper and electronic pilot igniter; or all four of these.

The reduce orifice and flue restrictor are pre-set by Consumers Power servicemen, while the automatic damper and electronic igniter work by electric signal.

National, state and local standards and building code variances are obtained by the Company before modifications are installed.

Consumers Power emphasizes that home-owners should NOT attempt to install any of these devices themselves. There is definite safety factor involved, the Company said.

Open House Features Crafts

Seven old time crafts will be featured at the open house of the Lenawee County Farm Museum Aug. 13 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Included will be wool spinning and wool carding, braiding rugs, lye soap and corn husk dolls making, chair caning and candle dripping.

Farm machinery from the 1850's to the 1910's will be displayed at the farm museum which is located at 3221 N. Adrian Dr., just south of Birdsall and behind the S&H Store on M-52.

A genealogy "know-how" table staffed by genalogists from the Lenawee County Historical Society will assist visitors with questions on a family project.

There is no charge. Reservations are not needed.

The museum is a major park project for the city of Adrian.

Workshop Held

A scrapbook workshop will be held at the Lenawee County Historical Museum Aug. 11 at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Doris Trowbridge will instruct participants in developing a scrapbook for use and interest to succeeding generations.

There is no charge for the workshop.

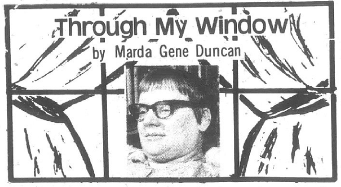
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



When friends were here sometime ago, one of the topics of conversation was the wild life here along the creek. Not ours — Mother Nature's. Oh, yes, we have plenty of squirrels, both fox and red! Occasionally we see a raccoon or an opossum; rabbits are not as plentiful as they used to be but the woodchuck population is exploding. There are birds of many varieties of course, and in the winter we sometimes see muskrats.

When someone asked about chipmunks I had to say that unfortunately we had none. This has always been a slight mystery too, why aren't there any of these cute little characters around?

In the past few months I have bemoaned the devilish red squirrels and praised the much nicer fox squirrels so much I need not go into that again.

The raccoons and opossums are primarily nocturnal prowlers and only rarely does something bring them into my window pictures during the daylight hours.

The last rabbit I saw was miserably huddled under a small barberry bush unsuccessfully seeking protection from a hard rain.

The woodchucks, all of whom we just naturally call Murphy, are apt to show up any time and any place. Chipmunks? No.

It would be nice to say it happened the next day but, in the interest of truth, I must admit that it was more like 10 or 12 days. It then happened that Mom and I were enjoying a mid-afternoon tea break when something caught my attention.

At first glance I thought it was a young red squirrel who was having trouble mastering the fine art of swinging up to the food tray from the supporting post.

The little guy was literally bumping his head on the underside of the near-my-window feeders. The post is easy to climb but often young squirrels have trouble figuring how to scramble over the edge of the feeder itself.

But wait, a second look quickly showed that this was no red squirrel. From my vantage point I could see stripes on the animal's back and the facial markings were eye stripes instead of an eye ring.

Just as I called Mom's attention to the action "it" popped over the edge of the feeder. One mystery solved. And really, the trick of going from post to tray was not too difficult. Another mystery solved was the identity of the newcomer. After all these many many years we were finally hosting a chipmunk!

How cute! He was slightly smaller than a red squirrel and his tail a bit bushier. His tummy was light but not white and, instead of wearing a black stripe on his side, he had black stripes on his back. Between these stripes the soft looking fur was a creamish gray.

Quite a handsome character and when we had the opportunity of checking his appearance against the picture of the eastern chipmunk as shown on plate 22 of "The Mammal Guide" by Ralph S. Palmer, it was surprising how closely they matched.

But even more than his appearance, Mom and I enjoyed his antics. He was a nervous character, flighty and jumpy. Obviously it was a new experience and just the slightest movement inside sent him 'flying'.

Coming back he spent some minutes climbing in the yews but then, when nothing too traumatic happened, he scurried up to the food.

This time he stayed long enough to pack his cheek pouches full. Amazing how many sunflower seeds they held. And my, each seed made him look more and more like a bad case of mumps.

Too soon something else frightened him away and this time he scampered to the ground. Mom could see him in the grass. Several times he started back towards the feeder post but always he was frightened away.

The last 'terrible threat' was a sparrow. Now, of course, we wonder where he went and will he be back again.

Deep thoughts. Until we talked about not having chipmunks we did not have them. Different friends were in just the other day and they were telling about owls. Six huddled in a window flower box during a snow storm was one story. We have not seen an owl for several years —

Geographer Completes Book

Dr. Richard Santer of Big Rapids recently completed a new Michigan geography book entitled "Michigan - Heart of the Great Lakes." It is one of a series of United States geographies published by the Kendall-Hunt Publishing Co. of Dubuque, Iowa.

Dr. Santer, a geographer on the Ferris State College faculty since 1969, is married to the former Ruth Boyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce of Tecumseh. The couple has two teenage daughters, Carolyn and Cathy.

Santer's book is a college level textbook on the past, present and predicted future for Michigan, however any student or adult interested in facts on Michigan will find the book appealing.

In the 369 page book, Santer covers information about the state's resources, its people, history, economics, climate. Other geographies about Michigan were written in 1948 and 1914.

A native of the Detroit area, Santer has a bachelor and masters degree in geography from Eastern Michigan University and a doctors degree from Michigan State University. He wrote a history of Jackson for his doctorate.

He served as coordinator of Michigan Council for Geographic Education and as chairman of the geography section of the Michigan Academy of the Sciences, Arts and Letters.

Layman Sunday

Laypersons will be in charge of the 9:30 a.m. services Aug. 14 at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church while the pastor, Dr. Laszlo Gero is out of town.

Sunday, Aug. 21, the Rev. Ned Newlin of Britton will take the pastor's place.

Museum Features Pencil Collection

The Don and Veda Jaqua Pencil Collection will be on display at the Lenawee County Historical Museum to commemorate National Pencil Day in August.

The collection on loan from Mrs. Veda Jaqua of Raisin Township includes 80 pencils collected from railroads across America and 80 pencils used as advertisements by Lenawee business over the past 25 years.

The museum has another special exhibit on an old-fashioned summertime including a beer keg and several beer steins from a thirsty past, picnic baskets, kitchen and household summertime tools and assorted Lenawee summertime memorabilia.

Museum is open Tuesday through Saturday, 1-5 p.m. and there is no charge.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Now is the time to stock up on all the fresh produce available in the area. Almost every fruit and vegetable can be successfully canned or frozen. Here are two easy recipes you may wish to try.

My cabbage is plentiful this year and one of this week's projects is to make sauerkraut. Julie Hackstedde sent this recipe and it is much easier than others I've seen.

SAUERKRAUT

5 pounds cabbage
3½ tablespoons salt

Wash, quarter, core and finely shred fully mature cabbage. Sprinkle 3½ tablespoon salt (canning salt or salt without iodide) over cabbage and mix well. Let stand 30-60 minutes to wilt slightly.

Firmly pack into sterilized canning jars, leaving 2 inch head space. Add cold water to ½ inch head space. Cover with lids and screw bands tight. Place jars on jelly roll pan to catch brine as it overflows during fermentation.

Keep cabbage covered with brine; if necessary open jars and add more brine made by dissolving 1½ tablespoon salt to 1 quart water.

Sauerkraut is cured and ready to can in 6-8 weeks. Cure in a cool place, 65 degrees or lower is best. Do not use more salt than required.

To process, clean rims of jars and replace with new lids, screw band tight. Set jars in water bath canner filled with cold water. Bring to boil and process 30 minutes. Makes 7 pints.

This freezer slaw sounds interesting and I plan to make it this week.

FREEZER SLAW

1 medium head cabbage
1 green pepper, chopped
1 carrot grated
Dressing:
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed
¼ cup water
1 cup vinegar
2 cups sugar

Shred cabbage, sprinkle 1 teaspoon salt over and let stand 1 hour. Squeeze out juice and add carrot and pepper. Mix ingredients for dressing in pan and bring to a boil. Let cool and pour over slaw. Mix in large quantities and freeze.

"Getting the Most from Freezer Beef Buys" a leaflet about beef purchase may be obtained with a self-addressed, stamped, business-sized envelope to: Freezer Beef, Beef Industry Council, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

See you next week.

Memorial Gift Program

A memorial and honorarium gift program is available through Tecumseh Public Library. Individuals, businesses, and clubs may make a donation so the library may buy a book in the name of a friend or associate.

Memorial books provide a distinct way to express sympathy at the death of a relative or friend. A book can reflect his or her interests or character, can be useful to many people and will make the person remembered for many years.

A bookplate inscribed with the name of the person in whose memory the gift is made and name of the donor will be placed in the book. A letter is sent to the family telling them of the gift.

Wedding anniversaries and birthdays may also be celebrated in this unique way.

To arrange for a memorial or honorarium, contact librarian Deborah Harris. She will need to know the name of the person to be remembered or honored; the name and address of the person to be notified of the gift; the name of the individual or group making the donation, and the amount of the donation and interests of the person to be honored, if known.

Clara Gives Views on News

by Kathy Brown

Just an item in the paper probably would have sufficed. "Wednesday afternoon visitors of Miss Clara Waldron were Dorothy Grigg and Kathy Brown."

Clara probably would have thought even that was too much fuss. How typical of a writer with a personal flare such as Clara to be publicity shy.

But how could her sprightly company be reduced to a mere "social item"? I felt an obligation to the reader to share the content of our audience.

Forgive the awesome and reverant tone, but her lifetime devotion to preserving the authentic history of Tecumseh, the town she loved, fills me with admiration.

For the past three years with The Tecumseh Herald, Clara Waldron was a legend to me. When I arrived in the midst of the Sesquicentennial, everyone talked about her book, third edition recently published. I referred to "One Hundred Years A Country Town" many times and read her newspaper columns, "Is That So?" whenever I worked on a historical piece.

Finally, emeritus Herald society editor, Dorothy Grigg, made good the promises of other friends.

Dorothy and I visited Clara at her 134 year old home, her residence since 1925. It was a family reunion for the three Herald reporters who have tracked Tecumseh's progress for the past 153 years.

We chatted incessantly. If we'd had the luxury, we could have rattled on all afternoon about current events and social news.

Clara, 87 years young, has a mind bursting with kinetic energy. She thrives on news.

What does Clara think is the most important thing for Tecumseh to do today?

"Doing over the Bidwell Building. I hope they're going to make a theatre out of that building. It won't be entirely new. I think they had one on the third floor up there one time.

"Its so useable. Plenty of room for a second floor stage and third floor flys. There's no reason why people can't walk up one flight on stairs."

Her second interest was for a "good size marker for the Musgrove Evans Home," 411 Logan, home of Tecumseh's founder.

"I don't think people appreciate that house. They don't realize how valuable it is. It is probably the one used the longest as a dwelling in Michigan. I think the town ought to own it. Tecumseh has enough money to do things like that and they ought to get together and do it. Everybody wants his one particular plan ahead of everyone else's."

"Visiting these houses is all right," Clara referred to the Promenade the Past home tours, "But we've torn down everything we wanted between St. Peter's Episcopal Church (1833-1962) and the opera house (1878-1968). We threw away the most precious things.

"I graduated from the Sutton Opera House (Strand Theatre) stage in 1908. And tearing down St. Peter's makes me so mad, I can't talk about it."

Clara's thirst for the printed word is much in evidence, a book at her side, her tables full of library books. How much does Clara read?

"All that I can get. I like everything pretty well. Detective stories and silly romances. She (Dorothy Hoffman, a friend) has an awful time getting books I haven't read.

"Reading has been my salvation all my life. It takes me out of common things.

"I remember when I first found out I could read. There were books in the bottom of the bookcase and I got into them one day. I realized I enjoyed reading and didn't have to have anyone read to me. I don't know how I learned to read before I went to school."

They say newspaper people are related because they all have printer's ink flowing in their veins. But Dorothy Grigg and Clara also share an ancestor. Dorothy's great grandmother and Clara's grandfather were siblings.

One of Clara's ancestors, originally from Scotland, built Gilgoram Castle in 1650 in Antrim County, Ireland where he sought religious asylum.

Though the years have tested Clara's health, she manages well in her home with a walker and the thoughtfulness of new and old neighbors and friends. The day we visited, Clara was reconciling herself to accept a hearing aid.

"I know I'm not going to like it, but I'm going to wear it anyhow. When I get all my props together, I'll be a person again, almost.

Miss Waldron, known for her exactness of words, not understatement, concluded the visit with the biggest understatement she could have made about herself.

At age 87, Clara Waldron is a total person.

Christian Fellowship

The youth of the Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church will have an evening of Christian fellowship at the home of Bob Hess beginnning at 8 p.m. on Aug. 12.

A number of teens will attend the annual conference of the eastern region of the Evangelical Friends Church at Malone College in Canton, Ohio on Aug. 22-28.

During the past week, the youth met on Wednesday and Sunday. The subject they considered was "The Balanced Life." The question that has developed is "How can I maintain balance and perspective in my own life?"

Several youth and church members attended the quarterly district meeting in Ypsilanti. Whan they returned, they joined others in watching the church softball team win a double header.

Following the games, a group of 24 teens traveled to Devils Lake to see the movie "A Thief in the Night."

Sunday evening was highlighted with an "afterglow", an old fashioned camp fire. The local group, "Power Within" performed contemporary folk music.

Area 4 - H'ers Are Alternates

Three Tecumseh area 4-H'ers were named as alternate State 4-H Tel-Award winners for outstanding projects: Kevin Barrett of Britton (wood science); Philip Loesch of Britton (electrical energy) and Sue Long of Tecumseh (dairy).

Each year, the 4-H Youth Program offers competitive awards for interested and deserving youth. Awards are given at the county, state and national level.

Tel-Awards are an important part of the 4-H awards program. For these awards, youth 15 through 18 are selected for excellence in various project areas from Lenawee County; then compete with youth from other nearby counties.

Those Lenawee youth named above as alternate state winners as well as Tammy Fisher of Tecumseh (food and nutrition project) were selected as District Tel-Award winners for 1977. Each of these youth were then interviewed at Michigan State University with other district winners from all over the state.

Alternates Kevin Barrett, Phil Loesch of Britton and Sue Long of Tecumseh will submit reports for possible national consideration.

Park Land Is Accepted

CLINTON — Village Council agreed to accept a parcel of seven acres form Oak Tree, Inc. for a park, providing certain specifications, to be determined by council, are met by Oak Tree, Inc.

Approval was given for Jaycees to have a beer permit for Oct. 1 during Fall Festival.

Subsequent to a recent meeting with Don Mitchell, County Drain Commissioner, letters will be sent to all residents involved, who will need to sign petitions to have work done on the Metzger Drain, off Macon Rd.

Council agreed to participate in the cost of fireworks and for permission for their transportation into the state, for use by Fall Festival Committee, Oct. 1, or on a rain date of Oct. 2.

Village Council and Clinton Township Board will have a special joint meeting Aug. 22 at 7 p.m. to discuss fire department rules and regulations, and for a hearing on disciplinary matter and question of promotions.

Firemen were granted permission to purchase an electrical heater for use in the fire cabin.

Next regular meeting is Aug. 24 at 7 p.m.

Lightning Strikes, House Burns

CLINTON — While vacationing at Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson learned that lightning had struck their house on Ely Rd., west of Clinton, about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

Clinton Fire Department fought the blaze assisted by Sand Lake and Manchester departments. However, the fire damage to the house was complete. Loss was covered by insurance.

Tecumseh firemen gave standby assitance at the fire station.

Neighbors were able to pull out an automobile, garden tractor and chain saw from the garage before flames repelled them.

Walter and Helen Johnston and their daughters, Colleen 19, and Lisa 15, are residing in their travel trailer at the site, until they can determine how to rebuild. Walt is an employee of Tecumseh Products Co.

State Fire Marshall told them that because the house was wired throughout for electrical heat, they "could have been electrocuted" if they had been there.

Pretzel Making Keeps UCC Busy

CLINTON — Pretzel making began in earnest this week at the United Church of Christ, in preparation for the Fall Festival booth.

Each Tuesday during August, beginning at 8:30 a.m., the women of the congregation will make old fashioned raised pretzels — 120 dozen in all. Anyone who wishes to lend a hand in the fun project may drop in any Tuesday at the church kitchen.

Another all-church project scheduled is a Labor Day weekend yard sale for the organ repair fund benefit, to be held at the Steve Bowman residence on E. Michigan Ave.

All kinds of merchandise is needed, and may be taken to the barn behind the Steve Bowman house anytime.

Guest speaker for Aug. 14 morning worship service will be Dan Harris, a local resident, who spent two years in Virginia in a circuit rider ministry.

On Aug. 21 the Rev. Ann Marie Coleman - an ordained United Church of Christ minister. She is a co-director with her husband, Don at Guild House, a United Campus Ministry at the University of Michigan.

Fellowship committee needs sign-up of church families by Aug. 21 for the annual picnic to be held Aug. 28 at Tecumseh Park.

City Renewal for Jackson

by Kathy Brown

Renaissance is not exclusive to big cities. Downtown renewal is happening in Jackson, a city of 46,000 as the Michigan Women's Press Club learned at its summer conference July 22-24.

The anchor for the downtown revival is Jackson Square, a $11.1 million village square in one block setting that includes a hotel, office building and shopping arcade.

Jackson Square was built on urban renewal land at the east end of the Jackson Progress Mall on Michigan Ave. and Mechanic St. Some sources claim that the mall concept, along with change in shopping habits, nearly killed downtown Jackson. Streets were closed to traffic. Now however, city officials have reopened a portion to slow speed traffic and plans are underway to restore direct two way access from Cooper St., off JS northeasterly to I-94.

The 10 story, 160 room Sheraton Inn-Jackson has been in business one year and has operated at 70 percent occupancy. It features all-season pool, sauna, lounge, restaurant and full entertainment.

The complimentary 11 story office tower has approximately 125,000 sq. ft. of space. Jackson City Bank is chief tenant. Building has over 75 percent occupancy.

Underground the complex is a multi-deck parking structure for 450 cars.

This spring the 140 ft., one story retail link between the Inn and office tower was completed. It offers 14,000 sq. ft. of indoor mall commercial space for speciality shops.

(Jackson ranks 33rd in the nation for its annual household income of $25,000.)

Fridays at noon the city operates its recently purchased English red double decker bus to transport workers to the square for brown bag lunch with entertainment. Leaf lettuce is planted in the mall.

But there is no downtown feed bag in-between the hotel's luxury and the local tavern open after 7 p.m. Only alternative was a Chinese restaurant with minimum order of 99 cents. Sigh.

Among Jackson's sights is the 465-acre Sparks Cascades Fountain County Park with the famous illuminated cascades.

Built in 1932, the 5000 ft. long, 64 ft. high cascades have 16 falls, 11 illuminated with 1,230 colored electric lights. They have six paired fountains and three main pools. Walkways provide visitors an opportunity to approach the mist.

Water is pumped from park lagoons at the rate of 2,000 gallons per minute. Live entertainment precedes the two hours of aqua fantasy. Park is open through Labor Day.

The Michigan Space Center in Jackson is a new attraction. Jackson Community College is the only one in the world that has a space center on its campus. It is housed under a geodesic dome.

Opened May 7, it was dedicated to the state's 13 astronauts with family or educational ties or both. Nan Johnson former Tecumsehite, is the college's public relations director.

Charles Gass, center director, originated the concept and campaigned for a lasting tribute to Jackson's native astronauts, James McDivitt and Al Worden. Gass is an articulate speaker for the space program.

Exhibits include:

The history of rocketry, the Apollo 9 capsule commanded by McDivitt, moon rock, original Gemini, Mercury and Apollo space suits, a lunar surveyor, Mariner satellite and more.

The astro-theatre, canopied by a giant Apollo 9 parachute, features lectures and films on space exploration. Smaller screens explain previous space missions and benefits of space experiments.

NASA, the Smithsonian Institute and other centers provide material for the exhibits.

More than a museum, the center tries to serve as a resource center for up to date space technology for Michigan schools, business and industry and the visiting public.

It is open daily, located six miles south of Jackson off 127 South. For information, readers may call 787-4425 or write the Michigan Space Center, Jackson Community College, 2111 Emmons Rd., Jackson, 49201.

'Cherubs' Where Are They Now?

"There are parties and parties. But among all the social events which have brightened the local annals of Tecumseh during the months of recent date," was a juvenile party for Master Percy A. Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.F.N. Bowen of West Tecumseh.

The party was given one Saturday in August 1891, 86 years ago, to celebrate Percy's first birthday anniversary.

The Tecumseh Herald account of the party was brought to the Herald's attention by Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNeil of 2331 Newburg Rd. Mr. McNeil was one of the birthday guests.

The party "carried off the palm" in those days. Twenty-nine cherubs represented Tecumseh, Raisin, Clinton and Franklin. The fact that mothers and babes traveled from surrounding areas in those horse and buggy days made the gathering significant.

To make the fun complete, a pair of counter scales was placed on the center table for "an inventory of cherubs."

The news story, written in the elaborate style of Scovill Stacy, then editor, included a guest list with the babies' personal characteristics: name, age, weight and eye color.

At least five on the guest list are still living in Tecumseh, a sixth resides in Ohio. They are: Earl McNeil, Margaret (Waldron) Kidman, Clara M. Waldron, Beth Satterthwaite, Nellie May Wilson, all of Tecumseh and Leila Ione Sisson of Ohio.

Stacy tells just how they carried on back then:

"It was jolly company truly; it was good looking company; it was smart, brainy company. . .and it contained enough political influence in embryo to elect the next governor.

"There were blue-eyed babies, black-eyed babies and brown-eyed babies, babies with flaxen hair and babies with dark hair, quiet babies and mischevious babies, babies with teeth and babies without teeth, babies of modest mean and babies of great expectation; but there was not a single homely baby among them, no, not a one!

The oldest child was two years old and the youngest only two months old. Average age was one year.

Staff Positions Concern Board

CLINTON — Filling faculty staff positions was the main concern of Clinton Board of Education at the meeting Monday night.

Resignations had been accepted with regret at a special meeting Aug. 1 of Christy Schnizlein, high school English and math teacher, and Raymond Karbon, sixth grade teacher.

Also at the meeting, the board decided to hire James Pittman as head basketball coach. He is already a member of the faculty.

Randy M. Van Gasse was hired to teach art and Michael Steinkraus was hired to teach high school math and English.

Resignations of Tony and Gwen Hadad, who are moving to Idaho, were accepted with regret. Tony taught special education in Middle School and Elementary School and Gwen taught second grade.

Other vacancies to be filled are industrial arts and band directorship. Interviews are going on for these at present.

A safety education program will be implemented. Michael Tarske has been appointed as system-wide safety director; with building principals, cafeteria managers, transportation supervisor and head custodians as safety committee personnel.

Teacher negotiations were set for Aug. 9, 10 and 11, with consideration of economic issues.

Negotiations for hourly bargaining units are set for Aug. 18.

Jaycettes Plan Four Projects

CLINTON—Clinton Area Jaycettes planned some more projects at their meeting Monday at the Pizza Pit.

A rummage sale will be held Saturday, from 9 to 5 p.m. at Smith-Kimball Community Center.

Joint Jaycee-Jaycette Swim-Picnic will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. at Vineyard Lake public access. Bring dish to pass. Meat and beverage will be furnished.

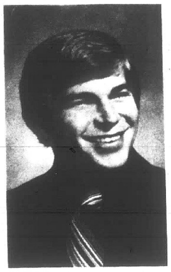
Recent photo project was successful so it will be repeated. Family photos will be taken the second week of October. Pam Hunt is chairman of this project.

Sunshine and Lollypop project will be directed by Ann Schultz. Useful items and tote bags will be made for children in nearby hospitals.

Helping Hands community project will be reactivated. Former members of the project who offered their homes as a refuge for children in need of emergency help by window signs, will be contacted and new participants will be sought.

Next board meeting will be at the home of Pam Hunt on Aug. 22 at 10:30 a.m.

Jaycettes will meet Sept. 10 at Pizza Pit, when a prize will be given to the member bringing the most guests.



DANIEL OLSON

Accepts Position with McDonnel

BRITTON—Richard J. Smetka accepted an engineering position recently with McDonnel Douglass Aircraft in St. Louis, Mo.

Richard is a 1973 graduate of Britton-Macon High School, and has received an associate degree of science in electronic engineering technology from Monroe County Community College and a BS degree in electronic engineering technology, and an associate in computer engineering technology from the Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smetka.

Rick and his wife, Pam, returned to St. Louis, Mo. after attending the funeral of her father Lawrence J. Gose of Tecumseh, who was killed in an auto accident.

7th Birthday Celebrated

BRITTON — Nicole, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Servoss of Durham, N.C., was honored at a birthday picnic Sunday, given by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Servoss.

Nicole and her parents arrived last Thursday for a visit with her grandparents. Her father returned to Durham Sunday, but Nicole and her mother will extend their visit a few more days.

Attending the picnic besides her parents and grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hansen, Swanton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bufford and family, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Servoss, Tecumseh; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rowe and family; and Mike Servoss and Brenda Reau, all of Britton.

Elected Chairman

BRITTON — Beryl Albring was elected chairman for next year's local Fertile Acres Farm Bureau, at Tuesday nights meeting held at the Albring home.

Members finalized the county fair project, sponsored by the County Farm Bureau Women, following the election.

Next meeting will be held with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Judkins Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Short, Short Poems

BRITTON — One reader sent in what she believes to be the shortest poems she has ever read.

She was prompted to share them when she recently read a two-word poem, by a young boy, in a local paper.

Here they are: "I" Why? and "Lice", Adam Had'em.

Past Chiefs Club to Meet

TIPTON — The Addie Kemp Past Chiefs Club will meet at the home of Lillian Benedict Aug. 17 with Mildred Bailey as co-hostess.

The mystery gift will be furnished by Mrs. Roy Willnow.

Britton Briefs

Alan and Marti, children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickerson, flew from Metro Airport July 30, to spend a couple of weeks in Colorado City, Colo. (120 miles from Denver) with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Grady and daughter, Cyrisse. They are expected to return this weekend accompanied by Mrs. Grady, who will spend a few weeks visiting with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gubbe took a vacation trip to Washington D.C. and Vigínia last week. Places of interest visited at Washington D.C. were the capital building, Smithsonian Institute, Arlington Cemetery and the changing of the guards. In Virginia they toured Fredericksburg and Richmond. They returned home via Skyline Drive.

Places 8th In Contest

BRITTON—Ken Bortel, 11890 N. Ridge Hwy., placed eighth in the National Livestock Producers magazine annual livestock photo judging contest. Prize was a quantity of meat.

Bortel operates the Bo-Mar Farms in the Britton area and raises Corriedale sheep.

His daughter, Jackie, was a member of the County Jr. Livestock Judging Team. Bortel said that his work with the 4-H and FFA youth livestock judging teams paid off and made him a lucky winner in the photo contest.

The magazine ran photos of two species of livestock for three months in a row.

Animals to be judged were breeding and market cattle and hogs and market lambs and horses.

Attends Camp

BRITTON—Jonathan Hintz, 10413 Welch Rd. is a band student attending the fourth session at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, a summer school of the arts located just north of Muskegon.

Cheerleaders Hold Bake Sale

BRITTON — Britton-Macon Varsity Cheerleaders will hold a bread sale, Aug. 12 at the Britton Branch Bank from 1-4:30 p.m.

Money earned will go toward the purchase of pants for the football season.

Scouts Take Canoe Trip

BRITTON — Sixteen Scouts and leaders of Troop 23 in Britton recently completed a six-day canoe trip through part of Algonquin Provincial Park in northern Ontario.

The group left Britton early July 23, riding the Scout bus and towing a rack holding eight canoes. After overcoming some trailer hitch problems, they arrived at Whitefish Lake in the Park and camped there for the night.

The group started the following morning on a trip that was a real challenge to the boys and equipment. The journey included approximately 45 miles of lake, river,and stream canoeing; as well as 17 portages covering about 16 miles. The longest portage was 2,100 yards.

Each member of the group earned an award for overseas camping and a "Fifty Miles - Afoot and Afloat" patch.

Participating were Dale Evans, Richard McWilliams, Adam Moyer, Chris and Ron Pickell, Bob Pratt, Steve Scholl, Gregg Stotler and Don Zeemer.

The group was led by senior patrol leader Barry Hall, junior assistant scoutmaster Bruce Raeburn, assistant scoutmaster Bill Raeburn, and scoutmaster Bill Szabo. Additional leadership was provided by Dan Pratt, Ken Stotler, and Marvin Stotler.

Son Born to Sorias

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Soria became parents of a 6 lb. baby boy, Carlos Jr., Aug. 6 at a hospital in Terre Haute, Ind.

Mrs. Soria is the former exchange student Ana Gonzales from Chili. She lived with the Martin Ivans while attending Britton-Macon High School in 1966. They became close friends, keeping in touch all these years, and the Ivans consider themselves grandparents of the baby.

Ana's mother, from Chili, is visiting the couple and getting acquainted with her new grandson.

The Sori's have been living in Terra Houte where Ana has been working as a teacher and Mr. Soria has been attending school and last week received his doctors degree, adding to the double celebration.

The Sorias will be moving to Ecuador as soon as they are able to travel.

Send Pat Greetings

BRITTON — Pat Gibson, who has been a patient at St. Joseph Hospital for the past several months following a car accident, will be celebrating her birthday August 19.

Friends are asked to send birthday greetings to her at St. Joseph Hospital, P.O. 995, Ann Arbor. Mich., 48106. Room 2041.

B-M FFA Holds Meet

BRITTON — Britton-Macon FFA Chapter has scheduled a meeting for Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. in the high school FFA room.

Members are urged to attend.

The Tecumseh Public Library offers novels of all types for your reading enjoyment: philosophical, historical, psychological, both light-hearted and serious. Here are a few new additions.

FICTION

Do you remember Richard Bach's "Jonathan Livingston Seagull?" "Illusions: The Adventures of a Reluctant Messiah" is the companion story.

What would happen if we met a super-advanced person-a messiah-who could control the world and its illusions because he knew the reality behind them?

What if he taught us to control the world?

Meet Richard and the real Messiah who quit. Through their mind-whirling conversations, answer the big "What if. . .?" with them.

"East Wind, Rain," by N. Richard Nash, is "a novel of complicated yearnings and obsessive hates, of the murderous demands of conscience and the dark compulsions of the blood."

When I was a little girl, I used to think that God lived in the steeple of Grandfather's church. I believed, too, that Grandfather had a marvelous monopoly, a private pipeline connecting him with those upper regions.

When I told him, Grandfather hugged me close and chuckled. "Child," he said, "You can't shut God up in a church or in one man's heart. He's everywhere — in whispering winds, the wild goose's call, in winter's purple clouds and scarlet leaves of fall. Wherever you see beauty — you see God."

Not long ago I went back to that little town and visited the church. It looked just the same. The white spire gleamed in the sun, piercing the blue summer sky. Wide doors stood open and inviting, and a gentle breeze wafted faint strains of an anthem to me. I remembered Grandfather's words, and a prayer of thanks rose in my heart for his church. Silently I prayed too for all the landmarks of God — His churches that spread across this land, symbols of His might and glory.

Handley, Loggers Lead, Tie on Thursday for 1st

Tuesday League

There is one more week left and Handley's team is in the driver's seat. One more victory and, for the first time in four years, there will be a new Tuesday Night League Champ.

In game number one, Local 429 stayed close enough to hope for a tie by downing Tecumseh Merchants 9-5. Local 429 used four homeruns, one each by Louie Gonzalez and Joe Stoddard and two smacked by Pat Stoddard. It was a tight ballgame until 429 broke loose in the top of the seventh with fourth runs.

In the second game, Handley came alive in the sixth inning and exploded for six runs to defeat Clinton Merchants 10-6. Larry Sanborn and Terry Betz hit roundtrippers to pace the 12-hit attack for Handley.

Phil Reiser had three singles for Clinton Merchants.

In the finale, Tractor Village earned its second victory by defeating United Savings Bank 10-8. A six-run first inning put USB down and they never caught up.

Dwight Loop and Larry Ganun had three hits each to lead Tractor Village. Jerry Chatfield and Ron Baxter paced USB with three safeties a piece.

Tuesday Standings

Handley Equipment	7	2
Local 429	6	3
United Savings Bank	5	4
Tecumseh Merchants	5	4

Wednesday League

Dan Jurasek had a big night collecting four hits including a homerun to lead Erb's Chevrolet to a 16-4 win over Wagon Wheel. Mark Carlton hit a roundtripper for one of his three hits to help Erb's. For Wagon Wheel, Bob Bivins hit a homer.

Game number two was an Iott victory because Faraday was forced to forfeit. Vacation took its toll.

The final game of the night was a big one as Logger's took over sole possession of first place by defeating VFW 10-6. Five homeruns paced the 12-hit attack. Jim Hunt hit one, while Bob Vogel and Don Eaton smacked two each.

Gordie Whelan and Al Schaefer hit one each for VFW. Going into the top of the seventh, the score was only 7-6, but Logger's punched three across to prevail.

Wednesday Standings

Thursday League

Thursday night league is all caught up going into the last week.

There is now a tie going into the last week of play. Ember's won two and lost one to gain a share of the lead. Tecumseh Plywood won one and lost one to grab it's share.

Ember's defeated Proctor's 7-4. They were aided by four key errors by Proctor's which helped in the scoring. The second victory was a 20-0, 5-inning win over George's Market. In this game, Joe Bill hit two homeruns while Tony Nykodym and Doug Bunch each smacked one. They paced the 20-hit attack for an easy victory.

On Friday, Tecumseh Plywood beat Luper's 12-8 to cause a tie. Pete Dermyer and Sam Short hit homeruns to lead Plywood. The night before, Plywood lost to Luper Plumbing 14-8. Randy Arnett and Pat Connors each collected three hits a piece to lead Luper's 17-hit attack.

Pete Dermyer hit another homerun for Plywood.

Finally, Luper Plumbing won on forfeit to George's Market. There was a double forfeit in the final game between George's Market and Proctor's.

Carnival for M.D. Coming Friday, 11-2

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department is ending the playgrounds season with a carnival for muscular dystrophy.

The event is scheduled to take place on Friday, August 12 at the community center from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Cost for admission is 10 cents and each booth will have a one cent fee. A dunking machine, a football toss, shave the balloon, dart toss, treasure hunt and many more fun activities will be sponsored.

All area residents are urged to attend the event to help in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

For further information please contact the playground leaders of the recreation department at 423-5602.

Tourney Openings Available

There is still room for five teams in the Hudson Trophy Slo-Pitch Tournament to be held Aug. 19, 20, 21.

The tourney is a men's double elimination affair with the entry deadline set for Aug. 16.

There is an entry fee.

For more information call 448-6901 in Hudson.

Tennis Tourney Aug. 20-21

Tecumseh Recreation Department is sponsoring a tennis tournament for adults and children on Aug. 20 and 21.

There is a $3 registration fee and entrants must register at the recreation department no later than 4:30 p.m. Aug. 18.

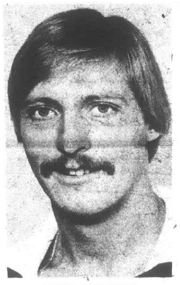
The tourney is open to men and women 18 and older and girls and boys 17 and under. There are four different divisions consisting of men's singles, boys singles, women's singles and girl's singles. There will be a minimum of eight contestants per division.

Participants must provide one can of tennis balls.

The tournament will start at 8 a.m. on Aug. 20 and court assignments will be made at that time at Tecumseh Park.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second places.

For more information contact the recreation department at 423-5602.



JOHN LA SOTTA

Tecumseh Teacher Named Principal

John L. La Sotta, 28, chairman of the Tecumseh High School English department, has accepted a position as principal of Lawton High School, Lawton, Michigan.

Besides the chairmanship, La Sotta served as freshman baseball and basketball coach and play director. He was with the school district three years.

A graduate of Blissfield High School, La Sotta received his Bachelor of Arts degree from UCLA and a Master of Arts degree from the University of Michigan.

He taught high school English in Los Angeles and Monroe before coming to Tecumseh.

He will assume his new duties at Lawton located near Kalamazoo, on August 15.

Airport Captures Title

In the first game of action, Airport Bowl captured first place in the league by defeating DST 18-3.

DST stayed within striking distance until the sixth inning when Airport exploded for nine runs. Baker paced the hitting attack for the league champs with a roundtripper while Oxley pitched a three-hit ball game to pick up her eighth victory.

Airport was given its trophy after the game.

Doc's captured a share of second place in the second game by defeating Deerfield 13-6. Deerfield jumped out to an early lead but Doc's came back in the third and took over the lead for the rest of the game.

Baugh pitched a three-hitter for Doc's while each player made it to base.

In the night cap Dundee picked up a share of second place by defeating Ive's Body Shop 24-9 in five innings.

Handley led Dundee's hitting attack with two homers and Below collected one. Every Ive's player reached base, but six runners were left stranded.

Drop Charges against Youths

Felony charges of kidnapping and first degree sexual assault against four Tecumseh youths have been dropped, according to Merlin Mowery, local police chief.

He says that new information obtained last Wednesday night by the police led to the dropping of charges. The county prosecutor's office was contacted Thursday morning for dismissal.

Mowery says the new information immediately cleared one youth, James Groover. He was elsewhere the evening of the alleged attack and kidnapping and could not possibly been involved.

No explanation has been given why the 15-year-old girl falsified information that resulted in the ensuing charges and warrants against Charles Sessoms, John Sell, Mark Keller and Groover.

Officers had questioned the young girl several times before issuing warrants and arresting the youths, Aug. 8, three days after she claimed the youths kidnapped and assaulted her. Her story reportedly remained the same until last Wednesday evening.

Mowery says police are continuing their investigation of the case.

Russ Cheever Dies from Heart Attack

Services were held Tuesday morning at St. Peter's Episcopal Church for Russell M. Cheever, 53, of 9350 N. River Court, who died suddenly early Friday evening at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

He had been admitted to the emergency room shortly before he was stricken with an apparent heart attack. He had not been in ill health, although he had complained of not feeling well late Saturday afternoon at his home.

Mr. Cheever was well known in the Tecumseh and Britton areas.

He was considered an excellent carpenter and was a building contractor and partner of Benedict and Cheever building firm, contractors who served this area for approximately 25 years.

He was born in Britton on Dec. 20, 1923, the son of Millard and H. Theresa (Curry) Cheever. He married the former Lois Clark on March 30, 1947. She survives.

RUSSELL CHEEVER

Mr. Cheever graduated from Britton High School in 1942, and then served in the United States Army in Europe during World War II.

An active member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, he was a vestry member, a former senior warden for the church and a member of the church's Usher Club.

He was also a member of Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 of the American Legion and a member of the Tecumseh Woodworking bowling team in the Thursday night league.

Other survivers include two sons, Lee of Tecumseh and Michael at home; daughter, Mrs. Douglas (Deborah) Taylor, Brooklyn; and a sister, Mrs. Murell (Geraldine) Clark of Tecumseh.

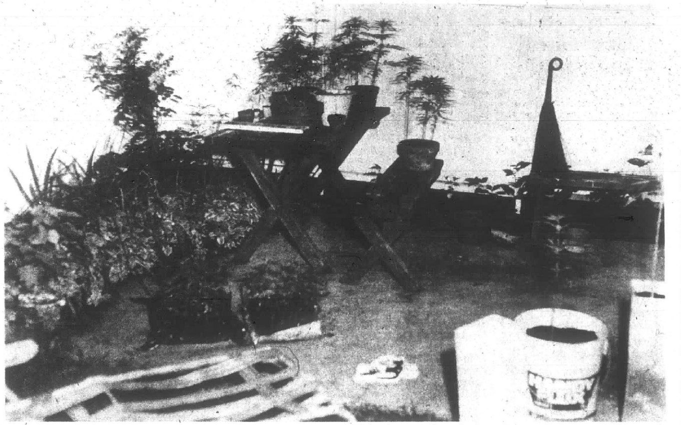
His parents and a brother preceeded him in death.

The Rev. David Fox officiated, and burial was in Brookside Cemetery. The Underwood-Orr Post conducted graveside services.

Arrangements were handled by the Proctor Funeral Home.

Appoint Two

Tecumseh City Council appointed Monday night the Rev. B.O. Bashore and Hal I. VanWagner to succeed themselves to the Board of Appeals.



HOME GROWN — Acting on a tip, police arrested James L. Yoder, 23, of 704 Wenonah, last Thursday for possession of marijuana. Officers confiscated 51 potted plants - many on the patio - and 96 plants in Yoder's garden behind his garage. Police were alerted on Aug. 7th, observed the plants from a neighbor's yard on the 8th, and then arrested him on the 11th.

Ordinance Hearing Set for Sept. 19

Tecumseh City Council will hear objections to the proposed historic district and protective ordinance during the Sept. 19 public hearing at 8 p.m. in city hall.

City council voted 6-1 Monday night to have the first reading of the ordinance by title only. Mayor Harold Easton cast the dissenting vote.

The proposed historic district includes properties on West Chicago Blvd. from 206 to 710 and on Union St. from 207 S. Union north to Evans Creek.

The district includes roughly 90 homes built before 1900's, with 23 homes considered a major historical and architectural significance.

The district includes two churches, the First United Presbyterian Church, the Church of Christ (formerly the First Baptist Church); the former Universalist Church at 111 N. Union, now converted to a residence; a dentist's office at 515 W. Chicago; a funeral home, corner of Union and Pottawatamie; the offices of the board of education at 304 W. Chicago Blvd.; one of the few early farm houses within the city limits at 405 N. Union St.

The historic district and ordinance has been the result of three years of study by members of the City Council appointed Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee and volunteers from the Tecumseh Area Historical Society.

Study group decided that the plan presented to the city was

Board Studying 'Code' Change

The Board of Education considered changing the high school Code of Conduct Monday night.

It had been proposed that possession of alcoholic beverages and drugs result in a 10-day suspension for the first offense, a semester suspension for the second offense and permanent expulsion for the third offense.

Presently, a student is suspended for the semester after the first offense and permanently for the second.

Board member James Records felt that the proposed change was "backing-off from a relatively firm stand. I don't think it's strong enough."

The discussion was tabled for further study. Other board members felt that the words "alcoholic beverage" and "drugs" were too vague and should be changed or defined in the code.

Board members also listened to a complaint from parents of THS students Ron Gilreath and Barry Harrison.

Both students were caught with fireworks on the second to last day of the school year. They were suspended for three days and therefore missed final day exams.

According to school rules, a student can not pass a subject unless he takes the final exam. Therefore, principal Clarence Lacny gave the two failing grades.

The board promised the parents that they would re-examine the situation.

HS Addition Construction Disappointing

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told the Board of Education Monday night that progress on the high school addition is "extremely slow."

Cooley went on to say that there had been structural setbacks which had been rectified. Now, there is a problem in obtaining brick.

He concluded by saying that, "We're disappointed in the progress." Cooley could not estimate when the work might be completed.

In other action, the board agreed to send press releases to area media voicing opposition to Senate Bill 714. According to Cooley, the bill, if passed would guarantee unemployment compensation for non-teaching employees of a district during holidays and vacation periods.

In final business, Cooley told the board that ARA Food Services would implement a lunch program in the high school and junior high but not in the elementary schools.

OK Low Bid

Tecumseh City Council Monday night accepted the low bid of $9,694 from Cunningham-Gooding for the 1977 bituminous program. Bid of Belden Asphalt Co. for $11,601 was rejected.

City Accepts Bids, Rejects Electrical

Low bids for various aspects of the tennis court construction were tentatively accepted by Tecumseh City Council Monday night with the exception of the bid for electrical lighting from Saunders and Son for $32,430.

City manager Cal Zorn said that it was the only bid received for the electrical work and "We feel it's too high."

Comparison of bids to estimates showed an approximate increase of $6,000 from the original estimate of $83,600. Major increases were in the bids for four lighted tennis courts and parking and installation of a water line.

Low bids accepted by Council Monday night were: Brady Sand and Gravel $17,711 for excavating and water line; Cunningham-Gooding $11,008 for paving and $14,288 for tennis courts; Belson Mfg. $264 for six grills; Herbert Jennings, $5,439 for the picnic shelter and $474 for six tables; Tecumseh Fence $6,408 for fence; Smith-Wheeler, $16,665 for tennis courts.

$23,106 in Aid

Tecumseh School Board members passed a resolution Monday night allowing district officials to apply for special state aid to reduce the debt levy from two mills to 1.8 mills.

It is the first time that Tecumseh has qualified for the debt reimbursement program.

The district will receive $23,106 from the state.

Vandals Giving Council, Police Problems, Too

Tecumseh city officials were deadlocked Monday night for a solution to the continual vandalism in the city.

Council discussed the problem with Police Chief Merlin Mowery, city attorney Greg Forsthoefel and downtown residents.

There is no easy answer. Increased manpower and curfews aren't enough. Police must have proof to make the charges stick in court. Given previous court cases, it appears that loitering, a contributing factor to vandalism, is unenforceable.

Chief Mowery said that he would try to use a foot patrolman during the problem hours. Attorney Forsthoefel said he would review the city's disorderly person ordinance to see if there were some way to keep loiterers away from the storefronts.

Councilwoman Mary Bowers said, "Customers come to the main office and say they're afraid to put their bag in the night depository because there are broken windows. People feel there's not enough police protection."

Suggestion was for an extra footpatrolman to keep the vandalism situation in hand.

Tecumseh Police Department has four men assigned to each afternoon and midnight shift with another man working split shift from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m., the trouble hours.

"The desk is always manned," said Chief Mowery. He said he tries to have at least one man on the road. When two officers patrol it may be in separate cars or in one car. "There is no set pattern," Mowery explained.

Putting an extra man on the night shift seven days a week would require the hiring of three officers to cover leave time. At approximate unit cost of $18,000 per officer, plus extra equipment costs, it could mean an increase to the police budget of $60,000, Council discussed.

"We're starting to think like the federal government," said Councilman Carlton Cook. "If we spend more money, we can solve problems. But it just doesn't work that way. If somebody is going to break a window, they're going to find a way to do it."

Mayor Harold Easton suggested that the chief instruct the officers to patrol downtown instead of waiting for drunks from the local taverns.

"People have the feeling that we're not doing anything. That it's just going on and going on," said Mrs. Bowers.

"We are concerned, said Mowery. "If anybody has a suggestion, I would be glad to listen. When possible, I do have someone walking. I will try to have somebody on foot more. But I'm finding when they (the officers) are walking, this small number could care less. We see the same faces night after night."

"Whether adding people would be worth $60,000, I can't say," Mowery continued. "It is not a paying situation. We're not going to take in more money.

"I would feel more comfortable with a couple more people out there. That's why I asked for an extra man on trouble hours. (He is now in training) I don't know if that's the answer. Quite frankly, I don't have the answer," Mowery concluded.

"I think we ought to start thinking of a curfew. I'm sick of it. I really am," Mrs. Bowers said angrily.

Mowery said that there was a curfew for juveniles.

"Some recent curfew violation arrests that come to mind were turned over to the parents and the parents took them downtown and dropped them off," Mowery told. "It takes cooperation of the parents. Not even that (helps). A lot of these people are old enough. Majority of them are old enough."

"Can the parents be held responsible?" asked Councilman James H. Palmer.

"If you can prove that the parents took the kid downtown and let him out. What we know and what we can prove in court are two different things." Mowery told Palmer.

"We have police officers and ordinances. When do we go to court? When do we win? Palmer asked impatiently.

"We keep track of when they are picked up for curfew violations, but it has no value in court," Mowery told Council.

Councilman Jay Tressler suggested a patrolman to establish a rapport with loiterers, similar to the off-duty patrolman the "A Place for Teens" board uses to patrol the summer dances.

"What does a person say that's legally effective?" asked one resident.

"My men ask the same questions," said Chief Mowery.

"Council has to do something," said another resident in desperation. "Can't they pass a law that prohibits gathering of more than three people?"

"The U.S. Constitution gives you the right of assembly, you can't legislate against that," said Councilman Carlton Cook.

"If night depositors have a problem passing through these people to make a deposit, then they should come to the police department. It would be enforceable as interfering with public access,"

Schools Ready for Opening of 1977-78 Term

By Supt. Robert Duhan

Tecumseh Public Schools will open for all pupils, except kindergarten, on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Elementary pupils, kindergarten-6, will be mailed assignment cards during the last week of August. However, if it is necessary to make some assignment changes after school starts because of class loads, these changes will be made as soon as possible.

Parents of children, who are new to the Tecumseh School District and who haven't registered their children, are asked to enroll their kindergarten through sixth grade pupils immediately with Mrs. Rosann Vollmar at the Board of Education Office, 304 W. Chicago Blvd.

Children are eligible for kindergarten if they are 5 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1977. Parents who plan to send their child to kindergarten and haven't enrolled their son or daughter are asked to do so immediately.

The Junior High School (Grades 7 and 8) will be open from August 18 for new enrollments. Guidance personnel will be at the Senior High School from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 30 and 31, to confer, counsel and enroll pupils new to the Tecumseh High School.

The first day will be a full day of school for all pupils in grades 1-12. Kindergarteners' first day will be Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The kindergarten teachers will, however, be in their rooms from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (except for lunch) on Tuesday, Sept. 6, to meet with parents and students. If a child has been assigned to a morning session, parents should plan to meet with the teacher in the morning. If assigned to an afternoon session, they should plan to meet the teacher in the afternoon.

Parents should bring their child's health record and birth certificate if they were not presented at time of the child's registration.

High School student schedule cards will be mailed to the enrolled students the last week of August. High School classes will begin on September 6th, at 7:45 a.m.

Junior High pupils are to report at 7:45 a.m. on September 6; the 7th grade to the boy's gym on the 1st floor, and the 8th grade to the girl's gym on the 3rd floor. Regular classes will begin immediately following the distribution of schedule cards.

Elementary starting time will be 9:00 a.m. with noon dismissal at 12:00 noon. Afternoon session will start at 12:45 p.m. with dismissal at 3:15 p.m.

Junior High will start at 7:45 a.m. with first lunch period from 10:35 a.m. to 11:26 a.m., and second lunch period from 11:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. School dismissal time is 2:20 p.m.

Senior High School starting time will be 7:45 a.m. with first lunch period at 10:40 a.m. to 11:15 a.m., and second lunch period from 11:40 to 12:15 p.m.

High School cafeteria will be open starting Tuesday, September 6. Lunches will be served at the Junior High School as soon in the school year as possible.

The Board of Education has approved the ARA Food Services Company for the management and operations of the school system's food service program.

Food service will not be available in the elementary schools this fall. The mandatory School Lunch Act, PA no. 454 becomes effective September 1978. There may be the possibility of limited food services in selected elementary schools this year on an experimental basis.

Milk will be available in all the elementary schools as well as the high school and junior high for those who bring their lunches.

The cost of meals in the high school and junior high school will be increased five cents to fifty-five cents. The cost of milk in all schools will remain the same, five cents per half pint carton.

Bus service to Tecumseh Public School pupils will again be on a "safety first" basis. State regulations—stating that pupils in grades kindergarten through sixth grade may be required to walk up to one-half mile to scheduled bus routes and pupils grades seven through twelve up to one mile—is used to determine the length of bus routes as well as to group pupils so that fewer stops may be made. Backtracking has been eliminated unless absolutely necessary. Parents of pupils requested to join groups at pick-up points are again asked to give their cooperation.

All new children to receive bus service will be contacted by bus personnel as to time and bus number for the pupils. It is planned at this time that bus routes and times will be the same as last year, unless parents are contacted individually.

Children starting kindergarten will meet Wednesday, Sept. 7, with the morning session from 9:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and afternoon session from 12:45 p.m. to 3:15 p.m.

Kindergarten bus drivers will make home calls sometime before Wednesday, Sept. 7 to acquaint parents of their school bus routines.

Administrative changes for the 1977-78 school year at the Junior High include Donald Berkley, who has been assistant junior high school principal, has become junior high school principal. Richard Montcalm, who has been a junior high school math teacher, has become assistant junior high school principal.

In the elementary schools, Margaret Yerman will be replacing Mrs. Cynthia Opelt as principal at Patterson who is on maternity leave for one year.

Talking It Out

ROGER PROCTOR

Benefits of Mourning Customs

Attending a wake, making a condolence call, offering help to the bereaved -- all are two-way acts of care-giving.

These mourning practices directly benefit the bereaved family and one's self. In her book, "Death, the Final Stage of Growth," Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross advises that the purpose of mourning should be to allow for a full outpouring of grief. Mourning becomes the opportunity for the family to re-group after the loss of a member, especially to be able to continue living, loving, working and enjoying one another.

By getting this outpouring of grief early, we help to prevent pent-up feelings of guilt and regret from blossoming later with psychologically unhealthy repercussions. "Getting it out of your system" as soon as possible is appropriate therapy in most instances, experts agree.

Complaint Reports Involve Alcohol

Half of the Tecumseh Police's complaint reports this week involved alcohol related arrests. A resume of those arrests follows:

Aug. 10 - Alfred M. Wesley, 55, of Britton was arrested on drunk and disorderly charges after police found him staggering down the 100 block of S. Evans.

Aug. 12 - Leonard K. Osburn, 25, of Tipton was arrested for being drunk and disorderly (D&D) after police received a call of a prowler in the 300 block of W. Chicago.

Edward Cantrell, 30, of Manitou Beach was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor (DUIL) after he made an erratic stop and was weaving in his lane on W. Chicago.

Police arrested Beauford L. Barnett, 47, of Hudson on DUIL charges after they found him driving very slowly and backine up traffic on E. Chicago. Passenger J.B. Barnett, 41, of Adrian was also arrested, but on D&D charges.

Aug. 13 - Raymond L. Knowles and William J. Gray, both 18, were arrested Saturday after police found their auto blocking the right lane of eastbound M-50. Open intoxicant charges were filed.

Aug. 14 - Officers were reportedly run off the road and then observed the suspect's auto nearly strike the bridge in the 500 block of N. Evans Sunday. They followed and arrested the driver, Theodore J. Blatchford, 25, of Clinton, for DUIL.

Aug. 15 - Richard Garney, 31, of Adrian was arrested on D&D charges after police observed him leave his van, staggering south of Brown Street.

Aug. 17 - Leonard F. Cote, 53, of 4631 Macon Hwy., was arrested for DUIL after police observed Cote make a prolonged stop at St. Ottawa and the Boulevard. Cote was stopped after he reportedly braked the entire length of N. Ottawa.

Yet another resident said that she recently spoke to one of the district judges. He told her that he has received more cases from Tecumseh than anywhere else, that they don't hold up in court and that in effect, he thought Tecumseh was hasseling its young people.

"Maybe we ought to start a rapport from the top," suggested the resident.

the best contiguous area for historic preservation. A historic district would enable the city to receive and administer state and federal grants to continue preservation.

The purpose of the protective ordinance is to encourage homeowners in preservation and repair of these homes to retain the historical character of the downtown residential district.

The ordinance provides for a Council appointed seven member Tecumseh Historic District Commission that would review any exterior improvement for the historic buildings that would require a building permit.

The ordinance refers to building exteriors and other building components, extensions and additions.

Applications would be made to the city building inspector and referred by him to the Historic District Commission for recommendation. Anyone who disagreed with the commission could appeal to City Council.

Commission must pass on the application within 30 days and issue a certificate of approval or voice disapproval otherwise approval is automatic. Meetings and records of the commission would be public.

Commission would also have the ability to designate landmarks and serve as a community resource for advice and guidance to property owners in the historic district.

Demolition of a building would be allowed if the building inspector deemed the building a hazard, determent to major improvement, financial hardship if restored or not in the public interest.

Ordinance would also give the city the option to acquire historic building.

Two Exchange Nuptial Vows

CLINTON—Nuptial vows were exchanged by Laura Ann Markham and Terry E. Sell in St. Dominic's Catholic Church, Friday evening.

The ecumenical ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. James Lee of St. Dominic's and the Rev. Thomas Kruchkow; pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Clinton. Double-ring ceremony, featuring the lighting of a unity candle, was written by the couple.

John Roundtree of Detroit was the organist.

Altar vases were filled with purple and rose asters from the garden of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Edward Kehoe.

Accompanied to the altar by her parents, the bride wore a candlelight gown of polyester and organza styled with a high neck, bodice and long sleeves of lace medallion design.

The bride wore a lace cap and a lace-edged veil and carried a presentation bouquet of baby's breath and blue, yellow and green carnations.

Maid of honor was Ruth King of Clinton, wearing a long gown of light beige, and carrying a presentation bouquet of baby's breath, and yellow carnations, with pastel ribbons.

Identically gowned, the bridesmaids were Dawn Markham, sister of the bride, in green; Sharie Sell, sister of groom, in blue; and Rhonda Sell, sister of groom, in peach. They carried matching bouquets.

Best man was Bryon Marion; ushers were Jim Wilson, Kevin Murphy and Wally Heimerdinger, all of Clinton.

Ring bearer was Jeff Markham, brother of bride.

Reception at K of C Hall, Manchester, was attended by 150 guests.

Yellow, blue, green and white streamers and bells adorned the hall. White sugar bells, made by Sandy Marion, were on the guest tables.

Guests came from Plymouth, Britton, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Tecumseh, Detroit and New York.

The bride and groom are 1977 graduates of Clinton High School. Groom is employed at Budd Co., Clinton.

Couple will reside in the Heimerdinger Apartment on Pennington Rd.

MR. and MRS. TERRY SELL

The engagement of Katherine Anne Ocamb to Kenneth Swanson, son of Mrs. Virginia Swanson of Allen Park, is announced by the bride elect's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Ocamb. Both are 1977 graduates of Michigan State University, Kathy in Special Education and Ken in Hotel-Restaurant Management. Miss Ocamb will teach secondary practical education in Hastings. A December wedding is planned.

MRS. THOMAS BUSCH

Thomas Busch and Lori Pawlak Marry

The wedding of Lori Pawlak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Pawlak, Jr., Monroe and Thomas Busch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Busch of Clinton, was solemnized Friday night in St. Michael's Catholic Church, Monroe, before the Rev. Hugo Noetzel.

Organist for the double ring ceremony was Bob Wolf, with Brother Phillip Smith, soloist, accompanied by Mark Pawlak, cousin of the bride, on guitar.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a frosty white bridal gown of polyorganza and Cluny lace. The bodice featured the crown collar above a lace and pearl bib, with Cluny lace decorating the back yoke, empire waist, long bishop sleeves full skirt and ruffled flounce edge. The chapel-length veil and headpiece were also trimmed with Cluny lace.

A colonial bouquet of white roses, pink miniature carnations and burgundy sweetheart roses, with lace streamers and baby's breath, was carried by the bride.

Deb Burch, of Kalamazoo, was the maid of honor for the ceremony, with Laura Garano; Colleen Roberts, both of Monroe; Karen Busch, sister of the groom; and Mrs. Gary Pawlak, of Monroe, sister-in-law of the bride, attending as bridesmaids.

Gowns of crisp pink cotton voile with fitted A-shaped design were worn by the attendants. Each gown featured a square neckline and short caplet sleeves with contrasting white Cluny lace outlining the neckline, waist and finishing the triple ruffle at the hemline. White picture hats trimmed in pink were also worn.

Best man was John Ruhl, of Clinton; Robert Pawlak, Gary Pawlak, of Monroe; Tim Busch, of Southfield, Greg Busch were ushers. David Pawlak, of Monroe, and Doug Busch were the altar servers. All brothers of the bride and groom.

A reception followed in the Fraternal Order of Police hall in Monroe for 250 guests. A buffet dinner was served and the cake was a double wedding cake connected by a bridge over a lighted fountain.

The couple plans to reside in Kalamazoo, following a honeymoon in Paradise Island, Bahamas and Toronto, Canada.

The bride, a 1974 graduate of St. Mary Academy, will be a senior in the fall at Western Michigan University, where she is majoring in business education. Her husband, also a senior at WMU, is a 1974 graduate of Clinton High School.

The rehearsal dinner was at Mancy's, Toledo, Ohio, hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Busch.

United

Mary E. Klanke of Adrian and Harold Ashenfelter of Tecumseh, were married Thursday evening before their families and several friends at the Tecumseh Assembly of God. Pastor R.H. Warnick officiated.

Mrs. Ashenfelter's daughter, Mary Prong of Clinton, was the matron of honor.

Mr. Ashenfelter's son-in-law, Richard Camburn of Toledo, was the best man.

A reception for the newlyweds was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashenfelter will reside at 209 W. Cummins St.

4 Minor Accidents

Police investigated four minor accidents this week, citing two of the drivers for hazardous actions.

Aug. 13 — Nineteen-year-old Danny R. Harrold, 904 Park, was cited for failing to yield and for having no proof of ownership or insurance after he attempted to leave a city lot on S. Pearl and struck a northbound auto. Second auto was driven by Lawrence E. Cote, 57, of 4393 Comfort Rd.

Aug. 14 — Herman M. Schmidt, 62, of 208 W. Cummings reported his parked car was damaged while resting in the Kroger lot.

Aug. 15 — Police cited Jeffrey C. Parker, 23, of 503 Cairns, for failing to stop in an assured clear distance after he ran into the rear of another auto. Ben R. Joseph, 55, of 501 Parkway told police he had stopped to make a left from E. Chicago onto N. Maumee when he was hit.

Aug. 16 — Jefferson B. Pollock, Ypsilanti, parked his auto in the no parking zone at Kroger's and returned to find that Ruth E. Whiting, 69, of 106 W. Pottawatamie had backed from her parking space and bumped the Pollock auto.

Aug. 8 — Last week, the Herald mistakenly reported that Donald Judd of 607 Blanchard backed into Ray L. Mattis when actually she backed into Judd's car.

Sue Long Leaves for Farm Conference

Sue Long of Tecumseh left Lansing Aug. 15, to attend the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation on the campus of Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

She was sponsored by the Michigan Animal Breeders Co-operative and selected as the Outstanding Youth For Michigan.

Sue has been active in 4-H for eight years. She has been a teen superintendent for Dairy at the Lenawee County Fair for three years. She will be a senior at Tecumseh High School this fall.

She has been sports editor and assistant editor of the Yearbook and will serve as editor-in-chief this year.

"Cooperation—Making It Work" is the theme of the 1977 largest U.S. Farm Business Conference to be attended by 1,000 adults, 800 young people, and 300 young farm couples from most of the 50 states.

The American Institute of Cooperation was organized as a University and incorporated in the District of Columbia in 1925. It has often been referred to as "a University without a campus."

Each year a Land Grant University loans its campus to the Institute and invites its members and friends to hold what has become the largest annual conference on farm business matters.

SUE LONG

Correction

Lloyd Beemer of the Detroit area was Michigan's pharmacist of the year, and not R. Charles Osburn as reported last week.

Mr. Osburn, formerly of Tecumseh and now of Pontiac, was honored and recognized for his outstanding community service by the Michigan Pharmacists Association at its recent convention.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

OUR OPINION

Reaction Shows City Needs More Police

Since last Thursday's issue of The Herald, lives of Herald employees and Herald property have been threatened. Fortunately, only property has been damaged.

Obscene phone calls and one bomb threat also have been received.

Reasons for the repercussion are obvious, some people did not like the article last week that four youths had been charged with kidnapping and sexual assault. These people did not like the article, nor the fact that The Herald published the pictures of the youths.

If we had known the charges were being dropped Thursday, neither the article nor the pictures would have been printed. However, that was not the case. Our last contact with the local police was the previous Wednesday morning, and they did not know then that the charges would be dismissed.

Therefore, at press time, the charges were in effect and serious. They were felony charges, and we don't condone felonies and we don't protect those who commit them.

The seriousness and enormity of the charges warranted full coverage, in our opinion, and justified both a news article and pictures that were available. If we had printed half a story, we would have been accused of covering up. If the youths had been someone else, outside of Tecumseh, would it have made a difference?

As it turned out, the charges were dropped. New information now indicates the youths should never have been charged in the first place. It is an absolute shame — but it's not the fault of the police, nor is it the fault of The Herald that the article was printed.

A situation that arises from the incident not only concerns the threats and damages incurred at The Herald, but the militant reaction of the young adults who roam our streets in the early hours of the morning. And, the police can not only do anything about it, they can't even control it.

Are we expected to cower and hide, look the other way? If we do, all of us are headed for big city vandalism and crime.

The Herald may be damaged further, we've done about everything that we can do to protect our property. We hope that cooler heads will prevail, and the damages and threats end.

Regardless, we won't be intimidated and we won't suppress news which we deem a responsibility and duty of this newspaper. When a group, or an individual, can suppress or control the news, then you no longer have freedom of the press.

Sooner or later, others like ourselves will be faced with threats and intimidation, perhaps even have their property damaged. We hope that they have the courage and fortitude to resist and not give in.

The time is also coming (we think that it is here now) that citizens and property owners of Tecumseh will demand better police protection, especially during the dark hours of nights and mornings.

There are periods of time when our city has no patrol cars cruising at night. This is wrong and should be corrected. Additional officers may not be able to control and to curb all vandalism and crime, but they certainly could keep better tabs on what's going on and give us some peace of mind.

If the law does not let us defend ourselves, then we should have an adequate police force to do the job. The Herald cannot defend itself, against vandalism, and there's not enough officers here to do the job adequately.

Sooner or later, others may find themselves in the same situation that we find ourselves. When this occurs, we hope that our police force is such that help is available and in force.

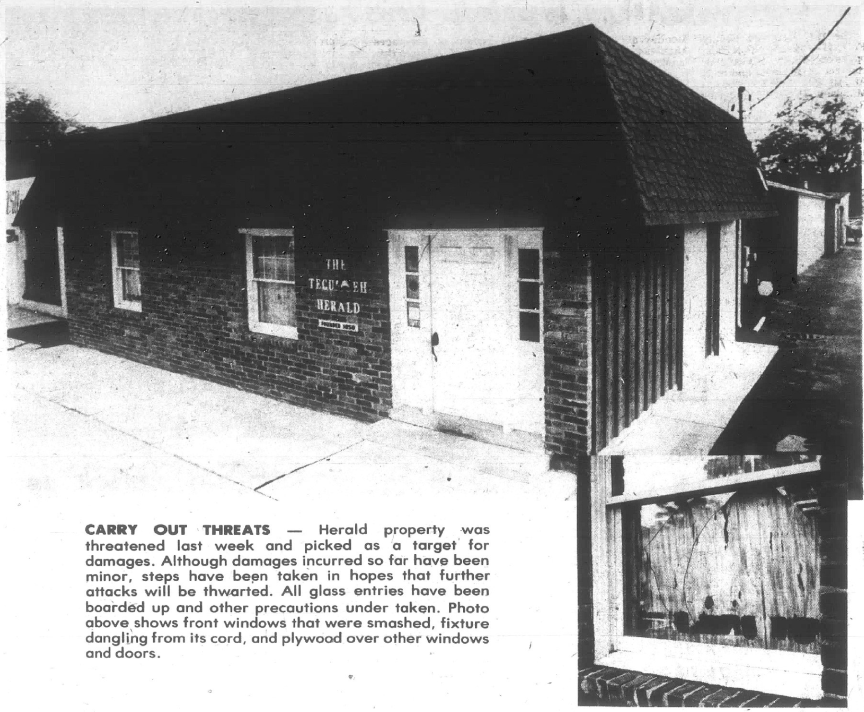
Editor and Publisher

REWARD NOTICE

The Tecumseh Herald will pay $100.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party, or parties, responsible for damages that have been inflicted on Herald property.

Such information will be forwarded to the Tecumseh Police Department, but identification will be kept confidential. Necessary information may be sent to us through the mail or given personally at our office.



CARRY OUT THREATS — Herald property was threatened last week and picked as a target for damages. Although damages incurred so far have been minor, steps have been taken in hopes that further attacks will be thwarted. All glass entries have been boarded up and other precautions under taken. Photo above shows front windows that were smashed, fixture dangling from its cord, and plywood over other windows and doors.

Threats Against Property Carried Out by Vandals

Office and shop of The Tecumseh Herald were damaged this past week by young adults, who openly threatened the local newspaper and its staff because of a printed news article.

Obscene phone calls were received by ladies in the office. One female caller stated that a bomb had been planted and that it would go off at 11:30 Friday morning.

Earlier that morning, a window facing Logan St. had been smashed by a full can of beer. Sometime between 3 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. Sunday, a second window was smashed and the first one sustained additional damages. A club or ball bat was probably used.

A light fixture outside the brick building also took a beating and probably can't be replaced.

Tuesday morning, employees found a 21-foot steel pipe rammed through a glass-block section in the shop area.

About 2 a.m. Saturday, James Lincoln, editor and publisher, left the building and was threatened on Logan St. by a young adult. Identification of the youth and vehicle were not possible because of darkness.

Since threats have been made and in some cases carried out, The Herald has taken such precautionary action as boarding up all windows and doors, making the business as secure as possible. It is still open for business - and hopefully will continue as such.

Although the newspaper could be put out of the printing business here, The Herald could and would continue publishing elsewhere without missing an issue.

Readers Agree, Disagree on Story about Youths

To the Editor:

There have been many times in the past when we have been very proud of our local newspaper, when we have shown it to out of town friends as an example of our fine local news reporting.

This is NOT one of those times. We were, at first, enraged and then just plain sick at heart when we saw last Thursday's front page.

RAPE, KIDNAPPING
CHARGES
FILED AGAINST 4 YOUTHS

These headlines over your story were bad enough, Mr. Lincoln, but to print pictures of the four young men involved in the story was, in our estimation, unwarranted, unjustified, and absolutely inexcusable.

Whether these young men were guilty or not is not the point we are concerned with. Surely four adults accused of the same crimes would not have been subjected to this embarrassment. Why must our youth, before they are tried, be convicted by their "hometown newspaper".

Those pictures did convict them. Guilty or not, Mr. Lincoln, where do you hide in a small town after that? This is not the first time the Herald has done this.

If the Herald is to have access to senior pictures, we would suggest that the Herald use them for the purpose for which they were acquired, our graduation supplement, not sensationalism.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. McCann
6250 Rogers Hwy.
Tecumseh, Mi. 49286

Sirs,

Congratulations, once again the Tecumseh Herald has shown that yellow journalism is alive and well. I am, of course, referring to your treatment of the "rape" which supposedly occurred Friday, the fifth of this month.

Even if the four men in question had already been found guilty of the crime, splashing their names and faces all over the front page of a small town newspaper would have been tasteless in the extreme. To do so before they had even come to trial was certainly unethical and possibly libellous.

In the future, it would behoove you to ascertain all of the facts behind a story before printing anything. In addition, I should hope that the final resolution of this incident is given just as much exposure in your pages as was the original, sensational, version.

Sincerely,
Mark Phelan
1305 Westhaven
Tecumseh, Mich.

To the Editor:

I have taken issue with you in the past about what I feel is a weak editorial policy and a lackadaisical attitude toward digging up and reporting real news on a continuing basis. This week, however, I feel I must write in your defense.

The recent outlash of violence and threats of violence against your newspaper are reprehensible. Those who have participated in such acts should be taken to task by the proper legal steps.

Violence is not an acceptable way to express a point, and this community should never rely on such means to express opinions or feelings about any situation. We are, after all, a nation of laws, not men.

Everyone, of course, would agree that it was a traumatic, human tragedy for all involved in the alleged rape and kidnap case.

The charges, which I understand have all been dropped, may well hang over the heads of those wrongfully charged for a long time.

For that reason, I hope that this community will take some kind of supportive action in behalf of the four young men and their families, who have suffered so very much.

However, it is wrong, in my opinion, for the public outrage at this situation to be directed against The Herald. For, this newspaper, if it is to be respected as a newspaper, must print the news, however unsavory or distasteful it may be.

Since I have been critical of The Herald in the past for not printing the "real" news, I must stand with it now for doing so.

I would agree that the pictures should not have been included in this story at such an early juncture. But, basically, the facts as presented were correct at the time they were printed, and the story was assembled in a reasonable and correct manner.

So, with a reasonable update, correction, retraction, or explanation, I believe that The Herald will have handled the story in a satisfactory and professional way.

In any case, the violence must end. I hope that those involved in it will soon understand that they cannot help, and can only hurt the cause they wish to serve. For, they cannot bring justice by these acts, and they may well overshadow the case they seek to publicize.

Sincerely yours,
Jeff Ely
311 W. Chicago Blvd.
Tecumseh

To the Editor:

Some Tecumseh Herald readers have expressed displeasure with the Herald for using pictures in the Aug. 11 edition of four Tecumseh men arrested Aug. 8 on kidnapping and sexual assault charges of a 15-year-old girl for an act that allegedly occurred Aug. 5.

The acts of hatred directed at the Herald by some who are incised at the Herald's news judgement are equally shocking: obscene telephone calls, vandalism, arson and bomb threats the later from an older woman) and threats on personal safety.

Others have accused the Herald of sensationalism and libellous conduct.

Except for the use of high school pictures, the report in the Herald did not differ from the content of other media reports. The story was legal—information was taken from the police blotter.

Why should the Herald protect people accused of felonious conduct? Do the pictures condemn them any more than their names, ages and addresses which may be legally reported?

The charges were filed—and dropped on Aug. 11, the day after the Tecumseh Herald had gone to press—by the Tecumseh Police Department, not the Tecumseh Herald. News media just report the news, they don't make it.

And what about the charges? Why hasn't anyone demanded to know why the charges were dropped? Were the inconsistences in her story simply lies or was she intimidated even as the Herald has been intimidated?

Is anyone concerned about the 15-year-old girl—a minor who was the victim of the assault? What about her reputation after this illegal act?

Dropping charges does not negate the evidence of a hospital test. Under any circumstances, sex performed on a minor is statuatory rape. If the law shows as much sympathy for other rape victims as Tecumseh has shown for this minor, it is no wonder that rapes go unreported and unprosecuted.

Crime is a community problem. The media has been accused of glorifying criminals and violent aspects of society yet how can society protect itself if people dismiss possible threats to their safety as sensationalism?

It is difficult to accept that personal friends, people with whom we've perhaps grown up, done business or worshipped, could be accused of doing wrong. Yet what have these protestors accomplished on behalf of these four men?

Ignoring offensive news will not make it go away and may even make it worse. Those who have selected violent methods of protest have defamed themselves, their community.

One thing is certain, whether or not the readers agree with the hometown newspaper using the pictures of people accused of crime or not, no one will forget this episode. Perhaps it may serve to deter others.

$200,000 Futurity Race To Highlight Fair Week

The 1977 Lenawee County Fair, Michigan's oldest fair, opens on Sunday, August 21st, runs for eight days, and ends August 28th with the $200,000 Michigan Breeders Futurity Race.

The big race begins at 1 p.m., with approximately 75 entries expected. Also, there are light horse races on Monday at 7 p.m., and the Michigan Colt Stakes gets underway Wednesday at 1 p.m.

The fair also offers other entertaining grandstand shows, including the rodeo on opening night and the horse pull Tuesday. The finals in the Battle of the Bands is 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Midget Auto Races will be held Thursday night. The action picks-up with the Demo Derby Friday night in the grandstand at 8 p.m. There will be tractor pulling contests Saturday night at 7 p.m. and at noon.

August 21st, the fair opens with the 4-H chicken barbeque from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. at the 4-H projects building. The annual fair parade will begin its way to the fairgrounds at 1 p.m., forming at the intersection of Maumee and MacKenzie Streets at noon, moving down Maumee east to Church Street, continuing east to Dean Street, and ending at the fairgrounds.

Church services start at 2 p.m. in the bandshell. The annual Queens Contest begins at 3:30 p.m. in the bandshell, and the Senior Citizens Kitchen Band will perform at 6 p.m. Rounding out opening day activities is the evening rodeo show at the grandstand.

Monday is Merchant's Day at the fair. Harold Tesch and Company will perform their animal and magic act in the bandshell at 2 p.m and 4 p.m. At 3 p.m., the Senior Citizens Orchestra will perform.

The Box Social for the queen candidates starts at 5:45 p.m. at the bandshell. The "Gong Show" starts at 6:45 p.m., with many of Lenawee County's merchants competing for top honors.

Kid's Days are Tuesday and Friday. Tuesday's activities include the Harold Tesch Animal and Magic Show along with organized games for the youngsters at the bandshell. Pony Pulling starts at 4:30 p.m. in the show arena, the Maple City Swingers Square Dance at 6:30 p.m. in the bandshell, and the annual talent show starts at 7:30 p.m.

Friday, August 26th features organized games at 2 p.m., along with the "Luvfyu Family and their Animal Friends" puppet show at 6 p.m., both in the bandshell. At 5 p.m., the Junior Livestock Sale will be held in the show arena.

Thursday is Senior Citizens Day. The day's activities start with the junior preliminaries in the sheep shearing at 9 a.m., and the senior preliminaries at 10:30 a.m. The sheep shearing finals at the bandshell begins at 1:30 p.m.

There's free admission to the horse racing at the grandstand at 1 p.m. Something new this year is the corn husking contest with fair board executives participating, followed by the senior citizens variety show at 3:30 p.m. At 4:30 p.m., the draft horse hitch judging will get underway at the grandstand.

The 4-H demonstrations will be held along wwth the 4-H talent revue at the bandshell, at 5 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. respectively. Rounding out the events for the day, besides the Midget Auto Races, is the 4-H square dance in the project building from 8-11 p.m. The dance is open to everyone.

Macon Montage

By Josephine Jones

With this week's news, the summer substitute ends and your regular Macon Montage reporter, Sharon Connors, returns. Gathering available news has been interesting for this amateur. My thanks to to all who supplied news.

Before I end my "summer job", I want to introduce a new family of the Macon area. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Krzemien and young son, Andrew, live at their new home at 7111 Pennington Rd. Originally from Ypsilanti, they lived in Clinton for four years before joining us in the Macon area.

Mrs. Krzemien taught at the Little Indian Pre-School center in Tecumseh before Andrew arrived. Mr. Krzemien is employed at Ford's in Saline. They are members of St. Dominic's Parish in Clinton. Chet and Leona added that they enloy living in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. David Squires hosted a Summer Picnic Sunday, Aug. 14 at home on Mills-Macon Rd. Approximately 90 friends and relatives attended from Detroit, Chicago, Ill. and area. They also celebrated the birthdays of their son and daughter, Mike and Peg and friend, Debbie Burger.

Steward Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Jones, celebrated his 17th birthday, Aug. 14 with a small family gathering. Stewart's actual birthday date was Aug. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Sebring from Bristol, Va. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hamilton Friday evening. The Sebring's, originally from Tecumseh, spent two weeks in the area visiting friends and relatives, returning to Virginia Saturday.

Becky and Jim Kish, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ries moved into their new home at 3765 Noland Dr., Osborne Subdivision, Tecumseh.

Tim Ries, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ries returned from Interlochen Music Camp Wednesday. Tim will leave Sunday for Texas to start his studies at North Texas State on Aug. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bortel attended the Illinois State Fair in Springfield, Ill. last week. Ken, a recognized sheep authority, served as a judge in the sheep competition. Sandy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall, assisted their daughters, Melinda and Jackie tend the Bo-Mar Ranch.

The State Sheep Show at Ionia, Aug. 21 will feature competition from many entries including sheep from following local breeders: Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bortel, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bortel, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Loesch, and Kent Rhora. Ken Bortel will be one of the judges for that event also.

Melinda Bortel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bortel, 1976-77 State Lamb Queen, will crown the new 1977-78 State Lamb Queen that day. The Lenawee County Sheep Association is serving a luncheon, featuring lamb.

Thelma Manwaring has returned from the hospital and is recuperating at home.

Two Students Here from Japan

Two Japanese children are having a chance to experience American family life this summer in Tecumseh area homes through the Lenawee County participation in the Japanese LABO—4-H teen exchange.

The Bud Pape family of Ridgeway is hosting Masayuki Miwa and the Harry Withrow Jr. family of Tecumseh is hosting Hajime Kawamoto.

Thursday, these youth and their host families met together at the Fairgrounds with five other Japanese children, chaperone and host families for a picnic and tour of Tecumseh Fisher Body Plant.

The LABO—4-H Exchange, initiated in Michigan in 1974, is jointly coordinated by the LABO International Exchange Foundation, and the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

The youngsters, members of Japan's unique language education LABO party program, are among 73 Japanese youth who will arrive in Michigan July 24 for a month-long stay with rural farm and non-farm 4-H families.

"The LABO Party Program is designed to create through language an awakening of international understanding and awareness among Japanese children," explains Dyle Henning, Lenawee County 4-H Extension Agent.

The program is administered by 3,500 tutors through the LABO-Teaching Information Center in Tokyo, and currently involves more than 60,000 youngsters.

Starting at an early age, the children listen to tape recorded English and Japanese stories and then dramatize the characters in English.

Japanese youth visiting Michigan have been paired with 4-H members of the same age and sex. The two youngsters become close companions, working and playing together.

Host families are encouraged not to change their daily routines, because the "heart" of the LABO program focuses on the Japanese youth experiencing life as it really is in the American home.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

This summer there has been more than ample opportunity to watch and see how Mother Nature's kids handle extremely hot weather. Her human kids survive the hot hot stuff thanks to air conditioners, fans, and gallons of iced tea.

The squirrels were perhaps the most fun to watch during those excessively hot and humid days. In the first place they "lost their pep". They truly slowed down a great deal. Neither fox nor red squirrels indulged in many fast and frantic races through the trees and even chasing was cut down.

Oh, the little reds bestirred themselves once in a while but most of the time it seemed that they simply ran around at half speed and complained.

Their tempers are always on a short fuse and during a few of the hottest days, it seems to me that the prevailing sound was that loud and shrill chattering of the red squirrels. They even sound nasty and ill tempered.

Fox squirrels do a great deal of laying around when the temperatures push up into the high readings. It is always amusing to see a big squirrel sprawled out on a tree limb—legs dangling down on either side of the branch, tail drooping over the side or casually resting on the limb itself, and often the squirrel will even rest his chin on the branch. Complete relaxation. Or maybe utter exhaustion.

When a lazy squirrel comes to the feeder it is fun. On the near-my-window feeder both trays are large enough for a squirrel to completely stretch out, so far we have not had both feeders thus occupied but we are hoping.

How flat these characters can get, hind feet sprawled behind and front legs bent so that actually it looks as though they were leaning on their elbows.

Last year there was a squirrel who, when he assumed this position, often held his tail up and curved it into a perfect question mark. This year none of the tails have that much character. They have done nothing particularly noteworthy except the one time that a resting squirrel flipped his up over his back and tried using it as an umbrella. Apparently it was an unsuccessful experiment. We assume that tails are good umbrellas for rain but not for sun.

The biggest surprise of the hot weather squirrel action was a little Red and I was just lucky to notice it. I was looking at the mulberry tree with no particular object in mind when suddenly I noticed a small bump on one of the nearly horizontal limbs. It didn't look right. I had trouble thinking why. Something rang' the 'wrong' bell. The limb was in deep shade so it and the lump were dark.

I finally realized that what I was seeing was a tiny red squirrel all sprawled out and resting just as his big cousins the fox squirrels do. I could hardly believe it—could one of these little demons actually be still? Yes indeed.

Not for long however, in a minute or two he flicked his tail several times, jerked up his head, and decided there were important affairs to be settled. He jumped up and was off. But imagine, a red squirrel being absolutely quiet! Even though it did not last long it was a sight.

A few of the birds who visited the feeder on the excessively hot days were droopy. No other word for it.

The bluejays and grackles were noticeably uncomfortable, their wings drooped and their bills were open. We were glad that the creek was nearby and available for cool refreshing sips. All of the birds certainly needed it.

On the other hand, it was surprising how often we saw flickers and robins sprawled in the grass sunbathing. With wings stretched out they would be in bright sunshine just 'soaking it up'.

Sunlover that I am it made me shudder. I kept thinking they would need first aid for heat prostration but fortunately they always managed to pull themselves together and fly away. And they did it without the gallons of iced tea.

Attend Seminar

Ronald E. Sobota, local elder of the Jehovah's Witnesses, and his wife, Eleanor, and children, John, 9, Joy, 6, Libby, 2 and Letitia, six months, returned from a two-day seminar at Holt, sponsored by the Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Convention theme was "Entering a Large Door Leading to Activity." Principal speaker was J. Casino, traveling district representative of Jehovah's Witnesses.

His main address delivered on Sunday was entitled, "Follow the Way to Life," with 1,396 in attendance.

Twenty persons symbolized their dedication to God and were baptized in water.

One of the highlights was an interview with Lidia Stawska, who through an interpretor, related experiences of Jehovahs Witnesses in Poland, where the group is banned by the Community government.

The Witnesses plan another assembly for Dec. 17 and 18.

One Half Mill Is Requested

CLINTON — additional millage request of one-half mill for three years school operation, that was defeated by 37 votes in the June election, will be submitted to the voters again Aug. 22.

Clinton's Board of Education considered their request a modest one necessary to maintain a balanced budget.

With the addition of the one-half mill, Clinton School District's operating millage will be a total of 25.72 mills.

Manchester levies 29 mills, Saline, levies 28 mills and Tecumseh levies 28.5 mills. Board noted that Clinton maintains educational programs and facilities, staff and supplies, similar to these other schools on two or three mills less.

State law requires that as local property valuations go up, a highter percentage of dollars be derived from local taxes, and state aid goes down proportionately with no gain to the district.

Residents of the Clinton School District may vote from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Aug. 22 at the Clinton Middle School.

Absentee ballots are available until 2 p.m. Saturday Aug. 20 at the superintendent's office or call 456-7441.

Injuries Minor Car Rolled Over

CLINTON — George F. Wismer, 60, and Jeannette F. Wismer, 55, of 12535 Neblo Rd., Clinton, escaped with minor injuries when their automobile ran off the highway and rolled over on top and slid into a cornfield.

George Wismer told Clinton State Police he was eastbound on Clinton-Macon Rd., when the vehicle started to weave, and he lost control as it went off the south side of the road.

Mishap occurred at 2 a.m. Saturday, just west of Sutfin Rd.

Wismer was cited for driving too fast.

ROBERT VOORHEES

Enlists In Air Force

CLINTON — Robert J. Voorhees, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Voorhees, 5233 Pennington, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force delayed enlistment program.

Voorhees, a 1977 graduate of Clinton High School, is scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force in October.

Upon graduation from the Air Force six week basic training session, he will receive technical training in a general area.

He will earn credits toward an associates degree through the community college of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Scout Meet for Parents

CLINTON—A meeting for the parents of present and future Clinton Girl Scouts will be held Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 7:00 p.m. in the Middle School cafeteria.

Discussion will be on ways in which we can build a better support system for our Girl Scouts.

The ages-grades in Girl Scouting are-

Brownies: 1st, 2nd & 3rd grade or 6, 7, 8 years old

Juniors: 4th, 5th, & 6th grade or 9, 10, 11 years old

Cadettes: 7th, 8th, 9th grade or 12, 13, 14 years old

Seniors: 10th, 11th, 12th grade or 15,16 and 17 years old.

Girls in the senior age bracket are welcomed to attend.

Grandson for Horkeys

CLINTON — Spotlight is on son John Carl, born Aug. 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Anderson of Dundee, at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor.

The little fellow's dad is X-ray department supervisor at Mercy Hospital, Monroe, and his mom, nee Josephine Horkey, was an X-ray technician at Memorial Hospital, Monroe.

He's a first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Anderson of Clinton. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Horkey.

Under a new arrangement at St. Joseph's Hospital the grandparents had a special visiting time and were allowed to hold the little fellow for a while.

School Still Has 7 Positions

CLINTON — Clinton Community Schools still has several faculty positions to fill before school opens Sept. 7.

Positions are: high school math, high school industrial arts, instrumental music, sixth grade, second grade, elementary and middle school special education.

An enrollment of 1,276 students is expected.

Registration of new students may be made week of Aug. 22 in the principal's office.

Hot lunch prices will remain the same as last year; 45c, grades 1 to 4; 50c, grades 5 to 12; and 85c employees and adults.

Applications for free and reduced lunches are available at the superintendent's office.

Teachers will meet for orientation sessions on Sept. 6.

Collides Into Rear of Auto

CLINTON — Joan C. Rice, 36, of 12460 E. Michigan Ave., Clinton, was driving on US-12, seven-tenths mile west of Lima Center Rd., Friday afternoon, when her automobile collided with the car ahead, which had slowed in traffic.

Other driver was Ronald L. Gaskill, 21, of Ypsilanti.

Only injury was to Robert Rice, 12, who received bruises.

Clinton State Police investigated the mishap.

Son Born to Bradfords

CLINTON—A son, John Bradford, was born Aug. 15 to Mr. and Mrs. John Busch at Crittenden Hospital, Rochester. They also have a daughter, Cristina, 2½ years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frolich and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Busch. Grandma Frolich is trying out for the baby-sitter job this week.

PHIL LOESCH PREPARES FOR SHEARING CONTEST

Sheep Shearer Gets Prepared

BRITTON — Phil Loesch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Loesch of Britton is preparing for the State Sheep Shearing Contest to be held at the Lenawee County Fair this year.

Phil will compete with other boys and girls under 20 years of age from all over Michigan.

A senior division will be held for the Michigan shepherds 20 years old or older.

A Sweepstakes Contest will be held for all champions of recognized state, regional and national contests.

The preliminary judging will begin at 9 a.m., Aug. 25 and the finals and Sweepstakes Contest will be held at 1:30 p.m.

All shearing will be done at the Band Shell with Bill Ames of Ann Arbor providing the narration and the Clinton FFA running the stop watches.

Auto Accident Injures Brittonites

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Harriott and Mrs. Fred Fanslau and her mother-in-law, were taken to a Midland hospital late Friday afternoon following a two-car accident.

An oncoming car made a turn in front of the Harriott car causing the collision, in which the Harriott car was totalled.

Mr. Harriott sustained four broken ribs and cuts around the face. Mrs. Harriott received several cuts and bruises below her knees. Mrs. Fred Fanslau suffered a broken pelvis and cuts and bruises. Mrs. Fanslau's mother-in-law, had to be operated on for a broken leg.

Mr. Fred Fanslau and boys and the Harriott boys were at Mr. Fanslau's mothers home in Gladwin when the accident happened.

At this writing they are all doing well and possibly be released by this weekend.

Deferent Applications Available

BRITTON — Britton Village Treasurer, Elizabeth Osterhout, has applications for deferment of 1977 summer taxes.

This deferment applies if you are a senior citizen, paraplegic, quadriplegic, eligible seviceman, eligible veteran or eligible widow, a blind person, or totally and permanently disabled.

If your 1976 income did not exceed $10,000 and your application is approved, your summer taxes on your homestead will be deferred until Feb. 15 1978, without penalty or interest.

This application must be filed with the village treasurer before Aug. 31, 1978.

Guests from Las Vegas

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Merle E. Crutchfield and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Crutchfield II and sons, Merle III and Michael of Las Vegas, New Mexico were weeklong house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bower and children, Todd, Andrea and Scott. They also visited with other relatives in the area, and on Wednesday they toured Greenfield Village.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield held an open house for the many friends and relatives to come and visit the vacationing Crutchfields, who were former Britton residents.

They spent Sunday night with Mr. Crutchfield's mother, Mrs. Claud Crutchfield of Adrian, and left for New Mexico Monday morning.

Lisa Bush Added to Cast at Croswell

Tecumsehite Lisa Bush has been added to the chorus of "My Fair Lady" opening Aug. 17 at the historic Croswell Opera House, Adrian.

Lisa is a student at Tecumseh High School and appeared in the last Croswell production, "Bye, Bye Birdie."

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bush of 106 S. Wyandotte St. are Lisa's parents.

Membership Meeting for LARC

Lenawee LARC membership meeting will be Aug. 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Milton Porter Education Center, formerly Lenawee Institute.

Guest speaker will be George Eidson, director of special education.

Britton School Opening Nears

BRITTON — School officially opens at the Britton-Macon Area School on Sept. 6. A teacher's conference and organizational meeting will be at 9 a.m. in the school cafeteria on Sept. 6.

School will start for all pupils on Sept. 7. There will be a full day of school for all pupils on this day.

School will begin seven minutes earlier this year. Starting time will be 8:18 a.m. and dismissal will be at 3:03 p.m. The doors to the school will be open at 8:10 a.m. Students should arrange their schedule so that they arrive at school no earlier than 8:10 a.m.

Parents of kindergarten children who did not register their child last spring will be able to register them in the afternoon on Sept. 6. There will be one section of kindergarten this year and that will be a morning session.

Mothers of kindergarten children are encouraged to put them on the buses the first day. Those who bring their children Wednesday are requested to leave them in the room with the teacher and not remain. This method is believed to make it easier for the child to adjust to school on the first day.

New students are asked to enroll at the principal's office the week of Aug. 29 - Sept. 2. The time for registering will be from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the afternoon.

Cafeteria lunches will be served on Sept. 7 for all pupils and teachers. Pupils who carry their lunches are expected to eat in the school cafeteria.

The driving of automobiles or motor vehicles by students during the noon hour will not be permitted. If a student wishes to drive his or her car, they must obtain permission from the high school principal.

The staff for the 1977-1978 school year is as follows:

High School Staff

William L. Saxton, superintendent; John D. DeLine, principal; Herma Christensen, bookkeeper and secretary; Erma Hagans, secretary; Marilyn Alexander, Spanish and English; Roger Anspaugh, agriculture; JoAnn Armentrout, English and social studies; Anthony Bandurski, library; John Evans, science; Bruce Hacala, English; Jan Hunt, art; Nancy Hurlbut, home economics; Larry Jacobsen, history and English; Al Lenz, social studies; Mark Lewis, mathematics; Dorothy Long, commercial; Marilyn Preston, mathematics and chemisty; Randy Salisbury, physical education and coaching; Meri Schoof, instrumental music; and James Sweigart, government and coaching.

Elementary Staff

Lorene Edelbrock, kindergarten; Rosemary Schroeder and Catherine Smith, first grade; Sandra Bandurski and Nancy Evans, second grade; Ann Creger and Diane Matuszak, third grade; Rosemary Niblack and Lola Knauer, fourth grade; Geraldine Gorton and Sandra Shannon, fifth grade; Patricia Bryce and Elizabeth Cheever, sixth grade; Hilda Caterina, vocal music; Karen Morgan and Joan Witt, teachers aide.

MASAYUKI MIWA FLANKED BY JERRY AND DALE PAPE

Japanese Boy Visits Britton

RIDGEWAY — The Bud Pape family is sharing a cultural exchange with Masayuki Miwa of Chiba City, Japan.

Masayuki Miwa is a 13-year-old LABO—4-H exchange student whom the Papes have volunteered to host through the 4-H program.

The LABO program is privately owned. Parents pay premiums for the children's education in foreign cultures.

During the child's teen years, he or she is invited to visit the country of their choice. About half come to the United States while others choose Latin America and Europe.

Masayuki came to Michigan during July and met his host — 13-year-old Dale Pape — in Cadillac at the Kettunen Center where Dale helped orient his visitor to American culture.

Along with Dale, the Papes have three other children, Nancy, 15, Jerry, 9 and Yvonne, 2.

According to Mrs. Pape, two-year-old Yvonne learned about as many Japanese as English words.

On a recent shopping trip, Masayuki bought some Michigan bumper stickers. Back at the Papes' home, he tried to explain that he wanted the slogans on T-shirts — which will probably mean a return to the store.

Masayuki brought many gifts for the Pape family and their friends including Orgami, paper folding art, dolls and decorations made by his mother.

The boy also showed his new friends how to make a toy gun out of chop sticks and rubber bands, a unique object the boys use for shooting flies. Something every household could use this time of year.

The Papes and visitor camped and he spent the night in a tent in the neighbor's yard. He rode a Model-T and photographed it.

Mrs. Pape said she can tell when Masayuki enjoys something—he runs for his camera.

He really likes grilled cheese sandwiches but didn't develop a taste for Mrs. Pape's oriental cooking.

Masayuki demonstrated how to use chop sticks with American food, including gelatin.

The LABO exchange students and their host families held a potluck dinner at the Fairgrounds in Adrian and toured the Fisher Body plant last Thursday.

A friend from Japan, also with LABO, stayed in St. John's and visited Masayuki at the Papes'. They toured Greenfield Village.

Plans for the visitor's last two weeks include Dale's birthday party and an authentic Japanese dinner in his honor, hosted by neighbors, Mirl and Diana Henry.

Masayuki will share in two days of Fair week and show the Papes' sheep before he returns home.

Masayuki keeps a diary of his visit so he may share it with his family when he returns home Aug. 24.

Briefs

Mrs. Allen Bower, owner of Nina's Hair Styles, was in Grand Rapids, Aug. 6, 7 and 8, where she attended the post graduate College of Cosmetological Art and Science for a two-day Advanced Make-Up and Skin Care Seminar. The classes were taught by Wayne Platten, an International Make-up Artist from Redding, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sturtevant and family of Freemont, Ind., were Sunday callers of his mother, Mrs. Ralph Sturtevant.

Completes Army Repair Course

BRITTON — Pvt. Jeffrey A. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Campbell, 171 of Britton, recently completed a 13-week wire-guided missile system repair course at the U.S. Army Missile and Munitions Center and School, Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

Students learned to inspect, test, and perform maintenance and repair on the TOW and DRAGON weapons systems and associated test equipment.

Pvt. Campbell entered the army in Oct. 1976.

He is a 1976 graduate of Britton-Macon High School.

NOTICE
VILLAGE OF BRITTON RESIDENTS

All property owners of the Village of Britton are reminded that all real estate and personal taxes are due and payable no later than August 31, 1977. Village treasurer, Elizabeth Osterhout, will be collecting taxes on Thursdays 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or checks may be mailed to her. After September 1, 1977 a 4% collection fee will be added and taxes will be payable at the County Treasurer's Office in Adrian.

Queen Candidate

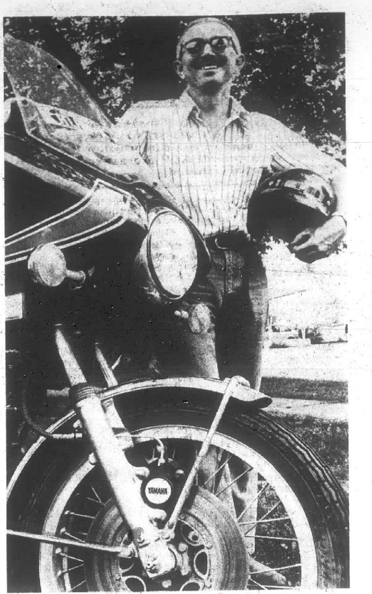
CONNIE SUE PRICE

BRITTON — Connie Sue Price, 18, is a candidate for Lenawee County Fair Queen contest to be held Aug. 21 at 3:30 p.m. in the Band Shell at the ADrian Fair Grounds.

Doug Spade of WLEN and 1976 Fair Queen, Amy Skinner, will interview each girl on stage. Each girl will present a talent act. Judging will be based on appearance, poise, personality and talent.

Connie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Price, and a Britton-Macon High School graduate is sponsored by Lee Purkey and Sons.

She is a member of the Britton-Macon 4-H Club, and is employed as a secretary at Classon Chevrolet in Adrian.



TRIP TO ALASKA — Neal Judkins, of Britton, recently returned from a 10,000 mile trip to Alaska on a motorcycle. The trip took a month to complete, to Alaska and back, and cost $640. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

Alaska and Back on a Motorcycle

BRITTON — Neal Judkins recently returned from what could safely be described as an "adventure."

Within a month, he traveled some 10,000 miles to Alaska and back. And that was on a Yamaha 650 motorcycle.

He left on June 30 of this year and returned a month later.

Judkins went through North Dakota on his way, west through Calgary, Banff, picking up the Alaskan Highway at Dawson Creek.

The adventurer camped every night and endured three weeks of rain with temperatures ranging from the 40's-60's F.

Judkins says he saw a lot of wildlife in Alaska. He plans a trip south eventually.

Religious Film To Be Shown

The "Miracle Worker," a film about the healing powers of Christ, will be shown Aug. 21 at 7 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene.

The bi-lingual (in English and Spanish) film centers on a bullfight arena in Juarez, Mexico and was produced by the Osborn Foundation.

Paul Springsteen, missionary-evangelist to the migrants, will accept a love offering for the work in the migrant camps in the area.

Work includes showing the film and presenting Christ with personal witnessing and gospel singing.

Interested friends are invited to join in the service. Those interested in the film for presentation at their churches may call 263-8711.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Last week I suggested two recipes to stock up on produce. This week I have two recipes for enjoying the fresh produce in main dishes.

This chicken and rice dinner from Kathy Hartley includes fresh zucchini and is delicious.

CHICKEN AND RICE DINNER

2½-3 pound fryer, cut up rice
1-2 zucchini, sliced
1 green pepper, sliced
1 onion, sliced
16 ounce can tomato sauce
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon salt and pepper
4 ounce can mushrooms, drained
¼ cup reserved mushroom liquid
¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce

Cut 12 inch aluminum foil squares. Spray Pam on foil squares. Place 3 tablespoons raw rice on foil. Salt and pepper chicken and place on rice. Divide raw vegetables and place on chicken. Mix mushroom liquid, tomato sauce and seasonings and pour over vegetables and chicken. Seal foil carefully and place on cookie sheet. Bake 350 degrees for 1½ hour.

I have tried other recipes for stuffed peppers but this is my favorite.

STUFFED PEPPERS

4 medium green peppers
½ pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon margarine
1 can condensed tomato soup
2 cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon Worchestershire
½ teaspoon salt
dash pepper

Remove tops and seeds from peppers; cook in boiling salted water about 5 minutes; drain. Brown beef and cook onion in butter until tender; stir in ½ can soup and remaining ingredients.

Spoon meat mixture into peppers; place in 1½ quart casserole. Bake in a 375 degree oven 30 minutes. Heat remaining soup and serve over peppers. 4 servings.

I finished my projects for last week. The freezer slaw was delicious and the sauerkraut was as easy as the recipe sounded. See you next week.

Board Accepts Three Resignations

At the regular monthly meeting of Tecumseh's Board of Education Monday night, members accepted the resignations of three teachers.

The three resigning are: John LaSotta, high school English; David Ruff, high school industrial arts, and Robert Schoff, junior high and elementary instrumental music.

La Sotta has accepted a position as a principal at a high school near Kalamazoo. Ruff is leaving teaching to help manage a marina in Marquette. Schoof is going back to school according to district officials.

Several teaching appointments were also approved by the board. Margaret Yerman was approved as principal of Patterson Elementary while Cynthia Opelt is on maternity leave.

Raymond Schmidt was appointed to replace Ruff. Mrs. Diana Wakeford who has been on leave is replacing La Sotta. Harry Sabourin was appointed the new audio-visual technician. He has a bachelor's degree in A.V. Technology from Grand Valley State College.

Mrs. Marlene Harter was appointed high school English and math teacher while Ernest Palmer was approved as junior high social studies teacher and group guidance counselor for one year, replacing Harry Travis who is on sick leave. Douglas Secor was appointed junior high math and industrial arts teacher.

Officials are still interviewing to replace Schoof and to fill a sixth grade teaching spot.

Airport Bowl became the Women's City Champs Tuesday night be defeating Doc's Frame and Axle 10-7.

Doc's jumped out to an early two-run lead in the first inning and stayed ahead until the third frame when Airport tied the game.

Both teams scored three more times in the fourth abut Airport jumped ahead in the fifth with a clutch triple by Sue Allen.

Airport added two more runs in the sixth and held Doc's.

Doc's was awarded the runner's up trophy and Airport the city champion trophy after the game.

Earlier in the tourney, Doc's defeated Deerfield Co-Op 13-11 and Airport knocked off DST 11-2 in the semi-finals to set up the final game.

Vicky Crafts earned a home run for Doc's against Deerfield.

Starting the tourney, Airport defeated Dundee Products 11-8.

Airport jumped out to a quick lead by scoring five of their runs in the first inning. Dundee held them scoreless for three innings until the fifth frame when Airport exploded for five runs.

Sue Allen had a single and double to lead the hitting for Airport while Gall had three singles for Dundee.

Doc's prevented Ive's Body Shop from playing further in the tournament by beating them 18-3 in five innings.

Doc's held Ive's to four hits. Linda Pipkins led the way for Doc's with three hits and Kathy Baugh was the winning pitcher.

Tuesday League

Handley tied Local 429 for the Tuesday night league title and won the playoff game.

The playoff game was a nip and tuck affair for six innings. At the end of the sixth inning, the score was only 8-7 — Handley's slim lead.

But the seventh inning was all Handley's as they exploded for seven runs and won 15-7. Mike Servoss legged out a key homerun in the seventh and several players had a couple of hits as Handley's put forth a good team effort.

In other games, Local 429 came back twice from the hands of defeat to down Clinton Merchants in 10 innings by a score of 13-12.

In the seventh, it was 8-6 in favor of Clinton; and in the tenth it was 12-8. Both times, Local fought back and finally won the game.

James Davidson hit two homeruns for Local 429 while Louie Gonzalez and Pat Stoddard had three hits each.

For Clinton Merchants, Mike Creswell had four hits, including a roundtripper.

Game number 2 saw United Savings Bank down Handley 7-2 and force the league playoff. Mel Pardee hit one for the distance for USB.

In game number three, Tecumseh Merchants defeated Tractor village 14-10.

FOCUS

on City Government

By Paul L. Preston, Jr.
Tecumseh's Assistant City Manager
and Community Development Director

COMMISSIONS

A board or commission is a group of people appointed by the City Council to carry out certain tasks or to oversee certain specific functions such as the investment of retirement funds.

While not as visible as the City Council, these people serve with the same dedication and are indispensible in the proper functioning of city government.

There are nine such boards and commissions; Retirement Board (manages and invests employee retirement funds); Housing Commission; Board of Appeals (review zoning changes and variance requests); Electrical Board; Board of Review (hear appeals on tax assessments); Election Commission; Parks and Recreation Board; Planning Commission and Hospital Board.

There is a total of forty-six members on these boards and commissions, each bringing its board a different expertise in the fields of law, medicine, insurance and business.

While each board's and commission's work is important I would like to take this opportunity to explain in a little more detail the workings of two of the commissions, the housing and planning commissions.

HOUSING COMMISSION

The Housing Commission consists of five members serving for various terms. The commission has been working for the last year to obtain housing for the elderly.

Approximately a year ago the commission engaged the services of an architect and submitted an application for federal funding for housing for the elderly. Unfortunately the application was not approved at that time.

The development plan calls for approximately 100 units to be located on the west side of the city. The project will consist of one bedroom units with possibly a few two bedroom units, each with its own kitchen facilities. Parking will be available along with extensive landscaping of the site.

Because of the difficulty in obtaining federal funding for this type of project, it will probably be many months before the community sees any concrete results. The commission is confident, however, that it will be successful.

PLANNING COMMISSION

As the name implies, this group is concerned with planning for the city. The Planning Commission does not actually prepare the reports, this is the responsibility of the Region II Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission does, however, review the plans in light of local desires and concerns and advises the professionals accordingly.

The Planning Commission has received two important reports the last few months, the recreation plan and the land use plan.

The recreation plan was discussed a few weeks ago in one of my previous articles. The report states that at the present time there is sufficient recreational land available to serve the current population but that the new neighborhood parks will be needed in the future with increased population.

The report not only recommends additional recreational land be developed but also where it should be located.

The second report deals with future land use for the city. The plan is intended to be a policy guide for future land development.

The plan contains population projections for the city and the area which has a direct bearing on future demands for housing and therefore land, and the increase of commercial and retail businesses and where they may locate.

I would like to summarize this report as much as possible and still give the major findings. It is projected that the city population in the year 2,000 will be 9,500, an increase of 2,400 persons.

The medium family income in 1970 was $11,006 compared to $9,226 for the State of Michigan and $10,027 for Lenawee County.

The city has a total of 3,014 acres, 1,616 of which is developed land. A total of 2,412 residential units exist as of 1974, 80 percent were single family, 8 percent were two family units, 10 percent were multi-family and 2 percent were mobile homes. The structural conditions of the housing supply are good to excellent.

It is anticipated that 50 homes a year would be built through the year 2000 or a total of 1,250. This much construction will require nearly 300 acres of land.

6 Accidents, One Injured

The driver in a single car accident was taken to Herrick Hospital Sunday and treated for a minor head injury. The driver, Kenneth E. Wilson, 21, of 4692½ M-52, was cited for failing to have his vehicle under control.

According to police, Wilson was westbound on W. Chicago when he attempted a southbound turn onto S. Pearl and hit a pole while rounding the corner. A witness to the accident reported Wilson was driving too fast.

A resume of other accidents includes:

Aug. 18 — Marion Murphy, 87, of 5808 E. Monroe was cited for failing to stop in an assured clear distance after she failed to see an auto stopped in front of her. She slid into the back end of an auto driven by Jo Ann Gray, 17, of 216 W. Cummins. Gray attempting a left onto N. Wyandotte from Chicago when the incident occurred.

Aug. 19 — Susan J. Glanz, 29, of Adrian backed out of a parking space at 110 S. Maumee and struck a parked auto owned by Edward Shandley, N. Adrian St.

Aug. 20 — Beverly A. Thompson, 19, of Blissfield told police she turned her wheels too sharp when she left her parking space at the Herrick Hospital lot and struck another auto. The second auto, owned by Carl Fout of Petersburg, was scratched along the side.

Also on Saturday, Shrelda Braden, 54, of 6952 Close Dr., pulled from a parking position onto Pottawatamie and struck a westbound auto driven by Lawrence W. Chapman, 53, of 410 W. Chicago.

Aug. 21 — According to polcie reports, Charles F. Saling, 31, of 112 W. Shawnee, backed from 110 S. Maumee and struck a auto parked across the street. Marion Hodge of Tipton owned the parked auto.

Plan Engraving at City Hall

Tecumseh Jaycees and Jaycee Auxiliary along with the Tecumseh Police Department will engrave CB radios and other small valuables at the city hall parking lot Friday and Saturday and next Monday and Wednesday.

Engraving will be done Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., and Friday evening and next Monday and Wednesday from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Owners must bring article and proof of purchase with them.

Auditions Set for Aug. 29-30

Auditions for the Tecumseh Players' production of the musical comedy "Irene" will be Aug. 29 and 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church.

Auditions will be held for all parts. Performers should be prepared to sing a musical selection and provide own sheet music if song is not from the show's musical score.

CONNORS STARTS SEASON AT FOOTBALL CAMP

Pat Connors Starting 5th Year for Indians

Football just around the corner? Ask Pat Connors, Indian varsity head coach now entering his fifth year as top mentor here.

For many, the football season started last week at the annual THS football camp. For Connors and his coaches, it started last November when the season ended.

Hours and hours of preparations are needed to mold the Indians in what Connors has hopes of being a Huron League title contender. It will take some doing for the Indians to match the 1976 mark of 7-2. Only losses occurred against state Class C champions, Flat Rock, and to one of Adrian's best teams in years.

Since Connors took over in 1973 from Tom Fagan, he's had only one losing season and that was his first. Tecumseh posted a disappointing 4-5 mark that year.

During the next three years the Indians chalked up a record of 20-7 with Connors' 1974 club going all the way after losing the opener to Chelsea. The '74 team finished with an 8-1 season, and a league championship.

Can the Indians win another title? Fans won't have to wait long. The '77 season starts a week earlier this year with the Indians traveling to Chelsea on Friday, Sept. 9th - just two weeks from this Friday night.

Last year Connors started 11 seniors on the offense and seven on the defense against Chelsea. Although this indicates a number of holes to be filled, there were a number of juniors lettering who took over starting roles, and they should be ready for the opener.

Team Fed Well at Camp!

By Sharon Connors

What does it take to feed the Tecumseh football team, its coaches and managers for four days?

Would you believe, 100 gallons of Wylers and McDonald Orange, 200 ½-gals. milk, 42 lbs. round steak, 120 chicken quarters, 20 lbs. rib eye steak, 30 doz. eggs.

And that's just a partial list.

But it's a recipe for a lot of fun—and hard work—for the cooks. Kay Todd, Sandy Curth and Sharon Connors were joined by helpers Judy Spagnoli, Eunice Smith, Sr. Beth Hemminger, Sarah Frenzen, Marge Brazee and Paula Bowman to cook for the Indians at their training camp, Camp DeSales.

Indian Fan Club members Lois Tilton and Irene Allen collected the desserts from the moms and transported them to camp daily.

Three meals a day and an evening snack were served.

The noon and evening meals again featured a large salad bar along with the main course.

Cookies and fruit were in abundance at all times thanks to all the moms.

The resident cooks owe a special "thanks" to Mrs. W.T. (Ethelyn) Claxton who again opened her Vineyard Lake home to them for a few hours of relaxation each evening.

Teachers Start Next Week

Although students will not start until after Labor Day, the 1977-78 school year will start next Thursday, Sept. 1, for Tecumseh teachers.

Staff will meet at 7:30 coffee hour at the high school and then with the administration for orientation at 8 a.m. Remainder of the day will consist of building meetings and room preparation.

Inservice education day is scheduled for Friday.

Principal speaker will be Carl Gutsinger, a social worker from LaGrange, Ill. He will also head one of six workshops that are scheduled.

These workshops and leaders will be:

Broken Homes—Mr. Gutsinger.

Drug Abuse—Mrs. Ken Pieh and Melvin Kendricks.

Child Abuse—Roger Hendricks.

Alcoholism—Margaret McCaffrey.

Death—J. Gilbert Purse.

Referral to Social Worker—Betty Phillipi.

Each teacher will attend two workshops.

Bike Auction

City police announce that there will be a bicycle auction behind city hall Saturday, Sept. 3 at 9:30 a.m.

The bikes have been recovered by police, but have not been claimed.

Anyone that has lost a bicycle can examine the bikes at the police station the Thursday or Friday before the auction.

Superintendent Milton Porter Resigns Position

In a surprise announcement Tuesday night at a special board meeting, Milton C. Porter, county superintendent of schools, submitted his resignation, effective Sept. 1.

The County Board of Education, of which Elmer Eberhardt, of Britton, is a member, accepted the resignation with regrets. The board then named Porter superintendent emeritus and as a consultant.

William "Cal" Poppink, educational consultant for the Lenawee Intermediate School District, was appointed interim superintendent until the position is filled.

Porter has been a teacher and administrator in the Lenawee schools for 47 years. He was a leading figure in the progress of special education in the county as well as vocational education.

On June 19, the special education facility on Sutton Rd. was renamed "Milton C. Porter Education Center." Approximately 300 were present at this dedication, including a number from Tecumseh and area.

CAL POPPINK

MILTON PORTER

Statement to Board

Porter's statement to board was:

In April of 1975, I first mentioned to the County Board of Education that I may want to resign my position in the Fall of 1977. I said that I would never announce ahead of time as I did not want to be a lame duck Superintendent.

During the past year I have indicated to the Board that I was still considering resigning. After nearly 47 years in education in this County, it is indeed with mixed emotions that I ask to be relieved of my position as County Superintendent on September 1, 1977. I will be glad to help in an advisory capacity in the coming year to give assistance where I can in decision making. With the kind of administrative team we have developed, I am sure this district will be able to move ahead.

There is no person more interested in the future of education and a sound financial program than I am, but I believe that I must consider some other business interests which I have.

Lenawee County, because of its farm-factory economic system, can continue to have a great school system and an ideal place to live. I am indeed most proud, humble, and certainly grateful to have had the opportunity to serve as Superintendent of this County for over thirty years and in addition to have served four years as County Examiner. I have seen this County go from 187 districts down to 12 school districts. The development of Special Education and Vocational Education, the data processing and media centers, all became an important part of our educational system during this time and now we are on the threshold of two-way television between all schools of this County. They were all challenges and I gave it my best.

The people of this area, school administrators, school boards, and the general public, had faith and the ability to move ahead. I am indeed happy to have been a part of this team and to see so much change in our district. I have always enjoyed the support of the Board of Education. All of them have been forward looking and progressive, yet had a deep sense of responsibility to keep our programs financially sound. I am happy to announce that all divisions of Special Education, Vocational Education, and the Intermediate Office went into the 1977-78 school year with a balance.

During my many years in education as a teacher and a Superintendent, I have always had other business interests which I believe gave me a better understanding of making financial decisions. I now would like to devote more time to these other interests. I am continually intrigued by challenge and I am looking forward with great vigor to more years of useful work.

Kindergarten Number Drops

Unless there's a considerable number of enrollments during the next two weeks, kindergarten class of the Tecumseh schools will be far below that of a year ago.

Enrollment today is 245, over 50 less than a year ago.

Official enrollment in the 1976-77 school year was 304, and 11 kindergarten sections were required. This year, officials are contemplating nine sections—two at Sutton, Tecumseh Acres, Patterson and Herrick Park and one at Ridgeway.

Supt. Robert Duhan says it is unlikely a 10th section will be needed, but if it is, it will be added at Ridgeway.

FOCUS . . .

There were four major goals contained in the plan, they are:

1) Residential - The development and maintenance of attractive living environments which contain a suitable mix of housing types, provide for the preservation of existing housing, and located and designed in compatability with adjacent land uses.

2) Commercial - Maintain a strong Central Business District while continued commercial growth should fit into existing land use ground patterns and serve both the immediate and convenience shopping needs of the entire market area.

3) Industrial - The diversification of the area's industry is important for the stabilization and healthy growth of the community's economy.

The city's role should be to make maximum use of its high level of facilities and services, to attract new industry, which will create growth and benefit the economy of the entire area.

4) Recreation - The existing high quality of recreation and open space should be pursued in the future with continued development of both neighborhood and community-wide recreation areas.

A plan is simply that, it is up to the community to take the plans and implement them. There are a number of ways to ensure that we meet these goals.

For example, through the proper use of zoning we can ensure an adequate mix of housing types and the construction of commercial districts in areas that will be easily reached from all sections of the community.

The city is now actively engaged in the search for new industries and is developing a 53-acre industrial park on the south side of the city.

As the city grows, and there is every indication that it will, it should grow in a manner consistent with the adopted plans.

Vandalism, Thefts Down

Police investigated nine complaints this week and found bicycle thefts and vandalism almost nonexistant. A resume of police action includes:

Aug. 17 - Leonard F. Cote, 53, of 4631 Macon, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor after he was stopped on N. Evans. Police first observed Cote make a long stop at S. Ottawa and Chicago, and then began to pull him over as he braked the length of Ottawa.

Also on Wednesday, police served a warrant on Kathy S. Danforth, 34, of 306 Herrick Park, for barking dogs.

Brenda Kane, 518 Pawnee Hts., reported her bicycle tire and wheel was stolen while she was away for a few days.

Aug. 19 - Tim Laskey, 720 Seneca, reported a storm window broken at his home while he had been away a couple days.

Aug. 21 - Jeffrey A. Southwell, 18, of 1204 Murray, was arrested for possession of marijuana after police found him parked in the Community Center parking lot. When asked for his registration, Southwell revealed a quantity of alleged marijuana in his glove box.

Police arrested Ned J. Kope, 25, for owning an unlicensed dog after police stopped him for having a headlight out. A file from Clinton State Police revealed the warrant.

Aug. 22 - Kenneth Strack, 308 N. Maumee, reported the larceny of a small bag of groceries from his auto while he was in Kroger Store.

Aug. 23 - Robert L. Creger, 28, was arrested on a warrant for non-support Tuesday after police stopped the driver of the auto Creger was in. The driver, Creger's brother Edward, was arrested on a warrant and was driving with a suspended license.

Marty Winkler, 419 Wildwood, reported his bicycle stolen from the high school when he left it there for a couple hours in the afternoon.

Talking It Out
LESTER D. PROCTOR

IS A FUNERAL NECESSARY?

Death is one of the most difficult losses we can experience — especially the death of a family member or spouse.

The wake and funeral services can be "tools" that help us accept the fact of death and permanent separation as the real thing. The wake becomes a time of consolation to those who have experienced the loss — a time for friends to SHARE their grief.

The funeral helps us remember the life of the lost one. It provides strength for the family and friends and communicates to all those attending that this life is now permanently separated from ours.

It is my experience that some who do not attend the funeral of a loved and close one suffer more afterwards. The funeral can become the first stepping stone to the rebuilding of our own lives without the presence of the deceased.

Call us if you'd like more helpful information and booklets on the subject of funerals.

Diana Stevens Weds Robert Aten

Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church was the setting for the marriage of Diana Lynn Stevens and Robert Michael Aten on Aug. 13 at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Dane Ruff officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stevens, 2255 Munger Rd. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mull.

Cheryl Biscupski was the organist and Tina Feezel sang "Evergreen". Tim Spicer and Larry Sebring sang and played guitars.

White wicker baskets filled with peach daisies decorated the church. Satin bows marked the pews. Candelabra lighted the altar.

For her wedding the bride chose a white organza gown over taffeta. The colonial styled gown featured a full skirt with chapel train, Renaissance neckline and bodice overlayed with Venice lace. The caplelet double tiered sleeves were trimmed with lace. She wore a picture hat overlayed with Venice lace and English net with large bow in back.

She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the groom. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ferns with tiny blue silk flowers, baby's breath and blue and white satin bows.

Vickie Perkins of Adrian was maid of honor wearing a light blue colonial gown of linen with ruffled neckline and flounce. She wore daisies in her hair and carried a nosegay of light blue daisies, blue silk flowers and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Janice Stevens, the bride's sister, Julia Aten, the groom's sister of Tecumseh and Jan Voss of Grand Rapids.

Kathy Stevens, the bride's sister, was junior bridesmaid gowned in peach with an eyelet trim. Jodi Ward, the bride's cousin of Osseo, was the flower girl, gowned in blue with eyelet pinafore.

All were attired in gingham gowns.

Sgt. Craig Van Camp of Ft. Bragg, N.C. was the best man. Ushers were Kevin Stevens, the brides' brother of Tecumseh, Doyle Reynolds II of Newbaden, Ill, and Dick Kahle, the groom's uncle of Tecumseh.

A reception was held at the Peerless Gear Union Hall for 300 guests. Melinda Scharer and Kim Gravitt served cake. Debi Aten served punch. Debbie Bohannon passed the guest book.

The new Mrs. Aten is a 1974 graduate of Tecumseh High School and has an associates degree from Ferris State College. She is employed as a dental assistant for Dr. John Logan, Ann Arbor.

Mr. Aten is a 1971 graduate of Tecumseh High School, completed four years with the United States Navy at the Computer Learning Center in Fairfax, Va. and is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. as a programmer and analyst.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mull hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Cedar Shack.

The couple will reside in Ann Arbor following a wedding trip to Toronto.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT ATEN

Beland Reunion

The Beland reunion was held Aug. 21 at the Beland cottage on Sand Lake with 45 members present for a potluck dinner.

Vice-president Clarence Beland conducted the meeting in the absence of Donald Peters Jr. of Saginaw who was unable to attend because of sickness in the family.

Officers elected were Clarence Beland, president; Donald Peters Jr. vice-president; Ida Helm, secretary and treasurer.

Charles Beland is putting together information on the Beland ancestory and read to the group what was compiled so far.

Guests came from Ohio, Missouri and Michigan.

Next meeting will be the fourth Sunday of August next year at the same location.

Attends School

Roger D. Cook, of 4132 Monroe Road, Tipton, attended the 15th Fiji Academy, the leadership school for undergraduate chapter officers of the Fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta, at The Ohio State University, Columbus, August 14-18.

Roger is a student at General Motors Institute, where he is Historian of the Alpha Gamma Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta.

Candlelight Ceremony Is Setting for Vows

Susan G. McElroy and Kenneth L. Pieh, Jr. exchanged wedding vows during a candlelight ceremony in the First United Presbyterian Church Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Pastor Edmond Watkins officiated at the service and Mrs. Fred Oberlin was the organist.

Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. McElroy, 1020 Red Mill Dr. and Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pieh, 200 E. Logan.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an ivory linen gown with a high neckline, full bishop sleeves and full gathered skirt over a hoop. The gown with ivory Cluney lace was fashioned with a deep flounce of pleated voile surrounding the bottom of the skirt and repeated on the bodice and sleeves.

Her fingertip length veil with matching lace and appliques was secured by a Camelot style headpiece. She wore a cameo pin, a gift from the groom.

She carried a cascade of ivory glamellias, white sweetheart roses, dried baby's breath and English ivy.

Mrs. John Kennedy of Tecumseh was the matron of honor in an A-line halter gown of ivory and peach printed voile. The gown was styled with an empire bodice, ruffled V-neckline and ruffled trimmed cape. She carried a crescent bouquet of ivory glamellias, peach roses and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids, all of Tecumseh, were Mary E. McElroy, the bride's sister, Sharon Pieh, the groom's sister and Gail Kennedy. They were identically gowned in peach and ivory printed voile and carried crescent bouquets of peach glamellias and baby's breath.

Richard Schuyler of Novi was the best man. Bill McElroy, the bride's brother and Jim Hunt and John Kennedy, all of Tecumseh, were ushers.

Jennifer Edwards, the groom's niece of Tecumseh, was flower girl wearing a pinafore dress of printed voile and ivory linen. She carried a miniature arrangement of glamellias and roses. Her escort was Errett Manwaring of Tecumseh.

Lt. and Mrs. Gordon K. McElroy, the bride's brother and his wife of Triangle, Va. and Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Edwards, the groom's sister and her husband of Tecumseh, were hosts for the buffet reception for 225 guests at the Peerless Gear Union Hall, Clinton.

Assisting at the reception were Janice Brunt the groom's cousin of Madison, Wisc. and Kim Merritt of Tecumseh. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Loft of the Cedar Shack.

The new Mrs. Pieh is a 1975 graduate of Siena Heights College and is employed at CARE, Inc. in Adrian. Mr. Pieh is employed at Tri-County Logging, Clinton. The couple will reside in Adrian.

Indiana Is Setting for Couple's Vows

Melanie L. Myers and Jeffrey B. Harman, both of Kendallville, Ind., were united in marriage July 16. The Rev. Kenneth Napier performed the double ring ceremony in the Presbyterian Church in Kendallville.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hensen, 301 E. Pottawatamie, Tecumseh, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Harman, Park Ave., Kendallville.

Brenda Culbertson provided the wedding music.

The bride wore a pale blue Indian gauze gown with empire waist. The bodice and sleeves of the floor-length gown were of imported beige lace with a panel of lace down the back of the dress.

The bride's bouquet was of beige baby roses and blue and beige baby's breath. She wore a halo of baby's breath and one beige rose.

The new Mrs. Harman wore a choker of blue and beige imported lace with one pearl which has been passed down through four generations of her family.

Mrs. Jim Brown, Tecumseh, attended her sister as matron of honor.

Attendants were Mrs. Duane Chandler, sister of the bride, Tecumseh; and Mrs. Mike Hensen, sister-in-law of the bride, Tecumseh.

Nieces of the bride, Heidi Harman and Tina Chandler, Tecumseh, were flower girls.

The attendants wore gowns made by the bride and her sisters, of baby blue and beige check. They featured empire waists and three-tier bell sleeves.

They carried arrangements of blue carnations, beige roses and baby's breath.

The flowers for the wedding were arranged by the bride and her sisters.

Mike Antal served as best man.

Groomsmen were Steve Hankins and Mike Hensen, Tecumseh.

Ushers were Lance Harman and Steve Harman. Scott Harman was junior usher.

Kent Harman was ring bearer.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church parlors. Serving were LeAnn McCoy and Ginger Hankins.

The wedding cake was baked by the groom and his friend, Bob Snorr.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado the couple resides at Lot 12, Colonial Trailer Park, Kendallville.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh High School, and is employed by the News-Sun.

The groom is a graduate of East Noble High School and is manager of the bakery at Harman's IGA., Kendallville.

Vows Spoken by Couple

Susan Kay Beemer, formerly of Tecumseh, became the bride of John David Paul, Jr. on Saturday evening, Aug. 13, at St. Francis of Assisi Church, Ann Arbor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A.P. Lopez of Ann Arbor and the late Richard L. Beemer, who was branch manager of Consumers Power Co. here at the time of his death in 1958. Mr. and Mrs. John David Paul Sr. of Ann Arbor are the groom's parents.

Given in marriage by her brother, David L. Beemer of Atlanta, Ga., the bride wore a floor length gown of white sylesta jersey. It was fashioned with an empire waist, sweetheart circular skirt, long straight sleeves, and a high necked bodice of illusion. The gown, as well as the chapel length train, was trimmed with Venice lace. Her short veil of illusion was attached to a Juliette cap.

The candellight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Raymond M. Ra demacher. The organist was Mary Orwin and Charles Whiting played the trumpet. Orwin also accompanied the soloist, Cynthia Kiddy of Holland, sister of the bride.

Mrs. Kiddy was the matron of honor and Tracy Paul, of Ann Arbor, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Sharon Moore of Manchester, Kathy Beemer, of Atlanta, Ga. and Krista Wohltjen of Ann Arbor.

Kevin Paul served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Richard G. Beemer, brother of the bride, James Brochardt and Alan Albertini, of Ann Arbor, and Jon Tyner of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul are graduates of Ann Arbor High School. Mr. Paul is a graduate student at Michigan State University's School of Business and Mrs. Paul attended M.S.U. and holds a BS degree in occupational therapy from Eastern Michigan University.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Maine, they will be at home in East Lansing.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. C.B. Paul, in Ann Arbor.

The reception following the wedding was held at Barton Hills Country Club in Ann Arbor where the guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis R. Beemer of Wheaton, Ill., brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Program Discusses Weather, Colony

Abi Evans Chapter DAR members and guests heard a thought provoking program on the subject of Russian efforts to change weather patterns, given by Mrs. Neil Pearson at the August meeting.

She also described a lost Indian colony in Upper New Hampshire, which had been so well hidden that is escaped paying taxes.

Meeting was attended by eight members and four guests, Mrs. Clayton Greenwald, Mrs. Ralph Ruesink, Mrs. Charles Waterman and Mrs. Jerald Oaks of Pierce, Ariz.

Regent Mrs. Frank Vanderlinden presided. Mrs. Waterman read the American Creed, and Mrs. Donald Smith served as secretary pro-tem, and read the president general's letter from the DAR magazine.

The group plans to collect all materials that have accumulated for the past 50 years concerning DAR, and place them in the Tecumseh Public Library. Mrs. Neil Pearson, Mrs. Louis Schneider and Mrs. Smith will serve as the committee on this project.

More afghans will be made for the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Handmade needlepoint bookmarks, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the ABI-Evans Chapter DAR, were presented to members by Mrs. Vanderlinden.

Next meeting will be Sept. 9, when a picnic will be held at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Maurice McIntosh.

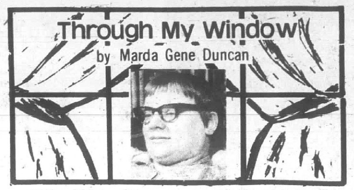
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



It should have been so easy. The large butterfly was fluttering just outside the window and on the end table was a small butterfly and moth guide book. It seemed like a good idea to put a name to what I was watching; in fact, all summer I had watched butterflies, surely a little detective work should offer many names.

This has been a super good year for butterflies — oh, oh, that sounds vaguely familiar and I wonder if I did not say the same thing last year and the year before that and the year before that.

As soon as Mom put the butterfly and moth book on my reading table I began to have second thoughts. A slight suspicion started nagging that just maybe this was not going to be as quick and easy as I had thought.

"Butterflies and Moths" by Robert T. Mitchell and Herbert S. Zim is a thin volume, a mere introduction, but my goodness, when on page two their forward states that "So numerous are North American species..." that they have only included about three percent. This was when I suspected I was in trouble.

The introduction itself was not too bad. The wings of both butterflies and moths are covered with minute scales and this separates them from all other insects. They are also the largest order of insects next to the beetles — there are about ten thousand species of butterflies and moths in North America.

This on page four and I knew I was in trouble.

When the book reached the point of detailing the equipment used by collectors I, quite frankly, skipped quickly through and just read headlines. Killing jars, spreading boards, and insect pins are a gruesome trio. And butterflies are so beautiful and fragile and delicate!

But back to the butterfly outside the window. It was large and dark, there seemed to be light spots near the outside corners of the front wings and large blueish areas in the back wings. I should have known from many hours of pouring through bird books that these seemingly outstanding identification marks would not be enough to make picking a name easy.

There were many dark butterflies and, after going through the book three times, Mom and I decided that our visitor must be a spicebush swallowtail. She simply had not looked at the book carefully before putting on her makeup. (Yes I know, I have often accused birds of the same thing.)

Also like birds, some butterflies show a difference in the coloring between the sexes. Ours was a female spicebush and swallowtail. The males have a greenish tinge on their hind wings instead of blue.

One day on the porch Gertie T. and I had watched a male — I remember we commented on the black butterfly with the bright greenish tinge. All of the swallowtails have a protrudence on the back of the hind wings for which they are named. With some it is more noticeable than others.

The pretty thing outside our window was not anxious to show us her swallowtail and neither was she showing the yellow dots running the entire length of her upper wing. They were there but Mom had to look closely.

But after checking further in the book I won't complain about the spicebush swallowtail. Another member of the family we often see is the tiger swallowtail. A large yellow and black butterfly.

The book has two tigers, the eastern and the western. Fortunately they 'stay put' and stick to their geographic regions. If they didn't — well, our eastern females can be either a light or dark phase whereas the western gals are always bright yellow; the larva of both look the same, creepy green things, but feed on different plants; a real test of identification is the marking on the underside of the front wings, along the outer edge the eastern is spotted whereas the western is banded.

Utterly confusing. I think I will stick to birds!

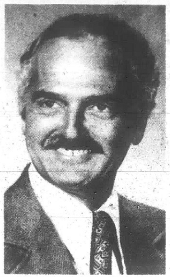
New President Named at Siena

Chester Devenow, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Siena Heights College, has announced the appointment of Dr. Louis Vaccaro as president of the college.



DR. LOUIS VACCARO

During the past five years, Vaccaro has served as president of Colby-Sawyer College, New London, New Hampshire.

Prior to his position at Colby-Sawyer, Vaccaro held faculty and administrative appointments at California State University at Northridge; Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; the University of Portland, Oregon; and St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana.

A native of California, Dr. Vaccaro earned his undergraduate degree in economics and two masters degrees at the University of Southern California. His doctorate was earned at Michigan State University in 1963.

In 1965 and 1966, Vaccaro was a post-doctoral research fellow at the University of Oregon, Eugene.

In 1975, Vaccaro was named senior consultant with the Latin American Teaching Fellowship Program of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts University.

During the past three years he has taught and consulted with Brazilian universities and other educational organizations. He is the author of four books and scores of publications and has lectured widely in the United States and abroad.

Siena Heights College was founded in 1919 as a Catholic college for young women. During the mid-1950's it was ranked as one of the top five women's colleges in the United States.

Today it is fully coeducational and has a student body of approximately 1100.

Siena's academic offerings feature outstanding programs in the fine and performing arts that have received strong support through government and foundation grants.

In commenting on his recent appointment as president, Dr. Vaccaro said, "I am delighted with the prospects of serving a college that has earned a reputation for innovation in undergraduate education."

"In reaching this important decision, I was greatly influenced by the strength and competencies of all whom I met during my campus visits. The faculty, students, administration, trustees, and alumni impressed me as dedicated, and committed to the further strengthening of an already fine institution."

"They are complemented by exceptionally fine physical facilities, especially the Performing Arts Center and Studio Angelico, the fine arts building."

He succeeds Hugh Thompson, who resigned earlier this year.

Dr. Vaccaro, his wife, Jean, and four of their six children are expected to arrive in Adrian before September 1.

SCHOOLS SET TO OPEN

Are You Ready?

CLINTON—School will be in session all day Wednesday, Sept. 7, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Teachers will attend all-day orientation sessions Tuesday, Sept. 6, from 8 a.m.

All Kindergarten children will attend the 8:30 a.m. session on Wednesday. This includes both town and country students. Kindergartners will be dismissed early on Wednesday so they may board the bus ahead of other students for the return trip home.

On Thursday, all kindergarten children who live in the country will be riding the bus to attend the morning session 8:30-11:15 a.m. The bus will arrive at their home sometime between 7:30-8:15 a.m. They will be returned home between 11:15 a.m. and noon.

All Kindergartners who live in town are to come to the afternoon session Sept. 8 which meets from 12:15-3 p.m.

Transferring of students from morning to afternoon sessions may be necessary after opening day enrollments are determined. All transfers will be made only after personal notification of the parents.

For the first two days of school, parents are requested to make sure their child wears a tag stating his name, complete address and phone number.

Doors at the elementary building will open at 8:15 a.m. Class lists will be placed on the door outside each classroom. Students should check these lists to determine the room to which they are assigned. Both the teachers and principal will be present to aid in this process.

It is not necessary for parents to bring their children to school on opening day. However, parents are always welcome.

Other Students

Students in grades 5 through 8 are to report to the middle school at 8:15 a.m. Class lists for fifth and sixth graders will be posted on the bulletin board in the main lobby. Students should check these lists to find out room assignments and report immediately to the designated room. Staff members will be available to assist students.

Locker assignments will be made by the homeroom teacher.

If schedule changes are desired, the students should discuss these with the homeroom teachers who will refer the matter to the Counselor and Principal for appropriate action. Schedule changes are made only with parental permission.

All students in grades 9 through 12 will meet in the high school auditorium at 8:30 a.m. Sept. 7. Students will be given their locker number and combination as they enter the auditorium. Needed material, as well as schedule, class and room assignments, will be in the students' lockers.

Schedule changes cannot be made without a conference with the high school counselor. The counselor, the principal and parents all must approve schedule changes.

Vo-Tech Students

All students enrolled in courses at the Lenawee Vocational-Technical Center will not attend the 8:30 a.m. assembly, but will attend the Vo-Tech Center. These students will have an assembly as soon as they return from their morning Vo-Tech class.

School-age newcomers to Clinton have the week of Aug. 22 to register for the 1977-78 school year. Students are to register in the principal's office of the building they will be attending classes from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Immunization

An up to date immunization and tuberculin testing record must be presented. It may be updated by the family physician or at the Lenawee County Health Department, Adrian, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8-11:30 a.m. and 12:30-4:30 p.m. There is no charge.

Should a child not meet the immunization requirements because of religious reasons, the parents or guardian must submit a written statement to the principal.

Transportation

All students living outside of the village are provided with transportation. For the first few days of the school year, all bus routes and time schedules will remain the same as last year. Changes will be made as pupil distribution warrants.

Parents are urged to have their children at the bus stop in advance of the anticipated arrival of the bus. Bus drivers will maintain the schedule as promptly as possible.

Lunch Hours

Cafeteria service will be operated at the high school for grades 9-12, and at the middle school for grades 1-8.

Students may carry lunch if they prefer, but all students, if they eat at school, must do so in the cafeteria.

Lunch prices for the 1977-78 school year will be: elementry, 45 cents, middle school, 50 cents, high school, 50 cents and adult school personnel 85 cents.

A standing policy of the school concerning the hot lunch program is, a student may only have one charge and this must be paid before that student is allowed the privilege of buying another hot lunch or any ala-carte item, including milk.

All charges and payments for hot lunch must be made at the cafeteria cashiers desk only during the time of the hot lunch period.

Clinton Schools also will serve free meals to qualified students who come from low income families.

Families with expenses due to unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and a disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply for the free meals.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible to benefit from the free meal program.

Applications for the free meal program are available at the Superintendent's office. They can be submitted any time during the school year.

Hobby Sale

CLINTON — A white elephant sale was the diversion when the Clinton Hobby Club met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dan Reilly.

Mrs. Benson VanDeMark was co-hostess for the dessert luncheon.

Next meeting will be Sept. 21 at the home of Mrs. Sam Robison.

Repurchase Theatre

CLINTON — Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haskell have repurchased the Clinton Theatre from Allen Haff, who has operated it since last November.

The Haskells have painted and refurbished it again.

Mrs. Haskell said "We repurchased because it was being closed and we feel the area needs a small family theatre at low prices.

"However without the help of the community we can't do it. We are doing this as a way to save it, not to make a lot of money, which is impossible to do. If people are going to the movie each week, all they have to do to save money, long lines, etc., is to attend our movie at least once a month to help save a dying era.

"It can't be kept open on Friday evening children's prices only. We must have some adult attendance on other days."

Mrs. Haskell said they would try to save the theatre until Nov. 1, and if at that time it becomes impossible, they will rent it out for a warehouse, which they already have an offer for.

She noted, "Everyone says it's a shame to close it, and we feel the same way especially about the kids."

She urged, "Help save it for the kids!"

M D Carnival

CLINTON — A Muscular Dystrophy Benefit Carnival will be held Sept. 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 3577 Clinton Macon Rd., at the home of Rose and Tammy Jolet, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jolet.

Other youngsters assisting with the carnival will be Brad and Chris Marsh and Mark and Keith Tschirhart.

Besides games, there will be a rummage and plant sale.

Among the games planned are: guess the pennies, sucker tree, toss-a-cross, grab bag, ball throw, bingo, duck-game, guess-your-weight and fun house.

There will also be refreshments available.

Farewell Party

CLINTON — Anthony and Gwenn Haddad were honored at a farewell open house, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. George Schroeder. Mrs. William Earl was co-hostess.

The Haddads have been members of the faculty at Clinton Schools for the past three years, and have accepted positions in the schools of Kellogg, Idaho. He will be in special education and she will teach third grade.

Social afternoon was attended by 29 fellow faculty members.

Among the guests was Steve Halchishak, who was recently released from the hospital after open heart surgery four weeks ago.

Refreshments featured a cake decorated with a good luck horseshoe.

The Haddads were presented with a coin-filled bank.

Johnston Benefit

CLINTON—There will be a benefit coffee hour at 1 p.m., Aug. 27 for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnston, whose home on Ely Rd. was destroyed by fire recently, at Bridgewater Township Hall.

The Johnstons especially need linens and kitchen utensils.

Anyone who has such items or other things may call 456-4912 or 456-7253.

A special fund for the Johnstons has been established at the Clinton State Savings Bank.

Voters Reject Millage Hike

CLINTON — For the second time Clinton School District voters rejected a request for a half-mill increase in taxes for school operating funds. Proposal would have raised around $30,000.

Vote was 200 "yes" to 233 "no," out of 438 persons voting. There were five voided votes.

In the June election, the millage proposal was defeated by 37 votes.

Superintendent Richard Wegner, contacted Tuesday morning, expressed his disappointment in the results of the vote.

"We need the money to maintain a solvent budget." he stated.

He said he would meet soon with the school board members to discuss when and where to make necessary cuts.

"We are still negotiating with faculty and other staff and this will have an impact on what we can settle for," he noted.

He mentioned the possibility of reconsidering the preprimary program, which has just been under way.

He said he considers the vote a serious setback, "but, we have to respect the opinion of the voters."

Sales Lag a Bit

CLINTON — Les Proctor and Gary Couture, Fall Festival car ticket sales chairmen, are getting anxious to heat up the thermometer in the State Savings Bank, which registers ticket sales.

With 2,500 tickets sold to date, sales are lagging a bit behind last year's sales.

The four village churches and the Fall Festival Committee will benefit from all sales. Anyone may sell tickets and designate proceeds to the church of his choice.

To obtain tickets call Gary Couture 456-4164 or 456-4386.

Winners of the drawing at Clinton's Fall Festival Oct. 2 will have their choice of three automobiles, a Ford LTD, a Chrysler Cordoba or a Pontiac Phoenix.

Additional prizes are a trip to Las Vegas, stereo tape deck, CB radio, and two Schwinn bicycles.

In Tecumseh, tickets are available at The Herald.

New Draper in Family

CLINTON — A son, James William Draper, was born Tuesday at Munson Medical Center, Traverse City, to Mr. and Mrs. James Leonard Draper, nee Nan Mabry, of Central Lake.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brauberger of Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs. J. Draper of Central Lake.

Greatgrandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W.P. VanTuyle of Clinton.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

The canning and freezing season is now in full swing and what a busy time it is! Here are some new recipes I plan to try soon.

This chili sauce from Dorothy Anschuetz sounds delicious.

RAW CHILI SAUCE

½ peck ripe tomatoes, peeled
6 medium onions
1 bunch celery
½ cup salt
1 pint vinegar
3½ cups white sugar
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon all spice
1 large sweet pepper chopped
2 hot red peppers chopped

Chop tomatoes, onions and celery and sprinkle with salt. Let stand overnight. Drain and add remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil and simmer 2-3 hours until desired thickness. Pour hot into hot jars. Adjust caps. Process 15 minutes. Yield 4-5 pints.

Betty Meni makes dozens of quarts of dill pickles from this recipe each year. I've sampled them and they are delicious and easy, too.

DILL PICKLES

garlic cloves dill
cucumbers
Brine:
3 quarts of water
1 quart of cider vinegar
1 cup coarse salt
1½ teaspoon alum

Wash cucumbers. Place 2 cloves of garlic and a stalk of dill in each sterilized jar. Pack jars tightly with cucumbers, whole if very small or pared or chunked to fit jar. Mix brine together for 5 minutes. Pour boiling brine over cucumbers. Adjust caps and process 5 minutes in boiling water. After pickles have been processed and sealed, allow to cure 8-12 weeks before serving. Makes 8-10 quarts.

See you next week.

Pre-School Classes

Little Indian Pre-School Center, located on Bishop Reed in Tecumseh, is now accepting applications for September classes.

Children, age three to five years, are eligible for sessions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, or Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

The cooperative nursery requires parent participation in class.

Carol Blumerick, the nursery teacher for the past two years, is a certified teacher.

For more information and registration forms, readers may contact Shirley Ivan, 451-8389 or 423-5270.

Special APT Dance Is Set

A special APT Summer Teen Dance will be held for Tecumseh area teens, Friday, Aug. 26 from 9 to midnight, at the Tecumseh High School cafeteria.

Late last week, APT board of directors signed a contract with Fire-Eye. The four-member band is not new to Tecumseh. They played at last year's homecoming dance and at the prom.

Fire-Eye was the 1976 winner of the county battle of the bands.

They have played not only in Michigan but also Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. They have appeared with the Whiz Kids and Brownville Station and only missed playing with Bob Seeger when that concert was cancelled.

The four musicians are Todd Bailey, lead singer; Ron Rutherford, guitar; Bill Bailey, keys; and Gordie Sharp, drums.

Admission is $1 and refreshments are available.

Fifth APT dance was held Aug. 19 with disc jockey Jeff Steiner selecting and playing music for over 200 area youths.

Elvis Presley's music was especially popular with the young people at the dance.

Chaperones were Tammy Will, Pat and Jay Tressler, Marge Steiner and Donna Roe.

Building exterior was tended by officer Ken Laninga.

Florida Reunion

Annual Lenawee County Florida Reunion will be held Saturday Sept. 10, 1977 at the Tipton Community Church, Tipton. Dinner will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in attending may contact Mrs. Lester Munger, 6880 Occidental Hwy., Tecumseh, or telephone 423-7868.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

Many thanks to Josie Jones for doing the Macon Montage for me this summer.

After traveling some 4000 miles thru some beautiful parts of our country coming home to the Macon area was no disappointment as I realized once again what a lovely place we call home.

Driving out to the Macon area this summer readers have noticed many things.

Clinton-Macon Road construction has finally started, attractive Macon church has a new paint job, several Macon homes look extra nice with their new paint jobs and Boysville has some landscaping in front of their buildings.

Probably the thing that catches everyones eyes are the fields of sunflowers.

My own curiosity being aroused about these fields I called Bob Bush who has some sunflowers planted and asked him for some information on this new crop we are seeing.

This is his first year for growing this oil producing type sunflower.

There are 38 lbs. of the seeds in a bushel and the average yield per acre is 1500-1800 lbs.

Seeds of this plant is smaller, completely black and the hull harder to get off than the seeds of the sunflower we are more familiar with.

Harvesting should begin the end of August or the first week in September.

A regular combine with the reel taken off is used, with special pans on the front to go between the rows to catch the seeds.

Michigan State University is doing research on the possible uses of this oil in the energy program.

Sunflowers produce more oil than soybeans and withstand drought so much better. Growers are anxiously looking forward to the results of this first harvest in our area.

Nancy Ross was a busy lady Saturday morning keeping her mom Mary Ludwig away from her Macon home for three hours while many people put the finishing touches on a surprise birthday party and some 75 people assembled.

When the two returned to Macon, Mary was greeted by the group and a banner "Happy Birthday Mom" was strung across the garage.

The party turned into a reunion as relatives met for the first time in many years.

Friends and relatives from Detroit, Hamtramack, Jonesville and Pontiac came. The presence of daughter Marilyn Peterson of PEtosky put the finishing touch on the party. A potluck dinner and games were enjoyed by all, especially by Mary Ludwig!

The Donald Imber family celebrated doubly August 14.

A family gathering was held at their home for the third birthday of son Philip.

A great aunt and uncle from Delphos, Ohio attended.

Don and Louise celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary Aug. 19 with dinner out and the theater.

Dave and Linda Stretch, Pennington Rd. are the proud parents of a new son Adam David born at Herrick Hospital last week. Adam was welcomed home by brother Patrick age 5. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Stretch.

Tim and Kris Connors spent a week in Adrian at their aunts home with grandma Connors in charge while mom was cooking at football camp.

Bookmobile will be in Macon Friday Aug. 26 from 11:45-12:30 for the last time this summer.

Macon area hospital stays include Jesse Scudder at Herrick Hospital, Elizabeth Kovach, Saline and Phyllis Thomas, St. Joseph, Ann Arbor.

Church Notes

Parents of boys or girls interested in being acolytes at the church are asked to contact Lucille Bugbee at 423-3394.

Faith Circle will meet Thursday, Sept. 1 at 1:30 p.m. at the house of Mable Burleson. Shirley Riggs will present the program.

Philathea Class Meets

BRITTON — July meeting of the Baraca Philathea Class of the Congregational Christian Church, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benedict.

Mrs. Helen Osterhout gave devotions. A short business meeting followed and date for preparing and serving the retired Rural Michigan Teacher's Club (RMTC), was set for Oct. 3.

August is vacation month for the Class. Meetings will resume Sept. 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Benedict.

Bridal Shower

BRITTON—Ronda Cheever was recently honored at a bridal shower given at the home of Mrs. Fred McCrate of Tecumseh.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Cal Rohrback of St. Johns and Mrs. Dennis Marshall of Alma.

Twenty guests played games. The luncheon was served from a table accented by gold candles and floral centerpiece.

A corsage was presented to the bride-elect.

Ronda will be married on Sept. 4 to Daniel Taylor of Belleville.

Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Harriott returned home Friday following a week's stay at Gladwin Area Hospital, in Gladwin, where they were taken following a two-car accident Aug. 12. Mrs. Fred (Kate) Fanslau was released Saturday, but will remain at her mother-in-law's home in Harrison for a few days. Cards and letters will reach her at 9284 E. Clarence Rd., Harrison, Mich. 48625.

Dora Schober is a patient at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor in room 1128.

Sunday School at Grace United Methodist Church will begin at 9:45 a.m. starting Sept. 11.

Mrs. Helen Osterhout and her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cadmus, Ryan, Shannon and Lance of Ridgeway, returned last Thursday from a two-week's western trip. Places of interest visited in Wyoming were: the Grand Teton National Park, Yellowstone National Park, Mt. Rushmore, Custer's National Park and Wall's Drug Store, with a souvenir shop. In Cody, Wyo. they attended the annual rodeo celebration. At Custer's National Park they saw the Begging Burros. Also of interest was the Amana Colonies in Amana, Iowa. During their western trip, they saw 30 elks, 300 antelopes and 12 buffalos roaming along the highways. Other states visited were Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, S. Dakota and Nebraska.

Relatives arrived Sunday afternoon for a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Lynn Harriott, with a birthday cake, ice cream and presents. Happy Birthday Mary!.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wagenschutz and family returned Saturday from a week's vacation at Port Austin. Chris Reau was a guest of the Wagenschutz's son, Gary, for the whole week.

Julie Osterhout, Cindi and Kim Dick and Lori Monagin returned last Wednesday night after spending a week vacationing at Virginia Beach, Va. Lori did not return with the girls but left from Norfolk Airport by plane to Nashville, Tenn., to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Monagin, who were spending a few days there.

Taxes Due August 31

BRITTON — Village taxes are now due and payable before Aug. 31, 1977. Collection days are Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., or checks may be mailed to Village Treasurer Elizabeth Osterhout, at 230 N. Main St., Britton.

After Sept. 1, 1977 a four percent collection fee will be added and taxes will be payable at the County Treasurer's Office in Adrian.

ABC Club Plans Ethnic Festivities

BRITTON — The American Bohemian Club (ABC) of Britton is scheduling many festivities with an Ethnic flavor in September.

The club, composed of approximately 55 families from Southeastern Michigan, most of them from the local area, has scheduled a Labor Day Dance Saturday, Sept. 4 at Hickory Park Hall on Lewis Ave., in Ida, with music by the "3 K's plus 3" Polka band from Detroit, playing from 7 to 11 p.m.

Refreshments will include home baked Czechoslovakian pasteries. Publis is invited.

Also, the Club will put on their annual Labor Day Chicken Barbecue, Sept. 5, at Mel's Britton Hotel in downtown Britton, beginning at 2 p.m. Five-hundred chickens will be barbecued. Two Polka dance bands will be making music with dancing inside and outside.

The public is invited.

The American Bohemian Club will be participating in the annual Ethnic Festival being held Sept. 9 and 10 from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. in the streets of downtown Ann Arbor.

Live music will be featured both nights by local entertainers, Joe Prochaska and Tom Komon. The Charlie Chapko band from Owosso and others will also be featured.

Mouth-watering home baked Czechoslovakian pasteries will be available along with imported Bohemian Pilsner Beer and "Slivovice", a popular plum brandy.

Make plans to celebrate with the local ABC'ers.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Davila, 375 E. Chicago Blvd, Britton, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Aug. 13 with a dinner and dance given by their children at United Products Workers Union Hall. Manuel Davila and Josefa Mireles were married Aug. 1, 1952 at Angola, Ind. They have two children, Diane and Manuel Jr. at home. Mr. Davila is employed at Tecumseh Products Co.

Dorcas Class Honors 5 August Birthdays

BRITTON — August birthdays were honored at the Aug. 18 meeting of the Dorcas Class of the Britton Congregational Christian Church.

Mrs. Beverly Fournia and Mrs. Irene Fournia were recognized for their birthdays. Cards were sent to Mrs. Carmen Brown, Mrs. Mandana Frakes, and Mrs. Alta Thompson, whose birthdays occurred in August.

Mary Oliver, first vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Helen Osterhout, class president. Class voted to have the next meeting on Sept. 21, instead of the regular date because of the church turkey supper.

Mrs. Mae Willis presented devotions "In It's Time" and offered prayer. Rev. David Hawk read, "The Time God Did Not Strike Us Dead". Mrs. Lillian Rodgers, chairman of devotions and program, read two poems, "There Are Seeds of Weeds and Flowers" and "Kind Words" both from Between Us Friends and Ideals magazine.

Mrs. Theo Willis and Mrs. Carrie Murphy were in charge of refreshments.

Meeting concluded with the "Lord's Prayer."

Couple Wed in Ridgeway

BRITTON — Ridgeway Church of the Nazarene was the setting for the marriage of Yvonne Marie Reynolds and David Allan Bigelow, July 29.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Murdock 11261 Welch Rd., Britton. Groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bigelow, 710 Joseph Kies, Clinton.

Ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Stephenson before a candlelighted altar arrangement of multi-colored daisies, gladioli and fern.

Peggy Jo Raeburn was the organist. Vocalists were Charles Mende and Genny Lentz.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of organza and chantilly lace styled with a high neckline, long full sleeves and ruffle trim. Skirt ended in a ruffled lace train. Her jewelry was a diamond pendant necklace, a gift of the groom; and diamond earrings, gift from her grandmother.

The bride's fingertip length mantilla was edged in matching lace. She carried a white Bible covered with red roses and white daisies and baby's breath.

Gale Murdock of Adrian, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a blue sleeveless gown with matching jacket. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of multi-colored daisies.

Identically gowned, the bridesmaids were: Diane Heavener of Virginia, in peach; Denise Bigelow of Clinton, sister of the groom, in pink; Julie Osterhout in yellow; Pam Faust, lilac; Dawn Moore, green, all of Britton.

Flower girl was Heather Heavener of Virginia, a niece of the groom. She wore a pink dress and carried white daisies with pink centers.

Glenn Shelley of Adrian was the best man. Groomsmen were Arling Heavener of Virginia, brother-in-law of the groom; Ken Smith of Sunfield; Al Whiteman of Tipton; Clarence Murdock, brother of bride; and Charles Moore, both of Britton.

Ushers were Robert Fox of Westland, uncle of bride; and Terry Faust of Britton, cousin of groom.

Ring bearer was Jimmy Campbell of Tipton, nephew of bride.

Reception at United Products Workers Union Hall, Tecumseh, was attended by 300 guests. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stapleton of Connecticut, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Cindie Dick and Lori Reitz, both of Britton, assisted at the reception.

Bride is a 1976 graduate of Britton-Macon High School and is attending Jackson Community College, majoring in practical nursing.

Groom is a 1974 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed at 84-Lumber Co., Ann Arbor.

Rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents, in Clinton.

The couple has returned from a wedding trip in Illinois and is residing at 10441 Shaw Hwy., Britton.

MR. and MRS. DAVID BIGELOW

Attends Class for Hairstyling

BRITTON — Mrs. Allen Bower left Sunday for Grand Rapids, where she attended the Post Graduate College of Cosmetological Art and Science for a one-day class Monday on gentlemen's hairstyling.

The class included a demonstration and workshop covering all the variables, specific to gentlemen's hair design, including permanent waving and color design.

Class was conducted by David Corbin, nationally known barber, stylist, salon owner and Redkin and R.K. guest artist.

Mrs. Bower returned home Monday evening.

Celebrates 9th B'day

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bower, Todd and Scott, entertained supper guests Thursday marking the ninth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Andrea.

Guests included great-grandmother, Mrs. Claud Crutchfield, Adrian; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield; Mr. and Mrs. George Bower; godfather, Keith Crutchfield and Kelley; William Cundiff, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martlock, David and Tom, all of Britton.

On Saturday Andrea was further honored when her mother, Todd and Scott and two of Andrea's friends, Colleen Spence and Tricia Rohrs traveled to Southwyck Mall in Toledo where they ate at McDonalds and later attended the movie "Herbie Goes to Monte Carlo.

On their return they enjoyed a birthday cake and punch at the Bower home.

Beal Reunion

BRITTON — The descendants of Gertrude and Alonzo Beal held their annual Beal Reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frayer Aug. 14, with 55 family members attending the noon potluck dinner.

Relatives enjoying a social afternoon were from Columbus, Ohio, Chelsea, Ypsilanti, St. Johns, Stockbridge, Milan and Tecumseh.

Card of Thanks

Fall Festival '77 Committee would like to thank all of those who attended our fund raising parties at Dick's Country Inn, at the Sadler's Race Track and Colonial Lanes. Thank you again for your continued support. 8-5c

Many thanks to Dr. Brandt, Dr. Smith, Dr. Iischer, Dr. Abraham, Dr. Ellis, Dr. Tuekeo for their time and talent trying to help my heart problem. To the nurses for their wonderful care while at St. Joseph's Hospital. To all who sent cards, flowers, gifts and phone calls, and came to see me and everyone who brought Ira each day, and Rev. Raloff and Rev. Boyd who called. God bless you,

Adrian College Students

Several Tecumseh area students will enter Adrian College this fall for the first time.

Freshmen students from Tecumseh are Jane Faulkner, Nancy Kitson, Kathy Lewis, Daniel Tilton, Bradley Sharp and Jeffrey Watters.

Clinton students are Mark Carlton, Marty Gagneur, Jeff Miller and Vicky Miller.

Tipton student, Michael Irvine will also be a freshman.

Britton freshmen are Nancy Dittman and Lorraine Monagin.

Promoted

CLINTON — Laboratory Specialist Donald E. Schuiteman, 43, of Bridgeport was recently promoted to lieutenant IV level.

Schuiteman enlisted in 1956, and served first at Clinton State Police post.

Chapter Meets

Iota Epsilon Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Nancy Wegner for "Beginning Day" on Aug. 23.

A salad buffet was served to 13 members and secret sisters were announced.

Next meeting will be Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Judy Elwartowski.

Seniors Fall Color Tour

Plans are now underway for a senior citizens fall color tour to Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, and a full-day visit to Mackinaw Island.

Dates for this trip are September 18-20.

Tour will include a full day's trip into the scenic Canadian Agawa Canyon on the Algoma Central Railroad.

The number of people allowed on this trip is limited, so reservations should be called into or sent to the Recreation Department at 423-5602 as soon as possible.

GOSPEL SINGERS TO PERFORM — The Testimonies, a singing group from Charlotte, will sing Aug. 28, Sunday evening at 7 p.m. at the Tecumseh Assembly of God Church at the corner of Roger Highway and M-50. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Award Dehring, Forsthoefel

The highest award to be earned in Scouting was presented to Jeffrey Dehring and Gregory Forsthoefel Aug. 12 at the special "Court of Honor" for Troop No. 272, sponsored by the United Methodist Men's Fellowship of Tecumseh.

Parents of the two boys are Mr. and Mrs. James Dehring and Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Forsthoefel.

Jeffrey H. Dehring, 18, joined Cub Scout Pack 4 in Sept. 1967. He progressed through the program and completed the requirements for the Arrow of Light. He is the first Scout of Troop 272 to progress from induction through Eagle Scout.

For his Eagle project, with the cooperation of the United Methodist Men's Club, Jeff led the building and erecting of a basketball goal at the church, to promote personal fitness, a scouting objective.

Jeff plans to attend Michigan State University this fall to study landscape and nursery program of the Institute of Agricultural Technology.

Other achievements in his Scout career include:

Tenderfoot Award, 1972; First Class, 1974 Star Scout, 1975; Life Scout, 1975; patrol leader of Cochise Warriors 1974-75; Quartermaster and member of the Leadership Corps; participant in Troop Leaders Development, Wrights Lake and Wolverine Council contingent to Philmont Scout Ranch; Ordeal member of the Allohak Lodge Order of Arrow.

Gregg Forsthoefel began his Scouting career with Cub Scout Pack 73 in 1968. He received his Arrow Light in Feb. 1971 and became a member of Boy Scout Troop 4.

For his Eagle Project, Gregg recognized the need to improve Tecumseh street signs, consulted with the city, provided leadership for members of Troop 272 and inventoried existing problem signs to assist city in repair and modernization program.

He also led several Scouts in minor repairs to some of the existing signs with the results to benefit the community and visitors.

Gregg continues to be an honor student with a 3.5 grade average and will be a Tecumseh High School Senior this fall.

Other achievements in his Scout career include:

Tenderfoot Award 1971; First Class Progress Award, 1974; Star Scout, 1975; Life Scout, 1975; Senior Patrol leader of Troop 272 1974-75; Leadership Corps 1975; Instructor, Scout skills; Webelos Day Camp staff 1975 and Summer Camp Grunion at Camp Kanestake; Wolverine Council Summer camp staff at Wrights Lake; Ordeal Member of Allohak Lodge, Order of Arrow, 1976.

Ed Kinsey conducted the special awards presentation in the United Methodist Church sanctuary. Participants in the ceremony included various troop members, John V. Deming, Ed Walters and Eagle parents.

A decorated cake with replica of the Eagle award, the Scouts' names and Scout Law, courtesy of the new Eagles' parents, was served afterward with refreshments at a special reception. A potluck for Troop 272 families and guests preceded the special presentations.

RENT IT! from

George & Carol Parknowitz

Have you lost your patience for your latest workpiece because of broken screws? You should try a screw extractor to remove broken screws without causing any damage to the material or to the threaded hole. Screw extractors come in different shapes and sizes. The straight types - which are entirely fluted - range in sizes that can remove screws with ¼" to ½" outside diameters. Spiral extractors are tapered in different sizes capable of removing screws from 3/16" to 2 1/8" in outside diameter. To remove a screw, drill a hole in its head of the size required for the extractor.

If you are planning to start a project but don't have the proper tools, instead of investing the money for a one time deal stop in at the TECUMSEH RENTAL CENTER, 112 S. Pearl, 423-4470 and rent the tool from us. Why buy when it's cheaper to rent is what we say and you won't have to worry about storage space afterwards, see us first for any item that you might need. Open: daily 9am-8pm, Sun. 9-3.

HANDY HINT:
Insert the extractor into the hole on the screw and twist counterclockwise to remove the broken item.

CONDITIONING AT CAMP — Tecumseh's football squad attended Camp DeSales near Brooklyn last week. The Indians open their season Sept. 9 against Chelsea. (PHOTO BY MIKE SUNDERLAND)

BEGIN SEASON PREPARATIONS

Indian Football Squad Attends Camp

In preparation for the 1977 football season, Tecumseh's Indians attended a football camp Aug. 14-18 at Camp DeSales near Brooklyn.

Head coach Pat Connors reports that 41 players attended the camp.

Conditioning is stressed at the camp. In addition, players were divided into four cabins and competed against each other in 10 seperate events.

A Parent's Night was held on Thursday.

Ron Spagnoli, Bob Ondrovick and Wayne Nix assisted Connors with the camp along with manager and trainer Dave Rudd and Brian Banda. Helping with the cooking was Sharon Connors, Sandy Curth and Kay Todd.

Connors said of the camp, "We were very encouraged by what we saw in terms of attitude and ability. The upperclassmen showed us the way."

The Indians open their season Sept. 9 when they travel to Chelsea.

The season this year includes a post-season quarterfinal game between the top two teams from the same region. The winner would then enter a semi-final contest.

THS asst. Bob Ondrovick gives a demonstration.

Meyers Plane Enshrined

Mrs. Allen H. Meyers represented her late husband at special ceremonies to present the last Meyers OTW biplane to the Experimental Aircraft Association, "living" museum where antique craft are meticulously kept in running order.

Ceremonies were part of the Oshkosh fly-in near Milwaukee, Wisc. Event celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Experimental Aircraft Association. Al Meyers was one of its early founders.

The day Mrs. Meyers arrived there were 100,000 people and a two-hour delay for landing as aircraft from all over the United States jammed Hales Corners for the event.

Reported as the largest conglomeration of aircraft in the world by "Newsweek" and "Time," there were 4,800 planes that flew in. By comparison, Chicago O'Hare International airport has 2,000 in one day.

Mrs. Meyers had a car and helicopter at her disposal from which she took aerial pictures. She flew in a Swallow, a 50-year-old open cockpit biplane, the type used for the first delivery of air mail. Coincidentally her pilot was a United Airlines pilot who owns the OTW no. 2.

Tecumseh Trainers at Seminar

Tecumseh High School sports trainers Brian Banda and Kevin Bater recently completed a four day seminar at Bowling Green State University.

The seminar emphasized first aid for sports injuries, a discussion of basic bone structure and the taping of joints.

Around 110 student trainers, primarily from the Midwest, attended the seminar.

Banda and Bater each received a certificate for attending the classes and both will serve as student trainers for all Tecumseh sports this year.

Band Holds Camp for 70

The beat of the Indian tom-toms was heard this week in the camps of the Shawnee Marchers as about 70 members of the local competitive marching band participated in four concentrated days of band camp right at Tecumseh High School.

This is the first year that the band camp was held in Tecumseh. Last year the group attended camp at Alma College.

Because of student schedules and the added costs, director Jimmie Rice and Donald Dobrosky opted for the convenience of the new high school band facilities.

Parents have cooperated by organizing meals catered by local restaurants. Parents are welcomed to attend a closing potluck Thursday evening at which the Shawnee Marchers will perform.

As an individual incentive, students that have perfect attendance during the band camp will attend a dinner-theatre at Westgate in Toledo, Ohio.

The camp itself is designed to drill musicians and flag corps in the spirtited marching style for which the Tecumseh band is becoming increasingly popular with local boosters. Group marching and instrument sectional drills are stressed.

This past summer the Shawnee Marchers attained second place in flight three (ability level) in competitions at Bad Axe, Vassar and Essex, Ontario, Canada. Director Rice said that they improved each time.

Several individuals also attended specialized camps. Allison Phillips and Lois Furry attended Blue Lake Music Camp. Tim Ries and Brad Sharp attended camp at Interlochen. Scott Brooks, Sheila Pease, Janet Rundell and Amy Neilson attended camp at Central Michigan University.

Band booster officers and Jack's Barbershop are selling orange and black knit scarves and hats while supply lasts.

Officers this year are Mr. and Mrs. John Day, co-chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Furry, vice-chairmen; Wilma Silberhorn, secretary and Doris Nichols, treasurer. Phyllis Kopka and Lori Egli are handling publicity.

File Petitions at City Hall

Petitions, requesting that the Tecumseh police and firemen retirement program be transferred from city to one under a state statute have been received at city hall.

The petitions ask that the proposal be placed on the November ballot for approval or rejection by city voters.

Although only 427 signatures were required for the petitions, 483 signatures were filed.

City manager Cal Zorn expects to present the petitions and request to Council at its next meeting, Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Organize at Hospital

Herrick Memorial Hospital employees have launched a new project to open communication between hospital employees and the community the hospital serves.

In cooperation with The Tecumseh Herald, a series of weekly articles entitled "How May We Serve You" will be featured.

Kathy Bailey, R.N., and coordinator of in-service education at the hospital, and Richard Sies, Herrick Hospital business manager, were selected by employees to coordinate the first project for the new group called Hospital Analysis and Development Committee, (HADC).

HADC is composed of 21 department directors and head nurses who decided to meet periodically as a management task force to study changes in the hospital field, make recommendations to the hospital administrator, William Groover, and to implement principles of management by setting objectives at Herrick Hospital.

This group formed after taking a 12-week hospital sponsored continuing education class, aimed at developing and sharpening managerial skills. Mrs. Bailey led the class meetings after attending a special three-day class leaders' training session at Jackson Foote Hospital.

Mrs. Bailey of Tecumseh worked at Herrick Hospital for about 18 months, coordinating continuing education for every hospital employee who needs it. Her husband, Stephen, is in nuclear medicine technology at Saline Community Hospital. They have two children, Jennifer, 5, and Jessica, 20 months.

Mr. Sies, who lives in Hillsdale, was hospital business manager for about a year and worked in hospital profession for about five years. His wife, Mimi, is a registered nurse and is director of the emergency room at Hillsdale Community Health Center.

Hire Teachers

Two teachers have been hired for the 1977-78 school year, completing the Tecumseh staff, Supt. Robert Duhan reports.

Gerald Noe, formerly of Tecumseh and a 1977 Adrian College graduate, has been employed for a sixth grade.

Richard Reamsnyder, a native of Findlay, Ohio, and graduate of Bowling Green State University, has been hired to replace Robert Schoof as elementary and junior high instrumental music teacher.

For the past two years, he taught at Hamilton, Ohio.

Youth Grabs Lady's Purse Here Saturday

A purse snatching, first to occur here in many years, was reported to police Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Magdalena Saling of 210 S. Oneida St.

She told officers that upon entering Tecumseh Camera Shop and her beauty salon there at 206 E. Chicago Blvd., she noticed a youth sitting on the steps next door at the William M. Powell real estate office.

The youth was still there when she left the shop to walk home. He followed her and at the corner of E. Chicago and Oneida, he jerked her purse lose and fled. Purse contents included $39 in cash, keys and credit cards.

Mrs. Saling told officers the youth was about 18 years old, long shoulder length hair, had a mustache and was about 5'8".

Other police arrests the past week were:

Aug. 25 - Rick B. Furgason, 24, Britton, was charged with open intoxicants in his vehicle after being arrested in downtown Tecumseh on W. Chicago Blvd.

Aug. 26 - Mrs. Wesley Jones, 309 W. Cummins reported outside mirror on her car was broken by a beer bottle.

Aug. 26 - William Rogers, 509 S. Occidental, reported damage to the hood, quarter panel and fender of vehicle while in parking lot at Party Shop on S. Maumee.

Aug. 26 - Gordon R. Forrest, 47, Clinton was charged with driving under the influence after he was stopped on N. Occidental. Police observed him turn left off W. Chicago Blvd. and cross three lanes of traffic without signaling.

Aug. 27 - Charles E. Stoner, 19, and John Stoner, 17, both of Belleville, were arrested on Macon Rd. for drunkenness. Police found them slumped over in a parked car.

Aug. 27 - Jeffrey L. Snyder, 18, Adrian, was stopped by officers on S. Evans and then arrested for open intoxicants in his vehicle.

Aug. 27 - Stuart A. Lewis, 19, Adrian, was stopped for driving the wrong way on S. Evans St. and then charged with open intoxicants in his vehicle.

Aug. 28 - James L. Feight, 25, of 7478 N. Adrian Hwy., was arrested for open intoxicants in his car. Police observed him speeding on S. Maumee and stopped him at Russell Rd.

Aug. 28 - Mrs. Leo Hoffman, 504 E. Logan, told officers that her son parked his bike outside the Party Shop and when he returned the bike was gone.

Aug. 28 - John A. Pieh, 56, Deerfield, was arrested on N. Evans at Chicago for drunk driving. He was stopped for a loud exhaust.

Aug. 30 - Harry J. Godfrey, 20, was arrested at the corner of W. Chicago and S. Evans for being drunk.

Because of the Labor Day holiday Monday, Sept. 5, The Herald would appreciate early copy for advertising and news. Copy is needed on Friday that would ordinarily be handled Monday.

Back to School on Tuesday for Over 3,600 Students

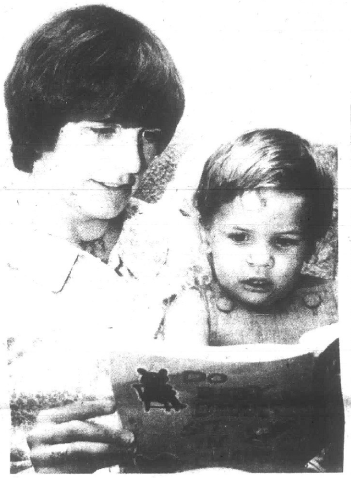
Unless there are new and late enrollments by next Tuesday and Wednesday, Tecumseh schools will have the smallest total enrollment in three years - but, by just 11 students.

Officials have projected a 1977-78 enrollment of 3,680, just short of last year's official enrollment of 3,691, which included adult education students.

The projection is the budget figure used for state aid purposes, but the official enrollment for state aid will not be taken until later this month.

All students will start next Tuesday, Sept. 6, except for pupils in the kindergarten sections. Kindergarten classes will commence Wednesday.

Decrease in enrollment is notable in the kindergarten class, where approximately 250 are enrolled compared to over 300 in the 1976-77 school year.



NANCY KITNER AND DAVID, 2

JO ANN ADAMS WITH SCOTT, 7 AND SHANNON, 6

. . . and for Mothers, too!

Back to school may mean selecting a new pair of shoes or a pair of pre-washed jeans for some.

But for two Tecumseh area women, back to school signals a hectic round of interviews to find a babysitter as they reorganize their schedules to accommodate their professional roles as student and teacher.

Jo Ann Adams of Britton is the mother of Scott, 7 and Shannon, 6 and a full-time student in her junior year of pre-law at Siena Heights College, Adrian.

Nancy Kintner of Tecumseh is mother of David, 2 and a two year faculty member of Tecumseh Public Schools, teaching this year at Herrick Park.

The two women represent the growing number of women in the area who are finding work and-or continuing education a fulfilling experience and mutually compatible with their roles as mothers.

While neither Jo Ann or Nancy enjoy leaving the children with a sitter, they don't feel that the children are neglected. The children receive their mothers' undivided attention until bedtime and have profited by the family experience.

The Adams children do excellent in school and are self-sufficient when it comes to doing things at home, said Mrs. Adams. David Kintner gets extra attention from his father, Chuck.

Economic benefits is one important reason these women pursue a career. Their desires for a career outside of their home traced back to earlier ambitions.

Nancy wanted to be a teacher ever since third grade.

"My husband was in the service when we married (six years ago). He kept his promise that no matter how scarce money was, I would go to college."

Nancy graduated from Siena Heights College in May 1975. She delivered David in June.

"Nowadays a family can't make it on one pay check. It's scary." The Kintners are buying their home and have redecorated with personal touches such as the draperies Nancy made. Her husband owns a family drapery cleaning business in Ida.

Chuck Kintner assists with getting meals and David's care. They split housework 50-50, said Nancy. She describes herself as a "very organized person." Cooperation and a schedule are imperative for a smooth running household, she told.

"David has always been used to me not being home since I started teaching two years ago," Nancy said. His childhood companion is eight-month-old neighbor Carrie, daughter of Marji and Don Vincent of Tecumseh.

Marji was the Kintder babysitter until she started working for a bank in Dundee just last week. Although Marji was somewhat hesitant to take the job, her husband said, "I'm glad for her and for the extra money."

Jo Ann Adams and her two children are newcomers to Britton from the Lansing area. She was divorced five years ago.

"I've always wanted to be a legal aid lawyer. There are so many people that desperately need help," Jo Ann said.

With a full class load she still finds time to participate in campus activities such as student senate and school newspaper. She maintains a 3.75 grade point average and has a tuition grant and competitive scholarship.

At home, her first priority are her children. She participates in their activities and even skips a class if necessary. "They're secure. They know I'll always be here," she said about the children.

Jo Ann tries to teach self-confidence and provide a secure home as her parents did. "You can do anything you want to do that is within your capability," she professed.

Jo Ann has no special secret for finding time for everything. "Once a week I sit down and figure out what has to be done and when to do it." And as all mothers know, "Sometimes you just have to take things as they come along," Jo Ann said.

DOMINATES AWARDS — Lora Abner, 10, of the Tipton Teamworkers 4-H club, captured most of the goat division. She won Grand Champion, Senior Champion and Junior Champion. Her brother David, won the rest of the awards in the division.

MULTIPLE WINNER — John Marks, 17, of the Britton-Macon club, won several prizes in the swine division. He captured Grand Champion Market Individual, Owner of Champion Pen of Market Hogs, Champion Heavy Individual and Champion Heavyweight Pen.

3 Drivers Are Cited

Three motorists were cited for traffic violations the past week when local police investigated a total of seven accidents here.

Last Thursday, William F. Atkinson, 38, Britton was charged with failure to yield the right of way after running into Donald C. Dickerson, 38, of 20717 Milwaukee Rd., at the intersection of Chicago Blvd. and Maumee St.

Also that day, Cheryl P. Boswell, 21, of 111 N. Pearl St., was cited for reckless driving. According to the police report, she was headed north on N. Evans St., forced two southbound vehicles off the street and then struck the rear of a car driven by Linda L. Hicks, 27, Adrian, who was northbound and just ahead of the Boswell automobile.

Monday, Thomas G. Sura, 35, of 4968 Ridge Rd., was cited for failure to yield after turning in front of Kenneth E. Wilson, 21, of 7692½ N. Adrian Hwy., at the E. Chicago Blvd. - Maumee St. intersection.

Resume of other accidents is:

Aug. 25 — Lester R. Pickford, 47, Brooklyn struck a parked car owned by Carl L. Bruckner, Petersburg, in the Faraday parking lot.

Aug. 27 — Barbara P. Buchheimer, 21, of 215 N. Pearl, was backing and struck a parked car, also owned by the Buchheimers.

Aug. 27 — Eric G. Amstutz, 17, Clinton hit a parked car in the Meadows Market parking lot. Other vehicle is owned by James P. Neill, 9555 Newburg Rd.

Aug. 29 — Rita A. Stuart, 21, of 313½ N. Maiden Lane and Joyce A. Williams, 33, of 1200 Sunset Dr., collided in parking lot at Herrick Hospital.

SECOND IN DERBY — With two trophies in hand and helmet under her arm, Rita Aebersold, 19, of Britton is one up on most women her age, and most men for that matter. She finished second overall and first in her heat last Thursday in Chelsea's demolition derby. She says she "might" do it again and that it was fun, but she is still a little sore. She received $50 and two trophies for her effort and explains that the 1966 Chrysler she drove is even still in driveable condition, though slightly dented.

Survey for Seniors

Region II Commission on Aging will conduct a survey in Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee Counties to determine the needs of senior citizens.

The Commission is interested in the areas of health, transportation, income, housing, employment, and how senior citizens spend their time. The information will be used in planning and coordinating programs for the elderly in the tri-county area.

Region II Commission on Aging has employed three research aides responsible for conducting personal interviews. All elderly chosen to participate in the survey will be selected at random.

The aides will present identification and a letter of verification before entering the home.

Roy Rogers Is Arrested

Roy Rogers, 20, of 12919 Tipton Hwy., was arrested Monday afternoon in connection with the March 31 breaking and entering at Beach Bros.

The youth was arraigned Tuesday. He remains in the county jail under $5,000 bond.

Eddy Williams of Clinton, also charged in the B&E and who pled guilty, is now serving a six-month term in the county jail.

Dear World

MY YOUNG SON starts to school today . . . It's going to be sort of strange and new to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently.

You see, up to now he's been king of the roost . . . He's been boss of the backyard . . . His mother has always been near to soothe his wounds and repair his feelings.

But now things are going to be different.

This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure . . . It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans . . . It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow . . . To live his life in the world he will have to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

So, World, I wish you would sort of look after him . . . Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know.

But do it gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true.

But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero . . . that for every crooked politician there's a great and dedicated leader . . . Teach him that for every enemy, there is a friend.

Steer him away from envy, if you can . . . and teach him the secret of quiet laughter.

In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat . . . Teach him to have faith in his own idea, even if everyone says they are wrong . . . Teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon . . . Teach him to listen to all men — but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and take just the good that siphons through.

Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he's sad . . . Teach him there is no shame in tears . . . Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success.

Treat him gently, World, if you can, but don't coddle him . . . Because only the test of fire makes fine steel . . . Let him have the courage to be impatient . . . Let him have the patience to be brave.

Let him be no man's man . . . Teach him always to have sublime faith in himself.

Because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do . . . He's such a nice little fellow, my son!

Tennis Courts Approved for Tipton

TIPTON — Franklin Township Board has received preliminary approval for a federal grant for construction of two tennis courts behind the Township Hall on M-50 in Tipton. The township owns land there.

Cost estimated was $20,000 to build and fence.

One half the cost will be through the federal grant, $4,000 will be paid for by the township and $6,000 will be contributed by an anonymous donor.

Final grant must be filed by Sept. 1.

Idea for the courts originated last year as a project of the Franklin Township Bicentennial Commission.

Construction could begin next spring.

Vo-Tec to Start Sept. 6

Vo-Tech students will report for classes Sept. 6 at Tecumseh Public High School. However actual Vo-Tech classes will not begin at the Adrian center until Sept. 7.

Mayor Harold Easton
Mayor's Office
Tecumseh, Michigan

Dear Mayor Easton:

I am writing you concerning the proposed Tecumseh Historical District Ordinance.

Frankly, Mr. Mayor, I was appaled at the total lack of interest and unfavorable remarks credited to you in a recent issue of the "Adrian Telegram." Apparently you are no longer aware of the concerns and priorities of your constituants residing in the proposed historic district.

I own over four acres of the proposed district, Mr. Mayor, and I am 110 percent in favor of the ordinance. Sure, it's restrictive as well as it should be. As a property owner with a large investment in this area, I want the assurances that my property will be protected from the urban blight which has attacked and destroyed countless main streets across America. Only one needs to look to older sections of Jackson, Ypsilanti, Adrian and until recently Ann Arbor to witness urban decay.

With your help, Chicago Blvd. can blossom into one of the finest historical streets in the state of Michigan, or it can become just another unplanned hodgepodge mixture of multi-family, commercial, deteriorating, boarded-up, decaying properties.

I hope you recover from your case of "tunnel vision" and open your eyes to the needs and concerns of the citizens of this community.

I am willing to do my part, are you?

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Worley

Dear Sir:

I had a nice experience today shopping a downtown Tecumseh store. In the process of installing a new starter and solenoid on my car, I damaged the solenoid. Returning to Automotive Parts and Supply on Chicago Blvd. to get another one, I fully expected to be charged for the replacement.

Showing the item to the employee there, I explained how I had broken it and that I needed to buy another.

This gentleman, however, said he was inclined to believe that the part was defective when I purchased it. I was truly gratified when he let me have the replacement free of charge.

The cost of that solenoid was over eight dollars. I am sure I received the benefit of the doubt as to whether the original was damaged at purchase. This was a kind gesture and I wish to publicly thank the gentleman in your newspaper.

Sincerely yours,
Carl D. Schmidt

To the Editor:

In the past few months the city of Tecumseh has been bothered by organizations from outside of town soliciting for money.

We as citizens can discourage this by refusing to contribute and this is the only way to stop these people. Any small contribution is encouragement and will bring them back to town again.

We should all think twice before dropping a nickle or dime in their cannisters. We have many local organizations doing good and these organizations need our support at all times.

6 Area Men In Marines

Six Tecumseh area men left July 14 with the Lake Erie Platoon for training with the United States Marine Corps.

The platoon, composed of Lenawee County and Toledo area recruits, was sworn in at Toledo Express Airport by Gen. Churchill and will return from training Oct. 7.

The seven men are Michael Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, 303 Outer Dr.; Robert Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Disbrow, 2816 Coachlite Dr.; Calvin Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cooke, 308 N. Pearl; Michael Keys, son of Joseph Keys and Janet Reed, 2817 Coachlite Dr.; Larry Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Haas, Britton and Martin Messervy, son of Gloria Messervy, Adrian.

The new Marines will attend school after graduation and study topics ranging from aviation technology to combat arms.

At recruit training in San Diego, Calif., they will train for 77 days in the fundamentals of self-discipline and professionalism common in all Marine training.

Former Ford Employees Picnic

Former Manchester Ford Motor Co. employees picnic will be Sept. 11 at 1 p.m. at the Manchester Sportsmen's Club, Grossman Rd.

Bring a dish to pass and own table service. Beverage furnished. An international Union Benefit representative, Jean Minda, will speak.

Sandra Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schneider of National City, Mich. formerly of Tecumseh, graduated from Lansing Community College School of Practical Nursing. Sandra was a 1975 graduate of Tecumseh High School. She will be employed at Sparrow Hospital, Lansing.

AIRMAN J.I. MAYNARD

Completes Training

Airman Jeffery I. Maynard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Maynard of 211 N. Union St., has graduated at Lackland AFB, Tex., from Air Force basic training.

The airman is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field.

Completion of this training earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Maynard is a 1977 graduate of Tecumseh High School.

Civil Service Jobs Listed

Lists of federal Civil Service job vacancies are now displayed at Tecumseh Public Library. Only Michigan openings are listed.

Application forms and more information can be obtained by writing the Detroit office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission or calling their toll free numbers, 800-572-8242 or 800-572-8243.

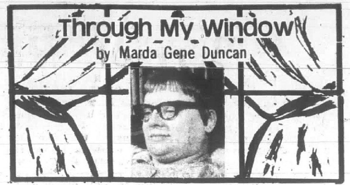
The library also receives Michigan Civil Service test announcements. Application forms are available at the library.

Library hours are Monday - Wednesday 1-9 p.m. and Thursday - Saturday 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.



Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Last week I practically vowed to forget butterflies and stick to birds. I should have known better. Even though the guide for butterflies and moths which I was using was a thin volume and the spicebush and tiger swallowtail butterflies were near the front — well, just as I cannot eat one peanut or potato chip neither do I look up only one word in a dictionary nor stop at the front of a butterfly and moth book.

If it has not already happened, soon there will be reports in the papers or on TV about wooly bears. There will also be speculation as to what kind of winter they are foretelling. Wooly bears are fat hairy caterpillars, black on either end and brown in the middle.

The width of this brown section or band is, I believe, the winter indicator. Quite truthfully, I can never remember whether a wide brown saddle indicates a harsh winter or a mild one. However, Mitchell and Zim, who wrote "Butterflies and Moths", put little stock in this theory anyway.

And oh, by the way, this creepy crawly wooly bear caterpillar develops into a small nondescript tannish moth, the Isabelle moth.

But I'm flying ahead of myself. Before coming to the moths I had to go through many many pages of butterflies. The last swallowtail pictured was a beautiful black and white butterfly, most fittingly named the zebra swallowtail.

Right above him was the picture of another descriptively named butterfly, the two-tailed swallowtail. In a few pages I came to the "Surphurs and whites (which) form a world-wide family of several hundred species...". The names were intriguing—alfalfa butterfly, pinkedged sulphur, olympian marble, California dogface, pink white, and checkered white.

The lovely orange and black monarch butterflies are familiar to all and I was glad to find that there was a slightly smaller and darker butterfly, the queen.

The queen looks much like a monarch and yet a second look is hardly necessary to see the difference. These two are milkweed butterflies. There is a family of smaller duller butterflies called the satyrs whose names are almost more interesting than the insects themselves. Eyed brown, Creole pearly eye, and California ringlet are examples.

Another family is named brush-footed butterflies. There are checker spots as well as angel wings. Of course it did become confusing when, at the bottom of the page of angel wings, there was a small ragged winged butterfly called the satyr. Perhaps I should have stayed with birds.

The interesting names simply didn't quit. The painted lady and the west coast lady are both thistle butterflies. The Milbert's tortoise shell is closely related to the mourning cloak just as the red-spotted purple is related to the viceroy who in turn is classed with the white admiral, the Weidemyer's admiral, and the Lorquin's admiral.

The small members of the metalmark family are interesting in that the males have four walking legs and the females six. Then there are hairstreaks and skippers and finally I found the moths.

To the age-old question about the difference between butterflies and moths there is, of course, no simple answer. Usually the bodies of moths are fatter and fuzzier than butterflies. Moths spread their wings flat when resting whereas butterflies are more apt to hold theirs up straight and together.

The antennae of the moths are feathery and oh my, "Most moths have a frenulum, a curved spine or a group of bristles on the inner (humeral) angle of the hindwing." Most moths fly at night. But really, there are few rules which do not have many exceptions. Nanewise they equal the butterflies for variety and humor.

Actually though I should not laugh at a hog sphinx or a chain-spotted geometer because I suppose to a butterfly or a caterpillar person a yellow bellied sapsucker or a black-throated blue warbler would sound mighty funny.

Fall Organ Recital Sunday

The third annual Fall Organ Recital Series will be performed on Sundays, Sept. 4, 11, 18, and 25, by doctoral students of Marilyn Mason, professor of organ at The University of Michigan School of Music.

The series will be presented at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Tecumseh at 7 p.m. and are open to the public free of charge.

The Rev. David Fox and Lisa Byers, director of music and organist, have planned this event. Organists to participate are Tong Soon Chang, Michele Johns, Francine Mate, Donald Renz, Dennis Schmidt, Thomas Strode, Donald Williams and Paul Wey.

The recitals will encompass four centuries of organ literature. Composers represented will include J.S. Bach, Bohm, Buxtehude, Correa, de Grigny, Lubeck, Mathias, Pachelbel, D. Scarlatti, Sweelinck and Walond.

Francine Mate and Paul Wey will be the first guest performers in the recital series. This is their third appearance in the annual recitals.

Both have a bachelor degree from the University of Houston and studied under Dr. Robert Jones. Both earned a master of music degree from the University of Michigan. Mate is a continuing student of Dr. Mason and Wey is studying for his doctors degree.

Mate is organist choirmaster at St. Clare's Episcopal Church, Ann Arbor and Wey is the musical director at Emmanual United Church of Christ, Manchester.

Sunday's program will include the works of Francisco Correa (c. 1575-1633) and J.S. Bach (c. 1685-1750).

All concerts will be performed on the Rudolf von Beckerath instrument of Hamburg, Germany. The organ is mechanical (tracker) action with 3 divisions, 14 stops, and 20 ranks. This Baroque instrument was built in 1964 and remains the only von Beckerath in Michigan.

The final regulation and tuning was done personally by von Beckerath in the weeks prior to its dedication on October 11, 1964.

Although limited in size, the instrument represents the finest expression of musical tradition as is attested to by the variety of tonal colors in its individual stops and the magnificence of its full ensemble. These qualities combine to make an instrument well suited for church music as well as the performance of great organ literature. This organ remains the only von Beckerath in Michigan and a recent recording by Marilyn Mason is available from the church.

These recitals are presented in honor of Marilyn Mason and her 30 years of teaching at The University of Michigan.

Festival Highlights

CLINTON—Highlights of the Fourth Annual Clinton Fall Festival, to be held Sept. 30 and Oct. 1,2, were described for members of the area press at a cocktail hour in Clintonian Inn Aug. 24.

Publicity committee, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Woodward and Amy Haft, conducted the meeting.

Reels of movies, taken by Howard Schrader at the 1974 and 1976 Fall Festivals were shown, and Jean McGee gave a brief background of the first event, which she initiated as a newcomer to Clinton.

Mary Jane Richard, who is co-chairman of booths with Gae Miller and Jennifer Harris, reported that there will be about 80 booths this year, including many newcomers as well as some of the familiar faces from past festivals.

For booth reservations, call Mrs. Richards, 456-4567 daytimes, or evenings, 456-4085.

A complete list of booths will be given nearer the event.

Betty Oesterling, Lost Arts co-chairman with Evelyn Heimerdinger, reported that a variety of arts and crafts demonstrations will be shown at the Community Center on Friday and Saturday.

Shown there will be breadmaking, butter churning, noodle making, quilting, spinning, weaving, rug hooking and doll making.

There will also be portrait painting, old-time music and a cribbage tournament.

Festival chairman Dave VanTuyle mentioned the new events scheduled this year, especially the fireworks display, Saturday night, viewed from Hartman Field at the Middle School.

There will be helicopter rides from the parking lot east of the tennis courts on E. Franklin St.

Special food events will be the St. Dominic's Apple pie booth at the Community Center all three days; Fish Fry at United Church of Christ, Friday evening; beef barbecue noon luncheons Friday and Saturday, at St. John's Episcopal Church; Smoked pork sandwich lunches all day Saturday by Clinton Jaycees; and the Chicken Barbecue dinner Sunday, by the Clinton Rotary Club.

Gary Couture, car ticket sales co-chairman, noted that the ticket sales have benefited the community and its churches by more than $26,000 in the three years of Fall Festivals. Church groups selling tickets can earn 20 percent of the sales for their efforts.

This year's tickets will entitle winners to a choice of three automobiles, and others will win a trip for two to Las Vegas, stereo tape deck, CB radio and two Schwinn bicycles.

Michigan Fifth Regiment Band of Howell and the Boorder City Bagpipe Band of Windsor, will be a feature of the continuous entertainment to be presented from a stage in front of the Middle School, according to entertainment chairman Don Geiger.

Fall Festival in Clinton is a three-day event, crammed with activities, which has drawn thousands of visitors from a wide area each year.

Two parades are included, the homecoming parade on Friday features the Clinton High School Homecoming Queen contestants and football teams, and class floats. Game, Sept. 29, will be with Hudson High School.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — Residents of the Clinton-Macon Rd., along with the many people who travel the road were puzzled why for more than a month all work stopped.

During June, most of the grading was done except for an area through Macon and in front of Boysville. When work came to a halt, a large earth mover was parked and sat in exactly the same spot for quite some time now.

After noticing a "for sale" sign put on it as a joke and hearing rumors about the status of the road, I called the Lenawee County Road Commission office for some facts.

George Hillard, commissioner, stated that work now depends on arrival of a large culvert to be delivered and put in the road just east of Boysville. Salesman assured Mr. Hillard it will arrive sometime this week. Grading will then be finished. Sand and gravel will be laid. So a "good gravel road" can be expected this fall and paving next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hall of Bradenton, Fla. were in town this last week visiting with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall of Macon.

Lenawee County Fair week was a busy week for many residents in the Macon area. Kent Rhora won top sheep showmanship award and reserve championship pen of lambs. Grand championship single lamb and pen of lambs was won by Melinda Bortel. Jackie Bortel won reserve championship single lamb. She also won champion Corriedale ewe for 4-H and open class.

The Dean Jones family spent the week camping out at the Lenawee County Fair grounds and found it is possible to swelter and freeze all in the same week.

The Bob Bush farm on Pennington Rd. was the scene of the baptismal service for the Britton Congregational Church Sunday afternoon held swimming poolside. Fourteen people from the Britton church and one from a neighboring church were baptized.

The Rev. David Hawk officiated and deacons Larry and Lowell Bush assisted. The pastor's wife, Linda, played organ and Dick led the congregation of 50 in song. An afternoon of fellowship followed with refreshments and recreational swimming.

"Gas and Brass", an old car club from Birmingham, held a party on the grounds of the Eldridge home on Mills-Macon Rd. this past weekend. The group arrived mid-afternoon Saturday, enjoyed a a cookout and the overnight before returning Sunday morning. The historic mill on the grounds added the finishing touch.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hover and Vicki took Sherrie to Spring Arbor College Sunday afternoon where she is beginning her freshman year. They got her settled at Muffett Hall, Room 315. On the way home, they had dinner at Paul's brother's home on Gilletts Lake.

Ahlene Connors returned to Macon Sunday after spending all summer at her daughter, Mary's home, in Adrian.

The Tipton Pythian Sisters will meet on Sept. 5 at 8 p.m. at the K.P. Hall.

Mrs. Carroll Bristol of St. Petersburg, Fla. is visiting relatives in this area.

Church Notes

The topic for next Sunday's sermon will be "A Labor of Love." The worship service will start at 11 a.m. and Sunday School will begin at 10 a.m.

The Youth Fellowship meets at 8 p.m. on Sunday.

Deacons will meet Sept. 6 at 7 p.m.

The Chancel Choir will practice on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. Confirmation classes begin for persons in eighth grade and older who plan to join the church after classes end in the spring, as well as all others who want to discover what the Christian Church is all about.

Also on Thursday there will be an official board meeting at 8 p.m.

A parish supper will be held on Sept. 12 at 6:30 p.m., honoring the softball teams. The meat, potatoes, rolls and beverage will be furnished. Each family is to take a dish to pass, dessert and table service.

About 50 persons attended the church picnic on Sunday. The Mama's and the Papa's team defeated the Sand Lot Sluggers 7-6. The dinner was planned by Dawn Brooks. John Wisner was in charge of the grills. A decorated birthday cake was served honoring the birthday of the Rev. Scribner on Sept. 2.

Riverside Chapel Visit on Program

CLINTON—Historical Society of Clinton will meet half hour early, at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 6 at the newly restored chapel in Riverside Cemetery.

Sexton Joe O'Donnell will present a program on the renovation of the stone chapel.

Among the artifacts to be shown are blueprints of the building, an old map of the original cemetery and old cemetery correspondence.

Plans for rededication of the old stone chapel will be announced.

After the program the members will go to the Community Center for a business meeting, when plans for participation in the Fall Festival will be discussed.

Honored at Shower

CLINTON — Mrs. Michael Helsel, nee Nancy Swaney of Kent City, hosted a baby shower for her sister, Mrs. Douglas "Kay" Beerens of Clinton in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Swaney of Tecumseh last Thursday.

Games were played and prizes awarded to the honored guest.

A night gown decorated cake made by Mrs. Howard Cavin was a feature of the refreshments.

Zoning Ordinance Adopted

CLINTON—Following a public hearing, Aug. 24, a new zoning ordinance was adopted by Clinton Village, effective in 20 days.

A planning commission and board of appeals was appointed to hear requests for variances on the ordinance.

No public comment was made at the public hearing to acquire land for a village park. Council resolved to purchase 52 acres of land on the west side of River Raisin.

Village will apply to the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund for a grant for the park project.

Fall Festival Chairman, Dave VanTuyle, was present with requests that were approved by a poll of the Council, to supply extra power where necessary during the Festival, also to provide extra police protection, and to allow rides to be set up in the village parking lot, during the Sept. 30 to Oct. 2 event.

A different parade route for Sunday Festival parade, Oct. 2, was approved.

Firemen will assist with crowd control. No parking will be permitted from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on W. Michigan Ave. in the main business block during the three days of the Festival.

Purchase was approved of a Cooper-Bessemer generator from Haynes Corp. for $224,000.

Council agreed to enforce an ordinance that requires no advertising signs may be placed in the public right of way or on trees or poles. They will be removed when found so displayed.

This means that property owners may not place such signs as for a garage sale between the sidewalk and street, which is the public right of way.

Next regular meeting is Sept. 12.

Bridge Worker Is Electrocuted

CLINTON—James Bristoll of Manitou Beach suffered third degree burns and is listed in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital, following electrocution Monday afternoon at the River Raisin bridge construction site on W. Michigan Ave.

An employee of Argersinger-Morse Construction Co. of Ann Arbor, Bristoll was holding onto a cable attached to a crane, which had been left standing with the boom in gear.

When the boom started lowering slowly, it caused the cable to touch electrical lines in a ditch, giving Bristoll an electrical charge, and blowing out a transformer nearby on Michigan Ave. The crane operator jumped back into the crane and lifted the boom.

Clinton State Police and rescue amublance were called to the scene.

Bristoll's wife operates the Red Door Tavern in Adrian, and they have a son, John, 17.

Teachers Resign

CLINTON — Henry Shade, midde school and elementary music teacher, resigned to accept a position with Grinnell's Music Co.

John Keyer, high school physica education and biology teacher has resigned to accept a position as a high school counselor at Pittsford High School.

All other positions are in the process of being filled.

A tentative settlement has been reached in negotiations with the custodians and secretaries.

Negotiations are under way with the bus drivers, and a meeting will be held Thursday.

Faculty and board negotiations were being held Tuesday and Wednesday this week.

100 Units Expected

CLINTON—Charles Steffens, Fall Festival parade chairman, reported the big parade on Sunday, Oct. 2 will feature nearly 100 units, including the return of the Michigan Fifth Regiment Band, of Howell; also the national champions Junior Fife and Drum Corps of Plymouth, a Scottish bagpipe unit, Festival King and Queen Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams will ride a float.

There will be other floats, bands, clown units and the Lenawee County Sheriff's Posse. Other units are still confirming their appearance and will be announced later.

Car Runs off Highway

CLINTON — Barbara E. Young, 57, 112 Currier St. sought her own treatment for minor injuries received when her automobile ran off the highway and struck an embankment.

Mishap occurred at 7:40 a.m. Sunday on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., just north of Allen Rd.

Northbound car ran off the west shoulder 130 feet, then traveled another 100 feet before striking the embankment in the ditch on the east side.

Mrs. Young told Clinton State Police she may have fallen asleep.

She was cited for driving too fast.

Festival Luncheon

CLINTON—A Fall Festival benefit salad luncheon is planned for Friday, Sept. 16 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the United Church of Christ.

To volunteer salads or to work, call co-chairmen Barbara VanTuyle 456-4970 or Amy Haft 456-7542.

Injuries Are Minor

CLINTON — Thomas E. Kelley, 20, Ford Hwy., Clinton, and passengers Leslie, 16 and Debbie Lindquist, 13, both of Tecumseh, received minor injuries and were treated at Herrick Hospital, when Kelley's car struck a tree early Sunday morning.

Driver told Clinton State Police he was northbound on Murphy Hwy., just south of Clinton-Macon Rd., when he swerved to avoid a southbound vehicle coming directly at him. He went off the left side of the road, then back to right and hit a tree.

Kelly was cited for driving too fast.

Move into Parsonage

CLINTON — The Rev. and Mrs. Thomas A. Kruchkow and five children moved, Sunday, into the new parsonage of the Clinton United Methodist Church, at 227 E. Church St.

The family had been living in the former parsonage at 503 Sunset Dr. since their arrival from Charleston, S.C. several weeks ago.

The church Sunday School picnic was held at the Community Center grounds Sunday, with 70 persons attending.

First seasonal meeting of the Methodist Church Women will be Sept. 5 at 7:30 p.m. when a coffee hour will be held for all newcomer women of the church.

Toys Earn Recognition

CLINTON — Mrs. George Bancroft, Clinton-Manchester Rd., was recently named mother of the month by the Michigan Day Care and Foster Parent Association.

Recognition is for her imaginative construction of special equipment and toys for the handicapped children she cares for.

Nadine and her husband, George, have cared for foster children and the handicapped for the past 15 years.

First Day Is Only Half

CLINTON — First day session Sept. 7, at Clinton Schools will be only a half day session instead of all day as previously announced.

All grades will be dismissed at noon.

Do you want to stop smoking, develop your child's or your creativity, or become aware of what your sleep positions mean?

Would you like to have more energy or understand your sexual patterns? Read these new Tecumseh Public Library books:

HEALTH

The author of "Everything You've Always Wanted to Know About Energy. . .but Were Too Weak to Ask" is so full of energy that vitamins take her, according to columnist Earl Wilson.

Naura Hayden, actress, singer, and author, shows readers how to release tension by changing their bodies, feelings, and mind.

The rewards are a trim body, a together ego, and a cheerful outlook — a new way of living "with verve, vitality and a bounding energy that just won't quit."

SMOKING

Quit smoking in two weeks! Dr. Anthony Colby, who smoked four packs a day for 15 years, did just that by following the program he developed in this book.

"A Doctor's Book on Smoking and How to Quit" takes the reader step-by-step through 14 days of techniques and evidence designed to cut down smoking.

Dr. Colby's purpose is to present the positive results of quitting. The book includes a diet, simple exercises, and a discussion of the effects of smoking on energy levels, sex, and the senses.

PSYCH

Turning the act of birth into a trauma is the first error people make in raising children, according to Joseph C. Pearce, author of "Magical Child."

Following his plan, a child is "a happy genius, capable of learning anything, even of developing so-called psychic abilities."

With the rise in autism, hypercinetic behavior, and adolescent suicide, "Magical Child" is time worthy reading for parents, parents-to-be, and others interested in developing human potential and creative intelligence.

SEX THERAPY

The Sexual Self, by Dr. Avodah K. Offit, is a "landmark book that offers a unique guide to understanding ourselves through our sexual patterns."

The author traces personality traits and sexual behavior back to infancy. From her extensive clinical experience as a psychiatrist, she describes five areas of disorder, including techniques for therapy.

Dr. Offit also explores contemporary society's sexuality and the effects of Women's Lib on both sexes.

PSYCHOTHERAPY

Art therapy, with its unique combination of creativity and therapeutics, is emerging in the helping professions as an aid in dealing with severely regressed, schizophrenic, retarded, and other individuals seeking insight into their lives.

"Creative Art therapy," by Arthur Robbins, Ed. D.A., A.T.R. and Linda B. Sibley, M.P.S., A.T.R., discusses the theory and techniques used by art therapists.

Besides offering suggestions to beginners, several case studies show the application to ego development, self-perception, and cognitive growth.

SLEEP

From Chain-gang to waterwings to calm to Sphinx and many more, Dr. Samuel Dunkell describes expressive sleep positions. In "Sleep Positions: The Night Language of the Body," he tells how to recognize and interpret these positions.

"In the night world, each of us becomes the pantomimist of his own personal saga," acting out joy and grief, love and hate. He also discusses couple sleep, the way people communicate when both are fast asleep.

Whether you want to get a divorce, plan your estate, review your insurance coverage, or buy or sell land, the Tecumseh Public Library has books to help you.

Richard A. Gardner, author of THE BOYS AND GIRLS BOOK ABOUT DIVORCE, now offers practical advice to the parents. THE PARENTS BOOK ABOUT DIVORCE advises parents how to protect their children from psychological disturbance and adjust to the separation.

Chapters deal with the "who, when, how, and what" of telling children and friends, post-separation problems, and children's involvements with other people. Relationships with stepparents, stepsiblings, and half-siblings are other topics.

If you have questions about the legal aspects of annulment, separation, divorce, or other matters related to ending a marriage, DIVORCE OR MARRIAGE: A LEGAL GUIDE can give you some answers. Howard L. Bass and M.L. Rein, two practicing attorneys, discuss what the courts will accept as proper grounds for ending a marriage, what both parties should look for in agreements, and what happens to children psychologically in layman's language.

The DOW JONES—IRWIN GUIDE TO ESTATE PLANNING, by William Clay, Jr. a tax and estate specialist, covers all the aspects of estate planning. Designing a program for the effective management, enjoyment, and disposition of property at the least possible tax cost is the object of this book.

How to select an attorney, design a life insurance or security program, and minimize federal and state inheritance taxes are only a few of the subjects thoroughly dealt with.

Have you ever read your house insurance policy? Can you understand it? SO YOU THINK YOU'RE COVERED? is a consumer's guide to home insurance that can help you.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smoll

HOLLOWAY — The Friendly Neighbors Farm Bureau annual picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Machan.

Three guests were present, Irene Dickerson of Deerfield, Bonnie Miller of Port Huron, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smoll and Steven Machan of Adrian, the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Machan.

The 14th annual Michigan Farm Bureau Young People's Citizenship Seminar was held at Albion College with 214 high school juniors and seniors from throughout the State.

Dr. Clifton Ganus was one of the three key speakers, speaking on "Freedom is Vital." He pointed out that freedom is the pyramid of life in the U.S. and to have a fundamental belief in God. "Walk tall, think big."

Everyone discussed on "Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act." Working together, farmers and farm employees can get rid of many nit-picking rules. They can also help to determine safety regulations that improve the work on Michigan farms. If they do this it would be a major victory for both employers and employes.

Farming is the third most dangerous occupation in the country, ranking just after construction and manufacturing.

Some thought was also given about Cooperatives, which was talked about in the group at a previous meeting.

The September meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Weiss of Adrian, on Sept. 20, with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.

Sometime in the near future, Mark Mitchell will show a film strip on "Taxation."

Edith Haviland was the honored guest at a birthday party in the fellowship hall of the Raisin Center Friends Church. She is 82 years old and now resides at the Provincial House in Adrian.

The opening prayer was given by the Pastor's wife, Mrs. Jean Esch. Special tributes to Miss Haviland was given by Diane Dull, Pauline Bryan and Helen Mitchell and two musical tributes by Kim Young and Alice Schultz.

Miss Haviland received many lovely cards, and was presented with a beautiful center piece.

Refreshments consisted of a decorated cake, homemade ice cream and punch, which was preceded by grace by Mrs. Florine Kinney, a sister-in-law of Miss Haviland.

Mrs. J.D. Jaqua attended the Charles Jaqua family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sumner near Montpelier, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Green and Dorothy Kopke were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Green and Jodi of Westland in celebration of the birthday of their other daughter, Kari, 2.

Friends of this area of Veva Coughlin enjoyed a potluck luncheon at her cottage at Wamplers Lake. She was a former resident of Holloway.

Cystic Goal Set at $100

BRITTON—Mrs. Ned Brown, chairwoman for the Britton 1977 Breath of Life Campaign, announces a fund drive to aid the fight against Cystic Fibrosis will be held in Britton the last two weeks of September.

A goal of $200 has been set for this year's goal to support in research for a cure or control of cystic fibrosis and investigations for better methods of treating all lung-damaging diseases in children.

The 1977 CF Breath of Life Campaign will be conducted in approximately 450 Michigan communities. In the majority of these communities, this is the only CF activity during the entire year—the only opportunity for community support and community education.

Solicitors in the village who will go door-to-door, along with Mrs. Brown will be Rosemary Auten, Janet Furgason, Sandy Spencer, Phyllis Below, Judy Bailey, LauraBelle Grady.

Moravian Wedding Portrayed at Mel's

BRITTON — People traveled far distances to southern Michigan where a small portion of Lenawee County was magically converted to Czechoslovakia on Aug. 21, when a typical Moravian Wedding was celebrated at Mel's Britton Hotel in Britton.

The enactment was characterized by members of the Sokol Cultural Center Choral Group from Dearborn Heights.

Directed by Eugene Kopecky with piano accompaniment by Lillian Jaroh, the chorus sang for the background of the wedding ceremony.

The celebration brought back many memories to those in the audience who originated from the province of Moravia in central Czechoslovakia.

Authentically costumed in embroidered, beribboned costumes, many with beaded jackets and headdresses, the wedding party presented the custom of the groom seeking out his beloved.

Both the groom and bride then greeted the parents to request their betrothed's hand in marriage and afterward, musical festivities with chorus singing, all accompanied by a brass ensemble.

Even though the clouds darkened the sky above, the atmosphere in Mel's backyard was shining with music. The only dampening was the tears of those in the audience who remembered being either witnesses or parties to just such ceremonies in their homeland.

After the reenactment of the nuptials, there was Czechoslovak dancing music for all inside Mel Simicek's happy "Hospoda" (tavern in Czech).

The musicians were the Three "K's" Band, supplemented by a few more musicians to round out the authentic Czechoslovak melodious sound of the polkas and waltzes played for listening and dancing pleasure. Outside Jerry Hall and his colorful band from Toledo, Ohio played peppy dancing numbers.

Roast beef dinners and generous sandwiches were served to satisfy the hunger pangs of everyone attending.

Tables overflowed with singing and conviviality. Congenial Joe Prochaska brought his button accordian and joined in the spontaneous singing. Prochaska is a a master in his own right of this authentic Czechoslovak instrument.

For a few happy hours, the Czechoslovak friends were transported back to Moravia, "the old country" where their memories began.

Rally Day Is Sept. 11

BRITTON — Rally Day celebration will be held Sept. 11 at the Congregational Christian Church with dedications and joining of new members at the morning worship service.

Gospel magic and attendance awards will be held during the Sunday School hour, followed by a picnic at 1 p.m. in the park, and more gospel magic, games and fellowship.

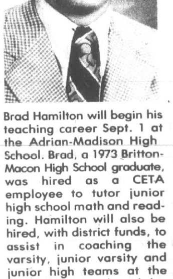
A new organ will be dedicated at the morning services. Also dedicated will be a stair climber riding chair used for those unable to climb the stairs to the second floor where church services are held at the Congregational Christian Church.

The chair was given by the Taylor family and Herrick Foundation in memory of Mrs. Nina Taylor.



Brad Hamilton will begin his teaching career Sept. 1 at the Adrian-Madison High School. Brad, a 1973 Britton-Macon High School graduate, was hired as a CETA employee to tutor junior high school math and reading. Hamilton will also be hired, with district funds, to assist in coaching the varsity, junior varsity and junior high teams at the high school. Brad, with his wife, Kathy, live in Clinton. He is a 1977 graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

Walker Tavern 14th Fiddler's Get-Together

Sept. 10, feet will tap and fiddles will sing at the 14th fiddler's get-together, sponsored by the Michigan Fiddler's Association. Walker Tavern State Historic Park, near Cambridge Junction, is the setting, and the doings get underway at noon.

Fiddlers from all over Michigan will play tunes and provide the music for old-fashioned square dancing. There is no admission charge.

Noted Jane Allison, MFA secretary, "We are trying to reach any old-time style musicians and callers, to get them on the Fiddler's Association mailing list, and to help provide an opportunity for them to learn new tunes from other musicians who play the same style of music."

For more information, readers may contact the Michigan Fiddler's Association, 2335 Rowley Rd., Williamston, Mich. 48895.

Local Stars Perform in 'My Fair Lady'

A Review
By Kathy Brown

What can the late reviewer say after the final curtain draws on the stage of the Croswell's summer theatre production of the musical "My Fair Lady"?

Encore! Encore and congratulations!

Director Eve Weiher of Toledo did a superb job of pulling the production together which should hardly surprise anyone acquainted with this capable and confident award winning professional. Her technique of suggestive notes for cast after each performance paid off as each lead and cast member put emphasis right where the action was ongoing.

Veteran leads Albert C. Gordon as Prof. Higgins and Brenda Krauss as "his creation" of guttersnipe turned lady, Eliza Doolittle, soon made you forget the movie with what's-their-names. Both leads were attractive and absorbing in their characters. Their vocal performances were equally delightful.

How could anyone from the area ignore the pleasing performances of local talent? Lori Egli of Tecumseh as Higgins' longsuffering housekeeper made her mark in "Hymn for Him" with Higgins as she punctuated the professor's arrogance with her stoop shoulders and outraged surprise.

Trevor Williamson of Macon "oozed with charm" as the lyric goes as Zolton Karpathy, Rumanian linguistics student of Higgins who tries to unmask Eliza.

The combined voices and hoofing talents of cast members JoAnn Dalgard, Cindy Egli, Lisa Bush, Kathi and Jeannie Johnstone contributed to the 11th hour show stopping scene in the second act, "Get Me to the Church on Time" which sent the audience into a rave.

John Evans as Eliza's father and Mike Ray and Dave Meyer, as his elbow bending compatriots, were obviously audience favorites.

Rochelle Wertenberger, Adrian choreographer for the summer series, is to be congratulated for coordinating the fine array of local talent.

Set designer Robert A. Soller, Adrian, light designer Terry Hayes and costumer Suzanne Kiersey gave the stage and actors a sophistocated grooming for the 19 set changes.

Unsung hero of the evening, Dr. Gerald R. Doan, season musical director and his volunteer orchestra, much improved over previous years contributed the melodies that made the cast dance and sing all night.

The congenial combination of professional and local talent blended well to make Lenawee County stand up and take notice as they should of the theatrical jewel sitting in their own back yard. The Croswell is a marvelous showcase for area talents.

You Are What You Eat

Summer is such a busy time that it just whizzes by and it is already time to plan for Labor Day Weekend. Here are two cool dessert suggestions to make your holiday entertaining easier.

Fresh strawberry pie is so good that I tried a similar recipe with fresh peaches. Delicious!

FRESH PEACH PIE

1 1-3 cup boiling water
1 cup sugar
1 (3 ounce) package peach gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups sliced peaches
1 tsp. Fruit Fresh

Add sugar and dry gelatin to boiling water. Blend cornstarch in cold water and add to hot mixture. Boil three to four minutes, then cool. Sprinkle Fruit Fresh over sliced peaches and add peaches to cooled gelatin mixture. Pour into baked pie shell and refrigerate until firm. Serve topped with whipped cream.

This refrigerator sheet cake serves 16-20 and is great.

LEMON-LIME REFRIGERATOR CAKE

1 package lemon cake mix
1 package (3 ounce) lime gelatin

TOPPING

1 envelope whipped topping mix (2 cup yield)
1 package lemon instant pudding (4 serving size)
1½ cup cold milk

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Dissolve gelatin in ¾ cup boiling water. Add ½ cup cold water; set aside at room temperature. Mix and bake cake as directed in a 13x9 inch pan. Cool cake 20-25 minutes. Poke deep holes through top of warm cake (still in pan) with meat fork or toothpick; space holes about one inch apart. With a cup, slowly pour gelatin mixture into holes. Refrigerate while preparing topping.

TOPPING: In a chilled deep bowl, blend and whip topping mix, instant pudding, and cold milk, until stiff. Immediately frost cake. If desired, garnish with lime or lemon slices. NOTE: Cake must be stored in refrigerator and served chilled. Frosted cake may be frozen for storage.

Have a safe weekend. See you next week.

The greatest risk most persons or firms face is a liability lawsuit for $100,000 - $1,000,000 or more for causing personal injury or death to others. For nickels a day, an Umbrella Liability policy can protect against such a catastrophic financial loss.

HOLMES, HANNIBAL WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

'77 Country Club Finals

The veteran champions at Tecumseh Country Club were recrowned Championship Flight winners Sunday as Maureen Hannibal and Bill Holmes finished on top.

Bill Holmes ran over opponent Vance Shutes, playing two under par golf after the 25th hole. Holmes beat Shutes 13-11. The title is the seventh for Holmes, who also won in 1975, 74, 69, 68, 65, and 63.

Maureen Hannibal captured the women's title from Ginger Burrington, finishing two up. Hannibal has dominated play since 1971, when she took five straight championship titles, then lost in 76 to Burrington and recaptured the honor Sunday.

The flight winners for the men are: 1st, Ted Roberts; 2nd, Harry Winzler; 3rd, Merlyn Downing; 4th, John Hoelzer.

The flight winners for the ladies include: 1st, T.C. Roekel; 2nd, Gloria Jahner; 3rd, Bobby Smith.

Last Thursday, the club also saw a first as Tecumseh hosted the First Annual Pro-Member Tournament.

The team of Fred Feldman, Al Hubbs, Jim Roberts, and pro Art Michalke took first place in the two man best ball tourney with a score of 130.

Other place winners for the tournament were: 2nd, pro Don Soper with Jim Erb, Buzz Lewis and John Hoelzer. Tie for 3rd, pro Tom Kinsley with John Costello, Wiley Lyon, and Tom Brewster. Pro Tom Simon, with Don Zumstein, Hal Muskett, and Dick Meyers.

John Molenda, of Knollwood in Detroit, was low pro, shooting an actual 69.

The tournament boasted 20 teams with 20 different professionals.

VANCE SHUTES AND CHAMPION BILL HOLMES

FIRST FLIGHT — T.C. Roekel edged Myrna Downing to take first flight honors two up.

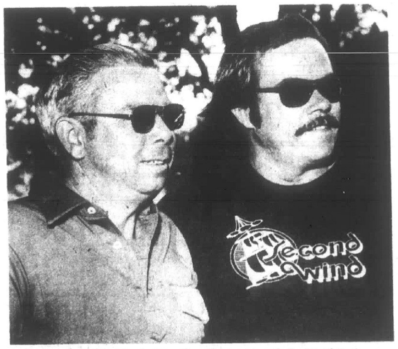
FIRST FLIGHT — Ted Roberts finished two up on opponent Jim Erb to win the first flight championship.

CHAMPION MAUREEN HANNIBAL AND GINGER BURRINGTON

FINISHES ONE UP— Joe Zumstein lost a close third flight match to Bobby Smith, who finished one up.

EXTRA HOLES — Turk Griffin lost the 20th hole and his fourth flight match against John Hoelzer.

SLIPS BY — Gloria Jahner (right) settled the second flight championship question by edging Joan Beal one up.



THIRD FLIGHT — Merlyn Downing defeated Joe Hanna 3-2 in their scheduled 18-hole match.

PRO-MEMBER WINNERS — Pro Art Michalke (second left) teamed up with TCC members Fred Feldman, Al Hubbs, and Jim Roberts to take first with a 130 in Tecumseh's first pro-member tournament.

Notice of Public Hearing

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, that a Public Hearing will be held by the Tecumseh City Council on Monday, September 19, 1977, at 8:00 p.m., in City Hall at 309 East Chicago Boulevard, Tecumseh, Michigan, with respect to the adoption of a Historic District Ordinance that provides, in part, the creation of a historic district in the City of Tecumseh as follows:

West Chicago Boulevard-Union Street Historic District:
Bounded on the North by the rear property lines of the properties fronting on the North side of West Chicago Boulevard, between North Pearl Street and 707 West Chicago Boulevard. Bounded on the South by the rear property line of the properties fronting on the South side of West Chicago between and including 206 West Chicago Boulevard, through and including 710 West Chicago Boulevard and bounded on the East by the rear property lines of the properties fronting on the East side of Union Street between 208 South Union Street and the North line of Evans Creek. Bounded on the West by the rear property lines of the properties fronting on the West side of Union Street between 207 South Union Street and the North side of Evans Creek.

The Historic District Ordinance also provides, in part, for the following: The acquisition of land and structures for historic purposes; the preservation of historic sites and structures; and for a Historic District Commission with powers conferred to the Commission pursuant to said Ordinance.

Copies of the Historic District Ordinance are available for inspection or to copy at City Clerk's Office at 309 East Chiago Boulevard, Tecumseh, Michigan, during regular business hours.

Any person interested will be granted a hearing at the time and place specified.

Library Celebrates 90th Birthday

by Kathy Brown

This year I'll celebrate my 90th birthday anniversary. And if I say so myself, I'm as rosy faced as the first day they capped my brick.

Structurally sound, yes, but my spirit is dampened by my physical "wrinkles": crumbling chimney, worn paint, sagging eaves, broken window.

Inside there isn't really anything a good scrubbing and a cosmetic coat of paint couldn't cure. I'm in good shape, but things could be better.

Those who zoom down M-50 would laugh if they knew I existed. Ridgeway is only two blocks long. Who'd suspect that I'm the library. Yes, here I've served 90 years, south of M-50 and the village corners, east side of South St.

I'm still quite popular with neighborhood children. What pleases me most is the little children who crawl into the lap of my chairs to browse over books. About 30 joined the reading clubs this summer. The older ones like to card my books. It's nice to feel needed.

Still, 90 years is pretty old and who knows what the future holds. Tomorrow, I could be gone. Abandoned.

I'm not the oldest building in continuous use as a Michigan library. Bay City's Sage Building is believed to hold the honor, dedicated Jan. 16, 1884. But I'm probably the only one dedicated to a father-in-law.

Rufus T. Bush, son-in-law of Ridgeway's Jonathan Hall, gave me to the village. Though Hall had a common school education, he taught in Willmington, N.C. and Ohio before he moved to Michigan. He died at age 82 and was buried in Holloway. His homestead still stands south of me, west side of South St. A stone carriage step bears the Hall name.

No one knows why Bush dedicated the library to his father-in-law. It is believed that Hall loaned Bush the $200 with which Bush launched a successful sewing machine business in Chicago, Ill. and later moved to Toronto.

I recall the dedication speech given by Bush to Mr. Hall: "He brought with him a thirst for knowledge which is born only of education...no man in Lenawee County did more with limited means to educate his family and elevate society."

Bush himself was a scholar. He taught country school at age 16 and was graduated from State Normal School, Ypsilanti. He and his wife taught in Homer before he decided teachers were the poorest paid individuals and he invested in his first business and later refining oil and land. Dividends from southern railroad stock still contribute to my finances.

I was built in 1887, dedicated Nov. 16, 63 years after the first settlement in Tecumseh. I served Tecumseh before the Carnegie library was built there on M-50. in 1904. My lot was secured from Dr. Daruis W. Loree of Tecumseh, my first president. (His home, 303 W. Chicago Blvd., is in Tecumseh's historic district.) A blue granite tablet over the entrance proclaimed me "The Jonathan Hall Library Association 1887".

F.C. Pocklington and James Pocklington, my masons, also built the Old Ridgeway School, Tecumseh Masonic Hall and Tecumseh Carnegie Library.

The reading room was 20 x 25, covered with gilt paper from C.A. Wright of Tecumseh. At the south end were cases with books, walnut railing and librarian's desk. In the center were two reading tables each 30" by 8 ft. that accomodated eight persons. Hanging lamps were overhead.

The only effects that remain now are the bust size oil portraits of Mr. Hall and Mr. Bush and a framed dedication program. My pine, butternut and walnut hard oil woodwork and shutters have aged gracefully. The other furnishings were sold during an 1965 modernization.

The 14 ft. ceilings were lowered, new lights installed, walnut shelves and folding doors between the reading room and ladies' parlor were removed.

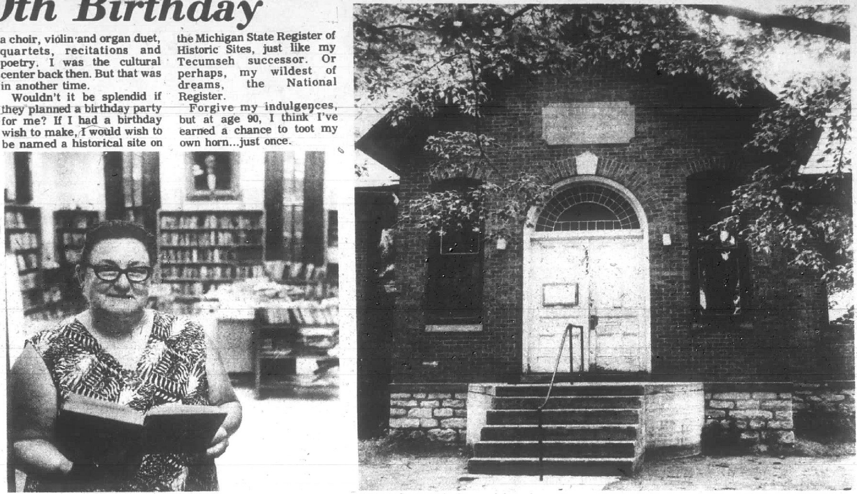
My Brussels carpet, rocking chairs, tete-a-tete upholstered in Turkish plush, elegant center table with cut glass hanging lamp...these are all but memories.

Memories. Do I have them. My day would begin when the librarian, always the secretary of the association, opened my doors at 2 p.m. Memberships were $3 and $1 for annual dues. Two books were allowed for two weeks. They were wrapped with waxed brown paper. Volumes of Cooper, Dickens, Elliot and Field, now on my back shelves, were popular.

And oh, the most fun were the entertainments in my honor. I shall never forget my dedication, especially the music. The program included a choir, violin and organ duet, quartets, recitations and poetry. I was the cultural center back then. But that was in another time.

Wouldn't it be splendid if they planned a birthday party for me? If I had a birthday wish to make, I would wish to be named a historical site on the Michigan State Register of Historic Sites, just like my Tecumseh successor. Or perhaps, my wildest of dreams, the National Register.

Forgive my indulgences, but at age 90, I think I've earned a chance to toot my own horn...just once.



90th ANNIVERSARY — Built in Ridgeway in 1887, the Jonathan Hall Library Association celebrates 90 years of continuous operation this fall. It joined the county library system in 1958 which supplies librarian Opal Miller, at left and books. Association maintains building. Portrait of library's benefactor Rufus T. Bush is in background behind Mrs. Miller. Interior was remodeled in 1965.

Costello, Vescelius Win Macon Tourney, Holler Hits Ace

The team of John Costello and Dave Vescelius took first place in a two-man best ball tournament held at Macon Golf Club last weekend.

The tourney was a 36-hole affair.

Costello and Vescelius shot a 116 to take the win. In second place at 117 was the team of Dinse and Briggs followed by Jay Castle and William Faulkner at 118. Batty and Kitson were fourth at 119 while Flave Vescelius and Dennis Vescelius were fifth at 120.

Pat Holler, playing with Walt Morden in the tourney, scored a hole-in-one on the 185-yard no. nine. He used a three-wood for the ace.

Round Top Team Wins State Title

Round Top 4-H Club Softball team won a state championship held at Michigan State University this past week.

Round Top demolished its final opponent, Ingham County, 15 to 6 to become White Team Slow-Pitch State Champions. The white team is for youth ages 9-14.

Lenawee's Burciaga 4-H Club Green Team won the State Green Slowpitch Championship.

In winning these championships, the Round Top and Burciaga Club's captured for Lenawee County the two most important of the six possible state titles.

Their victories climaxed a season which included seven weeks of regular season play, a week of county double elimination playoffs involving 23 teams, and district playoffs open to teams from eight nearby counties.

Members and coaches of the Round Top team are:

Brian Shearer, coach; Carolyn Bater, Debbie Bater, Ted Blaker, Craig Clarke, Eric Clarke, Bill Coffey, Adam Frye, Kevin Gaydosh, Daniel Kern, Chris Pifer and Keith Tillotson.

FLIGHT CHAMPIONS — Sunday's winners at the Raisin Valley championship tournament were: (l-r), Junior flight winner Scott McDonald over Mark Walters, two up. Standing, Mel Murphy lost to Bill Faulkner, one up in the second flight; Dave Bauman was runner-up for the championship title; and Dan Dermyer won first flight honors, beating Jim Miller 5-3. The winners for the women include (not available for the photo): 1st, Faith Cote over Jackie Edwards, 7-5; 2nd, Carolyn Baker over Nancy Klein, two up; 3rd, Debbie Withrow beat Nancy Morrison on the 19th hole.

RAISIN VALLEY CHAMP — Jeanette Quigley receives her championship trophy from club owner Francis Porter after she defeated opponent Dawn Balent 3-2. The men's champion, Mike Balent, was not available for photo. He finished two up over Dave Bauman.

Dave Graf Finishes Third

Tecumseh golfer Dave Graf finished third at the Tournament of Champions golf event at Lenawee Country Club Monday.

The tourney was open to any golfer who finished in the top five in any junior tournament this summer.

Graf carded a 40-38 for 78 total.

Dave Bauman finished with an 80 and Keith Bauman with an 88.

Basketball Practice Beginning

CLINTON — Basketball practices for junior high girls will begin on Sept. 7 at 3:30 p.m in the Clinton Middle School gym. All girls must have a physical before they can practice.

Practice will conclude at 5 p.m. All girls wanting to play basketball should plan on being at the first practice.

'Choice of Shot' Tourney at TCC

Shirley Herrick, Julie Mullaly and T.C. Roekle were in charge of the "Choice of Shot" tournament at Tecumseh Country Club on Aug. 24. They presented gift certificates to the following winners:

First flight — Millie Butler and Barb Wheeler, first; Marty and Martha Owen, second; Connie Sack and Irene Feldman tied with Kathryn Champanois and Annabelle Bock for third.

Second flight — Teddy Schindler and Vera Clark; Ruth Jobes and Esther Clauda; Jo Zumstein and Noreen Barss, all tied for first.

Joe Hagar Scores Ace

Joe Hagar, of Tecumseh, scored a hole-in-one on Tuesday of this week at Raisin Valley Golf Club.

Hager scored the ace on hole No. 16, a 170-yarder. He used a six-iron.

Jim Fowler, Jack Staley and Dave Heinbach witnessed the shot.

The hole-in-one happened during regular league play.

Ember's Bar Defeats Handley 5-4 to Become 1977 City Champs

Ember's Bar became the new City Champs in men's softball with a 5-4 win over Handley Equipment last week.

Ember's scored four runs in the first inning, adding another in the fourth frame.

Bill Tuberville and Dave Gurtzwieler led the hitting attack with two hits each. Tom Grounds and Randy Salisbury each had two hits for Handleys.

In order to reach the finals, Embers had to beat Loggers, United Savings Bank and Local 429.

Their first victory was a 14-12 win over Loggers. In that game, Tom Horton and Bill Tuberville had three hits each to pace the 14-hit attack.

Don Eaton and Dave Pray hit roundtrippers for the Loggers.

Ember's defeated USB 10-3 for their second win. Bill Tuberville again led the 14-hit barrage with three safeties.

The champions' third victory was a 9-4 decision over Local 429. All nine runs were scored in the first two innings. Roy Schlegel had three hits to lead Ember's.

Request Delayed

Council delayed taking any action Tuesday night on a petition to place the police and fire department members' pension and retirement programs under a state statute, Act. No. 345.

Cal Zorn, city manager, said there is "some question as to whether Council has to recognize this." His remarks were directed at the petition which asked Council to place the issue on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Costs for the city would increase if the retirement and pension program is changed, but it was not clear by how much.

Zorn asked officials to delay action until the next meeting, Sept. 19.

Police Criticized

Mayor Harold Easton questioned police chief Merlin Mowery, criticized the police department in its tactics to catch speeders and the rude treatment that one officer uses with the public.

Mowery told Easton that the police were paying particular attention to the downtown area, whenever possible, to curb vandalism. He said that adjustments have to be made when an officer is sick and additional help is not available.

Easton cited the police for parking near the VFW in the morning and using radar to nab speeders. He said that "it's not our business to write tickets, but to control traffic."

"A patrol car cruising up and down N. Evans St. would do more to slow traffic than one parked at the VFW drive," he explained. The mayor pointed out that "it's no big crime to be driving 10 or 15 miles per hour over the speed limit. We catch the speeders, but we can't catch the vandals."

Easton also told Mowery that he was "sick" of receiving complaints from residents how a particular officer treats them. He said the officer "treated some people like they're in a zoo."

He continued, saying the complaints have been reported in the past and again recently, and "something must be done."

Low Electric Bid Accepted

Tentative acceptance of a low bid for lighting proposed tennis courts at Satterthwaite Park was given by Council Monday evening.

Acceptance depends on final approval by the Department of Natural Resources.

Courtesy Electric of Adrian was low bidder at $23,300. Two other bids meeting specifications ranged from $25,000 to $31,930. A Toledo firm submitted an alternate bid of $23,000, but it did not meet specifications.

Peter F. Payette Co. of Grosse Ile was awarded a contract for its bid of $1,260 for 700 feet of two and one half inch fire hose, and $390 for 300 feet of one and a half inch hose.

Same bid was received from Oakland Fire Equipment Co., and the exactness of the bids apparently caused Councilman Aden Mead to vote no in accepting the bid from the Grosse Ile company.

Before the vote was taken, Mead remarked about the possibility of "price fixing."

New Owners

Roxann Labun of Tecumseh in partnership with her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Donald Labun of Dundee became the new owners of Dee R. Cee's Hair Stylists, formerly Evel's.

Roxann worked at Evel's for six years and has been a hair stylist as long. Originally from Clinton, She will operate the shop with four stylists and a manicurist.

The name for the shop came from the first initials of the names of the new owners.

Indians To Open Season at Chelsea

Tecumseh opens the 1977 football season one week earlier this year when the Indians travel to Chelsea Friday night. Game time is 7:30.

Post season games have forced all schools to open the season during the first week of school.

Coach Pat Connors describes his team as "very quick" but a bit on the small size. They will be facing a big Chelsea team in the opener, and a team that will attempt to rebound from a 23-0 pasting handed them by the Indians just one year ago.

However, in the past three years, Chelsea holds a 2-1 edge, winning the first two by narrow margins.

Tecumseh's strong point could well be its offensive backfield, where Connors has all lettermen in three Jeffs - Anderson, Hans and Robideau - and John Egbert and Butch Harvey.

Graduation riddled the offensive and defensive lines and much time has been spent rebuilding the past three weeks. A factor that might pop up Friday night is the lack of scrimmage time for the linemen. Less than 30 minutes scrimmage experience against another school was gained because of weather.

The Indians open the Huron League season next week at New Boston Huron.

Set 31 Mills for Schools

Tecumseh School Board has set school millage at 31 mills for the 1977-78 school year, one half mill less than the total approved by the voters, but an increase over last year.

At a special meeting Tuesday night, the Board approved 20 mills voted for operation, an increase of 1.5 mills over a year ago, and a figure that also includes a half mill for major maintenance and replacement of equipment items, also voted in June.

Millage for debt retirement was dropped from two mills to 1.8 mills, and members agreed to .7 mills for the library, same as in the past.

Allocated or fixed millage is 8.5 mills.

School millage last year was 29.7 mills.

Passage of Bill Asked by Officials

Cost of education in the Tecumseh Public School District could increase by $68,500 in 1978 if a bill now before the Michigan Senate does not pass in its present form, according to Supt. Robert Duhan.

Irony is that the piece of legislation has nothing to do with books or classrooms or education programs. Senate Bill 714 is an unemployment compensation proposal designed to bring Michigan into compliance with new federal unemployment compensation standards.

Under current Michigan law, school employees are not entitled to collect unemployment compensation benefits during the summer months or during the vacation and holiday recesses that occur during the school year. S.B. 714 was amended in the Senate Labor Committee to allow that practice to stand.

Without those amendments, however, school employees who are not teachers or administrators will be eligible for benefits during those times.

The Michigan AFL-CIO and UAW, the Michigan Education Association, and the Michigan Federation of Teachers are actively lobbying senators and representatives to have those cost saving amendments removed before the bill becomes law.

The new federal unemployment compensation standards do not require the State to extend eligibility to nonprofessional school employees for summer or for holiday vacation periods that occur within the school year. The federal standards do make such legislation permissive. At least 16 states have already refused to grant these extra benefits during what has traditionally been a denial period.

Figures compiled by the Michigan Association of School Boards and the Michigan Association of

Attendance Shows Need for Teens

Nearly 400 attended the last A Place for Teens (APT) dance and response at all six dances this past summer has indicated a need for a planned program for area teens.

APT board will meet this month and make plans to raise enough money for a permanent place for teens.

Co-chairpersons for the summer dances, Donna Roe and Pat Tressler, are pleased with the summer dances and cooperation of the teens.

At the last dance, the rock group formerly known as Fire-Eye but now Four-Play, provided the music. Mark Phelan hired the band.

Chaperones were Martha and Cal Poppink, Lynn and Dave Fox, Marge Steiner, Tammy Will, Jeff Ely, Donna and Craig Rosacrans and Pat and Jay Tressler. Police office in attendance was Jim Kneirem.

Six dances were sponsored by APT, starting with a $1,000 donation designated for summer dances from the Community Fund. A small admission fee of $1 to the dances helped to defray expenses and boost the treasury to $1,500.

OFFICIALS DISAGREE

Commission To Serve in Advisory Role?

Disagreement arose at Council meeting Tuesday night when the proposed Historic District Ordinance came up for its second reading.

Main concern among several members was the delegation of responsibility to a Historic District Commission, an obligation that some felt was Council's duty, not an appointed board.

Before the discussion ended, Greg Forsthoefel, city attorney, was asked to re-draft portions of the ordinance and also to check the legality of Council appointing a Historic District Commission, a seven-member appointed board.

Mayor Harold Easton was first in criticizing the proposed ordinance and defended his position relative to a resident's letter printed in The Herald last week.

He said, "I'm not opposed to preservation, in fact, I'm for it as much as anyone else, but I am opposed to certain portions of this ordinance. It's not right that property owners have to go to another board to decide what to do with their property."

Easton continued by saying that it's a case of "too much government" and "it could place a burden not only on the property owner but also on the tax payer to enforce the ordinance."

He also stated, and others later concurred, that these "powers should be left with the Council," that the Commission "should be an advisory group only," and the final decision should be left with Council, elected officials."

Councilman Aden Mead also questioned portions of the ordinance, and Jay Tressler, referring to the City Charter, doubted that Council had the authority to appoint such a Commission. If Council has such authority, Tressler said, then he would agree to portions of Easton's thinking.

In response to Tressler's doubts, Forsthoefel said that he would review the charter and report back.

Dr. Carlton Cook responded to both Easton and Tressler, saying that they would end up with an ordinance with "no teeth in it." He remarked that the "ordinance is weak as it is, and there are many loopholes in it already."

Cook, in comparing the proposed ordinance to ordinances already in effect in other cities, said, "I do not think that the charter conflicts with what we are trying to do."

Easton said the Historic District Commission should be an advisory group working with the city's building inspector. He compared the Commission's position to that of the Planning Commission, which is an advisory group to Council and one that works closely with the building inspector.

Under this plan, a property owner within the historic district and wishing to modify his home would present his plans to the building inspector for issuance of a permit. If the plans complied with the building code, they would be presented to the Historic District Commission for its approval. If the Commission approved, the permit would be issued.

If the Commission disapproved, the property owner could then appeal to Council for a final ruling.

All home owners in the historic district would have to have their plans approved by the Commission, although their home may not be historic but simply within the district.

There are about 90 homes in the district, W. Chicago Blvd. from 206 to 710, and Union St., from 207 S. Union to Evans Creek Bridge on N. Union St.

Although there was considerable disagreement at Tuesday night's meeting and some of which was resolved, the public hearing on Sept. 19 remains on the schedule.

The ordinance in its present form is certain to be changed, and officials pointed out that it may be changed after the hearing. Adoption could come in October.

EDA Passes Grant of $312,000 to City

A $312,000 grant for completion of Russell Rd. east to Rogers Hwy. and construction of a bridge over River Raisin has been approved by the Economic Development Administration.

Approval of the funds was received by the Herald late Wednesday morning from Senator Donald Reigle's office in Lansing.

The monies will enable the city to complete the Russell Rd. project which extends from Green Hwy. to Rogers. A stretch from Green to Mill was completed this past summer.

Police Complaints Range from Bat Bite to Vandalism

Police complaints during the past week ranged from a bat bite to drunkenness, possession of marijuana and vandalism. Four arrests were made.

Saturday, Harold Lange, manager of Meyers International Airport, reported that two landing lights had been removed and smashed on the airport's runway, scattering glass over a wide area and in the path of planes taking off and landing.

Such vandalism could be disasterous and fatal for pilots, Lange explained.

Also Saturday, a plate glass window at Easton's Service Station was broken, and earlier in the day, a citizen reported reckless driving on N. Evans St. near the city limits. Sod was torn up and speed limit and gas signs were knocked down.

On Friday, Roger Butler, 110 S. Oneida, told police that he was changing shutters on a window when a bat bit his left index finger. Butler was treated at the hospital, and the bat was taken by police to a laboratory for analysis.

Andrew C. Ward, 20, Tipton Hwy., and Veronica J. Baugh, 17, Bihlmeyer Hwy., were arrested Friday for possession of marijuana. They were sitting on the steps of Kohler Real Estate Office when arrested.

Miss Baugh was first charged with being drunk and the later on possession when officers found a bag of marijuana in her possession. Both were taken to the county jail where they were later released on $50 bond. They are to appear in court Friday, Sept. 9.

Police discovered a farm tractor vandalized and burning also last Friday just south of Russell Rd. on Raisin Center Hwy. Two headlights and center of the steering wheel were smashed and a battery removed. Fire was coming from the gas tank but was out shortly after the Tecumseh fire department was summoned.

Owners of the tractor are believed to be either the county or railroad.

Wednesday of last week, David G. Rangler, 32, of Clinton was arrested for being drunk and resisting arrest. Officer Gerry Greene observed Rangler staggering north on S. Evans St. According to Greene, Rangler refused to get into the patrol car and kicked him during a scuffle. Two observers standing by assisted the officer.

Greene suffered lacerations on the arm and legs plus torn trousers.

Robert Sterling, 19, 5000 Burt St., was arrested Monday for drunk and disorderly after being seen throwing a downtown litter container into W. Chicago Blvd. A charge of malicious destruction of property also was filed before he was taken to the county jail.

Cost Called A 'Rip-Off'

City officials were perturbed Tuesday night when they learned that costs to repair a pump on a fire department pumper exceeded $4,000.

Mayor Harold Easton called it a "rip-off," and others agreed.

City manager Cal Zorn said the company, Oakland Fire Equipment, also would not release the pumper after repairs until it had received the city's check.

The city also had received different figures from the company as to repair costs.

Problems involved with the company later influenced Council when it awarded a bid for fire hose. Oakland Fire Equipment Co. was one of the bidders.

Computer To Cost Hospital $62,000

Council approved a $62,000 expenditure Tuesday night by the Herrick Memorial Hospital Board for leasing a computer system for accounting functions.

The lease covers a five-year period and will be paid out of hospital revenues.

Liability Insurance Premiums Double

Two insurance policies from F.C. Hanna Agency were accepted by Council Tuesday night but not before considerable discussion.

In his report to Council, city manager Cal Zorn cited a premium increase from $1,027 to $2,633 for the police liability policy, and an increase from $5,300 to $10,438 for an umbrella policy.

Councilman Dr. Carlton Cook objected and said it was time for the city to be self-insured. Others objected also and discussed lesser coverages.

Liability policy for the police includes coverage of $100,000—$300,000 and an aggregate sum of $500,000. Umbrella policy is for $5 million.

The local agency wrote the policies last year for the first time, after a previous insurance carrier cancelled out. At that time, other bids were sought but only the Hanna agency submitted a bid.

In a vote to continue the policies for another year, Mary Bower, Aden Mead, Jim Palmer and Jay Tressler vote yes. No voters were cast by Cook, Mayor Harold Easton and Leonard DeMoss.

Hot Lunches for Students

Tecumseh Public School District has engaged ARA Services, Inc., to operate its food service program beginning this September.

ARA Services, a food management organization, will support the district in operating its food service program. The lunch program will begin operation with lunch service in the senior and junior high schools.

The lunches available to students will meet the nutritional requirements of the National School Lunch Act and menu planning will take into consideration student preferences.

Lunches will be sold for 55 cents in the junior and senior high school. Milk in half-pints will be sold for five cents in all buildings.

A nutrition education program, the "Rainbow," will be introduced in the secondary schools this fall to promote a better understanding of the principles of good nutrition among students.

Fall Series at Gardens

Hidden Lake Gardens has announced an autumn series of non-credit classes open to interested persons registering in advance.

A series of four fall nature walks will be conducted on alternate Saturday mornings, beginning Sept. 17.

Five Wednesday morning sessions covering fundamentals of plantsmanship, begin Sept. 21.

A class on plants in home and office is offered Saturday afternoon, Oct. 15. Terrarium workshop will be offered Saturday afternoon, Oct. 29.

Further information and registration forms may be obtained by calling the Gardens office (517) 431-2060.

Seniors Plan Marshall Visit

Lenawee Council on Aging and the Lenawee County Historical Society are sponsoring a trip to the Marshall Historic Home Tours on Sept. 10.

Transportation leaves Piotter Center, 327 Erie St., Adrian at 8:30 a.m. Pick-ups in Hudson and Addison can be made after leaving. Cost is per person for transportation and tour tickets. Lunch will be purchased on your own.

Because of the length of the tour and the lines which might be long at times for the open houses, only able bodies walkers should plan to make the trip.

Reservations are now being accepted at the Lenawee Council on Aging office.

WMU Jubilee Is Planned

One of the earlier attractions on Thursday, Sept. 14, as part of Western Michigan University's Jubilee Activity Day festivities, will be a musical "Pied Pipers" parade by the WMU Marching Band, 9-10 a.m., intended to attract persons to the 10 a.m. opening of the Art Fair on the West Michigan Mall near Wood Hall.

The marching band will be directed by Michael Williamson, its new director, and aided by WMU students, including William Silberhorn, a Britton sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Silberhorn, 3701 Rogers Hwy.

1.1 Mills Without State Aid

School Administrators indicate that without the amendments approved by the Senate Labor Committee, the added cost for implementing S.B. 714 would exceed $64.5 million. That figure represents the equivalent of approximately 1.1 mills in additional property taxes spread over the State Equalized Valuation of the entire State.

At least some labor leaders have indicated that their members would be willing to support a local millage increase to pay for this increased benefit for non-professional school employees.

There are 72 employees in the Tecumseh Public School District, who would not be eligible for unemployment compensation benefits during the summer and in-year vacation periods under S.B. 714 as amended, could become eligible if organized labor succeeds in persuading the legislature to remove the amendments before the bill becomes law.

The Board of Education is on record as strongly opposing this proposed legislation, and encourages all citizens to contact their legislators before September 14, 1977.

Supt. Duhan asks property owners to write Representative John S. Mowat, Jr. and Senator(s) Hal W. Ziegler or Gilbert Bursley c-o State Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan 48901.

Dear World

MY YOUNG SON starts to school today . . . It's going to be sort of strange and new to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently.

You see, up to now he's been king of the roost . . . He's been boss of the backyard . . . His mother has always been near to soothe his wounds and repair his feelings.

But now things are going to be different.

This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure . . . It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans . . . It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow . . . To live his life in the world he will have to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

So, World, I wish you would sort of look after him . . . Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know.

But do it gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true.

But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero . . . that for every crooked politician there's a great and dedicated leader . . . Teach him that for every enemy, there is a friend.

Steer him away from envy, if you can . . . and teach him the secret of quiet laughter.

In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat . . . Teach him to have faith in his own idea, even if everyone says they are wrong . . . Teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon . . . Teach him to listen to all men — but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and take just the good that siphons through.

Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he's sad . . . Teach him there is no shame in tears . . . Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success.

Treat him gently, World, if you can, but don't coddle him . . . Because only the test of fire makes fine steel . . . Let him have the courage to be impatient . . . Let him have the patience to be brave.

Let him be no man's man . . . Teach him always to have sublime faith in himself.

Because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do . . . He's such a nice little fellow, my son!

Upon their return from a wedding trip in the Colorado Rockies, they are residing at 1012 Jersey St., Bellingham, Wash.

'Ventures in Jazz'

To start the season with some fun, the Tecumseh Band Boosters are sponsoring a Fall dance which will feature Bill Carter's "Ventures in Jazz" Band.

The dance will be held at the Tecumseh Products Union Hall on Sept. 23, from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Ticket price includes all set-ups. For further information call Mrs. Jack Smith, chairman of the dance, 423-4254 or Lori Egli 423-4557.

Profits from the dance will be used to pay the expenses of the school band program.

Earns B.A. at OSU

James L. Anderson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Anderson, 9493 Newburg Road, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio State University on Aug. 31. It was the University's 261st Commencement.

Anderson graduated from Fairmont East High School, Kettering, Ohio prior to moving to Tecumseh last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson attended the exercises held in Columbus, Ohio, along with their daughter, Kimberly.

Kim is also a student at OSU, majoring in pre-dentistry and will be a senior this fall.

The Anderson's have another son, Jeff, who is a senior at Tecumseh High School this fall.

Purkey - Litchford Married

Before a rose arbor entwined with lemon leaves Pamela Leigh Purkey married Bruce Litchford at 1 p.m. Aug. 27 in the garden of her parent's home Mr. and Mrs. Donald Purkey, 525 N. Occidental.

Mr. Litchford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Litchford of St. Joseph.

Dr. Jim Lundy of the Unitarian Church, Grand Rapids officiated at the ceremony. Kathy Lewis was soloist.

Escorted down a bridal path formed by potted mums, the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

She selected an ivory gown of sheer organza and satapeau. Layers of organza were softly gathered to form a cap effected at the shoulders and enhanced the V-neckline. An organza ruffle encircled the hemline and trailed in a bustle train effect.

Her jewelry was a forget-me-not necklace. She wore a crown of ivory tea roses and forget-me-nots and baby's breath in her hair. Her bouquet was fashioned of stephanotis, ivory tea roses and forget-me-nots on a bed of ivy.

Margene Frownfelder of Tecumseh was the maid of honor in an ivory organza gown with cornflower blue and rose flowers styled after the bride's gown. She carried ivory tea roses and forget-me-nots.

Heather Gallant, the bride's niece of Tecumseh, was the flower girl attired in a blue halter jumpsuit with full ruffled cuffs. She carried a basket of ivory tea roses and forget-me-nots.

Doug Lewis, the bride's brother-in-law of Tecumseh, was the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gallant, the sisters and brothers-in-law of the bride, all of Tecumseh, were hosts for the reception at the Tecumseh Country Club. A buffet dinner was served to the 120 guests.

A centerpiece of carnations, baby's breath and forget-me-nots decorated the bride's table. A two-tiered topiary tree in blue and ivory graced the buffet table.

Mrs. Doug Lewis, the bride's sister of Tecumseh, passed the guest book. Vicki Litchford, the groom's sister of Dallas, Texas, cut the cake.

Special guests were the maternal grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen of South Haven; the paternal grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Litchford of Tennessee and paternal grandmother of the bride, Dorothy Purkey of Tecumseh.

The new Mrs. Litchford was graduated from Grand Valley State College with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice. Mr. Litchford was graduated from Grand Valley State College with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He is employed by Union Carbide.

The couple will reside at 1846 Preston Ct., Richmond Hills Estates, Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Litchford, the groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Hathaway House, Blissfield.

MR. and MRS. BRUCE LITCHFORD

Pypa-Slaugh Are United

Elizabeth Pypa of Anchorville and Mark L. Slagh were married in a garden ceremony, Aug. 26, at the home of the bride's brother, John Pypa in Huntington Woods.

They are residing in Ann Arbor, since their return from a wedding trip to Toronto.

Among the 150 guests at the reception at Phillip Murray Hall, Warren, were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Slagh, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Vincze, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henning, Barbara and Carol.

Judy Slagh of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Getz of Wixon also attended.

MR. and MRS. RANDALL KNIGHT

Rena Spahr and Randall Knight Wed

Rena Jean Spahr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Spahr, Osseo, and Randall Karl Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Knight, Tecumseh, were married in Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Hudson.

The Pastor Kostizen performed the double ring ceremony.

Preceding piano arrangements were played by Darlene Clark and a solo was sung by Donald M. Daglow.

The bride wore a gown originated by Gloria Dunlap. The gown of white satin featured butterfly sleeves forming a full cape in back. Matching the lace on the bodice, a shoulder length veil held by floral spray, was edged in minature daisy lace. She carried an array of three long blue stemmed roses.

Gloria Dunlap was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Linda Walworth and Debra Fannon.

Flower girl was Connie Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dunlap. They wore full length gowns of light blue guiana knit with medium blue and white accent strips and carried baskets of blue and white daisies.

The best man was Gary Barrett and groomsmen were Don Root and Brian Knight, all of Tecumseh.

A reception of 200 guests was held at Osseo Town Hall following the wedding.

Continuing color theme the four-tier cake was trimmed in blue roses and daisies topped by love doves. It was baked and decorated by the brides grandmother, Mrs. Glen Dunlap. Aunt of the bride, Karen Dunlap cut and served the cake.

Other assistants were Brenda Spahr, Karen Spahr, Merrily Van Deusen, Destry Dunlap, Mr. Larry Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Horning, Dave Betzer, and Mrs. Mary Ann Spahr.

The bride is a graduate of Pittsford Area Schools, and will be attending Ferris State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Tecumseh High School, and is a full time student at Ferris State College. Plans are to make their home in Big Rapids after a honeymoon in Florida.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Unless something much out of the ordinary happens there will only be one or two more articles about the youngsters of this year. Actually September seems late for baby birds. We tend to associate them with the late spring and early summer. However, late August and early September are always busy, the last broods are fresh-out-of-the-nest and working hard at acquiring grown-up skills.

As of this dictating I am not quite sure that all the young upsidedown nuthatches are acquiring grown-up skills'. There are four kids around, two males and two females, and three of them are having just a dreadful time perfecting their landing techniques.

Of course, it is great fun for us to watch their mistakes but, if birds could be embarrassed, I am sure these little characters would be.

The main landing problem seems to be the proper approach speed. They come zooming down from the walnut tree, going much too fast, and instead of landing on the near-my-window feeders end up in the nearby maple tree.

From there it is just a short flight and usually a successful one. Oh, there have been a couple of crashes when a bird tried to 'let down' on the first pass but too much speed landed him near the edge of the feeder and he simply fell off. Nothing serious though.

This action is marvelous dinner entertainment. For almost two weeks Mom and I have enjoyed it every day. Once on the feeder the kids are fun to see too. One male is much more advanced, in both actions and appearance, than his siblings. He seldom has a flying accident and his feathers are well behaved.

The other kids are far from the neat and trim, smooth feather look of the adults. The second male has a great deal of brown on his back and wings which, of course, will eventually be steely gray or dark blue. The two females have face trouble—the gray-white feathers around their eyes and on their cheeks are rough and ragged looking.

These are white-breasted nuthatches but the three slow kids show varying degrees of dark splotchiness on their fronts. The one little male is in bad shape. For his sake we hope winter does not come too soon. All of them have far to go before they live up to their white-breasted name.

I have often wondered if, when birds are going through a heavy molt, the process is uncomfortable or annoying. Maybe even itchy. The bluejays act as though it might be—they seem even more feisty and irritable than usual.

The air was full of bluejay screaming and screeching but it was a couple of days before we saw the two characters who confirmed our suspicion about the cause of the noise. They were molting and they were complaining about it.

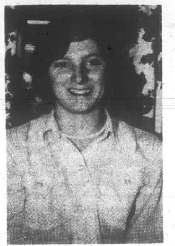
Such ridiculous looking birds—big fat fully feathered bodies with naked pipe-stem skinny necks and heads bristly with pinfeathers. I can't say that I blame them much for screaming.

We have a trio of young tufted titmice, they are a noisy gang too. Their shrill high pitched squeaky little voices remind us of a teenager whose voice is on the verge of changing.

At first we worried about one of the little titmice, was he well? He had only a short stubbin of a tail and his body feathers were all fluffed out.

Fortunately our concern was unnecessary because in just the last day or two we have noticed his tail is beginning to grow, his feathers are behaving better, and he seems perfectly well.

None of the kids are doing too well with their topknots. So far they are just tiny little peaks. The feathers on their sides and flanks are all fluffy too. Smooth, sleek, neat, and dapper are all descriptive of the adult tufted titmice but none of the late trio can lay claim yet.



The engagement of Nancy A. Hamilton to Nick J. Hebert is announced by the bride elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, 514 W. Logan St. He is the son of Minerva Hebert, Tecumseh. Miss Hamilton is a 1972 graduate of Tecumseh High School and has a bachelor of science degree in education with physical education major from Eastern Michigan University. She is a member of Delta Psi Kappa honorary fraternity, Motar Board, Adahi Chapter women's honorary sorority and is employed by the State of Michigan in Ypsilanti. Mr. Hebert is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and employed by Fowler Construction, Tecumseh. A Dec. 2 wedding is planned at the Missionary Baptist Church.

Appointed to School Board

Msgr. Vincent Howard, pastor of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, has been appointed a member of the Board of Education of the Catholic Diocese of Lansing. The board is responsible for all educational projects of the diocese including schools, religious programs for public school students and adult education projects.

The appointment, made by Bishop Kenneth J. Povish, is effective on Sept. 1, for a three year period.

Msgr. Howard is also director of the pontifical Association of the Holy Childhood for the 10 county diocese.

Friendship Club Meets

Friendship Club, which is sponsored by the Ann Arbor Recreation Department, will have a potluck supper at Pattengill School, 2100 Crestland Dr., Ann Arbor on Friday, Sept. 9 at 6:30 p.m.

It will be followed by a "musical fiesta" and dancing.

Single persons over 39 years are invited.

A LOOK INSIDE

Herrick Hospital

By Kathy Bailey, R.N. and Richard Sies, hospital Bus. Mgr.

First in Series

Welcome to Herrick Memorial. This will be the first part of a weekly tour through the hospital appearing in The Tecumseh Herald.

In our tours we will stop in each department along the way to meet the people who are the hospital, to see what they do and find out what is new at 500 E. Pottawatamie St.

The hospital was first opened in 1938 with rooms for 18 adults, three children, and eight babies. This capacity was expanded in 1941, in 1951 and again in 1957 bringing the total number of beds to 95.

The name Herrick was given to the hospital in 1950 to commemorate Ray W. Herrick who gave so much of himself to make this hospital possible.

Today we are completing major renovations which were begun in 1972. While no new bed capacity is being added, all departments have expanded their space and facilities into attractive modern surroundings. Next week we will take a closer look inside the hospital beginning with the admitting office.

The Admitting Office

When you enter the hospital through the front door you find immediately on your right a comfortable lobby. Next is the switchboard and information desk. This is the nerve center of the hospital. The woman at the switchboard will ask you your name and will notify the admitting office if you have come to be admitted to a bed in the hospital.

The admitting office is the first door past the switchboard. During the day, you will be greeted by Bonnie Seegert or Christine Warner. In the evenings, admitting is done by Thelma Henning, Donna Cangley, Susan Frazier and Connie Ruttkofsky.

The admitting interview is an important first step when you come to the hospital as a patient. The information you provide helps us locate your past medical records, ensures that your insurance carrier will pay for your hospitalization and places you quickly in a room in the appropriate nursing service.

The information gathered during admission identifies you as a unique person to many departments. It is used to tell your doctor and minister where you are, to direct visitors to your room and to coordinate the services of many departments such as medical records, X-ray, laboratory, dietary, electrocardiography, respiratory therapy and medical social services, to name a few.

Next week we will see how several of these departments interact when you come to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bortel exhibited their Dorset and Cotswald sheep at the Michigan State Fair, winning many prizes during fair week in Detroit. They returned Monday evening with their sheep to enter them in the Saline fair this week. The Saline fair will include six sheep shows they have entered.

Robin Bortel, eight-year-old daughter of the Roger Bortels, received a blue ribbon for fifth place recently in the older Lead Class at the Lenawee County Fair. She modeled her navy and plaid wool jump suit outfit, made by her mother.

Robin stayed with her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Robbins at Mason while her parents, were at the Michigan State Fair with their sheep. Son, Nick, stayed with his grandmother, Mrs. Virgil Bortel, in Britton, during that time.

'Meet the Teams Night'

BRITTON — The Tory Athletic Boosters are sponsoring a "Meet the Teams Night" Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The junior varsity, varsity cheerleaders, girls basketball teams and football teams will be introduced. The coaches will also give a preview of the upcoming season.

There will also be a Tory Athletic Booster meeting following the program to elect officers for the 1977-78 school year.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

School days are here again and with it comes the age old problem of packing interesting, nutritious lunches. Here are two suggestions for cupcakes that children as well as adults will enjoy. Great for after school snacks, too.

Last year, zucchini bread was all the rage. This year I ran across this zucchini cake recipe, very moist and delicious.

CHOCOLATE ZUCCHINI CAKE

2½ cup flour
½ cup cocoa
2½ tsp. baking powder
1½ tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup margarine
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
2 tsp. vanilla
2 cups grated zucchini
½ cup milk
GLAZE
2 cups powdered sugar
3 tbsp. milk
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream butter, add sugar and eggs and mix well. Add rest of ingredients, except for glaze, blending well and pour into greased and floured tube pan. Bake 350 degrees for one hour or until center is done. For cupcakes, spoon batter into paper baking cups and place in cup cake tins. Bake 25 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes three dozen cupcakes.

Mix ingredients for glaze and pour on warm cake or cupcakes.

Children love peanut butter in any way, shape or form and they will love these peanut butter cupcakes from Rose Mininger.

PEANUT BUTTER CUPCAKES

1-3 cup shortening
1½ cup brown sugar
6 tbsp. peanut butter
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups flour
¼ tsp. salt
2½ tsp. baking powder
¾ cup milk

Cream shortening and 1 cup sugar. Add peanut butter and mix well. Add eggs with ½ cup sugar and milk. Sift and add flour, salt, baking powder and vanilla. Put in cup cake pans. Bake 325 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

Three Teachers Hired by Board

CLINTON — Three new teachers were hired at a special meeting of the school board, Aug. 29.

Dale Marzewski was assigned to teach in middle and high schools as instrumental music director.

A graduate of Wayne State University, with a major in music and a minor in humanities, Marzewski was an assistant to the director of marching bands at WSU.

Roy Gaddey of Plymouth will teach high school mathematics. He is a graduate of Central Michigan University with a major in math and a minor in economics. He will also assume coaching duties.

Robert James Baughman will be the high school industrial arts teacher.

He is a graduate of Western Michigan University with a major in woodworking and minor in general industrial arts.

Resignation of William Dustin, high school science teacher, was accepted.

Flea Market Bake Sale

CLINTON — The committee for the Caro State Home for the Retarded is planning a benefit Flea Market and Bake Sale on Sept. 16, 17, 18, at 303 Donna Dr., off Washington St. in Clinton.

All proceeds will go to the Work Activity Center at the Caro Home to help the patients.

Bake sale will continue for the three days and the committee is in need of donations of cakes, pies, cookies and other home made goods. Call 456-4756 evenings or before 9 a.m. daily.

Good quality clothing, antiques, household items and collectibles and some furniture will be sold. Donations are being accepted at the 303 Donna Dr. before Sept. 13.

The committee is also planning a booth at the Fall Festival displaying and selling wooden toys and rag rugs, and other items made by the residents of the Caro Home.

Another feature will be a Christmas package to be displayed in the Chic Tress salon window, to be raffled off at the Festival. There will be first, second and third prizes, with tickets available at Chic Tress, and at the Caro booth.

Season Preview

CLINTON — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steffens will host an all day choir retreat for the choir of the United Church of Christ, Sunday, Sept. 11. There will be food and fellowship and a preview of new music, including Christmas and Easter Cantatas.

Choir rehearsals begin Wednesday, Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Church School classes will resume Sunday Sept. 11, during the morning worship hour at 10 a.m.

The Priscilla Class will sponsor a benefit breakfast from 8 to 11 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Mary-Martha class will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 13 at the home of Mrs. Aurelia Sweeney, Lot 50 in Water Wheel Estates. This is guest night and there will be a musical program. It is important that all members be present to plan the progessive dinner in October.

Priscilla class will meet for a 6:30 p.m. potluck Sept. 15, at the church.

Serendipity Sisters are planning a pie sale after church Sept. 18.

Presidential Board will meet at 7:00 p.m. Sept. 15.

Cars Displayed at Saline Fair

CLINTON — Clinton's Fall Festival Cars will be on display during the Saline Fair next week.

Ticket co-chairman Gary Couture says he needs a lot of Clinton folks to help with the ticket sales during the 1 p.m. parade, Saturday, Sept. 10 in Saline.

Volunteers will assemble at the cars on the Saline fairgrounds at 12:30 p.m.

To volunteer call Gary at 456-4164 or 456-4386.

Anyone who has stubs and money from ticket sales is asked to turn them in immediately at State Savings Bank of Clinton, so the committee can assess the sales totals to date.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

Much to the regret of the Clinton Education Association, negotiations with the Clinton Board of Education came to a halt at 12:00 a.m. on September 1, 1977 due to a lack of agreement on economic issues.

"It seems unfortunate that the negotiations had to break down because things had been running so smoothly since negotiations began in June and much progress had been made," said C.E.A. President Tom Mueller. "We were very close to a settlement. I think both sides made a reasonable effort to compromise their positions so as to reach an agreement. We are approximately $17,000 apart in our respective proposals. The teachers fully intend to continue working under the terms and conditions of the old contract until a new agreement can be reached."

Luncheon

St. Elizabeth Altar Society is sponsoring a first time Soup-N-Salad luncheon, Wed., Sept. 21, at St. Elizabeth school cafeteria, 510 N. Union.

Much effort is in this to make it as delicious and attractive for all to enjoy. The menu will feature homemade bean and vegetable soup, build your own tossed salad, cole slaw, an array of gelatin salads, hot rolls, coffee, hot and iced tea, milk.

Pre-sale tickets are being sold to help all lunch time workers through the line faster.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

One of the interesting parts of a life involved in athletics is wondering what athletic field or gymnasium you might be at on a birthday or anniversary. This year was a first as I found myself in the basement of Coldwater High School on the evening of my birthday! A tornado warning sent all four teams and the spectators at the scrimmage for cover. The Tecumseh Indians are off to an exciting year.

Mrs. Paul Kollar welcomed her cousin Emma Kisgyorgy from Romania into her home the middle of August. She plans on staying until Sept. 22. another cousin Julia Zagon from Riolita, Calif. has joined in the visit. This is the first time in 35 years the three have been together.

Judy and Jayne Thomas had a grocery shower at their home on Aug. 27 for Tamara Farr who will be marrying their brother Jim on Oct. 15. Some 20 people from Saline, Milan, Ann Arbor and Plymouth arrived with many items to start filling those kitchen shelves.

Kristin Connors enjoyed a four-day stay in Toledo with her cousins last week while their brother, Jim Best, came to Macon to spend the time with Tim. An end of the summer family picnic was enjoyed at the Connors on Sunday as the children were returned.

The first meeting of the Macon Womens Club for 1977-78 will be held Thursday, Sept. 8 at the home of Mrs. Paul Kollar, 11600 Tecumseh-Macon Rd. at 12:30 p.m. The meeting will be a potluck and will feature a guest speaker, Dr. Charles Lindquist who will present a program on the Michigan underground slavery period. All members are urged to bring a potential member guest.

Terri Miller of Reading visited at the Bill Swanston home for several days this past week. A trip to Toledo, the Museum and the Zoo were enjoyed. Labor Day weekend Bill, Marilyn and family enjoyed a trip to Canada.

Macon Historical Society members extend a collective thank you to Theophil Alber of Case Rd., Saline. Mr. Alber recently gifted the group with 18 school desks (c. 1925), a beautiful old piano and numerous old books to be used in their restoration of Mills School. The items donated come from Lindsley school on property owned by Mr. Alber near his home in Saline Twp. "We are overwhelmed with Mr. Alber's generosity," says Macon Historical Society president Linda Phillips. "It's great knowing we'll have something to put in Mills school after our work is done." Workbees have begun again at the school after a summer filled with individual projects. Everyone - ladies, too! - are urged to attend each Saturday morning from 8-12.

Macon Historical Society meetings have been changed to the second Wednesday of each month. The September meeting will be at the home of Bill and Sandy Gilreath on Hack Rd. at 7:30 p.m.

Tecumseh Jaycees Wants You

At the general membership meeting held last Thursday evening, president Tom Thayer presented Sarah Russell, Auxiliary member, with a plaque to show Jaycee appreciation for her outstanding service at the Michigan International Speedway concession stand operated by Jaycee and Auxiliary members.

Along with the final MIS race on Sept. 17, the club is currently making plans for Punt, Pass and Kick and several Christmas projects including Santa Calling and Children's Shopping Spree.

Also in the planning stage is the Jaycee role in the development of Tots Park.

In the coming days many Tecumseh young men and women will be receiving invitations to become Jaycee and Auxiliary members and share in the betterment of their community.

So be watching for what the Jaycees are planning for You!

For additional information on Jaycee membership and Membership Night on Oct. 1, call Harold Petee at 423-4723.

Brunch Is Planned

The Herrick Hospital Auxiliary will hold its first meeting of the season at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 13 at the Tecumseh Country Club. Brunch will be served before the business meeting.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Donna Marion R.N. Mrs. Marion is a pediatric nurse practicioner.

She will explain the role of the nurse practicioner in the community. She is a graduate of University of Michigan Nurse Practicioner Program and currently the only person with this background in Lenawee County.

All members of the auxiliary are urged to attend this breakfast - meeting. For reservations, call Mrs. William Mammoser 423-7672.

Fowler Injured

Mike Fowler, 26, of Osburn Subdivision, was in a motorcycle accident, near Harrison, Sunday evening, and sustained a fractured skull. He is in the intensive care unit at Midland Hospital, where he remained unconscious Tuesday afternoon. He was vacationing near Harrison with his wife, Judy and child, three-years-old.

4-H Square Dance Set

The Lenawee 4-H Square Dance Committee has planned another barn dance for Sept. 10 from 8-11 p.m. at the Elton Helles, 9250 Smith Rd., Tecumseh. 451-8595.

Contact the 4-H Office (263-8831, ext. 249 or 298) for directions. Bring cookies to share.

Admission will be charged.

Club Plans Tea Sept.12

The Tecumseh Monday Club Friendship Tea will be held at the St. Peter's Episcopal Church at 2 p.m. Sept. 12.

Program will be "Show and Tell."

Members are asked to bring music boxes.

Card of Thanks

Words cannot express our gratitude to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for the acts of kindness extended to us at our time of sorrow. The food, visits, cards, flowers and memorials were greatly appreciated. Our special thanks to Pastor E. Watkins and Pastor S. Janeway, Dr. M.R. Blanden and staff, the staff of Herrick Nursing Home, Purse Funeral Home and the ladies of the Presbyterian and Missionary Baptist Churches for the lovely luncheon served. Your thoughtfulness will never be forgotten.

The Family of Thomas Hamilton 9-8p

We wish to thank all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement. We also appreciate the expression of sympathy from Tecumseh Products employees and the Purse Funeral Home.
